Alaskan Pipeline Ban Upheld By High Court

Ruling Said Victory Of Conservationists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservationist groups won a major legal victory today when the Supreme Court refused to disturb a lower court ruling blocking construction of the controversial, multi-million dollar Alaskan oil pipeline.

Without comment, the Court rejected an appeal by the government, the state of Alaska and the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. from a U.S. Court of Appeals decision prohibiting the Interior Department from issuing a permit for the proposed 789-mile pipeline.

The Feb. 9 appeals court ruling held that the width of the right-of-way for the pipeline exceeded the 50-foot limit set in a 1920 federal law.

The Alyeska firm, formed by oil companies to build the pipeline, had asked for and obtained from the Interior Department a right of way far exceeding the 50-foot width.

The right of way, for which the department allotted additional land through special use permits, would have been nearly 200 feet wide in some areas.

The company said the additional right-of-way was needed for access to the pipeline and because of special construction requirements made necessary by the Arctic nature of the terrain.

The Senate has several bills pending which would in effect reverse the court actions.

One by Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of the Senate Interior Committee, would amend the 1920 act to permit the Interior Secretary to grant wider rights-of-way.

Supporters of the legislation say changes —which would apply to canals, roads and power lines as well — are needed because requirements for such facilities have changed markedly since the law was enacted more than 50 years ago.

Alyeska, the federal government and state authorities argued the pipeline was essential to help the United States cope with the energy crisis and to reduce reliance on oil imports from foreign producers.

The proponents of the pipeline also said the project would help reduce the present balance of payments deficit being incurred.

In other major actions the Court:

—Refused to hear Pennsylvania's arguments that procedures for imposing the death penalty in the state were constitutional.

—Agreed to review next term a ruling by a three-judge federal panel in Chicago that the federal government has been using an unconstitutional standard for dismissing employes over the past 60 years.

—Accepted for decision next term a dispute over whether an Illinois law restricting the right of voters to cast cross-over ballots in primary elections is constitutional.

—Let stand without comment the ruling of a lower court which refused to consider claims that the Vietnam war was unconstitutional.

The Alaskan pipeline has been a major target of ecology groups.

Opponents of the project had urged the Supreme Court against involving itself in the dispute until Congress had looked into the situation. Several bills are now under consideration.

The chief opponents are the Wilderness Society, the Environmental Defense Fund, Inc., and Friends of the Earth. They told the Court sufficient attention has not been given to routing both oil and gas through Canada.

Under the plan now proposed, hot crude oil would be piped from the Arctic north slope to Alaska's southern port of Valdez.

The oil industry insists that the pipeline is needed to bring oil from Alaska's northern area to the southern part of the state.

Opponents predicted fouling of Pacific waters along the West Coast and serious damage to the primitive Alaskan wilderness. They contended that the oil in any event is needed more in the midwest and east, which would be the primary market under the Canadian plan.

The appeals court did not decide whether the environmental impact statement issued by the Interior Department satisfied the requirements of federal law. The Justice Department, appealing on Interior's behalf, urged the Court to take up this matter. But the environmental groups said the issue is not ripe for the court's attention.

They said many of the problems may be solved by Congress if the Court would refuse to act.

Vandals Topple KTIM's Tower; $1,000 Reward Is Offered

Vandals who apparently came equipped with tools Saturday night toppled KTIM's 200-foot AM tower on the Silveira Ranch property, north of the Marin County Civic Center.

Crews worked yesterday to erect a temporary antenna, but the station's AM transmission was working only intermittently today, according to station manager Robert W. Dinsmore.

Sheriff's officers said the damage was discovered at 7:30 a.m. yesterday, when Richard Marshall, the station's chief engineer, found the tower knocked down.

Deputy Alfred B. Curry said that at least two persons must have been involved in the damage. He said a step-ladder had been propped against the base of a cement block to which a guy wire holding the tower was attached.

The vandals had loosened six turnbuckles on a guywire and with that loose, the wind blew the tower over, Curry said.

He said the top half of the tower appeared badly damaged.

Dinsmore said both he and sheriff's officers believed the vandals had planned the destruction.

Anyone having information as to the culprits may write Secret Witness, P. O. Box 330, San Rafael 94902, giving the information. The communication should not be signed, but the writer should put a five-digit number in each lower corner of the page. He should tear off and keep one corner with the number. If the information leads to arrest and conviction, the reward will be paid upon presentation of the number matching that on the letter. The informant need never disclose his name.

Meat Buyers In Marin Show No Strong Trend

Marin meat shoppers — as a national meat boycott got under way — created a varied pattern of buying during the weekend, stocking up in some cases, buying normally in others and below normal at some markets.

In Southern Sonoma, most supermarkets reported a decline in meat sales yesterday and predicted the trend will last for at least a week.

Albertson's food store in Petaluma reported a 4 per cent drop in meat sales yesterday, although Friday and Saturday sales were described as better than the usual first of the, month business.

The Lucky food store, Petaluma, also reported a percentage decline in sales, but said sales in dollars were higher on average because of the higher meat prices. Saturday sales were reported higher than normal, with shoppers buying mainly hamburger and cheaper cuts of meat.

The smaller Purity food store in Petaluma said sales were nearly normal yesterday with receipts showing only a $25 decline over last Sunday.

Butchers, bracing for the meat boycott week, gave varying weekend sales reports in a random check of markets this morning.

ITT Head Admits CIA Fund Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — ITT President Harold S. Geneen acknowledged today he offered to contribute funds to the CIA to support the opponent of Marxist Salvador Allende in Chile's 1970 presidential election.

Geneen told Senate investigators, however, that "the subject was obviously dropped" and insisted that ITT never contributed money "to any person or to any agency of any government to block the election of Dr. Allende."

A Central Intelligence Agency official, William V. Broe, testified last week that Geneen offered to help finance a block Allende effort by contributing to Allende's No. 1 opponent. Broe said the CIA rejected the offer.

Geneen testified "I understand Mr. Broe recalls that I raised a question whether a contribution could be made through the agency to support a democratic candidate. He says he said 'no.'

"I don't recall this part of the conversation, but it is a matter I might well have raised in view of my concerns," Geneen said.

"Since I have no recollection to the contrary, I accept it. In any event, the subject was obviously dropped and I did nothing further about it."

Geneen insisted that "ITT did not take any steps to block the election of Salvador Allende as President of Chile."

He said, "all that ITT did was to present its views, concerns and ideas to various departments of the U.S. government. This is not only its right, but also its obligation."

"The right is a very important constitutional right, and I would hope that this committee would agree that it is not wrong for a citizen to try to approach government officials to discuss with them his problems and concerns, and to raise possible solutions consistent with government policies," Geneen said.

"In turn, the obligation to so petition the government arises because the management of any company has a direct obligation to the shareholders and to the employes to attempt to protect their interests."

Geneen said that a July 16, 1970, meeting he had with Broe, then chief of clandestine operations for the Central Intelligence Agency for Latin America, was arranged by John McCone, former CIA director who now is an ITT director.

Bore testified last week Geneen wanted the funds channelled through the CIA to Jorge E. Alessandri, the chief opponent of Allende. ITT officials testified the funds were intended for low cost housing and other social projects in hopes Allende would be dissuaded from nationalizing ITT properties.

The CIA refused Geneen's offer, but later contacted ITT officials about ways to disrupt the Chilean economy before Allende took office, according to Broe and documents in possession of the Senate investigators.

ITT officials have testified that they rejected the plan as unworkable.

Reports from Santiago said that Allende has suspended important talks on outstanding bilateral problems with U.S. officials as a result of developments in the two weeks of hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on multinational corporations.

Attributed to "advisers close to the President," the reports said Allende is convinced that the U.S. government, along with ITT, attempted to prevent his election in 1970.

NIXON GIVES THIEU WARM WELCOME

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Nixon welcomed South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu to the Western White House today to extend assurances of continued American support.

As a U.S. military helicopter brought Thieu to the oceanside Nixon compound following a flight from Los Angeles, the two men greeted each other warmly and walked down a long red carpet to a reviewing stand. There was a 21-gun salute.

The Marine band from Washington and a sizeable Marine detachment from nearby Camp Pendleton — the men wearing dress blues — were drawn up at attention to provide full military honors.

Senator Says No To Nixon's Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate's Special Watergate committee, rejected today a White House offer to let presidential aides confer informally with the committee rather than under oath.

They are not "nobility and royalty" and should testify openly like other people, Ervin said.

Ervin said that he favored proceeding with testimony of other available witnesses in the investigation of the 1972 bugging of the Democratic national headquarters and then issuing subpoenas for White House aides if they continue to refuse to appear formally.

That could lead to a direct confrontation between Congress and the White House over presidential use of the doctrine of executive privilege under which President Nixon has refused to permit formal testimony by present and former aides. Nixon has said he would be willing to defend the policy in the courts.

Ervin renewed his threat to seek arrest for contempt of anyone who refuses to cooperate with the committee.

"If all the allegations (about Watergate) are true, we have to consider this was an assault on the integrity of the process by which the President of the United States is chosen," Ervin said.

"Every person —be he Republican or Democrat or mugwump —should cooperate with the committee to try to determine the truth of these allegations."

He said he felt the White House refusal to let aides testify was a "terrible disservice to the high office of the presidency."

At a Capitol Hill news conference, Ervin, a former North Carolina state Supreme Court judge, quoted Shakespeare, the Bible, a hymn, a poem and various Supreme Court decisions in insisting that White House aides testify formally.

"I say no most emphatically," he said when asked if he would go along with the White House position that presidential aides should testify before a federal grand jury and might speak informally with the Senate committee.

"I am not willing to treat a White House aide differently or elevate him to some position above the great mass of the American people," Ervin said. He added, that they are not "royalty or nobility that exempts them" from such testimony.

Nixon Aides Opposed To Stiffer Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's top economic advisers told Congress today they did not feel it was necessary to further stiffen economic controls and predicted anew that the food price spiral would level off later in the year.

Meeting in an atmosphere of tension with the House Banking Committee considering economic controls, the top committee spokesman also said unjustified rent increases were an isolated local problem and that control of interest rates would distort the flow of credit and stunt business growth.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council testified during the final day of hearings before the committee begins drawing up legislation.

The measure likely will be stronger than the Phase III program, which removed direct controls on most of the economy except for those areas considered sore points, such as health and construction. The administration has since placed forms of control on the petroleum and food industries.

But Shultz testified that if Congress passed strong mandatory wage-price controls and price rollbacks, he would not be surprised if Nixon vetoed the bill.

Shultz appeared reluctant to respond to a question by Rep. J. William Stanton, R-Ohio, whether Nixon would veto mandatory wage-price controls and rollbacks, but when pressed, he said:

"He (Nixon) is certainly strongly opposed to it and I wouldn't be surprised."

Dunlop said in prepared testimony that "the recent spurt in food prices is not a permanent thing."

TWISTERS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Eight persons were killed and around 500 injured in tornadoes which twisted through Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina Saturday, leaving some 5,000 persons homeless. In Fairfax, Va., above, a resident walked through debris in a shopping center parking lot after a twister tore the center apart. Two shopping centers were hit, the roofs were torn off five apartment buildings and a school and several expensive homes were collapsed in Fairfax.

U.S. Air Hits Fail To Halt Reds

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — American F111 fighter jets blasted advancing Communist lines on embattled Highway 2 today, but succeeded only in covering the retreat of government forces as Communist troops stormed into the district town of Chambak only 20 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Field officers said the American warplanes made at least eight sorties against the town of Chambak itself before returning to their bases in Thailand. Monday marked the 26th consecutive day of intensified American air raids in Cambodia.

Field reports said government troops retreated two miles north on Highway 2 under a heavy Communist 82 mm mortar arrage. Inital casualty figures were put at seven dead and 33 wounded.

Communist units intensified offensive operations on every front today, and well informed military sources said the daily U.S. B52 and F111 strikes have completely failed to stem the current Communist push.

During the past two months, Communist units have managed to sever every major supply route feeding the Cambodian capital, including Highways 1, 2, 3 and 4, and the nation's most important supply artery, the Mekong River.

According to the high command, fighting erupted along the banks of the Mekong less than 15 miles southeast of Phnom Penh today as Communist forces staged a fierce ground attack against the town of Tuk Khleang.

Government losses were recorded as four killed and 14 wounded, the command said.

With Communist units holding both banks of the river south and north of the beseiged naval base of Neak Luong, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, all river supply traffic has been halted for more than a week.

After lying at anchor just inside the Vietnamese border for seven days, a convoy bearing desperately needed supplies of food, ammunition and petroleum products finaly abandoned the idea of proceeding on to Phnom Penh and returned Sunday to its port base at Vung Tao in South Vietnam.

Strictly supervised petroleum rationing went into effect in the capital Monday as government officials revealed that the city has less than a six-day supply of gasoline left.

Saigon To Boycott Military Panel Until Viet Cong Stops Attacks

SAIGON (UPI) — A South Vietnamese spokesman said Saigon would boycott Joint Military Commission (JMC) meetings with the Viet Cong until the Communists stop attacks on a beseiged government outpost.

The Saigon government has reported intense fighting at the ranger base, Tong Le Chan, 50 miles north of the capital, since Feb. 26. The Communists have bombarded the camp with thousands of shells, killing more than a dozen troops and wounding about one fourth of the 500 government defenders.

Communist gunners fired 275 rounds of mixed artillery, rocket and mortr fire into the camp in a six-hour period late Sunday, killing two men and wounding 12 others.

A South Vietnamese command spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said the government was boycotting meetings with the Viet Cong in the new two-sided JMC until the Communists stopped their attacks at the base, which is about 10 miles south of the battered provincial capital of An Loc.

A group of about 500 persons, mostly elderly men, demonstrated at the headquarters of the four-nation International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS) in Saigon today, demanding the Communists lift their siege at Tong Le Chan.

The South Vietnamese and the Communists worked out a unique two-hour truce within a truce on March 25 to allow government evacuation helicopters into the base to take out the wounded. The truce was called after the South Vietnamese threatened to attack in force.

Since then, 60 others have been wounded and four killed, bringing the total number of casualties since Feb. 26 to 15 killed and 109 wounded.

The Huey P. Long Bridge, built in 1935, was the first bridge entirely within Louisiana to cross the Mississippi.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Refuge Denied

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The immigration office announced yesterday that Sweden will no longer give refuge to U.S. armed forces deserters or draft resisters. But it said Americans already inweden can stay.

Kjell Oeberg, the chief of the immigration office, said the Social Democratic government of Premier Olof Palme — himself a harsh critic of the U.S. policy in Southeast Asia — decided in 1969 that only deserters or draft resisters facing possible service in "a theater of war" could obtain permission to live and work in Sweden.

Quake Blame

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Santiago volcano today was blamed for five strong earthquakes that shook the ruins left by a destructive earlier quake in which 10,000 persons died.

The tremors Saturday shook down walls and caused some panic.

There were no reports of injuries.

Energy Needs

LONDON (UPI) — The world petroleum industry will have to spend $1 trillion between 1970 and 1985 to meet the demand for energy, but it is doubtful under present economic conditions that the money can be raised, the Chase Manhattan Bank said today.

"The requirements for ntural gas, too, will be more than double," the report said. "Much of the oil and natural gas that will be needed has not yet been found," it said.

"Based on past experience, the energy economists predict that under present conditions the most that the industry culd generate internally would be $600 billion, leaving $400 billion to be obtaind through the capital markets," the report added.

Ireland Quiet

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland emerged today from its quietest weekend in months and the army credited it to a new "iron curtain" surrounding Belfast's main trouble spots.

In the only major incidents during the weekend, the army said, sniper shot and wounded a British soldier in the town of Newry and a bomb wrecked a small seaside hotel 20 miles east of Belfast Saturday.

An antitank rocket also exploded harmlessly against a County Armagh police station Sunday and Molotov cocktails caused slight damage to three movie theaters in Londonderry. Two bombs tossed at Belfast pubs failed to explode.

Gas Blast

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mary Evans had the Cincinnat Gas & Electric Co. on the telephone complaining about a strong gas odor, when her apartment building exploded and collapsed.

Mrs. Evans' husband, in another room at the time, was one of seven persons killed in the Saturday night blast. Another 17 were hurt.

Firemen and police poked through the debris of the three-story building today for possible additional vitims. However, Police Lt. Joe Staft said, "I think we've now accounted for the peple who we know were in there."

Tiger Drive

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government launched a $5.2 million campaign yesterday to save tigers from extinction.

Tourism Minister Karan Singh, announcing "Project Tiger," said, "The tiger, which is now a symbol of the entire wildlife and has enriched the lives of many generations, might not be seen by our children when they grow up if the present trend is not reversed."

Plans call for the immediate renovation of nine game preserves designed to nurture the dwindling tiger population back to strength.

Coastal Panelist Will Be Speaker

I-J Special Report

EUREKA — Richard A. Wilson of Covelo, a member of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, will speak on the future of the state's coast at the quarterly meeting of the Redwood Empire Association's executive board Friday.

In other business during the three-day board session, directors will meet with the Eel River Water Council, the North Coastal Counties Supervisors Association and the North Coast Counties Engineers Association.

Medi-Cal Goofs Laid To System

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A computer-based system to process Medi-Cal claims has run $4.5 million over its budget, paid twice for the same services and sent checks to the wrong persons, the legislature's auditor general reports.

Depite the errors and "still unresolved program problems," the 42-page study declared "the state has prematurely accepted and made final payments" for the Medi-Cal Management System.

The report, prepared by Walter J. Quinn, acting deputy auditor general, stated claims were "paid in excess of allowable limits" in addition to the duplicate payments and checks going to wrong providers.

But it added, "We were not able to estimate the magnitude of erroneous payments nor do we know to what extent erroneous payments have been returned."

In summarizing the report, Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, declared, "Procedures have been developed which encourage improper disbursement of funds.

"Clerical personnel make major decisions in overriding programmed computer controls resulting in payments which are not reviewed or audited," he said.

The request for the study grew out of complaints from hospitals and other providers of Medi-Cal services that their claims were not being paid.

"Payments through the systems have been very slow with some entered in the system in August and September 192 still unpaid," Thomas stated.

The current state budget allots $2.6 million to be paid to Health Care Services Administrators for the peration of the system through June 30.

The group, a joint venture involving Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., Occidental Life Insurance and California-Western States Life Insurance, has already received $3.5 million.

The report said another $3.5 million will be required to operate the system through June 30, bringing the total to $7 million or about $4.5 million more than was budgeted.

According to the study, more than $180,000 worth of checks have been returned by providers, such as hospitals and doctors, apparently because the checks were duplicates of earlier payments or were sent to the wrong person.

The report stated 71 fictitious beneficiary names and more than 60,000 fictitious beneficiary numbers have been introduced into the computer system to provide payments where identification is not complete.

Olema Residents Must Boil Water

Olema residents whose water comes from the Olema Water Co. hac been warned by the county department of health services to boil the water at least five minutes before it is used for drinking, brushing teeth, washing fruits or vegetables or as the final rinse for eating utensils.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said recent storm damage has exposed the system to possible contamination.

WINE NOTES #16

Dear Anonymous:

Your much appreciated criticism proves that someone does read these notes and I'm grateful for that. However, in the interest of justifying my degree I must quibble regarding the restaurateur/restauranteur question. Either spelling is correct. "Scouting sojurn" is, of course, a very poor word combination for which I apologize. Please keep whacking away at me, and why not sign your name?

Alan Russell is in France and I'm here (which makes no sense at all) and I trust he will enjoy himself as well as find us one or two wines to bring into Marin. As you know, European wines, particularly French and German, are becoming increasingly difficult to find, and if found, ridiculously expensive to purchase. I'm convinced the vintners of France and Germany will continue to increase their prices as long as we Americans are silly enough to pay and this frightens me. It frightens me partly because the French and German wine prices are being inflated on the basis of demand as opposed to increased costs and I consider such business practices somewhat dishonorable. What bothers me more is that we are letting them get away with these unreasonable prices. Now I readily admit that California does not produce enough first rate wine to meet our needs and that some importing must be done. I'll also admit that there are still some excellent wine values from Europe in terms of both price and quality, and if you can find them (we have many) you may actually get more quality for your dollar than you would get purchasing comparable California types. However, when the big fellow controlling famous chateaux and vineyards in Europe continue to inflate their prices because there appears to be no limit to what Americans will pay then I say balderdash — this must stop. What a wonderful position for a French or German grower to be in: What the Americans won't buy, the Japanese will.

The new wine and spirits shelving has been installed in our Marinwood store and I hope you like it. By the way, the Manager at Marinwood, Bill Wright, designed the wine gondolas we have there now and the design is so successful that the company which built the gondolas from Bill's drawings, California Refrigeration, has sent their prospective customers from as far away as San Diego and Eureka to admire and marvel. Thus, several other stores will be using the same design for their wine displays and my hat is off to Billy.

Final remodeling plans for our Montecito Store have been accepted by Manager Larry Ghilotti and we hope to be completed within ninety days. The remodeling will allow us display space for well over seven hundred wines.

I want to extend an invitation to our friends in the Tiburon Peninsula to stop by our new Bourbon Shop in the Cove Shopping Center. Many of the Peninsulans have shopped at the new store and I believe that most have been impressed with the selection of California and imported wines available there. But to those of you in Tiburon, Belvedere, Eagle Rock, Hill Haven, Hilarita, Reed Heights, Belvedere Gardens, Strawberry Manor, Alto, Harbor Point. Almonte, Manzanita, Sausalito, Tamalpais Valley, Marin City, Homestead Valley and Mill Valley who have not stopped in to see our new store, I say - please come in for a visit.

TWISTERS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Eight persons were killed and around 500 injured in tornadoes which twisted through Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina Saturday, leaving some 5,000 persons homeless. In Fairfax, Va., above, a resident walked through debris in a shopping center parking lot after a twister tore the center apart. Two shopping centers were hit, the roofs were torn off five apartment buildings and a school and several expensive homes were collapsed in Fairfax.

U.S. Air Hits Fail To Halt Reds

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — American F111 fighter jets blasted advancing Communist lines on embattled Highway 2 today, but succeeded only in covering the retreat of government forces as Communist troops stormed into the district town of Chambak only 20 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Field officers said the American warplanes made at least eight sorties against the town of Chambak itself before returning to their bases in Thailand. Monday marked the 26th consecutive day of intensified American air raids in Cambodia.

Field reports said government troops retreated two miles north on Highway 2 under a heavy Communist 82 mm mortar arrage. Inital casualty figures were put at seven dead and 33 wounded.

Communist units intensified offensive operations on every front today, and well informed military sources said the daily U.S. B52 and F111 strikes have completely failed to stem the current Communist push.

During the past two months, Communist units have managed to sever every major supply route feeding the Cambodian capital, including Highways 1, 2, 3 and 4, and the nation's most important supply artery, the Mekong River.

How To Beat The Bagman

It's quite a feat these days to eat your cake and not have to share it with the tax man.

Your cake, along with your stocks, bonds, real estate, and other savings, is among the items you can't take with you. But these goodies may bring a gleam to the eye of Uncle Snatchie as you head into your eighth or ninth decade. Aha, you think — I'll get around those inheritance grabbers by giving away my property. To the grandchildren. To my friends. But there's just one little problem — how do you give it away with a string on it, and still keep it out of the tax man's clutches?

Well, part of the answer is not to wait too long before parting with your Municipals and that Xerox you bought back in 1950. "Last minute gifts," or those made "in contemplation of death" may still be set aside and taxed. Uncle will question gifts you might make within three years of death.

The heirs may be able to show that the donor had a "life motive." For example, he may have gotten married recently. Or started a new business. Or adopted children. These factors would indicate a "life motive," not contemplation of death. So the gift is not taxed as a part of the inheritance or estate.

You may make gifts in trust — or in trust accounts. Suppose you keep a "string on the gift," such as reserving use of the income for life? This will show you still regard yourself as the owner. The taxman treats the bank account or trust property as if you are still owner.

Can you make a gift, but hold on to it as long as you live? Generally, no. Say you give your home to your son, signing a deed to the property. But you stay in the house, living there rent free. The house would still be considered part of your estate. Technically, you have retained a life interest.

Suppose you set up a joint bank account. You put in $5,000. The other person puts in $38.50. Here there is no valuable contribution by the other party. This is not a completed gift. You still have control over the joint account.

Even if you escape the inheritance man, if the gifts are large, then the gift tax man will come knocking on your door. Generally, though, his bite is smaller.

Good estate planning can greatly reduce taxes. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Youth Agencies To Share Funds

The Marin Charitable Foundation has announced it will divide its proceeds from the April 29 Marin Hike for Help among three youth agencies in Marin and one in Petaluma.

Mrs. John R. Manwaring of San Rafael said the foundation has promised grants in Marin including: $1,000 to Big Brothers, $4,000 to the Young Men's Christian Association, and $400 to Amigos de las Americas. Another $1,000 has been promised to the Petaluma Police Activities League.

A fourth Marin agency, Marin Civic Ballet has already received $1,000 from the organization this year.

Hike proceeds will be divided between the foundation and People-to-People Health Foundation's Project Hope.

Prison Rampage Is Reported

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Prisoners went on a rampage at the Adult Correctional Institutions here shortly before noon Monday taking at least two guards hostage. Authorities reported a fire in the carpentry shop.

The two guards were released when authorities threatened to use tear gas but it could not be determined immediately whether other hostages had been taken.

Gov. Philip W. Noel was reported enroute to the institution, but his office said it was unclear what he intended to do at the prison.

Commercial Zoning On Tap

Novato City Council will consider commercial zoning for 32 acres of the Hanna Ranch at its regular meeting starting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

A hearing on rezoning the land at the future Rowland Boulevard interchange east of Highway 101 is scheduled for 10:20 p.m.

The council also is scheduled to adopt a set of procedures for environmental impact reports, as required by the state.

Expansion Of Bus Fleet Under Study

A staff recommendation to expand the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus fleet by another 30 coaches will be considered by the transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The district now has 188 buses. They operate close to peak capacity during commuter hours, carrying more than 7,000 people to work in San Francisco every morning.

$55 Is Stolen At Marin Hotel

A cash box at the Bermuda Palms hotel on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael was rifled of $55 today by a man and woman who handcuffed a room clerk while holding him at gunpoint.

According to police, the man knocked on the hotel's office door at 2:20 a.m. and asked for a room, then burst in, accompanied by the woman and brandishing the gun.

Boundaries On List

The Novato Unified School District board will consider changing junior high school attendance boundaries at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato High School Lecture Hall.

Air Conditioning Good In Winter

CALDWELL, N.J. (UPI) — Auto air conditioning in the winter may sound about as unnecessary as carrying coals to Newcastle, but it can be of real service to the driver.

"The quickest way to clear up fogged windshields in your automobile is to turn on the air conditioning system," advises Thomas J. Nagle, who heads Scovill's General Hose and Coupling operation here.

He adds that a shot of dehumidified cool air will clear every window in the car within 30 seconds at any time of year - if you have the courage to turn on your air conditioner when it is below freezing outside.

Funds Granted For Clothing

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School District has become the first in the state to win permission to use federal money to cloth needy children.

The Texas Education Agency has approved spending $325,000 in federal money during 1972-73 to buy clothes for needy children of the district.

About 11,000 children will be eligible to participate in the program. Houston district officials said.

Council Hopefuls Will Appear

Candidates for election to the San Rafael City Council will appear at two candidates nights this week.

Candidates will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of the Redeemer, 121 Knight Drive, Glenwood and 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Vallecito School, Terra Linda.

The events are sponsored by local homeowner's associations.

Electrical Fires Now The Leader

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faulty wiring and electrical equipment have replaced causes related to smoking or heating as the No. 1 fire hazard in the United States, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Fires attributable to cigarettes or matches, once a leading cause, dropped to a new low of 12.9 per cent of all accidental fires.

Coffee Speaker

Carl J. (Red) Brown, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, will speak at a campaign coffee at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Cook Sterner home, 11 Longwood Drive.

OBITUARIES

Eleanor Peacock Dies At 67

Eleanor Peacock of Fairfax died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 67.

A native of Oakland, Mrs. Peacock had lived in Marin County for 37 years, and until moving to 2555 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax two years ago, the family home was in Woodacre.

She was a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club Ladies Auxilliary, and until her illness was a keen fisherwoman.

She is survived by her husband, Loyal, of the family home, a son, Robert J. Peacock of Woodacre, two daughters Eleanor O'Connor of El Paso, Tex., and Doris Celoni of Fairfax.

She also is survived by a sister, Bess Meyer of Fremont, two brothers, Myron Hansen of Walnut Creek and Elmer Hansen of Danville, and by six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at Fairfax Community Church, Fairfax on Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

MRS. CAIN

Bridie M. Cain of San Rafael died unexpectedly today in Ireland, where she had gone for the funeral of a brother. She was 70.

Mrs. Cain had made her home with her son, Frank J. Cain, at 205 Laurel Place, for about the past five years.

She was born in Thomastown, County Kilkenny, Ireland, but came to New York as a young woman. She was employeed for many years at E. P. Dutton publishers.

In San Rafael, she was a member of St. Raphael's Church.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two grandchildren, three sisters, Gretta Walsh of New York and Helena Bookle and Kathleen Mullins of Ireland, and a brother, Thomas Mullins of Ireland.

A Memorial Mass will be held later. Burial will be in Ireland.

MEAT

started to boycott yesterday with Sunday about 15 to 20 per cent off."

In contrast, Michael Smith, co-owner of Grant Avenue Meats, 1557-A South Novato Boulevard, Novato, a small independent market, said: "Yesterday was a good day . . . a better day than normal."

Guido Bisazza of the Big G supermarket, 100 Harbor Drive Sausalito, said: "Saturday and Sunday were normal. I think this week will tell the story."

Norman Soldavini, proprietor of the West End Market, Fourth and G streets, San Rafael, said "Friday and Saturday we had a full house. It looked to me like people were stocking up for the boycott."

In Tiburon, Ray Kelley of the Boardwalk Market said business was good Thursday and Friday but fell off Saturday and yesterday, but a weekend lag is normal since many residents are away on weekends. "They are definitely hitting the cheaper cuts," he said.

At Scotty's Market, 620 Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, San Rafael, Joseph Messina said: Saturday was about normal but yesterday was a stinkeroo."

Hubert Fenstermaker at Cala Foods Market, 1530 Center Road, Novato, said "The average housewife feeding a large family is picking cheaper cuts of meat." He said sales were about average Saturday.

Charles Young, proprietor of the Rainbow Market, 483 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, a neighborhood market, said business had been about normal.

Buthcers mentioned other factors such as upcoming income tax and property tax and that it was a pre-payday weekend but generally agreed with the comment by Bisazza that "This week will tell the story."

The mixed reaction — some markets reporting normal sales, other somewhat reduced sales — was typical of the Bay Area scene. But nationally, there have been repercussions according to United Press International.

The wire service reported hog prices slightly off at principal Midwest markets, dropping $4 per hundredweight in some places, $3 in others.

UPI reported that more than 1,000 workers have been laid off at meat packing firms in the beef-rich Iowa-Nebraska area.

California packers, said UPI, have laid off some employees and sent others on mandatory vacation.

But beef on the hoof, not included in the current price ceiling by President Nixon, has moved $1 to $1.50 higher.

Other effects of rising prices and boycott talk, UPI said, have been the joining of some restaurants in the boycott in New York City, offering reduced prices on meatless dishes.

Firms producing meat substitutes are doing a rush business, according to UPI, firms such as one producing dehydrated soy granules for meatloaf.

MARSHALL DUNN

Private funeral for Marshall James Dunn of Fairfax was held today in San Rafael. Inurnment was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Sacramento, he had lived in Marin for more than 40 years. He and his wife, Thelma, resided with their daughter, Marcia J. Dunn, in her Fairfax home at 3 Geary Way.

Dunn was a retired sales supervisor of a San Francisco liquor distributing company. He was a member of the Olympic Club and a former member of the Merchants Exchange, San Francisco.

He also is survived by a brother, Bernard J. Dunn of Morgan Hill.

His family asked that memorial contributions go to the Heart Fund.

THOMAS G. CLEVELAND

Private graveside services for Thomas G. Cleveland, a former locomotive engineer, were held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Ukiah, he had lived in Marin County 50 years, residing at 519 Bonita Street. For 43 years prior to his retirement he was employed as an engineer with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Cleveland is survived by his wife, Anne F. Cleveland.

ROBERT STALEY

Robert Keith Staley, 15, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was born in Tokyo, Japan, and had lived in Petaluma for nine years. Staley was a ninth grade student at Kenilworth Junior High School. He was a member of Boy Scouts of America and Petaluma Boys' Club.

He was the son of Irvin and Emiko Staley, 430 Stuart Drive. His father operates Staley's backhoe service.

He is also survived by two brothers, Richard and Raymond Staley of the family home; and four grandparents.

JOHN C. KEMPVANEE

Private funeral for John C. Kempvanee of Mill Valley was held there yesterday.

Kempvanee, 84, died Saturday in a local hospital after a sudden illness.

A native of Georgia, he moved to California as a boy and spent most of his life in Sacramento before moving to Marin County a month ago where he resided at 40 Camino Alto.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy, of Mill Valley and three stepdaughters, Jacqueline P. Shaw of Kentfield, Hope P. Kewin of Mill Valley and Mary P. Gardner of Sacramento.

GINA I. WOOLDRIDGE

Private funeral has been held for Gina I. Wooldridge, 76, who died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Wooldridge, who had lived in Marin 12 years, made her home in San Anselmo before she was hospitalized.

She was born in Santa Rosa.

She and her husband, the late Col. Henry E. Wooldridge, made their home in Honolulu for many years. Colonel Wooldridge served with the Air Force in World Wars I and II.

Mrs. Wooldridge is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Barbara J. Farmer of Fairfax;/her mother, Mrs. Grace K. Monsen of Greenbrae; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial will be at sea.

MRS. HANSON

Mrs. Hanson, who lived at 190 Alameda de la Loma, Ignacio, died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 45.

Mrs. Hanson operated the El Toreador restaurant on Redwood Highway for two years, and took active part in the work of volunteer groups. She also was a member of Las Galiinas Golf Club.

Born in San Francisco, she lived most of her life in Larkspur, and was named the first Queen of Marin in 1945, a pageant sponsored by the Lion's Club. She was a former Colege of Marin student.

Survivors are a daughter, Janie, and a son, Tony, both of Ignacio; her mother, Ann Smith of Larkspur, and a sister, Shirley Smith of Mountain View.

HORACE BURGAN

Private funeral for Horace C. Burgan, 69, former Marin resident, will be held tomorrow at Eggen and Lance Mortuary, Santa Rosa.

Burgan died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was a native of Minnesota and moved to Marin County in 1925. He and his wife, Mabel, had moved to Santa Rosa four months ago.

He is also survived by a son, Robert R. Burgan of Larkspur. Burial will be private.

BERTHA P. McANINCH

Funeral for Bertha P. McAninch, 86, long-time Petaluma resident, was held today in Petaluma.

Mrs. McAninch died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was a native of Lakeport and moved to Petaluma in 1921.

She and her late husband, Roy McAninch, had operated a grocery store known as the High School Cafeteria on High Street from 1925 until his death in 1953.

She is survived by a granddaughter, five great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandsons.

Entombment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

How To Beat The Bagman

It's quite a feat these days to eat your cake and not have to share it with the tax man.

Your cake, along with your stocks, bonds, real estate, and other savings, is among the items you can't take with you. But these goodies may bring a gleam to the eye of Uncle Snatchie as you head into your eighth or ninth decade. Aha, you think — I'll get around those inheritance grabbers by giving away my property. To the grandchildren. To my friends. But there's just one little problem — how do you give it away with a string on it, and still keep it out of the tax man's clutches?

Well, part of the answer is not to wait too long before parting with your Municipals and that Xerox you bought back in 1950. "Last minute gifts," or those made "in contemplation of death" may still be set aside and taxed. Uncle will question gifts you might make within three years of death.

The heirs may be able to show that the donor had a "life motive." For example, he may have gotten married recently. Or started a new business. Or adopted children. These factors would indicate a "life motive," not contemplation of death. So the gift is not taxed as a part of the inheritance or estate.

You may make gifts in trust — or in trust accounts. Suppose you keep a "string on the gift," such as reserving use of the income for life? This will show you still regard yourself as the owner. The taxman treats the bank account or trust property as if you are still owner.

Can you make a gift, but hold on to it as long as you live? Generally, no. Say you give your home to your son, signing a deed to the property. But you stay in the house, living there rent free. The house would still be considered part of your estate. Technically, you have retained a life interest.

Suppose you set up a joint bank account. You put in $5,000. The other person puts in $38.50. Here there is no valuable contribution by the other party. This is not a completed gift. You still have control over the joint account.

Even if you escape the inheritance man, if the gifts are large, then the gift tax man will come knocking on your door. Generally, though, his bite is smaller.

Good estate planning can greatly reduce taxes. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Youth Agencies To Share Funds

The Marin Charitable Foundation has announced it will divide its proceeds from the April 29 Marin Hike for Help among three youth agencies in Marin and one in Petaluma.

Mrs. John R. Manwaring of San Rafael said the foundation has promised grants in Marin including: $1,000 to Big Brothers, $4,000 to the Young Men's Christian Association, and $400 to Amigos de las Americas. Another $1,000 has been promised to the Petaluma Police Activities League.

A fourth Marin agency, Marin Civic Ballet has already received $1,000 from the organization this year.

Hike proceeds will be divided between the foundation and People-to-People Health Foundation's Project Hope.

Prison Rampage Is Reported

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Prisoners went on a rampage at the Adult Correctional Institutions here shortly before noon Monday taking at least two guards hostage. Authorities reported a fire in the carpentry shop.

The two guards were released when authorities threatened to use tear gas but it could not be determined immediately whether other hostages had been taken.

Gov. Philip W. Noel was reported enroute to the institution, but his office said it was unclear what he intended to do at the prison.

Commercial Zoning On Tap

Novato City Council will consider commercial zoning for 32 acres of the Hanna Ranch at its regular meeting starting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

A hearing on rezoning the land at the future Rowland Boulevard interchange east of Highway 101 is scheduled for 10:20 p.m.

The council also is scheduled to adopt a set of procedures for environmental impact reports, as required by the state.

Expansion Of Bus Fleet Under Study

A staff recommendation to expand the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus fleet by another 30 coaches will be considered by the transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The district now has 188 buses. They operate close to peak capacity during commuter hours, carrying more than 7,000 people to work in San Francisco every morning.

$55 Is Stolen At Marin Hotel

A cash box at the Bermuda Palms hotel on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael was rifled of $55 today by a man and woman who handcuffed a room clerk while holding him at gunpoint.

According to police, the man knocked on the hotel's office door at 2:20 a.m. and asked for a room, then burst in, accompanied by the woman and brandishing the gun.

Boundaries On List

The Novato Unified School District board will consider changing junior high school attendance boundaries at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato High School Lecture Hall.

Air Conditioning Good In Winter

CALDWELL, N.J. (UPI) — Auto air conditioning in the winter may sound about as unnecessary as carrying coals to Newcastle, but it can be of real service to the driver.

"The quickest way to clear up fogged windshields in your automobile is to turn on the air conditioning system," advises Thomas J. Nagle, who heads Scovill's General Hose and Coupling operation here.

He adds that a shot of dehumidified cool air will clear every window in the car within 30 seconds at any time of year - if you have the courage to turn on your air conditioner when it is below freezing outside.

Funds Granted For Clothing

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School District has become the first in the state to win permission to use federal money to cloth needy children.

The Texas Education Agency has approved spending $325,000 in federal money during 1972-73 to buy clothes for needy children of the district.

About 11,000 children will be eligible to participate in the program. Houston district officials said.

Council Hopefuls Will Appear

Candidates for election to the San Rafael City Council will appear at two candidates nights this week.

Candidates will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of the Redeemer, 121 Knight Drive, Glenwood and 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Vallecito School, Terra Linda.

The events are sponsored by local homeowner's associations.

Electrical Fires Now The Leader

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faulty wiring and electrical equipment have replaced causes related to smoking or heating as the No. 1 fire hazard in the United States, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Fires attributable to cigarettes or matches, once a leading cause, dropped to a new low of 12.9 per cent of all accidental fires.

Coffee Speaker

Carl J. (Red) Brown, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, will speak at a campaign coffee at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Cook Sterner home, 11 Longwood Drive.

OBITUARIES

Eleanor Peacock Dies At 67

Eleanor Peacock of Fairfax died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 67.

A native of Oakland, Mrs. Peacock had lived in Marin County for 37 years, and until moving to 2555 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax two years ago, the family home was in Woodacre.

She was a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club Ladies Auxilliary, and until her illness was a keen fisherwoman.

She is survived by her husband, Loyal, of the family home, a son, Robert J. Peacock of Woodacre, two daughters Eleanor O'Connor of El Paso, Tex., and Doris Celoni of Fairfax.

She also is survived by a sister, Bess Meyer of Fremont, two brothers, Myron Hansen of Walnut Creek and Elmer Hansen of Danville, and by six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at Fairfax Community Church, Fairfax on Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

MRS. CAIN

Bridie M. Cain of San Rafael died unexpectedly today in Ireland, where she had gone for the funeral of a brother. She was 70.

Mrs. Cain had made her home with her son, Frank J. Cain, at 205 Laurel Place, for about the past five years.

She was born in Thomastown, County Kilkenny, Ireland, but came to New York as a young woman. She was employeed for many years at E. P. Dutton publishers.

In San Rafael, she was a member of St. Raphael's Church.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two grandchildren, three sisters, Gretta Walsh of New York and Helena Bookle and Kathleen Mullins of Ireland, and a brother, Thomas Mullins of Ireland.

A Memorial Mass will be held later. Burial will be in Ireland.

MARSHALL DUNN

Private funeral for Marshall James Dunn of Fairfax was held today in San Rafael. Inurnment was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Sacramento, he had lived in Marin for more than 40 years. He and his wife, Thelma, resided with their daughter, Marcia J. Dunn, in her Fairfax home at 3 Geary Way.

Dunn was a retired sales supervisor of a San Francisco liquor distributing company. He was a member of the Olympic Club and a former member of the Merchants Exchange, San Francisco.

He also is survived by a brother, Bernard J. Dunn of Morgan Hill.

His family asked that memorial contributions go to the Heart Fund.

THOMAS G. CLEVELAND

Private graveside services for Thomas G. Cleveland, a former locomotive engineer, were held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Ukiah, he had lived in Marin County 50 years, residing at 519 Bonita Street. For 43 years prior to his retirement he was employed as an engineer with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Cleveland is survived by his wife, Anne F. Cleveland.

ROBERT STALEY

Robert Keith Staley, 15, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was born in Tokyo, Japan, and had lived in Petaluma for nine years. Staley was a ninth grade student at Kenilworth Junior High School. He was a member of Boy Scouts of America and Petaluma Boys' Club.

He was the son of Irvin and Emiko Staley, 430 Stuart Drive. His father operates Staley's backhoe service.

He is also survived by two brothers, Richard and Raymond Staley of the family home; and four grandparents.

JOHN C. KEMPVANEE

Private funeral for John C. Kempvanee of Mill Valley was held there yesterday.

Kempvanee, 84, died Saturday in a local hospital after a sudden illness.

A native of Georgia, he moved to California as a boy and spent most of his life in Sacramento before moving to Marin County a month ago where he resided at 40 Camino Alto.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy, of Mill Valley and three stepdaughters, Jacqueline P. Shaw of Kentfield, Hope P. Kewin of Mill Valley and Mary P. Gardner of Sacramento.

GINA I. WOOLDRIDGE

Private funeral has been held for Gina I. Wooldridge, 76, who died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Wooldridge, who had lived in Marin 12 years, made her home in San Anselmo before she was hospitalized.

She was born in Santa Rosa.

She and her husband, the late Col. Henry E. Wooldridge, made their home in Honolulu for many years. Colonel Wooldridge served with the Air Force in World Wars I and II.

Mrs. Wooldridge is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Barbara J. Farmer of Fairfax;/her mother, Mrs. Grace K. Monsen of Greenbrae; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial will be at sea.

MRS. HANSON

Funeral for Barbara Smith Hanson, Novato restaurateur and a Marin beauty queen in the 1940s, was held today.

Mrs. Hanson, who lived at 190 Alameda de la Loma, Ignacio, died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 45.

Mrs. Hanson operated the El Toreador restaurant on Redwood Highway for two years, and took active part in the work of volunteer groups. She also was a member of Las Gallinas Golf Club.

Born in San Francisco, she lived most of her life in Larkspur, and was named the first Queen of Marin in 1945, a pageant sponsored by the Lion's Club. She was a former Colege of Marin student.

Survivors are a daughter, Janie, and a son, Tony, both of Ignacio; her mother, Ann Smith of Larkspur, and a sister, Shirley Smith of Mountain View.

HORACE BURGAN

Private funeral for Horace C. Burgan, 69, former Marin resident, will be held tomorrow at Eggen and Lance Mortuary, Santa Rosa.

Burgan died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was a native of Minnesota and moved to Marin County in 1925. He and his wife, Mabel, had moved to Santa Rosa four months ago.

He is also survived by a son, Robert R. Burgan of Larkspur. Burial will be private.

BERTHA P. McANINCH

Funeral for Bertha P. McAninch, 86, long-time Petaluma resident, was held today in Petaluma.

Mrs. McAninch died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was a native of Lakeport and moved to Petaluma in 1921.

She and her late husband, Roy McAninch, had operated a grocery store known as the High School Cafeteria on High Street from 1925 until his death in 1953.

She is survived by a granddaughter, five great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandsons.

started to boycott yesterday with Sunday about 15 to 20 per cent off."

In contrast, Michael Smith, co-owner of Grant Avenue Meats, 1557-A South Novato Boulevard, Novato, a small independent market, said: "Yesterday was a good day . . . a better day than normal."

Guido Bisazza of the Big G supermarket, 100 Harbor Drive Sausalito, said: "Saturday and Sunday were normal. I think this week will tell the story."

Norman Soldavini, proprietor of the West End Market, Fourth and G streets, San Rafael, said "Friday and Saturday we had a full house. It looked to me like people were stocking up for the boycott."

In Tiburon, Ray Kelley of the Boardwalk Market said business was good Thursday and Friday but fell off Saturday and yesterday, but a weekend lag is normal since many residents are away on weekends. "They are definitely hitting the cheaper cuts," he said.

At Scotty's Market, 620 Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, San Rafael, Joseph Messina said: Saturday was about normal but yesterday was a stinkeroo."

Hubert Fenstermaker at Cala Foods Market, 1530 Center Road, Novato, said "The average housewife feeding a large family is picking cheaper cuts of meat." He said sales were about average Saturday.

Charles Young, proprietor of the Rainbow Market, 483 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, a neighborhood market, said business had been about normal.

Buthcers mentioned other factors such as upcoming income tax and property tax and that it was a pre-payday weekend but generally agreed with the comment by Bisazza that "This week will tell the story."

The mixed reaction — some markets reporting normal sales, other somewhat reduced sales — was typical of the Bay Area scene. But nationally, there have been repercussions according to United Press International.

The wire service reported hog prices slightly off at principal Midwest markets, dropping $4 per hundredweight in some places, $3 in others.

UPI reported that more than 1,000 workers have been laid off at meat packing firms in the beef-rich Iowa-Nebraska area.

California packers, said UPI, have laid off some employees and sent others on mandatory vacation.

But beef on the hoof, not included in the current price ceiling by President Nixon, has moved $1 to $1.50 higher.

Other effects of rising prices and boycott talk, UPI said, have been the joining of some restaurants in the boycott in New York City, offering reduced prices on meatless dishes.

Firms producing meat substitutes are doing a rush business, according to UPI, firms such as one producing dehydrated soy granules for meatloaf.

SFO Plan Approved By Judge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Judge Albert Wollenberg of U.S. District Court has approved a reorganization program for San Francisco and Oakland Helicopter Airlines Inc., under which the company is allowed to stay in business and issue new securities to its creditors.

Judge Wollenberg called the plan, formulated through working with company creditors ununder the Bankruptcy Act, "fair, equitable and feasible."

The plan does not provide anything for the old stockholders since the judge found that SFO has current liabilities of $4.9 million compared to a total value of the company of about $3.6 million.

The secured creditors of the financially troubled airline are owed about $1,452,999, while unsecured creditors were owed nearly $3.5 million.

The reorganization plan calls for Trans World Airlines, which is owed about $1,099,000, to get $500,000 in new Class A common stock with the rest of the debt to be paid in 60-monthly installments.

A new issue of Class B stock totalling 702,000 shares will be distributed pro rata to the remaining creditors.

Judge Wollenberg based his approval mainly on a report from the Securities and Exchange Commission, which noted that SFO's financial performance has improved markedly since August 1970, when federal trustees assumed office.

Richard Lovorn, chief executive of SFO, said the company is flying 68 scheduled flights each day between the San Francisco and Oakland airports and heliports in Marin and Berkeley.

White House's Air Fleet Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., says the White House plans to more than double the fleet of helicopters reserved for its own use at a cost of $37.7 million.

In a weekend statement, Aspin said President Nixon should take his budget pruning battle to his own department by canceling an order for 17 new helicopters used to carry dignitaries to and from the rear lawn of the White House.

The White House already has 16 helicopters that are only one year old, Aspin said.

Pentagon officials, however, said the new aircraft would not be added to the present fleet but would replace it, with the 16 helicopters reverting to military use.

One New Candidate, Another One Bows

The June 12 Petaluma Board of Education election lost one candidate and gained a new one today.

Robert D. McFarland, vice president of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association, announced today he will be a candidate while Dona Lee Cook said she has changed her mind and will not run.

The terms of Arthur L. Lafranchi, Dr. William K. Kortum and Dr. Wesley W. Ebert will expire. Kortum has said he will not run again, Ebert has said he will and Lafranchi has not decided.

McFarland, 34, is employed as district representative for the state compensation insurance fund in the Santa Rosa office. He is a native of West Los Angeles and received a degree in economics from Loyola University.

McFarland received his secondary teaching credential at University of San Francisco and also studied one year at Hastings College of Law. He previously taught in San Francisco and Tulare County.

In addition to the homeowners association, McFarland is president of citizens organized to acquire access to state tidelands and was active on the Sonoma County Committee for Proposition 20 in the November election.

Music And Dance Concert Scheduled

WRECKAGE — Shattered rear-view mirrors litter the ground, mute testimony to the force with which this motorcycle and car collided on Nicasio Road. Motorcyclist Stephen C. Brocksen, the major artery from his heart torn in the crash, was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital but lucky to be alive at all as a result of unusual surgery undertaken at the hospital.

Youth's Life Is Saved By Rare Heart Surgery

Stephen C. Brocksen is alive today and he has the surgical and emergency staff at Marin General Hospital to thank for that.

The 16-year-old Novato youh suffered a torn aorta in a motorcycle accident Saturday, an injury that is fatal in about 98 per cent of all cases, according to a hospital spokesman.

Brocksen, hurt when his cycle and a car collided head-on on Nicasio Valley Road, was rushed to the hospital with massive hemorrhaging from the major artery leading from the heart.

Following emergency treatment, he underwent an aortic graft, the first time the procedure has been performed in Marin.

The spokesman said surgeons used plastic tubing to bypass the damaged part of the artery so they could work on it. Plastic material was also used to repair the hole in the arterial wall.

Brocksen spent nine hours in surgery and received 25 pints of blood — his entire blood supply was replaced twice — including two pints donated by physicians who were observing the unusual operation.

The teen-ager remained in critical condition today in the hospital's intensive care unit, but he was reported conscious and able to talk.

Brocksen, of 840 Sutro Avenue, was injured shortly before noon when his northbound cycle collided with a southbound car driven by Jill A. Grismas, 27, of 86 Mesa Road, Point Reyes Station, near the intersection of Nicasio and Lucas Valley roads.

Mrs. Grismas complained of chest pains following the crash and 6-year-old Monro Grismas, a passenger in the car, received a bump on the head.

High School Fails In Radio Bid

Redwood High School's attempts to operate its own radio station have failed because there are no clear frequencies available in the Bay Area.

The Tamalpais High School District applied to the Federal Communications Commission last December for a license to operate the FM station, which was to have broadcast to the entire Ross Valley.

Truman Whorton, industrial arts teacher, who launched the radio station venture today said it appears there is no way Redwood can solve the dilemma.

"We've been advised that we could wait until 1975 and then challenge the relicensing of KPFA in Berkeley (a nonprofit educational station) because it has two frequencies," he said.

"But the legal costs of the challenge would be $25,000, so that's out," said Whorton.

News of the absence of frequencies came after Whorton had already paid an engineering consultant $300 to do preliminary work for station KRHS.

The initial $9,290 to get KRHS on the air came from the district's federal Vocational Education Act funds, and the $8,990 left — which must be spent before July 1 —will be allocated to some other career education project in the district.

Civic Center Calls Now Toll-Free

Residents of Southern and West Marin may place toll-free telephone calls to the Civic Center using a recently established Enterprise number, the communications department has announced.

To reach Civic Center offices, residents dial operator and ask for "Enterprise 12924"

The new system, to be tested for three months, means the county will pick up the expense of phone calls from eight telephone exchanges.

Those include Belvedere-Tiburon, Sausalito, Stinson Beach-Bolinas, Point Reyes Station, Tomales, Inverness, Valley Ford and Petaluma.

The sheriff's office and the Department of Public Socul Services have separate Enterprise numbers which were established some time ago.

For the Department of Public Social Services the number is "Enterprise 19129" and for the Sheriff's Office it's "Enterprise 11560."

Schooling Horse Show Is Set

The Marin Mounted 4-H Club will hold a schooling horse show at the Novato Horsemen's Arena Sunday beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Profits from the show will go to the Marin County 4-H Club Council.

Eighteen classes will be judged, including maiden jumper, western pleasure and working hunter.

Creek Bike Path Will Open Friday

The Corte Madera Creek bike path will open officially with ceremonies Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the Adaline Kent School ballfield in Kentfield.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will participate. Prizes will be awarded for the youngest and oldest cyclists, the most unusual bicycle and unicycle, the best decorated bicycle and the best early American costume.

Malicious Mischief Reported In Larkspur

Robert Andrew Kraft of 473 Magnolia Avenue, told police he spotted three juveniles throwing paint on his 1953 Chrysler at 12:25 a.m. yesterday, but failed to catch them.

Oleg Alexandrevich Kaluzhny of 7 Hazel Avenue, told police that two thirds of his garage wall was knocked down, two basement windows broken and the right rear tire of his Volkswagen was slashed, when he returned home at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Maris Bova told police that an outside carriage lantern at his apartments at 280 Lower Via Casitas, Greenbrae, was smashed by rocks on Saturday evening.

Michael Terrence Peck of apartment 68, 10 Skylark Drive, reported extensive damage to his 1971 white Mercury Cougar convertible at 1:40 a.m. yesterday.

Police said the convertible's top was slashed all over, the seats were slashed, the turn signal was torn from the steering column and stereo tapes destroyed.

This morning Peck reported his second car, a 1971 Oldsmobile convertible, had been stolen during the night. Its license number is 458 BWU.

Nixon Elevates Ford To Admiral

Nixon, describing himself as a fan of Ford's movies, attended a dinner with 900 Hollywood celebrities to honor the 78-year-old director. Nixon called Ford "one of the geniuses of his profession" and presented him with the nation's highest civilian award, the Medal of Freedom.

Noting that Ford holds a rear admiral's rank in the Naval Reserve, the Commander-in-Chief proclaimed "for the balance of this evening John Ford is a full admiral."

Fire Damages Home Heavily

Richard L. Deats of Poplar and Birch roads in Bolinas was working in a backyard shed when he heard fire engines at 4:20 p.m. yesterday.

The wind-whipped blaze, which was fought by 14 firemen and eight volunteers, gutted the Deats residence, according to Fire Chief Jose Silva. Damage to the home and contents was estimated at $23,000.

Cause of the fire, which took 20 minutes to contain, is under investigation.

SPACE AGE PUPPET — Children and adults at Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday were treated to a futuristic puppet show by Alonzo Gonzales. As the puppets — including a green Martian in a silver space suit — spoke, slides flashed on a screen behind them illustrating their dialogue.

2,000 See College Future Fare

While electronic music played, computers clacked and laser beams shot their powerful light during the Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday, a member of a new commune talked about what he thought future man should be: a new aborigine.

Sherman Chickering, a member of the Lonaku Community, told students they must "reclaim their pre-civilization heritage" through martial arts or "struggle games."

He and members of the Lonaku commune are living a stylized version of the scavenger forager life of modern man's ancestors, coming into direct exposure with his environment.

"We are making a place after 5,000 years for the male hormone," he said.

This hormone, he said, only manifests itself when men tests himself against his environment in "turf struggles," when the aborigine is in constant contact with opposing forces.

These games express man's need to "feel out" his environment and without them man becomes paranoid, frustrated, belligerent toward society, Chickering said.

Young people, the children of affluent America, he said, are turning away from the life style of/their fathers because "none of this involves my body, none of this feels real."

Martial arts, expressing what he called the "territorial imperative," or struggle for an undefined area or secure base, involves the discipline of mind, spirit and body."

Members of the Lonaku commune, until recently, lived on a patch of land in Napa County, which was taken over by the Napa School District, he said.

The Future Fare was an all-day event at the college's Harlan Center and presented 39 progras, many running simultaneously and including such varied offerings as displays and slides by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, schools in the year 2000 as imagined by students and faculty from San Jose's Alum Rock School District, Standard Oil Co.'s description of energy use and consumption, a panel on male-female sexuality, a puppet show, a lecture on blending astrolgy and creative psychology, and a film presenting the guru, Maharishi Mahesh.

FUTURE GAMES — Visitors to College of Marin's Future Fare Saturday played electronic ping pong by operating hand sets that move ghostly paddles and ball that appear on television screen in "Video Environments" room. On other screens flashed amoeba-like color patterns stored in video tapes, and views of what was going on in this and other rooms through mobile "audience participation" cameras.

Three To Be Seated As Sausalito Trustees

Three persons who filed for three available seats on the Sausalito School District board of trustees are scheduled to be appointed to the posts at today's meeting of the board at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Incumbents Barbara S. Harris and Betty J. Times had sought reelection and Douglas Fancher had filed for the seat made vacant by trustee Jesse E. Berry's decision not to run again.

Since no more than three candidates sought the seats, in the first uncontested election in the district in recent years, the trio will be appointed to the board for terms which will begin July 1.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, will administer the oath of office.

The board will also consider a recommendation by its master plan sterring committee that it adopt a resolution of intent to locate all students in one school. Currently the district operates two facilities, Bayside and Martin Luthering.

The steering committee had suggested that one school be constructed on the Bayside site and that all students be housed at King School while construction is going on.

The expanded school facility could be built with the $276,000 which the district will receive from the city of Sausalito, if voters approve an upcoming bond issue to purchase the old Central School for use as a new city hall.

Forest Fires

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky set a record low last year in one category and hopes the trend continues. The state Division of Forestry reports that 977 forest fires burned 9,424 acres of the state's extensive timberland.

Soviet Defector's Wife To Join Him

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Soviet authorities have agreed to permit the wife and son of Serz Karranikas, a defector from Russia, to join him in Sweden, his lawyer announced Sunday.

The announcement came one day before Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin begins an official five-day visit to Sweden.

Israel Receiving Jet Helicopters

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel said today it is receiving Jet Ranger helicopters from the United States, increasing the nation's military strike capability.

A military spokesman said the Bell 206 craft has been in the Air Force for more than a year, but censorship has not permitted publication of the fact.

2,000 See College Future Fare

While electronic music played, computers clacked and laser beams shot their powerful light during the Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday, a member of a new commune talked about what he thought future man should be: a new aborigine.

Sherman Chickering, a member of the Lonaku Community, told students they must "reclaim their pre-civilization heritage" through martial arts or "struggle games."

He and members of the Lonaku commune are living a stylized version of the scavenger forager life of modern man's ancestors, coming into direct exposure with his environment.

"We are making a place after 5,000 years for the male hormone," he said.

This hormone, he said, only manifests itself when men tests himself against his environment in "turf struggles," when the aborigine is in constant contact with opposing forces.

These games express man's need to "feel out" his environment and without them man becomes paranoid, frustrated, belligerent toward society, Chickering said.

Young people, the children of affluent America, he said, are turning away from the life style of/their fathers because "none of this involves my body, none of this feels real."

Martial arts, expressing what he called the "territorial imperative," or struggle for an undefined area or secure base, involves the discipline of mind, spirit and body."

Members of the Lonaku commune, until recently, lived on a patch of land in Napa County, which was taken over by the Napa School District, he said.

The Future Fare was an all-day event at the college's Harlan Center and presented 39 progras, many running simultaneously and including such varied offerings as displays and slides by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, schools in the year 2000 as imagined by students and faculty from San Jose's Alum Rock School District, Standard Oil Co.'s description of energy use and consumption, a panel on male-female sexuality, a puppet show, a lecture on blending astrolgy and creative psychology, and a film presenting the guru, Maharishi Mahesh.

SPACE AGE PUPPET — Children and adults at Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday were treated to a futuristic puppet show by Alonzo Gonzales. As the puppets — including a green Martian in a silver space suit — spoke, slides flashed on a screen behind them illustrating their dialogue.

FUTURE GAMES — Visitors to College of Marin's Future Fare Saturday played elecronic ping pong by operating hand sets that move ghostly paddles and ball that appear on television screen in "Video Environments" room. On other screens flashed amoeba-like color patterns stored in video tapes, and views of what was going on in this and other rooms through mobile "audience participation" cameras.

Three To Be Seated As Sausalito Trustees

Three persons who filed for three available seats on the Sausalito School District board of trustees are scheduled to be appointed to the posts at today's meeting of the board at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Incumbents Barbara S. Harris and Betty J. Times had sought reelection and Douglas Fancher had filed for the seat made vacant by trustee Jesse E. Berry's decision not to run again.

Since no more than three candidates sought the seats, in the first uncontested election in the district in recent years, the trio will be appointed to the board for terms which will begin July 1.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, will administer the oath of office.

The board will also consider a recommendation by its master plan sterring committee that it adopt a resolution of intent to locate all students in one school. Currently the district operates two facilities, Bayside and Martin Luthering.

The steering committee had suggested that one school be constructed on the Bayside site and that all students be housed at King School while construction is going on.

The expanded school facility could be built with the $276,000 which the district will receive from the city of Sausalito, if voters approve an upcoming bond issue to purchase the old Central School for use as a new city hall.

Forest Fires

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky set a record low last year in one category and hopes the trend continues. The state Division of Forestry reports that 977 forest fires burned 9,424 acres of the state's extensive timberland.

Soviet Defector's Wife To Join Him

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Soviet authorities have agreed to permit the wife and son of Serz Karranikas, a defector from Russia, to join him in Sweden, his lawyer announced Sunday.

The announcement came one day before Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin begins an official five-day visit to Sweden.

Israel Receiving Jet Helicopters

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel said today it is receiving Jet Ranger helicopters from the United States, increasing the nation's military strike capability.

A military spokesman said the Bell 206 craft has been in the Air Force for more than a year, but censorship has not permitted publication of the fact.

Museum Learns Mosaic Is Stolen

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A 4th Century Roman mosaic fragment acquired by Newark Museum in 1970 has been identified as one of two stolen pieces taken by thieves shortly after they were discovered in 1967.

Samuel C. Miller, director of the museum, confirmed Sunday reports that the nearly 10-foot square mosaic was one of the stolen pieces taken shortly after they were unearthed by a team of Belgian archaeologists in Syria.

Miller said the museum purchased the mosaic piece from a New York dealer for "less than $10,000," which he described as respectable and prestigious. He said he believed the dealer had acted in good faith and "might have been taken somewhat himself."

Miller said the stolen piece of treasure was identified during a "quiet investigation" conducted by the museum and an arcaeologist.

The piece was one of two floor mosaics depicting two bare-breasted Amazons, armed and on horse back, hunting a lion and a leopard with lances.

They were reported stolen from a room in the Roman governor's palace at Apamea, a noted archaeolgical site in western Syria. Location of the second piece remins unknown, Miller said, but archaeologists believe it may have been destroyed by the thieves.

Miller denied a London news report which said the museum planned to return the fragment to the Syrian government. He said the matter would be decided by the museum's board of trustees, and said the situation was not considered serious enough to warrant an investigation by law enforcement authorities here.

"We can't make grand statements at this time," he said. "Rest assured the museum is distresed, but must act with legal counsel and advice because we have a reputation involved here."

He said a trustees meeting scheduled for April 9 might be moved up now that the story has been made public. He said the trustees would make recommendations concerning the museum's research into the mosaic fragment.

New Bible Approved By All Christians

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first version of the Bible to be approved for use by all three major branches of Christianity was published in the United States today.

The English-language Revised Standard Version Common Bible, published by the National Council of Churches (NCC), was endorsed by prelates of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches.

The text of the new Bible is basically that of the Revised Standard Version of the Old and New Testaments, published in 1952, but it also includes the Apocrypha — Old Testament books accepted by the Catholic and Orthodox churches but not by the Protestants.

"At last we have an ecumenical Bible which answers 'No' to the question 'Is Christ divided?'" said Catholic Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, author of best-selling books on religion.

Episcopal Bishop Paul Moore said the new version of the Bible will make it possible for Christians "to seek our unity without unnecessary hindrance."

Other endorsers of the book include Catholic Cardinals Terence Cooke and John Krol, Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury Michael Ramsey and Archbishop Iakovos, Orthodox primate of North and South America.

The new Bible, planned by an NCC committee headed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert G. May of Oberlin College, was first published in England two months ago.

Air Passengers Pay Hijack Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air travelers are paying 34 cents more a flight today as their part of the cost of protecting against hijackers.

The surcharge went into effect Sunday. It was approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) last month to help the airlines pay for expensive electronic screening equipment and luggage inspections.

The airlines asked for a $1 per ticket boost, but the CAB approved only one-third of that amount.

Passengers will pay the extra 34 cents every time they board a flight. This means persons changing planes for connecting flights will pay the surcharge for each leg of their trip.

Ski Lift Cable Dumps Riders

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — A lift cable derailed at this ski resort Sunday, spilling a half dozen passengers about 20 feet to the snow.

There were no serious injuries reported.

The derailment was caused by youngsters swinging in their seats, causing the Exhibition Lift cable to jump the guide wheel, said Hans Von Nolde, a spokesman for the resort.

Times Writer To Give Talk In Kentfield

Earl Caldwell, New York Times correspondent and principal in a landmark Supreme Court ruling, will speak on "Freedom of the Press and the First Amendment" in a forum sponsored by the Marin County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union at 3 p.m., April 15 at the Ruth Lederman home, 16 Tree Top Way, Kentfield.

After writing a series on the Black Panther Party a few years ago, Caldwell was subpoenaed by a federal grand jury and asked to reveal his sources. He refused and subsequently his case resulted in a Supreme Court ruling opening newsmen to punishment for refusing to divulge story sources to grand juries.

To eliminate parking problems, a shuttle bus will run from 100 Goodhill Road to the Lederman home before the lecture.

Necessity Lacking For 3 Propositions

Four city boards and commissions are provided for by the San Rafael city charter: the board of education, fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and board of library trustees.

There is a fifth: the planning commission. However, it is not mentioned in the charter for the simple reason that such a thing as a planning commission had not occurred to anybody when the charter was adopted in 1912. It was created by ordinance, with its size fixed at seven members.

THE BOARDS and commissions set up by the charter have five members each. The city council would like to be free to change the number of members on fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board. It seeks that authority in Propositions H, J and K on the April 17 municipal election ballot.

Proposition H refers to the fire commission, Proposition J to the parks and recreation commission, and Proposition K to the library board. The three are otherwise identical: "Shall the (appropriate section) of the charter of the City of San Rafael be amended to provide that the city council shall set the number of members . . . by ordinance or resolution?"

Apparently the intent of the city council is to increase the three bodies to seven members each, with the idea that this would give better assurance of having a quorum present. (The record fails to bear out that seven-member commissions muster a quorum much more regularly than five-member commissions, but that has been put forth as a reason for change.)

HOWEVER, as City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. interprets the propositions, they would give the council authority to set the membership of these three boards at zero. In other words, under these propositions, the council could abolish the fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board.

A case might be made for abolishing the fire commission. It was set up because at the time the charter was adopted, San Rafael had an all-volunteer fire department and a commission was deemed necessary to keep city control of it. We doubt, however, that the city council would seriously consider abolishing the parks and recreation commission or the library board.

Some future city council might, though — if the way were left open by the proposed charter amendments.

WE DO NOT like backdoor methods. If the council wants to abolish a charter-created commission, its abolishment should be put up to the voters — not a device by which it could be abolished under the guise of changing the number of members.

We see no necessity for increasing or decreasing the membership of any of these boards. A five-member board is probably the most workable size.

We therefore recommend rejection of Propositions H, J and K.

Adapting Raccoons

Zoologists say that by destroying and changing the wild, wooded areas of Marin to subdued suburbs loaded with cats and dogs, we destroy the natural habitat of the wild creatures. Unquestionably true. But some adapt to the altered habitat with amazing tenacity.

Raccoons, for example, don't give ground. They grow fat where lightpoles replace trees. Concrete culverts provide homes.

Raccoons lived in California tens of thousands of years before the arrival of the Indians. They are not going to be dispossessed by any late-coming upstarts.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TONIGHT

Marinites Missing Chance To Help Plan Transit

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Transit plans of vital interest to Marin are being drafted with virtually no involvement by Marin citizens.

Decisions on stations and routings through San Francisco will be made entirely by San Francisco citizens unless Marinites wake up and join the citizen panel advising Golden Gate Bridge District consultants who are planning the future rapid transit system.

The consultants made a real effort to involve representatives of Marin groups in the panel, but with little result. If Marin citizens leave the job to political infighting among San Francisco groups, the result may be a transit system that fails to serve the very people using it.

Details of the study will be explained by the board of control of the Golden Gate Corridor Transportation Study, which oversees the consultants' work, at 7:30 p.m. today in the planning commission chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The citizen panel will hold its first meeting in Marin at 8 p.m. on April 10 in Sausalito's Central School. Membership on the panel still is open to anyone.

HOW ODD IT SEEMED that both Marinites elected to run the new Regional Citizens Forum were conservative Republicans! The forum, after all, was spawned by the Association of Bay Area Governments, which hardly qualifies as a conservative's ideal mother. It is only one step from regionalism to the horrors of world government, in the eyes of many conservatives.

Checking further, we found that up to 15 of the 20 persons elected to the coordinating committee have been active in conservative causes and organizations.

We also found the conservatives were well organized to take over the forum, and distributed slates of their candidates as people arrived for the meeting, held recently in San Francisco. Other groups also pushed slates, but obviously not so successfully.

Elected from Marin were Verna Vargas of Belvedere and Mike Djordjevich of San Rafael. Both assured us they knew nothing about the slate, and just happened to attend the meeting. Mrs. Vargas added that she had not even seen Djordjevich for some 10 years.

Mrs. Vargas, vice chairman of the California Federation of Republican Women, suggested she may have been elected partly because of the ethnic quality of her name. Djordjevich, a former president of the Young Republicans of California, may have gotten an additional boost because of his Slavic accent.

The forum ought to have an interesting history.

IF PROPOSITION 20 created panic in the air at Seadrift at Stinson Beach, where residents enjoy the privacy insured by a guarded gate, it is unwarranted. A spokesman for the attorney general's office said there was no way the proposition could be used to remove the gate.

The untouchables, will continue to be herded away to the public beach.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Returned POW Gives Tribute To Overlooked Vietnam Veterans

I have just read your editorial of March 23 "Honor POWs — Also Others Who Fought." I would like to voice my wholehearted agreement with all you have said. Soldiers are not politicians — nor can they be. I feel a man in the military who has stood by his country in her most difficult hours, regardless of whether he returned home as a war-weary GI or ex-POW, reflects great credit upon the man's character, and a confidence in his government which is so important to our nation in such agonizing times as the past decade has brought.

As POWs, we served you proudly, the same as we did when we were still in the action. The men who finished their tours — the veterans — are no different than we, and in the same circumstances would have done the same thing. I would like to think of myself as one of them and nothing more. Any credit going to us as returning POWs should also go to them.

Personally I owe them a great debt because without the continued support and courage of the American fighting man, I would still be in North Vientam. Please join me in expressing gratitude and recognition to these servicemen who have given so much only to return to an indifferent America.

Cut Travel Expenses For Public Officials

It is disconcerting to learn that the Marin County supervisors have voted to increase travel expense allowance for county personnel on trips outside of the county.

Elected official should be the first to recognize the need to economize if inflation is to be curbed. Who is going to hold the line if they don't set the example?

My suggestion is to reduce the number of trips, curtail increased trip allowances, and otherwise act for the best interests of the people by economizing in all county transactions.

County Planning Board Deaf To City Protests

Most of us do not see our public officials in direct action even though it is free for our viewing. I would not have, had not a crucial issue concerning the community in which I live necessitated it.

Our community in San Anselmo is zoned R-1 and is practically built. One of the last remaining pieces of land was recently purchased speculatively for development. This property is adjacent to the City of San Anselmo and to Sorich Park at the end of San Francisco Boulevard at Sacramento Street. The developer requested a zoning change for his property . . . in order to build 44 attached units. The citizens for nine months worked toward denial of this — packing the Marin County Planning Commission hearing room several times to protest this rezoning and offering a multitude of sound data to back a denial of the application. The City of San Anselmo itself had held public hearings on the matter and it appeared before the county (with three representative spokesmen) to plead the denial. The planning commission listened with deaf ears and approved the rezoning and the planned development 5-to-1.

Except for a very concerned and dedicated Commissioner John West, the planning commission disregarded the City of San Anselmo's stand, disregarded inadequacy of facilities, and totally ignored the concern of the citizenry to protect its welfare and environment. The chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, Jack Nixon, who, by the way, is now running for San Rafael City Council, seemed to wholeheartedly support the developers. . .

Dedicated Teacher Makes Bus Trip Delight

Recently (March 24 and 25) I joined a bus trip to Reno sponsored by Mr. "Mike" Convis on behalf of the Drake Scholarship Fund. I have been told he teaches at Drake High School in San Anselmo.

This man is outstanding in his zeal for his cause! It has been a very long time since I have witnessed one person work so hard. He did not rest on the bus going or coming home. He sold sandwiches and cold drinks, held a raffle, told great jokes — and still had time to talk to each and every person on the bus! Credit should also be given to his charming wife, and last but not least to our expert driver.

Can't wait to join his trip this May!

Getting Rid Of Cat In Humane Way Expensive

A group of young girls care for a number of society's rejects — kittens dumped at their horse barn. Recently they held a horse show to raise funds to have two female kittens spayed and had planned to utilize the services of a relatively low-cost clinic in San Rafael.

Unfortunately one of the females became ill and at 5:45 p.m. a frantic call from my daughter resulted in our driving the kitten to the local vet, who diagnosed probably distemper. The options were hospitalization, intravenous fluids, etc., with no guarantee of recovery, or euthanasia. We elected the latter for a cost of $15 — magnanimously no charge was made for the examination.

Had there been time the Humane Society would have provided this service free, or for a small donation. It is obvious why the local veterinarians are opposed to low-cost clinics — humane treatment is secondary to financial gain.

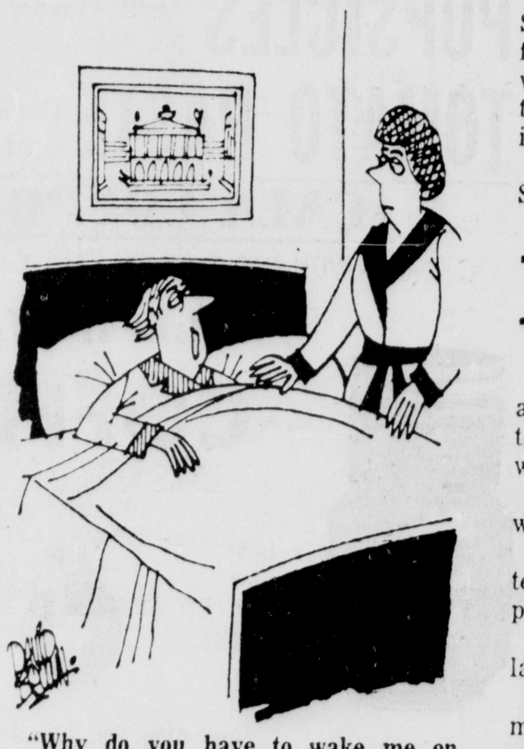
TODAY'S WORLD



"Why do you have to wake me on Monday and TELL me it's Monday?"

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Next time your wife asks you to testify about arriving home late from the office, try claiming executive privilege and see where it gets you.

Tell her to submit all questions in writing.

Around our house, when a fellow attempts to act like a president his supreme court overrules him.

Congressmen aren't the only ones who lay down the law.

In marriage as in politics, there's many a clash between an executive's privilege and the lawmaker's prerogative.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Ready To 'Hit The Road' For 'Generation Of Peace'

MORE TRIPS ABROAD FOR NIXON! He may well turn out to be the most traveled President. The word in the White House is that Mr. Nixon will be going next to Europe, Japan, Latin America and Africa.

Purpose: to carry forward his goal of a "generation of peace."

He aims to make it clear to allies and adversaries that the United States is not withdrawing from world leadership.

CHINA SEEKS EXPANDING ROLE IN EUROPE. There is evidence that Peking is totally shedding its diplomatic isolation. It aims to spread its influence to that part of the world where the Soviet Union will like it least —western and eastern Europe.

China has established diplomatic relations with Spain and has diplomatic ties with every European government except Portugal.

Its target is the Soviet Union, whose influence in Europe it hopes to undercut. Much to Moscow's dismay, Peking is advocating European unity and is backing NATO.

NO WONDER LEONID BREZHNEV IS COMING TO WASHINGTON. The Soviet leader wants to make it evident that Moscow does not want anything to stand in the way of cordial U.S.-Soviet relations. And he wants to hear it anew from Mr. Nixon that nothing will be done with China adverse to Russian interests.

WHAT WILL LIBERALS NOW THINK OF WALTER LIPPMANN? They'll be very unhappy. He was the darling of most liberals when he was vigorously opposing the U.S. defense of Vietnam. But now that he is saying so much in approval of President Nixon, he may soon be their principal target.

In an interview, Ronald Steel, his biographer, asked Lippmann if the Nixon administration "should be welcomed by liberals because it's headed off a reaction that could have degenerated into fascism?" Lippmann's reply:

"I supported Nixon in '68 and I preferred him vastly to McGovern. That doesn't mean I am enthusiastically pro-Nixon. What he's done is historical. Nixon has performed a service that historically had to be performed if American society was not to be blown up or disintegrate or crumble."

Lippmann was asked: "Would you give Nixon rather high marks?"

Answer: "Yes."

A CREDO FOR RED-HOT ENVIRONMENTALISTS: It could read: "I will drive small cars." Every time an automobile of 2,000 pounds or less uses five gallons of gas polluting the air, a car weighing 5,000 pounds uses 15 gallons of gas polluting the air. A lot of pollution could be stopped quickly by driving lighter cars.

BIG CUTS IN MILITARY MANPOWER. Only major savings open to the Nixon administration in defense spending can come from slimming the armed forces, primarily the Army.

Plan now is to cut total manpower by at least one million during the coming 12 months. Now that withdrawal from Vietnam is at point of completion, ground troops will be reduced to near zero in Korea, Taiwan, the Phillipines and Thailand.

HAS NIXON PAINTED himself in corner on Watergate? He has explicitly asserted that White House Counsel John W. Dean III did not have advance knowledge of the break-in and bugging. Unless he knows who did have such knowledge, how can he be sure Dean didnt?

Obviously somebody high in the administration had to approve the operation. If he is certain Dean did not authorize it, then the President fairly can be pressed to tell who did.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Try Dirt Under Fingernails As Form Of Political Protest

DANVILLE, Va. — It's a pity Mr. Nixon and his economic advisers were not within range of WDVA ("1250 in Dixie") the other morning when Homer T. was doing the "Open Mike" show and everybody and his sister were calling in about high food prices.

It would have given him still another suggestion to offer to the hungry public, along with meatless Tuesday and eating more cheese and fish and chicken. And this one, coming as it did from people with firsthand experience at making ends meet, may be the most practical of all. You should know that WDVA spins country music when Homer T. is not answering the phone with his mike open, so a lot of those who call in with comments are either in the country or from it. Not one in the hundred, though, is one of the country types popularly blamed for the prices we have to pay at the supermarket these days — the specialized, mechanized, subsidized, corporate farmer.

THESE ARE MAINLY plain dirt farmers, direct-action types who became accustomed early to attacking economic problems with a hoe instead of a lot of sleight-of-hand paper work. And that was their consistent advice, through Homer T., to the nation at large: Get out there and grow it yourself.

Most of them ladies of middle age and up, Homer's callers might think I was making fun of them if I tried to reproduce their dialogue exactly. The closest thing to it, for those of you outside WDVA's listening area, is the conversation of Andy Griffith and his friends on television in Mayberry, N.C. For me, it is just the way home folks talk.

Some of them salted in a little subtle social comment with their economic advice. One said that if they took all those people off welfare and stopped giving them food stamps when they were able to work as hard as anybody else, that would take care of the food problem. Another noted that everybody was moving to the country these days, but nobody was doing any work when he got there. One told of the crops she had grown during World War I, and nearly all reminisced about the gardens they raised during World War II.

THEN JUST ABOUT that time the lady of the house here asked would I like some fresh turnip salad for lunch. The response, of course, was "Why not?" And when she went next door with a kitchen knife to cut a colander full, I followed in a few minutes and took a survey of what was growing out back.

With her expert advice, I recorded six kinds of daffodils (jonquils, to her); four kinds of narcissus; pansies, forsythia, bridal wreath, hyacinth and candytuft, all in bloom; dogwood, budding but held back by last week's snow; budding azaleas and iris, running roses, camellias, peonies, wisteria and pyracantha still to come. The jasmine bloomed in the snow right after Christmas.

In the 40-by-50 grass plot behind the garage, two mature apple trees bear copiously every other July. But during the war, they were not there. The plot was a victory garden. My impression that I was mostly responsible for it no doubt is one of those magnifications of youth, for it is mildly disputed by those then in authority.

Anyhow, by family enterprise, we had snaps (green beans to you), tomatoes, squash, spring onions, little colored butter beans, strawberries, radishes, lettuce and cucumbers. We canned snaps, tomatoes and butter beans in Mason jars. The grapevines planted by my grandfather were still producing, and that made dozens of jars of jelly, sealed with wax.

YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE how good it all was, and how much of it could come out of one back-yard garden like that. Or maybe you would, if you have tried it yourself. A lot of Americans have, but have forgotten how, or they remember but prefer eating TV dinners to bending over. A lot of mostly younger ones are into gardening now as if they discovered it; it has become a fad some people associate with communes and social dropoutism.

Too bad! But not hopeless. As I read the seed catalogue in bed, about Honey Rock cantaloupes and Straight Eight cucumbers, I formulated a plan of national action, to be given political cachet by presidential endorsement — to reclaim the best things in life, with are almost free, for the great silent majority.

Say it, Mr. President, maybe even set an example yourself, there in the White House Rose Garden: a new form of mass protest, as simple as getting a little dirt under your fingernails.

Museum Learns Mosaic Is Stolen

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A 4th Century Roman mosaic fragment acquired by Newark Museum in 1970 has been identified as one of two stolen pieces taken by thieves shortly after they were discovered in 1967.

Samuel C. Miller, director of the museum, confirmed Sunday reports that the nearly 10-foot square mosaic was one of the stolen pieces taken shortly after they were unearthed by a team of Belgian archaeologists in Syria.

Miller said the museum purchased the mosaic piece from a New York dealer for "less than $10,000," which he described as respectable and prestigious. He said he believed the dealer had acted in good faith and "might have been taken somewhat himself."

Miller said the stolen piece of treasure was identified during a "quiet investigation" conducted by the museum and an arcaeologist.

The piece was one of two floor mosaics depicting two bare-breasted Amazons, armed and on horse back, hunting a lion and a leopard with lances.

They were reported stolen from a room in the Roman governor's palace at Apamea, a noted archaeolgical site in western Syria. Location of the second piece remins unknown, Miller said, but archaeologists believe it may have been destroyed by the thieves.

Miller denied a London news report which said the museum planned to return the fragment to the Syrian government. He said the matter would be decided by the museum's board of trustees, and said the situation was not considered serious enough to warrant an investigation by law enforcement authorities here.

"We can't make grand statements at this time," he said. "Rest assured the museum is distresed, but must act with legal counsel and advice because we have a reputation involved here."

He said a trustees meeting scheduled for April 9 might be moved up now that the story has been made public. He said the trustees would make recommendations concerning the museum's research into the mosaic fragment.

New Bible Approved By All Christians

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first version of the Bible to be approved for use by all three major branches of Christianity was published in the United States today.

The English-language Revised Standard Version Common Bible, published by the National Council of Churches (NCC), was endorsed by prelates of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches.

The text of the new Bible is basically that of the Revised Standard Version of the Old and New Testaments, published in 1952, but it also includes the Apocrypha — Old Testament books accepted by the Catholic and Orthodox churches but not by the Protestants.

"At last we have an ecumenical Bible which answers 'No' to the question 'Is Christ divided?'" said Catholic Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, author of best-selling books on religion.

Episcopal Bishop Paul Moore said the new version of the Bible will make it possible for Christians "to seek our unity without unnecessary hindrance."

Other endorsers of the book include Catholic Cardinals Terence Cooke and John Krol, Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury Michael Ramsey and Archbishop Iakovos, Orthodox primate of North and South America.

The new Bible, planned by an NCC committee headed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert G. May of Oberlin College, was first published in England two months ago.

Air Passengers Pay Hijack Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air travelers are paying 34 cents more a flight today as their part of the cost of protecting against hijackers.

The surcharge went into effect Sunday. It was approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) last month to help the airlines pay for expensive electronic screening equipment and luggage inspections.

The airlines asked for a $1 per ticket boost, but the CAB approved only one-third of that amount.

Passengers will pay the extra 34 cents every time they board a flight. This means persons changing planes for connecting flights will pay the surcharge for each leg of their trip.

Ski Lift Cable Dumps Riders

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — A lift cable derailed at this ski resort Sunday, spilling a half dozen passengers about 20 feet to the snow.

There were no serious injuries reported.

The derailment was caused by youngsters swinging in their seats, causing the Exhibition Lift cable to jump the guide wheel, said Hans Von Nolde, a spokesman for the resort.

Times Writer To Give Talk In Kentfield

Earl Caldwell, New York Times correspondent and principal in a landmark Supreme Court ruling, will speak on "Freedom of the Press and the First Amendment" in a forum sponsored by the Marin County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union at 3 p.m., April 15 at the Ruth Lederman home, 16 Tree Top Way, Kentfield.

After writing a series on the Black Panther Party a few years ago, Caldwell was subpoenaed by a federal grand jury and asked to reveal his sources. He refused and subsequently his case resulted in a Supreme Court ruling opening newsmen to punishment for refusing to divulge story sources to grand juries.

To eliminate parking problems, a shuttle bus will run from 100 Goodhill Road to the Lederman home before the lecture.

Sickness Enters 'Women's Lib' When It Means Rejecting Child

It's never made much sense to throw the baby down the drain just because the bath water was dirty.

If the old expression is taken literally, the concept becomes more than illogical — it's sick.

I see nothing but logic in women receiving the same pay when they do the same jobs as men; certainly, they ought to have the same legal rights. Further, in today's world where homemaking and child-rearing are not necessarily full-time jobs, there are no real reasons why girls should aim for any but the kind of careers they really want.

But if, in order to accomplish these logical, sensible and desirable goals, we women have to throw out the babies, literally, logic not only is lost — sickness has set in.

"MY 18-YEAR SENTENCE will be up in eight years from now when society officially releases me from parenthood," a woman writes in the current issue of the Marin Women's News Letter.

She also said that her "will was severed. . . her psyche was permanently twisted" and her "spirit was broken" by bearing a child she did not want. She claims that she is a victim of "cherubic Roman Catholic priests, right-to-life matrons and sober patriarchal judges" who "raped my right to a meaningful life out of me forever."

Having children is a choice that both men and women can make to an extent today that was never possible before. Even if an unwanted child is born, there are still many men and women who would like very much to give the baby a home and love.

For a woman who thinks she has been sentenced to 18 years of servitude because her "body was used forcibly as an incubator" to keep and rear a child is unspeakable.

For this woman, most of us can feel only disgust — and for her child, presumably a 10-year-old who might even read the mother's article, indescribable sympathy.

AS A "LIBERATED" woman, this reporter receives the same pay, works the same hours as the men beside her. There have been no special favors — I've covered riots, demonstrations and Hell's Angels events and have seen both men and women reporters looking shaken and scared.

Whatever the experiences have been, frightening, rewarding or dull — it's never occurred to me that I was supposed to reject my children in order to be more of a free woman.

For those who don't want the experiences of parenthood — that's their prerogative. But in my view, they sure missed a part of the larger scheme of life.

But that's not the point. If women begin to think that in order to "fulfill" themselves, they have to reject children — or for that matter, men, or any other large group of people — the whole concept becomes sick.

Furthermore, such sickness seems sure to set back the attainment of the goals that can benefit all of us.

Brokers Of Power Cry Doomsday, Each Urging Own Pet Theory

Who can have failed to sense that power no longer belongs to the politicians and generals, the old historic repositories? In a not-quite-comprehended way they have become the victims as well as the enforcers — like us, the people to whom things are done.

Titular leaders, they are at the mercy not only of new problems but of the elite few who can define them.

MORE THAN 30 years ago Arthur Koestler wrote one of the most effective novels on communism of this century. After more than 20 years on the frontiers of psychology and biology —"The Roots of Coincidence," "The Ghost in the Machine" — the author of "Darkness at Noon" has returned to fiction.

Only now he is not dramatizing men and women caught up in a political revolution but in the so-called "knowledge explosion" — a redistribution of power which, he suggests, has left politicians in the position of "performing seals in a circus, balancing balls on their snouts —balls filled with dynamite," or rather nuclear minibombs.

Who are the new brokers of power? "The Call Girls" Mr. Koestler dubs them rather bitterly in the title of his latest novel. Meaning, the specialists, the avantgardistes of this discipline and that, who "get a long-distance telephone call from some professional at some foundation or university — 'sincerely hope you can fit it into your schedule — it will be a privilege to have you with us — return fare economy class and a modest honorarium. . .' "

The biologist begs to be allowed to drop "anti-hostility agents" in the water supply. The neurosurgeon triumphantly demonstrates his "behavior-controlling" electrodes in the brains of monkeys —and humans. The psychologist insists "the answers to man's predicament would emerge literally from the cradle": infant conditioning. There is the inevitable text: "Computerizing the Future."

MR. KOESTLER SETS his New Schoolmen, intoxicated from sessions with UNESCO and the President's Advisory Council, around a conference table in an Alpine village discussing "Approaches to Survival" under the sponsorship of the International Academy of Science and Ethics. "A tragicomedy," he subtitles his little scenario, which can be roughly described as a modern version of the Tower of Babel.

Made both arrogant and panicked by what they know and think they know, Mr. Koestler's knowledge-priests rather hysterically vacillate between grand schemes and grand despairs. Will nobody listen? Will nobody listen in time? Why do these other charlatans with their shameless tricks, their obviously phony panaceas, get all the attention?

ONE CANNOT DOUBT that Mr. Koestler has stated, more or less accurately, the dizzy predicament of the present and the near-future. Along with most of his fictional futurologists, he seems to feel that "the survival of the human species is an unlikely possibility." Along with most of his readers, he cannot abide that intolerable prospect. And so, through the voice of the chairman of his symposium, he argues minimally that "a warning must be affirming," not a smug proclamation of disaster by an "expert" making a very good career out of Apocalypse.

Salvation by pills (or electrodes or behavioristic conditions) is repugnant to Mr. Koestler. As he said in "The Ghost in the Machine," he would vastly prefer "spiritual rebirth." But though he may satirize his "call girls," he knows, like them, that the moment is upon us. Whatever we call "man" or "human nature" must demonstrate higher possibilities than in the past. With new powers and old aggressions, the odds against muddling through have skyrocketed.

What do cautionary tales like "The Call Girls" finally say? That man's crisis may be spiritual, but its solution is no longer being left to the spirit. The challenge to those who still believe in "spiritual rebirth" is unequivocal. They, too, are being called. They must prove in day-to-day life that Jonathan Swift's terrible accusation was wrong: "We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to love each other."

Foster Children Meeting Is Set

Interested families may find out what it's like to raise foster children in a special session on foster care on April 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Yolansdale School in San Anselmo.

The event, aimed at families from Central Marin, is the third in a series in the county. David Sexton of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services staff from the county probation department, foster parents and former foster children will speak.

Several county agencies and organizations, including the Fairfax-San Anselmo Child Care Center, will sponsor the session.

Marin Due Branch Of Business Bureau

Marin County will get its own branch of the Better Business Bureau on April 15, the San Francisco office of the bureau announced.

Located at 1010 B Street, Room 310, San Rafael, the branch will offer reliability report services and consumer education materials, as well as handle complaints.

The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Don Schwartz, executive vice president and general manager of the San Francisco bureau, said his office has been receiving up to 125 calls from Marin County each week.

"With the increase in volume and demands on the San Francisco main office and the interest created by local consumers and businessmen, we felt this move to be necessary," Schwartz said.

Jamaica Drops National Lottery

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Jamaica dropped its national lottery Sunday after four years because of strong opposition by the Roman Catholic church and Prime Minister Michael Manley.

About $21.6 million worth of tickets were sold during the four years.

Three Marin Coast Guardsmen Honored

Three Marin County Coast guardsmen have received awards in ceremonies at the San Francisco Coast Guard Base on Yerba Buena Island.

Capt. James A. Dillian of 298 Casa Grande, Hamilton Air Force Base, was awarded a gold star for duty from 1969 to 1972 while serving as commanding officer of the Coast Guard Aviation Training Center in Mobile, Ala.

Capt. Ted L. Gannaway of 159 San Felipe Way, Novato, received a commendation ribbon for participating last year in transferring three utters to the Navy in Guam.

Boatswain's Mate 3/c Daniel R. Palmquist of 423 First Street, San Rafael, received a letter of commendation for helping to prevent a buoy from going aground on Duxbury Point earlier this year.

Power Squadron Elects Leaders

Ralph A. Stoppel of the Oakland Power Squadron was elected commander yesterday of the squadron's District 25, which includes units from Marin and nine other Northern California areas.

Other officers chosen by District 25 representatives at the annual spring conference in San Rafael were Carl B. Ring of the Peralta Power Squadron, lieutenant commander executive; Gillette E. (Bud) Gordon, Diablo squadron, lieutenant commander administrative; Gerald C. Schnor, San Joaquin Delta squadron, secretary, and Eugene N. Perry, Santa Clara Squadron, treasurer.

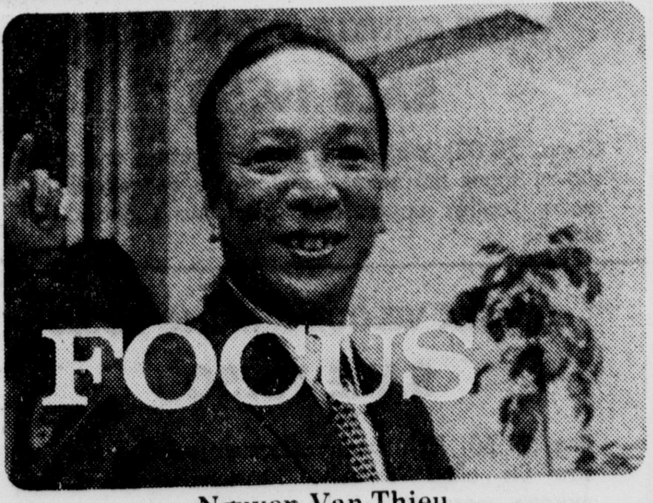
O'Toole Campaign Coffees Announced

Two campaign coffees for Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, have been scheduled.

O'Toole will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Jim Mahoney home, 5 Sierra Circle, and 8 p.m. Friday at the Don Selmi home, 115 Ridgewood Drive.



Nguyen Van Thieu

Nguyen Van Thieu was born the son of a small landowner and fisherman in French Indochina. Although his birthdate is April 5, 1923, it is believed he was actually born in November, 1924, but chose the date in April in accordance with a Vietnamese belief that it would improve his luck. When a young man, he worked with Ho Chi Minh's Communists to fight the French. "I was deceived by them for several months," Thieu later recalled, and "From that moment on I have been fighting Communism." He then entered a French military academy, graduated, and was commissioned into the newly formed South Vietnamese Army. Thieu rose to prominence after a military coup in 1963.

DO YOU KNOW — Whom did President Thieu succeed as leader of South Viet Nam?

Necessity Lacking For 3 Propositions

Four city boards and commissions are provided for by the San Rafael city charter: the board of education, fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and board of library trustees.

There is a fifth: the planning commission. However, it is not mentioned in the charter for the simple reason that such a thing as a planning commission had not occurred to anybody when the charter was adopted in 1912. It was created by ordinance, with its size fixed at seven members.

THE BOARDS and commissions set up by the charter have five members each. The city council would like to be free to change the number of members on fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board. It seeks that authority in Propositions H, J and K on the April 17 municipal election ballot.

Proposition H refers to the fire commission, Proposition J to the parks and recreation commission, and Proposition K to the library board. The three are otherwise identical: "Shall the (appropriate section) of the charter of the City of San Rafael be amended to provide that the city council shall set the number of members . . . by ordinance or resolution?"

Apparently the intent of the city council is to increase the three bodies to seven members each, with the idea that this would give better assurance of having a quorum present. (The record fails to bear out that seven-member commissions muster a quorum much more regularly than five-member commissions, but that has been put forth as a reason for change.)

HOWEVER, as City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. interprets the propositions, they would give the council authority to set the membership of these three boards at zero. In other words, under these propositions, the council could abolish the fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board.

A case might be made for abolishing the fire commission. It was set up because at the time the charter was adopted, San Rafael had an all-volunteer fire department and a commission was deemed necessary to keep city control of it. We doubt, however, that the city council would seriously consider abolishing the parks and recreation commission or the library board.

WE DO NOT like backdoor methods. If the council wants to abolish a charter-created commission, its abolishment should be put up to the voters — not a device by which it could be abolished under the guise of changing the number of members.

We see no necessity for increasing or decreasing the membership of any of these boards. A five-member board is probably the most workable size.

We therefore recommend rejection of Propositions H, J and K.

Adapting Raccoons

Zoologists say that by destroying and changing the wild, wooded areas of Marin to subdued suburbs loaded with cats and dogs, we destroy the natural habitat of the wild creatures. Unquestionably true. But some adapt to the altered habitat with amazing tenacity.

Raccoons, for example, don't give ground. They grow fat where lightpoles replace trees. Concrete culverts provide homes.

Raccoons lived in California tens of thousands of years before the arrival of the Indians. They are not going to be dispossessed by any late-coming upstarts.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TONIGHT

Marinites Missing Chance To Help Plan Transit

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Transit plans of vital interest to Marin are being drafted with virtually no involvement by Marin citizens.

Decisions on stations and routings through San Francisco will be made entirely by San Francisco citizens unless Marinites wake up and join the citizen panel advising Golden Gate Bridge District consultants who are planning the future rapid transit system.

The consultants made a real effort to involve representatives of Marin groups in the panel, but with little result. If Marin citizens leave the job to political infighting among San Francisco groups, the result may be a transit system that fails to serve the very people using it.

Details of the study will be explained by the board of control of the Golden Gate Corridor Transportation Study, which oversees the consultants' work, at 7:30 p.m. today in the planning commission chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The citizen panel will hold its first meeting in Marin at 8 p.m. on April 10 in Sausalito's Central School. Membership on the panel still is open to anyone.

HOW ODD IT SEEMED that both Marinites elected to run the new Regional Citizens Forum were conservative Republicans! The forum, after all, was spawned by the Association of Bay Area Governments, which hardly qualifies as a conservative's ideal mother. It is only one step from regionalism to the horrors of world government, in the eyes of many conservatives.

Checking further, we found that up to 15 of the 20 persons elected to the coordinating committee have been active in conservative causes and organizations.

We also found the conservatives were well organized to take over the forum, and distributed slates of their candidates as people arrived for the meeting, held recently in San Francisco. Other groups also pushed slates, but obviously not so successfully.

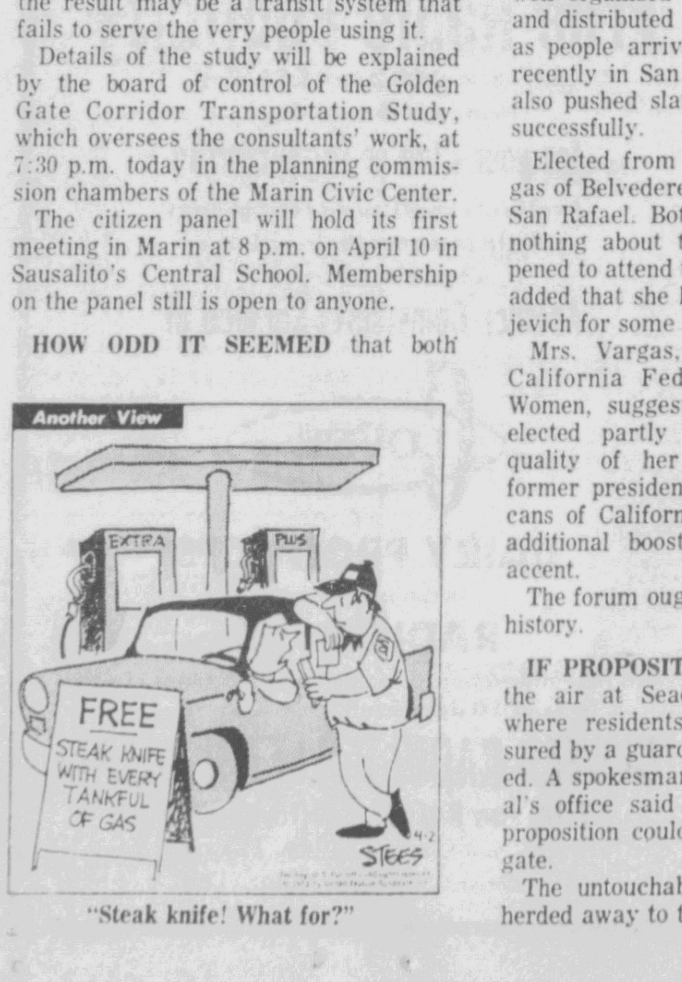
Elected from Marin were Verna Vargas of Belvedere and Mike Djordjevich of San Rafael. Both assured us they knew nothing about the slate, and just happened to attend the meeting. Mrs. Vargas added that she had not even seen Djordjevich for some 10 years.

Mrs. Vargas, vice chairman of the California Federation of Republican Women, suggested she may have been elected partly because of the ethnic quality of her name. Djordjevich, a former president of the Young Republicans of California, may have gotten an additional boost because of his Slavic accent.

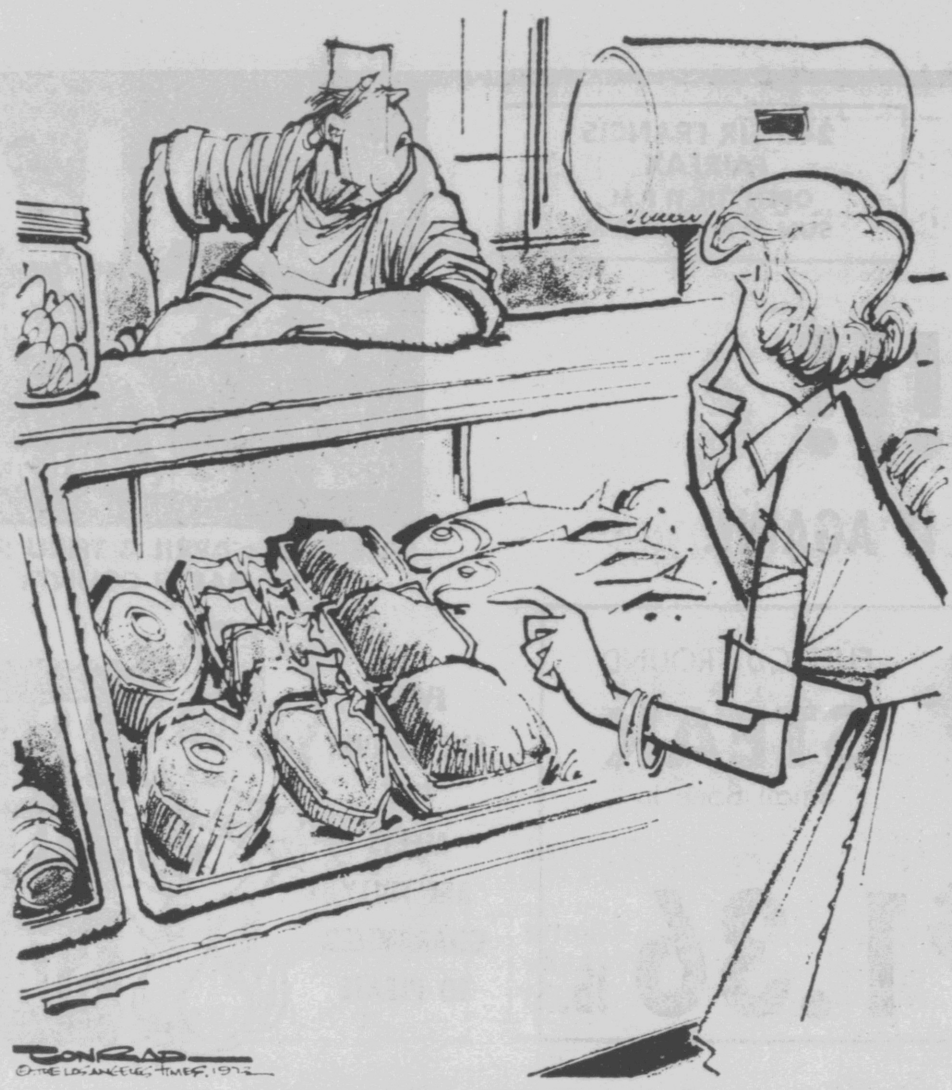
The forum ought to have an interesting history.

IF PROPOSITION 20 created panic in the air at Seadrift at Stinson Beach, where residents enjoy the privacy insured by a guarded gate, it is unwarranted. A spokesman for the attorney general's office said there was no way the proposition could be used to remove the gate.

The untouchables, will continue to be herded away to the public beach.



"Steak knife! What for?"



"If you have to ask, 'How much?' you can't afford one."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Returned POW Gives Tribute To Overlooked Vietnam Veterans

I have just read your editorial of March 23 "Honor POWs — Also Others Who Fought." I would like to voice my wholehearted agreement with all you have said. Soldiers are not politicians — nor can they be. I feel a man in the military who has stood by his country in her most difficult hours, regardless of whether he returned home as a war-weary GI or ex-POW, reflects great credit upon the man's character, and a confidence in his government which is so important to our nation in such agonizing times as the past decade has brought.

As POWs, we served you proudly, the same as we did when we were still in the action. The men who finished their tours — the veterans — are no different than we, and in the same circumstances would have done the same thing. I would like to think of myself as one of them and nothing more. Any credit going to us as returning POWs should also go to them.

Personally I owe them a great debt because without the continued support and courage of the American fighting man, I would still be in North Vientam. Please join me in expressing gratitude and recognition to these servicemen who have given so much only to return to an indifferent America.

Cut Travel Expenses For Public Officials

It is disconcerting to learn that the Marin County supervisors have voted to increase travel expense allowance for county personnel on trips outside of the county.

Elected official should be the first to recognize the need to economize if inflation is to be curbed. Who is going to hold the line if they don't set the example?

My suggestion is to reduce the number of trips, curtail increased trip allowances, and otherwise act for the best interests of the people by economizing in all county transactions.

County Planning Board Deaf To City Protests

Most of us do not see our public officials in direct action even though it is free for our viewing. I would not have, had not a crucial issue concerning the community in which I live necessitated it.

Our community in San Anselmo is zoned R-1 and is practically built. One of the last remaining pieces of land was recently purchased speculatively for development. This property is adjacent to the City of San Anselmo and to Sorich Park at the end of San Francisco Boulevard at Sacramento Street. The developer requested a zoning change for his property . . . in order to build 44 attached units. The citizens for nine months worked toward denial of this — packing the Marin County Planning Commission hearing room several times to protest this rezoning and offering a multitude of sound data to back a denial of the application. The City of San Anselmo itself had held public hearings on the matter and it appeared before the county (with three representative spokesmen) to plead the denial. The planning commission listened with deaf ears and approved the rezoning and the planned development 5-to-1.

Except for a very concerned and dedicated Commissioner John West, the planning commission disregarded the City of San Anselmo's stand, disregarded inadequacy of facilities, and totally ignored the concern of the citizenry to protect its welfare and environment. The chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, Jack Nixon, who, by the way, is now running for San Rafael City Council, seemed to wholeheartedly support the developers. . .

Dedicated Teacher Makes Bus Trip Delight

Recently (March 24 and 25) I joined a bus trip to Reno sponsored by Mr. "Mike" Convis on behalf of the Drake Scholarship Fund. I have been told he teaches at Drake High School in San Anselmo.

This man is outstanding in his zeal for his cause! It has been a very long time since I have witnessed one person work so hard. He did not rest on the bus going or coming home. He sold sandwiches and cold drinks, held a raffle, told great jokes — and still had time to talk to each and every person on the bus! Credit should also be given to his charming wife, and last but not least to our expert driver.

Can't wait to join his trip this May!

A group of young girls care for a number of society's rejects — kittens dumped at their horse barn. Recently they held a horse show to raise funds to have two female kittens spayed and had planned to utilize the services of a relatively low-cost clinic in San Rafael.

Unfortunately one of the females became ill and at 5:45 p.m. a frantic call from my daughter resulted in our driving the kitten to the local vet, who diagnosed probably distemper. The options were hospitalization, intravenous fluids, etc., with no guarantee of recovery, or euthanasia. We elected the latter for a cost of $15 — magnanimously no charge was made for the examination.

Had there been time the Humane Society would have provided this service free, or for a small donation. It is obvious why the local veterinarians are opposed to low-cost clinics — humane treatment is secondary to financial gain.

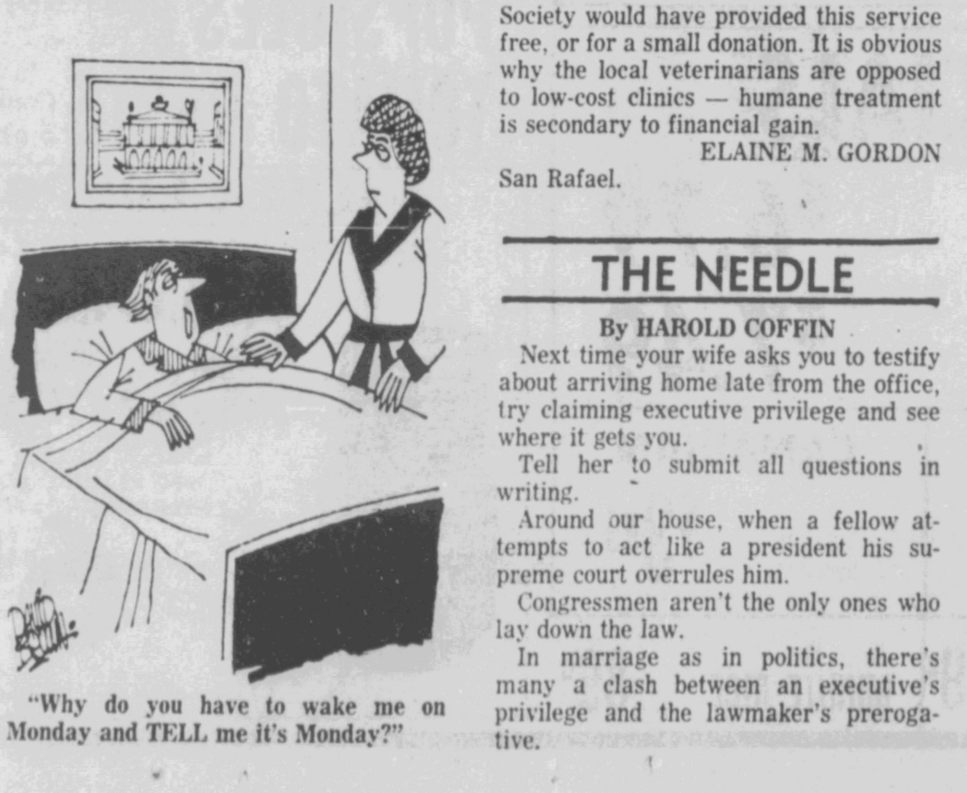
TODAY'S WORLD



"Why do you have to wake me on Monday and TELL me it's Monday?"

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Next time your wife asks you to testify about arriving home late from the office, try claiming executive privilege and see where it gets you.

Tell her to submit all questions in writing.

Around our house, when a fellow attempts to act like a president his supreme court overrules him.

Nixon Ready To 'Hit The Road' For 'Generation Of Peace'

MORE TRIPS ABROAD FOR NIXON! He may well turn out to be the most traveled President. The word in the White House is that Mr. Nixon will be going next to Europe, Japan, Latin America and Africa.

Purpose: to carry forward his goal of a "generation of peace."

He aims to make it clear to allies and adversaries that the United States is not withdrawing from world leadership.

CHINA SEEKS EXPANDING ROLE IN EUROPE. There is evidence that Peking is totally shedding its diplomatic isolation. It aims to spread its influence to that part of the world where the Soviet Union will like it least —western and eastern Europe.

China has established diplomatic relations with Spain and has diplomatic ties with every European government except Portugal.

Its target is the Soviet Union, whose influence in Europe it hopes to undercut. Much to Moscow's dismay, Peking is advocating European unity and is backing NATO.

NO WONDER LEONID BREZHNEV IS COMING TO WASHINGTON. The Soviet leader wants to make it evident that Moscow does not want anything to stand in the way of cordial U.S.-Soviet relations. And he wants to hear it anew from Mr. Nixon that nothing will be done with China adverse to Russian interests.

WHAT WILL LIBERALS NOW THINK OF WALTER LIPPMANN? They'll be very unhappy. He was the darling of most liberals when he was vigorously opposing the U.S. defense of Vietnam. But now that he is saying so much in approval of President Nixon, he may soon be their principal target.

In an interview, Ronald Steel, his biographer, asked Lippmann if the Nixon administration "should be welcomed by liberals because it's headed off a reaction that could have degenerated into fascism?" Lippmann's reply:

"I supported Nixon in '68 and I preferred him vastly to McGovern. That doesn't mean I am enthusiastically pro-Nixon. What he's done is historical. Nixon has performed a service that historically had to be performed if American society was not to be blown up or disintegrate or crumble."

Lippmann was asked: "Would you give Nixon rather high marks?"

Answer: "Yes."

A CREDO FOR RED-HOT ENVIRONMENTALISTS: It could read: "I will drive small cars." Every time an automobile of 2,000 pounds or less uses five gallons of gas polluting the air, a car weighing 5,000 pounds uses 15 gallons of gas polluting the air. A lot of pollution could be stopped quickly by driving lighter cars.

BIG CUTS IN MILITARY MANPOWER. Only major savings open to the Nixon administration in defense spending can come from slimming the armed forces, primarily the Army.

Plan now is to cut total manpower by at least one million during the coming 12 months. Now that withdrawal from Vietnam is at point of completion, ground troops will be reduced to near zero in Korea, Taiwan, the Phillipines and Thailand.

HAS NIXON PAINTED himself in corner on Watergate? He has explicitly asserted that White House Counsel John W. Dean III did not have advance knowledge of the break-in and bugging. Unless he knows who did have such knowledge, how can he be sure Dean didnt?

Obviously somebody high in the administration had to approve the operation. If he is certain Dean did not authorize it, then the President fairly can be pressed to tell who did.

Try Dirt Under Fingernails As Form Of Political Protest

DANVILLE, Va. — It's a pity Mr. Nixon and his economic advisers were not within range of WDVA ("1250 in Dixie") the other morning when Homer T. was doing the "Open Mike" show and everybody and his sister were calling in about high food prices.

It would have given him still another suggestion to offer to the hungry public, along with meatless Tuesday and eating more cheese and fish and chicken. And this one, coming as it did from people with firsthand experience at making ends meet, may be the most practical of all. You should know that WDVA spins country music when Homer T. is not answering the phone with his mike open, so a lot of those who call in with comments are either in the country or from it. Not one in the hundred, though, is one of the country types popularly blamed for the prices we have to pay at the supermarket these days — the specialized, mechanized, subsidized, corporate farmer.

THESE ARE MAINLY plain dirt farmers, direct-action types who became accustomed early to attacking economic problems with a hoe instead of a lot of sleight-of-hand paper work. And that was their consistent advice, through Homer T., to the nation at large: Get out there and grow it yourself.

Most of them ladies of middle age and up, Homer's callers might think I was making fun of them if I tried to reproduce their dialogue exactly. The closest thing to it, for those of you outside WDVA's listening area, is the conversation of Andy Griffith and his friends on television in Mayberry, N.C. For me, it is just the way home folks talk.

Some of them salted in a little subtle social comment with their economic advice. One said that if they took all those people off welfare and stopped giving them food stamps when they were able to work as hard as anybody else, that would take care of the food problem. Another noted that everybody was moving to the country these days, but nobody was doing any work when he got there. One told of the crops she had grown during World War I, and nearly all reminisced about the gardens they raised during World War II.

THEN JUST ABOUT that time the lady of the house here asked would I like some fresh turnip salad for lunch. The response, of course, was "Why not?" And when she went next door with a kitchen knife to cut a colander full, I followed in a few minutes and took a survey of what was growing out back.

With her expert advice, I recorded six kinds of daffodils (jonquils, to her); four kinds of narcissus; pansies, forsythia, bridal wreath, hyacinth and candytuft, all in bloom; dogwood, budding but held back by last week's snow; budding azaleas and iris, running roses, camellias, peonies, wisteria and pyracantha still to come. The jasmine bloomed in the snow right after Christmas.

In the 40-by-50 grass plot behind the garage, two mature apple trees bear copiously every other July. But during the war, they were not there. The plot was a victory garden. My impression that I was mostly responsible for it no doubt is one of those magnifications of youth, for it is mildly disputed by those then in authority.

Anyhow, by family enterprise, we had snaps (green beans to you), tomatoes, squash, spring onions, little colored butter beans, strawberries, radishes, lettuce and cucumbers. We canned snaps, tomatoes and butter beans in Mason jars. The grapevines planted by my grandfather were still producing, and that made dozens of jars of jelly, sealed with wax.

YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE how good it all was, and how much of it could come out of one back-yard garden like that. Or maybe you would, if you have tried it yourself. A lot of Americans have, but have forgotten how, or they remember but prefer eating TV dinners to bending over. A lot of mostly younger ones are into gardening now as if they discovered it; it has become a fad some people associate with communes and social dropoutism.

Too bad! But not hopeless. As I read the seed catalogue in bed, about Honey Rock cantaloupes and Straight Eight cucumbers, I formulated a plan of national action, to be given political cachet by presidential endorsement — to reclaim the best things in life, with are almost free, for the great silent majority.

Say it, Mr. President, maybe even set an example yourself, there in the White House Rose Garden: a new form of mass protest, as simple as getting a little dirt under your fingernails.

Judge In Magee Trial Is Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee cursed the judge, and his attorney accused the jurist of trying to coerce a fatigued, deadlocked jury which completed its seventh straight day of deliberations Sunday night.

Bernard Suares, foreman of the jury of six men and six women, told Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin the panel was "hopelessly deadlocked." But the judge urged jurors to keep trying to reach a verdict.

Suares said the jury was split 10-2 on the murder charge and 11-1 on the kidnaping complaint. He gave no indication whether the majority was for conviction or acquittal.

"Further deliberation is of no use," said Suares. "We are hopelessly deadlocked."

Before being locked in their hotel rooms for the night, the panel completed nearly 50 hours of deliberations since receiving the case last Monday. This was a California record for length of deliberation, surpassing the 46 hours it took a jury to convict mass murderer Juan Corona and the 43 hours another panel needed to convict cultist Charles Manson.

Magee was ordered removed from the courtroom when he called Colvin "a hypocrite son of a bitch" for failing to heed his request to have a court stenographer slow down in his rereading of 10 pages of cross examination.

The jury asked for the rereading of Magee's testimony relating to the kidnapping of judge and six hostages during an escape try from a Marin County courtroom, resulting in the killing of Judge Harold J. Haley, near three years ago.

Defense attorney Robert Carrow labeled as "coercive" the judge's ordering of the jury to continue deliberations until it reaches a verdict.

"This court is not trying to coerce the jury in any way, shape or form," said Colvin.

Carrow then asked how long the judge planned to keep the jury deliberating.

"I'll let you know in due course," said Colvin, who ordered the panel to resume de liberations today.

Wounded Knee Talks Show Progress Signs

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Negotiators in the Wounded Knee standoff meet for the third consecutive day today in an effort to end the 34-day-old occupation of the hamlet by militant members of the American Indian Movement.

As the two sides prepared for the meeting, AIM attorney Ramon Roubideaux expressed optimism that the confrontation between armed Indians occupying Wounded Knee and government forces ringing the hamlet was "very close to settled."

However, Kent Frizzell, the Justice Department's chief negotiator, did not echo Roubideaux's optimism. He said between negotiating sessions, AIM militants continued to smuggle ammunition into the besieged hamlet, where some 160 armed AIM supporters continued the occupation in defiance of both federal and Oglala Sioux tribal authorities.

Following Sunday's negotiating session, Frizzell revealed that between 20 and 25 AIM supporters were sighted by government forces Saturday night carrying ammunition into the Wounded Knee perimeter between federal roadblocks Nos. 4 and 5.

He said "two or three" of the ammunition carriers were arrested and that federal officers confiscated one knapsack containing rifle ammunition.

In a joint news conference following Sunday's three-hour meeting, Frizzell and Roubideaux said AIM had submitted a list of 10 demands at the session and that there was agreement on some of the demands.

"I think the progress has been remarkable," Roubideaux said when asked for an assessment of the situation of negotiations. "I think there is substantial agreement on most points. I think we can reach an agreement within the framework of these issues and I think the confrontation is very close to settled."

Roubideaux said that should agreement be reached on the 10 points, AIM occupiers of Wounded Knee would give up the occupation and "go to court."

Frizzell was noncommittal on the future prospects for negotiations.

"I'm not as optimistic as some and not as pessimistic as some," Frizzell said. He said there were a number of issues on which he would have to consult with his superiors in the Justice Department and the Department of Interior while other issues would have to be settled by Congress.

Twin Cities Eye Joint Cooperation

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider a friendly overture from its twin city, Larkspur, at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the town hall.

Larkspur's mayor, William G. Fleckles, in a letter to Corte Madera's mayor, Holmes S. Norville, has asked if Corte Madera is interested in consolidating some services and doing cooperative planning.

The overtures are prompted by the Larkspur Town Meeting, which has suggested the towns investigate sharing tax revenue, particularly that from future developments.

Currently both towns are vying for a regional shopping center, while Larkspur has approved development of the San Quentin Peninsula. The Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferry terminal is to be located in Larkspur.

The Larkspur City Council has suggested a committee be appointed by the Twin Cities to investigate cooperative planning and consolidation of services.

In other action at tonight's meeting, Corte Madera councilmen will be asked to award a contract for a $22,345.67 electronic accounting machine.

Group To Eye County Policy Of Nongrowth

Adoption of a policy of "nongrowth" in county planning will be considered by Marin Alternative at a special meeting on April 12.

The session will be at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

The organization is divided on the issue, with some members calling for a halt to construction while others argue this would be unfair to low-income persons seeking housing in Marin.

Sickness Enters 'Women's Lib' When It Means Rejecting Child

It's never made much sense to throw the baby down the drain just because the bath water was dirty.

I see nothing but logic in women receiving the same pay when they do the same jobs as men; certainly, they ought to have the same legal rights. Further, in today's world where homemaking and child-rearing are not necessarily full-time jobs, there are no real reasons why girls should aim for any but the kind of careers they really want.

But if, in order to accomplish these logical, sensible and desirable goals, we women have to throw out the babies, literally, logic not only is lost — sickness has set in.

"MY 18-YEAR SENTENCE will be up in eight years from now when society officially releases me from parenthood," a woman writes in the current issue of the Marin Women's News Letter.

She also said that her "will was severed. . . her psyche was permanently twisted" and her "spirit was broken" by bearing a child she did not want. She claims that she is a victim of "cherubic Roman Catholic priests, right-to-life matrons and sober patriarchal judges" who "raped my right to a meaningful life out of me forever."

Having children is a choice that both men and women can make to an extent today that was never possible before. Even if an unwanted child is born, there are still many men and women who would like very much to give the baby a home and love.

For a woman who thinks she has been sentenced to 18 years of servitude because her "body was used forcibly as an incubator" to keep and rear a child is unspeakable.

For this woman, most of us can feel only disgust — and for her child, presumably a 10-year-old who might even read the mother's article, indescribable sympathy.

AS A "LIBERATED" woman, this reporter receives the same pay, works the same hours as the men beside her. There have been no special favors — I've covered riots, demonstrations and Hell's Angels events and have seen both men and women reporters looking shaken and scared.

Whatever the experiences have been, frightening, rewarding or dull — it's never occurred to me that I was supposed to reject my children in order to be more of a free woman.

For those who don't want the experiences of parenthood — that's their prerogative. But in my view, they sure missed a part of the larger scheme of life.

But that's not the point. If women begin to think that in order to "fulfill" themselves, they have to reject children — or for that matter, men, or any other large group of people — the whole concept becomes sick.

Furthermore, such sickness seems sure to set back the attainment of the goals that can benefit all of us.

Three Marin Coast Guardsmen Honored

Three Marin County Coast guardsmen have received awards in ceremonies at the San Francisco Coast Guard Base on Yerba Buena Island.

Capt. James A. Dillian of 298 Casa Grande, Hamilton Air Force Base, was awarded a gold star for duty from 1969 to 1972 while serving as commanding officer of the Coast Guard Aviation Training Center in Mobile, Ala.

Capt. Ted L. Gannaway of 159 San Felipe Way, Novato, received a commendation ribbon for participating last year in transferring three utters to the Navy in Guam.

Boatswain's Mate 3/c Daniel R. Palmquist of 423 First Street, San Rafael, received a letter of commendation for helping to prevent a buoy from going aground on Duxbury Point earlier this year.

Power Squadron Elects Leaders

Ralph A. Stoppel of the Oakland Power Squadron was elected commander yesterday of the squadron's District 25, which includes units from Marin and nine other Northern California areas.

Other officers chosen by District 25 representatives at the annual spring conference in San Rafael were Carl B. Ring of the Peralta Power Squadron, lieutenant commander executive; Gillette E. (Bud) Gordon, Diablo squadron, lieutenant commander administrative; Gerald C. Schnor, San Joaquin Delta squadron, secretary, and Eugene N. Perry, Santa Clara Squadron, treasurer.

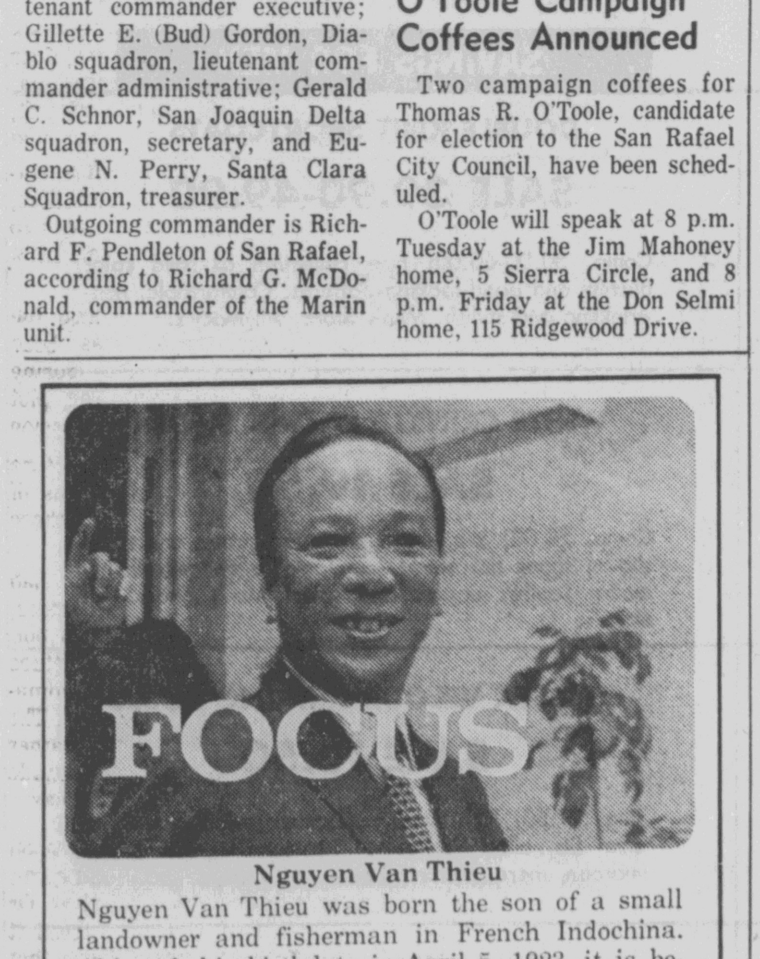
O'Toole Campaign Coffees Announced

Two campaign coffees for Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, have been scheduled.

O'Toole will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Jim Mahoney home, 5 Sierra Circle, and 8 p.m. Friday at the Don Selmi home, 115 Ridgewood Drive.



Nguyen Van Thieu

Nguyen Van Thieu was born the son of a small landowner and fisherman in French Indochina. Although his birthdate is April 5, 1923, it is believed he was actually born in November, 1924, but chose the date in April in accordance with a Vietnamese belief that it would improve his luck. When a young man, he worked with Ho Chi Minh's Communists to fight the French. "I was deceived by them for several months," Thieu later recalled, and "From that moment on I have been fighting Communism." He then entered a French military academy, graduated, and was commissioned into the newly formed South Vietnamese Army. Thieu rose to prominence after a military coup in 1963.

DO YOU KNOW — Whom did President Thieu succeed as leader of South Viet Nam?

Brokers Of Power Cry Doomsday, Each Urging Own Pet Theory

Who can have failed to sense that power no longer belongs to the politicians and generals, the old historic repositories? In a not-quite-comprehended way they have become the victims as well as the enforcers — like us, the people to whom things are done.

Titular leaders, they are at the mercy not only of new problems but of the elite few who can define them.

MORE THAN 30 years ago Arthur Koestler wrote one of the most effective novels on communism of this century. After more than 20 years on the frontiers of psychology and biology —"The Roots of Coincidence," "The Ghost in the Machine" — the author of "Darkness at Noon" has returned to fiction.

Only now he is not dramatizing men and women caught up in a political revolution but in the so-called "knowledge explosion" — a redistribution of power which, he suggests, has left politicians in the position of "performing seals in a circus, balancing balls on their snouts —balls filled with dynamite," or rather nuclear minibombs.

Who are the new brokers of power? "The Call Girls" Mr. Koestler dubs them rather bitterly in the title of his latest novel. Meaning, the specialists, the avantgardistes of this discipline and that, who "get a long-distance telephone call from some professional at some foundation or university — 'sincerely hope you can fit it into your schedule — it will be a privilege to have you with us — return fare economy class and a modest honorarium. . .' "

The biologist begs to be allowed to drop "anti-hostility agents" in the water supply. The neurosurgeon triumphantly demonstrates his "behavior-controlling" electrodes in the brains of monkeys —and humans. The psychologist insists "the answers to man's predicament would emerge literally from the cradle": infant conditioning. There is the inevitable text: "Computerizing the Future."

MR. KOESTLER SETS his New Schoolmen, intoxicated from sessions with UNESCO and the President's Advisory Council, around a conference table in an Alpine village discussing "Approaches to Survival" under the sponsorship of the International Academy of Science and Ethics. "A tragicomedy," he subtitles his little scenario, which can be roughly described as a modern version of the Tower of Babel.

Made both arrogant and panicked by what they know and think they know, Mr. Koestler's knowledge-priests rather hysterically vacillate between grand schemes and grand despairs. Will nobody listen? Will nobody listen in time? Why do these other charlatans with their shameless tricks, their obviously phony panaceas, get all the attention?

ONE CANNOT DOUBT that Mr. Koestler has stated, more or less accurately, the dizzy predicament of the present and the near-future. Along with most of his fictional futurologists, he seems to feel that "the survival of the human species is an unlikely possibility." Along with most of his readers, he cannot abide that intolerable prospect. And so, through the voice of the chairman of his symposium, he argues minimally that "a warning must be affirming," not a smug proclamation of disaster by an "expert" making a very good career out of Apocalypse.

Salvation by pills (or electrodes or behavioristic conditions) is repugnant to Mr. Koestler. As he said in "The Ghost in the Machine," he would vastly prefer "spiritual rebirth." But though he may satirize his "call girls," he knows, like them, that the moment is upon us. Whatever we call "man" or "human nature" must demonstrate higher possibilities than in the past. With new powers and old aggressions, the odds against muddling through have skyrocketed.

What do cautionary tales like "The Call Girls" finally say? That man's crisis may be spiritual, but its solution is no longer being left to the spirit. The challenge to those who still believe in "spiritual rebirth" is unequivocal. They, too, are being called. They must prove in day-to-day life that Jonathan Swift's terrible accusation was wrong: "We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to love each other."

Foster Children Meeting Is Set

Interested families may find out what it's like to raise foster children in a special session on foster care on April 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Yolansdale School in San Anselmo.

The event, aimed at families from Central Marin, is the third in a series in the county. David Sexton of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services staff from the county probation department, foster parents and former foster children will speak.

Several county agencies and organizations, including the Fairfax-San Anselmo Child Care Center, will sponsor the session.

Marin Due Branch Of Business Bureau

Marin County will get its own branch of the Better Business Bureau on April 15, the San Francisco office of the bureau announced.

Located at 1010 B Street, Room 310, San Rafael, the branch will offer reliability report services and consumer education materials, as well as handle complaints.

The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Don Schwartz, executive vice president and general manager of the San Francisco bureau, said his office has been receiving up to 125 calls from Marin County each week.

"With the increase in volume and demands on the San Francisco main office and the interest created by local consumers and businessmen, we felt this move to be necessary," Schwartz said.

Jamaica Drops National Lottery

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Jamaica dropped its national lottery Sunday after four years because of strong opposition by the Roman Catholic church and Prime Minister Michael Manley.

About $21.6 million worth of tickets were sold during the four years.

Farmers knows that people who don't smoke live longer. That's why we created our famous Non-Smoker life insurance policy. Well, now we've found that there's even more to the non-smoker story. Not only do they live longer, but they drive better, too. And we think better drivers deserve a break when it comes to car insurance. That's why Farmers has come up with a new Non-Smoker car insurance policy. If you don't smoke, it could really save you a lot. So, if you've made the decision not to smoke, make the most of it. Especially if you just got a shocker of a renewal bill from your present company. Call a Farmers agent today. Find out how much our new Non-Smoker policy can mean to you.

TO PLAY TOMORROW

Pianist Ohlsson —Wired, Ready

By PAUL LIBERATORE

GARRICK OHLSSON
To play here

Like an athlete preparing to take the field, before a concert pianist Garrick Ohlsson is "like a mattress," springy, tight, wired, ready to play.

And, critics say, he does that as well as most pianists in the world, even more astounding since he will be only 25 tomorrow, the day he is to take the stage with the Marin Symphony at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Ohlsson's ascent to international fame began when he won the Chopin International Competition in Warsaw in 1970, the first American to do so.

"That was a big baby," he said. "Since then business has been good."

There have been concert tours of Europe, North America and Japan, elegant receptions in his honor, recording dates, but Ohlsson, through it all, appears unaffected.

"I am interested in music, food and sex, in that order," he laughed. "Isn't everyone."

Ohlsson is large, gregarious and informal, smiles frequently and looks, at six feet four inches tall and 240 pounds, more like a professional football player than a concert musician.

He is able to span 12 keys with his huge right hand and 11 with his left and his physical size gives him, he said, "a tremendous reserve of power" when he plays, allowing him "domination over the keyboard."

Ohlsson comes to Marin by way of Iceland en route to a concert in Detroit. "Not exactly on my way," he said. But he played here last season and enjoyed it, so he accepted when he was invited back.

It is hustle and go, airplanes and rehearsals and practice and talks at ladies' clubs, a quick nap, the concert, more rehearsals and planes and so on through 60 performances a season.

"I am basically a home body," he said. "I get nervous and disoriented when I am away from home for more than three weeks at a time.

"I would love to go to a movie, but I don't get the chance, except on planes."

He said he is looking forward to June and the end of the season when he can "just do nothing" for a few weeks until the summer season begins. "You can kill yourself if you play all the time."

The bearded pianist is not only young but single, and the frequent topic of post-concert receptions, he said, is: "Boy, have I got a girl for you."

When not playing music, he said he likes to get totally away from it, going to play, swimming, playing tennis and skiing until he suffered a shoulder separation a few years ago.

How great a pianist is he? Will his name be placed among the greats of history?

"I can't worry about a place in history," he said. "At 25, I don't know what I am going to do for the next 50 years of my life."

Ohlsson is primarily a performer rather than a composer and, he said, some of the greatest performers have been forgotten, citing the case of Hoffman. in my wildest dreams can I be as great as he was," he said, then smiled broadly and went on: "I mean I'm terrific and all that but . . ."

Tomorrow night he will play Chopin's "Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra," his playing of which won him the Chopin Competition.

Hugo Rinaldi, director of music for the San Rafael city schools, will be guest conductor of the Marin Symphony. He will conduct "Symphony No. 3" by Copeland and "Concerto for Violin, Cello, Strings and Harpsichord" by Vivaldi.

Troops Leaving Disputed Strip

BEIRUT (UPI) — The newspaper An Nahar said in a dispatch from Kuwait today that Iraqi troops have started withdrawing from a disputed strip of the Kuwait border they occupied March 20.

According to earlier reports from Kuwait, the Iraqis had about 1,500 troops, supported by tanks and other vehicles, in the strip of Persian Gulf coastal plain which Kuwait claimed was its territory. The Iraqis claimed the border had never been officially laid down in the disputed area.

An Nahar said withdrawal of troops which occupied the Kuwaiti border post at Al Samita "started quietly Sunday evening.

Skunk Found To Be Rabid

Laboratory tests of a sick skunk found in Marinwood last week show the animal was rabid, Marin County Health officials said today.

Nancy Ruggeri of the County's rabies control office said the skunk was picked up last Monday by the humane society after residents on Elvia Court observed the animal staggering from the yard at 225 Elvia.

It was the 14th rabid animal identified in Marin during the last six months. There was no human contact with the skunk, health officials said.

The health department warned residents not to approach animals observed acting strangely but instead call the humane society or the rabies control office at the Civic Center.

Judge In Magee Trial Is Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee cursed the judge, and his attorney accused the jurist of trying to coerce a fatigued, deadlocked jury which completed its seventh straight day of deliberations Sunday night.

Bernard Suares, foreman of the jury of six men and six women, told Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin the panel was "hopelessly deadlocked." But the judge urged jurors to keep trying to reach a verdict.

Suares said the jury was split 10-2 on the murder charge and 11-1 on the kidnaping complaint. He gave no indication whether the majority was for conviction or acquittal.

"Further deliberation is of no use," said Suares. "We are hopelessly deadlocked."

Before being locked in their hotel rooms for the night, the panel completed nearly 50 hours of deliberations since receiving the case last Monday. This was a California record for length of deliberation, surpassing the 46 hours it took a jury to convict mass murderer Juan Corona and the 43 hours another panel needed to convict cultist Charles Manson.

Magee was ordered removed from the courtroom when he called Colvin "a hypocrite son of a bitch" for failing to heed his request to have a court stenographer slow down in his rereading of 10 pages of cross examination.

The jury asked for the rereading of Magee's testimony relating to the kidnapping of judge and six hostages during an escape try from a Marin County courtroom, resulting in the killing of Judge Harold J. Haley, near three years ago.

Defense attorney Robert Carrow labeled as "coercive" the judge's ordering of the jury to continue deliberations until it reaches a verdict.

"This court is not trying to coerce the jury in any way, shape or form," said Colvin.

Carrow then asked how long the judge planned to keep the jury deliberating.

"I'll let you know in due course," said Colvin, who ordered the panel to resume de liberations today.

Wounded Knee Talks Show Progress Signs

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Negotiators in the Wounded Knee standoff meet for the third consecutive day today in an effort to end the 34-day-old occupation of the hamlet by militant members of the American Indian Movement.

As the two sides prepared for the meeting, AIM attorney Ramon Roubideaux expressed optimism that the confrontation between armed Indians occupying Wounded Knee and government forces ringing the hamlet was "very close to settled."

However, Kent Frizzell, the Justice Department's chief negotiator, did not echo Roubideaux's optimism. He said between negotiating sessions, AIM militants continued to smuggle ammunition into the besieged hamlet, where some 160 armed AIM supporters continued the occupation in defiance of both federal and Oglala Sioux tribal authorities.

Following Sunday's negotiating session, Frizzell revealed that between 20 and 25 AIM supporters were sighted by government forces Saturday night carrying ammunition into the Wounded Knee perimeter between federal roadblocks Nos. 4 and 5.

He said "two or three" of the ammunition carriers were arrested and that federal officers confiscated one knapsack containing rifle ammunition.

In a joint news conference following Sunday's three-hour meeting, Frizzell and Roubideaux said AIM had submitted a list of 10 demands at the session and that there was agreement on some of the demands.

"I think the progress has been remarkable," Roubideaux said when asked for an assessment of the situation of negotiations. "I think there is substantial agreement on most points. I think we can reach an agreement within the framework of these issues and I think the confrontation is very close to settled."

Roubideaux said that should agreement be reached on the 10 points, AIM occupiers of Wounded Knee would give up the occupation and "go to court."

Frizzell was noncommittal on the future prospects for negotiations.

"I'm not as optimistic as some and not as pessimistic as some," Frizzell said. He said there were a number of issues on which he would have to consult with his superiors in the Justice Department and the Department of Interior while other issues would have to be settled by Congress.

Twin Cities Eye Joint Cooperation

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider a friendly overture from its twin city, Larkspur, at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the town hall.

Larkspur's mayor, William G. Fleckles, in a letter to Corte Madera's mayor, Holmes S. Norville, has asked if Corte Madera is interested in consolidating some services and doing cooperative planning.

The overtures are prompted by the Larkspur Town Meeting, which has suggested the towns investigate sharing tax revenue, particularly that from future developments.

Currently both towns are vying for a regional shopping center, while Larkspur has approved development of the San Quentin Peninsula. The Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferry terminal is to be located in Larkspur.

The Larkspur City Council has suggested a committee be appointed by the Twin Cities to investigate cooperative planning and consolidation of services.

In other action at tonight's meeting, Corte Madera councilmen will be asked to award a contract for a $22,345.67 electronic accounting machine.

Group To Eye County Policy Of Nongrowth

Adoption of a policy of "nongrowth" in county planning will be considered by Marin Alternative at a special meeting on April 12.

The session will be at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

The organization is divided on the issue, with some members calling for a halt to construction while others argue this would be unfair to low-income persons seeking housing in Marin.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Players Heedless Of Mother's Best Efforts

If you were properly brought up, your mother taught you not to frighten other people, especially if they were friends of yours. Since only a cad would try to undo your mother's lessons I wouldn't dream of praising East's unusual play in today's hand.

I merely report it as the sort of thing that sometimes happens when bridge players forget their mothers.

Opening lead — ◇ 10

West opened the ten of diamonds, and East took the king and ace. He needed two more tricks to defeat the contract.

How was he to get them?

Before we go on to what East actually did, let's see what would happen if he made a routine lead, such as a small trump. Declarer would win with the ace of trumps, would cash the ace of spades and would then lead a club to dummy's king in order to return a trump. East would play low, but South would finesse with the ten as a safety play.

SAFETY PLAY

This safety play is the right way to handle the trumps when declarer has no problem in the other suits. Declarer takes one high trump and later leads the next trump toward his hand, with the intention of finessing unless the jack or queen appears.

If the finesse wins, well and good; if it loses, only one trump will be left, and that can be picked up by the remaining top trump.

East could see the safety play coming, for South was a very careful player. The best way to discourage South from executing the safety play was to make him fear that the defense could get a ruffing trick.

SCARED OFF

Hence East returned his deuce of clubs at the third trick. South was frightened away from the safety play because he thought East had led a singleton club.

South therefore hastily drew trumps with the ace and king, thus giving East two trump tricks. Down one.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 8 4
♥ - Q J 5 3
♦ - A K 5
♣ - 8 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Big two diamonds.

Your hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts, but not strong enough for a game-forcing jump to three hearts. Show your strength by "manufacturing" a big in a side suit. You will show your heart support next.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Calling all characters! The following are Public Identities No. 1, wanted for roles they've played. Who are they?

1. SARGEANT FRIDAY is 53 today. You'll have to use a "Dragnet" to catch this suspect. Our all-points bulletin describes him as a white Caucasian male ... about 5-foot-9-inches ... 160 pounds ... dark hair, eyes ... Born in Santa Monica, Calif., he has used many aliases in picking up prizes and awards, including Pat Novak, Johnny Modero, and Pete Kelly.

2. BARNABY JONES is 65 today. This self-styled private investigator is under television surveillance and may be stealing audience ratings for CBS. His "MO" (modus operandi) goes back to 1928, when he was put in the lineup by Eddie Cantor for making "Whoopee." Later he posed as an oil millionaire, Jed Clampett, moving his family into a rich home in Beverly Hills.

3. THE COLONEL is 59 today. During World War II he cooperated with the Japanese in building "The Bridge on the River Kwai," a deed which Hollywood authorities duly noted on his record at the Academy in 1957. He was the brains of "The Lavender Hill Mob," head of "The Ladykillers," and undercover agent in "Our Man In Havana." London police say he tried to teach Oliver Twist to steal, using Fagin as his name in that caper.

4. BROTHER HERB is 61 today. Records on this case are known worldwide. Taught by his father to make a living in a clip joint, he and his brothers quit the streets of Ohio to work the theater district, became famous in New York, then stormed Hollywood in 1933. Known show stealers, they conspired to sell the public a "Paper Doll" and topped that by making demands with "Yellow Bird." Other members of the trio are Harry, 59, and Don, 57. Do not confuse these brothers with "The Ink Spots."

TO PLAY TOMORROW

Pianist Ohlsson —Wired, Ready

By PAUL LIBERATORE

GARRICK OHLSSON
To play here

And, critics say, he does that as well as most pianists in the world, even more astounding since he will be only 25 tomorrow, the day he is to take the stage with the Marin Symphony at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Ohlsson's ascent to international fame began when he won the Chopin International Competition in Warsaw in 1970, the first American to do so.

"That was a big baby," he said. "Since then business has been good."

There have been concert tours of Europe, North America and Japan, elegant receptions in his honor, recording dates, but Ohlsson, through it all, appears unaffected.

"I am interested in music, food and sex, in that order," he laughed. "Isn't everyone."

Ohlsson is large, gregarious and informal, smiles frequently and looks, at six feet four inches tall and 240 pounds, more like a professional football player than a concert musician.

He is able to span 12 keys with his huge right hand and 11 with his left and his physical size gives him, he said, "a tremendous reserve of power" when he plays, allowing him "domination over the keyboard."

Ohlsson comes to Marin by way of Iceland en route to a concert in Detroit. "Not exactly on my way," he said. But he played here last season and enjoyed it, so he accepted when he was invited back.

It is hustle and go, airplanes and rehearsals and practice and talks at ladies' clubs, a quick nap, the concert, more rehearsals and planes and so on through 60 performances a season.

"I am basically a home body," he said. "I get nervous and disoriented when I am away from home for more than three weeks at a time.

"I would love to go to a movie, but I don't get the chance, except on planes."

He said he is looking forward to June and the end of the season when he can "just do nothing" for a few weeks until the summer season begins. "You can kill yourself if you play all the time."

The bearded pianist is not only young but single, and the frequent topic of post-concert receptions, he said, is: "Boy, have I got a girl for you."

When not playing music, he said he likes to get totally away from it, going to play, swimming, playing tennis and skiing until he suffered a shoulder separation a few years ago.

How great a pianist is he? Will his name be placed among the greats of history?

"I can't worry about a place in history," he said. "At 25, I don't know what I am going to do for the next 50 years of my life."

Ohlsson is primarily a performer rather than a composer and, he said, some of the greatest performers have been forgotten, citing the case of Hoffman. in my wildest dreams can I be as great as he was," he said, then smiled broadly and went on: "I mean I'm terrific and all that but . . ."

Tomorrow night he will play Chopin's "Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra," his playing of which won him the Chopin Competition.

Hugo Rinaldi, director of music for the San Rafael city schools, will be guest conductor of the Marin Symphony. He will conduct "Symphony No. 3" by Copeland and "Concerto for Violin, Cello, Strings and Harpsichord" by Vivaldi.

Troops Leaving Disputed Strip

BEIRUT (UPI) — The newspaper An Nahar said in a dispatch from Kuwait today that Iraqi troops have started withdrawing from a disputed strip of the Kuwait border they occupied March 20.

According to earlier reports from Kuwait, the Iraqis had about 1,500 troops, supported by tanks and other vehicles, in the strip of Persian Gulf coastal plain which Kuwait claimed was its territory. The Iraqis claimed the border had never been officially laid down in the disputed area.

An Nahar said withdrawal of troops which occupied the Kuwaiti border post at Al Samita "started quietly Sunday evening.

Skunk Found To Be Rabid

Laboratory tests of a sick skunk found in Marinwood last week show the animal was rabid, Marin County Health officials said today.

Nancy Ruggeri of the County's rabies control office said the skunk was picked up last Monday by the humane society after residents on Elvia Court observed the animal staggering from the yard at 225 Elvia.

It was the 14th rabid animal identified in Marin during the last six months. There was no human contact with the skunk, health officials said.

The health department warned residents not to approach animals observed acting strangely but instead call the humane society or the rabies control office at the Civic Center.

ART REVIEW

Craft And Sculpture Show Has Diversity

By ADA GARFINKEL

No limit on entries and a flexible interpretation by the panel of jurors has produced an imaginatively diversified variety in the Marin Society of Artists craft and sculpture show.

It is not always possible to assess the motivation nor the stages of development which catapults a craft into an art form, but this transformation occurs most noticeably in Bonnie Himberg's "Bewitched," — a woven hanging sculpture with folds, pouches, and feathers. Also in Matilda Franz's woven "Super-Shawl," and Jo Hantman's jutting macrame-and-weaving fetish object.

Ceramics were one of the early media to emerge as sculpture. In this category Phyllis Lynch's interlocking circles and Matilda Franz's graduated stacks of "Porcelain Shadows" are intriguingly compelling in their simplicity and sense of presence.

Points of view tend to creep in no matter what! Catherine Gibson's huge, soft sculpture pair of almost human birds suggests male preference in their titles: "He Is," and "A big new world." And in Gayle Luchessa's "Wall Quilt No. 2," there is both a direct appeal and a value judgment in her appraisal.

A different kind of architectural concept —a mobile city structure — is provided by Bill Lary's "Geometrics." A miniature wooden skyscraper, it is mounted on an astroturf-lined movable dolly.

Some decorative arts have also developed sculptural dimensions, to wit:the silver necklaces with a sculpted bird by Suzanne Roxon and those of Margaret Brewster with a butterfly of fossilized shell on one and a cube of Icelandic spar on the other.

But not all of the entries are non-functional. Among the utilitarian objects — bowls, casseroles, pots, jars, vases, planters, and boxes — Chris Wagener's "Square Box with Lid," Bernadette Cole's copper-red bottle, Clell McKinney's pierced steel candle pedestals, Myra Falch's woven aqua and gold stole, and Ruth Bruce's delicately woven panel are several that stand out.

In an exhibit of 113 items carefully and beautifully installed to allow each object maximum viewing space and attractive settings, there is ample choice to engage one's interest and attention.

Also, Alice Shannon's chunky silver necklace, Frieda Burkhart's three-tiered ring, Lida Dear's gold and jade ring, Vera Allison's ivory and turquoise pendant, and Helena Iron's synthetic sapphire ring.

Cash awards were received by Margaret Webster and Chris Wagener who also received merit awards for other entries, and by Bonnie Himberg and Bill Lary.

This exhibit will be on view through April 21 and may be seen from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Greek Folksinger Captures Audience

By MARTIN FRICK

Heralded as "the voice that launched five million records," Greek folksinger Nana Mouskouri wandered into the Marin Veterans Memorial Building last night and left again with the hearts of more than a thousand compatriots and friends.

The appealing, bespectacled singer is Everywoman, but when she breathes her songs from the heart, she projects a universality which transcends both sex and nationality.

Although the majority of the audience had come for the Greek songs, Miss Mouskouri varied the program with a healthy smattering of French and English, and in a Flemish windmill song about terminating love, she demonstrated why that part of Europe is unrivalled in the production of chansons. Yet, Miss Mouskouri's voice has more of the breathy sweetness of Joan Baez than the lustiness of Edith Piaff or Jacques Brel, and she used this quality to good effect in the popular "Joie d'Amour" and a haunting song about young boys going off to war in which she was accompanied only by a three-note drum ostinato.

Following a Greek bazouka song (in a style not unlike our Country-Western) about ten dancing men in a taverna, Miss Mouskouri left the stage in the competent hands of the Athenians, her back-up quintet of guitars- bazoukas and percussion under the direction of her husband George.

In the first number, the group vividly highlighted the frequent Greek device of modulating meters and tempos during beguiling accelerandos and crescendos. A Mexican folksong and a scene from Aristophanes' comedy "The Birds," in which each performer portrayed a different bird from an eagle to a chicken, rounded out their portion of their program.

However, throughout the two hours of the concert excluding intermission, this male ensemble supplied solid rhythmic and harmonic support to the singer. Particularly satisfying were their perfectly-blended modal harmonies which introduced the Greek Wilderness song which Miss Mouskouri used to close the first part of the show.

Most of the songs sung in English were undoubtedly translated Greek songs (there were no programs), but "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and even the Beatles' "Let It Be" were included to please everybody.

Tenor Tops In Songs By Beethoven

Tenor James Theodore Gettys presented a lieder recital Saturday evening before 50 people in the auditorium of the San Rafael Improvement Club which was decorated for the occasion with samples of the singer's woodcuts and pastels.

Gettys was at his best in the Six Beethoven Songs with texts by Gellert, for here he let loose his ringing top heldentenor notes and those lower, almost baritone notes, particularly in the famous "Die Ehre Gottes aus der Natur" and "Gottes Macht und Vorsehung."

Unfortunately, the pianissimos were frequently sung in a rather strained falsetto first aparent in Mozart's "Cantate" which opened the program. Although the Mozart text by Ziegenhagen celebrates the same Freemasonry theme as the Gellert, the musical style is considerably different from Beethoven's, and should be sung with a far lighter tone quality and more graceful mien than what we were offered.

The interminable song cycle "Blondina" by Charles Gounod gave the singer an opportunity to explore a wide range of musical and dramatic intensity. However, with the tenor's dramatic credits in Europe, one expected more of the 19th-Century romantic passion here and in Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" which closed the program. Perhaps it was Gettys's dependence upon his scores, ut the dramatic never quite matched the admirable sensitivity he showed for the music.

Pianist Fae McNally, known n Marin County for his ragtime piano playing as well as for founding the Inverness Music Festival, provided sensitive, stylistic accompaniment throughout the recial. M.F.

College 'Fiddler' Roaring Success

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

That was the audience's response Friday night as the college's H. J. Susser, Scott Merrick and Phyllis Murphy collaborated on the every-other-year "big show" in the Fine Arts Theater.

The minority report: "Fiddler" — despite a professional in the role of Tevye — is a long, long show. It starts slow, and not until midway in the first act does the show pick up steam. From then on, there's some theatrical magic which has been seen in previous college musicals.

Dakin Matthews, as the Russian dairyman who just can't bring himself to face changes, holds the evening together pretty well. It's a demanding role and Matthews maintains consistency in his characterization.

But Matthews and the whole cast are sometimes slowed down by Merrick's Viennese — waltz approach to the musical score.

When the show is clicking, it's most entertaining. A lot of the credit belongs to Lou Nardi. His choreography is stylish but not too sophisticated for the collegians to execute. The bottle-scene is one of the company's better efforts.

On the whole, the college coaches have given Matthews uniform cast support. Kathleen Quinlan, Karyn Nikas, Diane Schaal and Ericka Lutz are as pretty as pictures as Tevye's daughters, and Bette Besuner takes to her role of Golde with verve.

Robin Williams (Perchik), David Silverman (Mendel) and Mark Schwarz (Motel) add strength. Ericka Lutz handles the role of Yente, the matchmaker, reasonably well.

Ronald E. Krempetz has given "Fiddler" a workable set — easy for scene changes and the colorful costumes compliment the scene very well.

The Jerry Bock-Sheldon Harnick score is very melodic. "Tradition" "Matchmaker" and "If I Were A Rich Man" are the best-known songs. They have a lingering effect.

Tickets for the pre-Russian revolutionary period musical, staged jointly by the music and drama departments may be hard to come by. It's been reported the "sold out" sign is up for remainder of the run. The finale is on April 15.

For those who do have tickets, the current exhibit in the theater's art gallery lobby is just as rewarding as the musical. The beautifully finished wood works are a labor of love.

Czech Nonet Gives Great Performance

By VERA M. OLMSTED

A superb group of nine musicians known as the Czech Nonet gave an outstanding performance of rarely heard chamber works yesterday evening in the fourth concert of the Candlelight Chamber Series in the Del Mar School Auditorium, Tiburon.

The solid professionalism of each member was combined with the precision and musicianship of the grou as a whole. The audience applauded so enthusiastically at the end, that the Nonet played an encore, and the audience then stood for the final ovation.

The Czech Nonet was founded in Prague in 1923. Although the membership of the group has varied over the years, its basic aim of publicizing and presenting works by Czech composers has not changed. Almost all of the contemporary pieces they play have been specifically written for the Nonet.

The group is made up of four string instruments violin, viola, cello and double bass), and five winds (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn). This combination is almost a microcosm of a symphony orchestra.

The first three works performed were "Nonet 1" (1952) by Jiri Jaroch, "Nonet" (1959) by Bohuslav Martinu, and "Dancing Preludes" (1955) by Witold Lutoslawski, a Polish composer.

While none of these pieces was written in a very adventuresome contemporary idiom, being essentially neo-classical, they were a welcome relief from the more usual Baroque and classical offerings heard in most chamber concerts.

The second half of the program was devoted to Beethoven's Septet, Opus 20, probably the best known of his early camber works. The Septet is scored for the four strings plus clarinet, bassoon and horn.

The delightful piece is really a divertimento, a work of six movements written in a light and extremely entertaining manner. In the forth movement theme and variations, the players throw the musical line back and forth between each other, and the contrasts between instruments and the variety of timbres are marvelous.

The musicians played this with the same attention to detail and fine ensemble playing they demonstrated in the first half of the program.

This is the second Marin County appearance of the Czech Nonet (the first was in 1969), and if you weren't there last night, don't miss them when they come this way again.

Three Offices Are Burglarized

Three burglaries of Southern Marin offices, with a total value of $5,811 stolen, have been reported by the sheriff's office.

The biggest loss was $4,961 in property stolen on March 19 from the office of psychologist Casandra T. Brothers, 150 Shoreline Highway.

Also reported stolen was office equipment worth $700 taken March 23 from Title Insurance and Trust Co., 104 Tiburon Boulevard, and cash totaling $150 taken on March 25 from Marin Town and Country Pharmacy at the Cove Shopping Center.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Players Heedless Of Mother's Best Efforts

If you were properly brought up, your mother taught you not to frighten other people, especially if they were friends of yours. Since only a cad would try to undo your mother's lessons I wouldn't dream of praising East's unusual play in today's hand.

I merely report it as the sort of thing that sometimes happens when bridge players forget their mothers.

Opening lead — ◇ 10

West opened the ten of diamonds, and East took the king and ace. He needed two more tricks to defeat the contract.

How was he to get them?

Before we go on to what East actually did, let's see what would happen if he made a routine lead, such as a small trump. Declarer would win with the ace of trumps, would cash the ace of spades and would then lead a club to dummy's king in order to return a trump. East would play low, but South would finesse with the ten as a safety play.

SAFETY PLAY

This safety play is the right way to handle the trumps when declarer has no problem in the other suits. Declarer takes one high trump and later leads the next trump toward his hand, with the intention of finessing unless the jack or queen appears.

If the finesse wins, well and good; if it loses, only one trump will be left, and that can be picked up by the remaining top trump.

East could see the safety play coming, for South was a very careful player. The best way to discourage South from executing the safety play was to make him fear that the defense could get a ruffing trick.

SCARED OFF

Hence East returned his deuce of clubs at the third trick. South was frightened away from the safety play because he thought East had led a singleton club.

South therefore hastily drew trumps with the ace and king, thus giving East two trump tricks. Down one.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 8 4
♥ - Q J 5 3
♦ - A K 5
♣ - 8 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Big two diamonds. Your hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts, but not strong enough for a game-forcing jump to three hearts. Show your strength by "manufacturing" a big in a side suit. You will show your heart support next.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Calling all characters! The following are Public Identities No. 1, wanted for roles they've played. Who are they?

1. SARGEANT FRIDAY is 53 today. You'll have to use a "Dragnet" to catch this suspect. Our all-points bulletin describes him as a white Caucasian male ... about 5-foot-9-inches ... 160 pounds ... dark hair, eyes ... Born in Santa Monica, Calif., he has used many aliases in picking up prizes and awards, including Pat Novak, Johnny Modero, and Pete Kelly.

2. BARNABY JONES is 65 today. This self-styled private investigator is under television surveillance and may be stealing audience ratings for CBS. His "MO" (modus operandi) goes back to 1928, when he was put in the lineup by Eddie Cantor for making "Whoopee." Later he posed as an oil millionaire, Jed Clampett, moving his family into a rich home in Beverly Hills.

3. THE COLONEL is 59 today. During World War II he cooperated with the Japanese in building "The Bridge on the River Kwai," a deed which Hollywood authorities duly noted on his record at the Academy in 1957. He was the brains of "The Lavender Hill Mob," head of "The Ladykillers," and undercover agent in "Our Man In Havana." London police say he tried to teach Oliver Twist to steal, using Fagin as his name in that caper.

4. BROTHER HERB is 61 today. Records on this case are known worldwide. Taught by his father to make a living in a clip joint, he and his brothers quit the streets of Ohio to work the theater district, became famous in New York, then stormed Hollywood in 1933. Known show stealers, they conspired to sell the public a "Paper Doll" and topped that by making demands with "Yellow Bird." Other members of the trio are Harry, 59, and Don, 57. Do not confuse these brothers with "The Ink Spots."

Showdown Vote Slated On Gray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three more witnesses may be called to testify this week when the Senate Judiciary Committee holds a showdown vote on President Nixon's nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

Even Gray's supporters concede the nomination is in danger of being rejected, but the White House has denied speculation that Nixon wants to dump Gray and nominate Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen.

A spokesman for Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Sunday night no time has been set for a vote, but the hearings could end this week with testimony from the three witnesses.

The three are Judas Hoback of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington attorney Thomas Lumbard, both connected last year with the Nixon re-election campaign; and Thomas Bishop, a former FBI official. All three previously turned down invitations to appear.

The delay in finishing the hearings has been interpreted by some as an invitation to Gray or the President to withdraw the nomination. However, Eastland said he still believes Gray's nomination will be sent to the Senate and confirmed.

No hearings have been held since March 22 when Gray testified he would continue to send FBI documents to White House counsel John W. Dean III even after Gray stated Dean probably lied to FBI agents last year during the Watergate investixtion.

The White House has denied that Dean lied, but Gray's critics have complained he was not independent of Dean or White House influence during the FBI's probe of the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in an interview he will move at the first executive session after the hearings are completed to reject Gray's nomination.

Announcer Falls Boarding Yacht

McMahon, 50, had several stitches taken in a cut over his right eye and was treated for bruises on his nose and arm. He was hospitalized Friday night and released Sunday. McMahon, an announcer on the Johnny Carson Show, slipped and fell while trying to board a yacht in choppy seas in the Bahamas Friday night.

General Plan Costs Due Board Study

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. at Civic Center, will study cost estimates of implementing the proposed countywide general plan.

The study is the outgrowth of concerns voiced by some Marin residents that not enough is known of how much the far-reaching plan will cost taxpayers.

The county planning department has estimated the gross cost at about $1.7 billion over the next 20 years for subsidized housing, open space, transit and highways.

The total includes expected federal and state grants, sales and gas taxes, county property taxes and unknown sources.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste has proposed that the county contract with private management consultants to develop a study more accurately reflecting anticipated costs.

Cost of the study would run about $80,000, which Baptiste said may be picked up by the federal government under a planning grant.

The board, which will meet at 8:30 a.m. as the Marin Transit District board, also is scheduled to consider reports on the Children's Treatment Center at Juvenile Hall and proposals for a consumer protection program in Marin.

Equality Drives Women To Drink

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — An expert on alcoholism said Sunday that the trend towards more sexual equality is causing more strain on women—and turning more of them to drink.

W. H. Kenyon said the ratio of women alcoholics to men has changed from one in nine a few years ago to one in four or five now.

"The percentage of males to females is narrowing rapidly," he said. "It would seem that more equality with its added stresses and strains and equal pay with its added freedom is leading to more drinking in women."

Kenyon, the director of the Merseyside council on alcoholism, said there were about 520,000 "problem drinkers" in Britain.

ART REVIEW

Craft And Sculpture Show Has Diversity

By ADA GARFINKEL

No limit on entries and a flexible interpretation by the panel of jurors has produced an imaginatively diversified variety in the Marin Society of Artists craft and sculpture show.

It is not always possible to assess the motivation nor the stages of development which catapults a craft into an art form, but this transformation occurs most noticeably in Bonnie Himberg's "Bewitched," — a woven hanging sculpture with folds, pouches, and feathers. Also in Matilda Franz's woven "Super-Shawl," and Jo Hantman's jutting macrame-and-weaving fetish object.

Ceramics were one of the early media to emerge as sculpture. In this category Phyllis Lynch's interlocking circles and Matilda Franz's graduated stacks of "Porcelain Shadows" are intriguingly compelling in their simplicity and sense of presence.

Points of view tend to creep in no matter what! Catherine Gibson's huge, soft sculpture pair of almost human birds suggests male preference in their titles: "He Is," and "A big new world." And in Gayle Luchessa's "Wall Quilt No. 2," there is both a direct appeal and a value judgment in her appraisal.

A different kind of architectural concept —a mobile city structure — is provided by Bill Lary's "Geometrics." A miniature wooden skyscraper, it is mounted on an astroturf-lined movable dolly.

Some decorative arts have also developed sculptural dimensions, to wit:the silver necklaces with a sculpted bird by Suzanne Roxon and those of Margaret Brewster with a butterfly of fossilized shell on one and a cube of Icelandic spar on the other.

But not all of the entries are non-functional. Among the utilitarian objects — bowls, casseroles, pots, jars, vases, planters, and boxes — Chris Wagener's "Square Box with Lid," Bernadette Cole's copper-red bottle, Clell McKinney's pierced steel candle pedestals, Myra Falch's woven aqua and gold stole, and Ruth Bruce's delicately woven panel are several that stand out.

In an exhibit of 113 items carefully and beautifully installed to allow each object maximum viewing space and attractive settings, there is ample choice to engage one's interest and attention.

Also, Alice Shannon's chunky silver necklace, Frieda Burkhart's three-tiered ring, Lida Dear's gold and jade ring, Vera Allison's ivory and turquoise pendant, and Helena Iron's synthetic sapphire ring.

Cash awards were received by Margaret Webster and Chris Wagener who also received merit awards for other entries, and by Bonnie Himberg and Bill Lary.

This exhibit will be on view through April 21 and may be seen from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Greek Folksinger Captures Audience

By MARTIN FRICK

Heralded as "the voice that launched five million records," Greek folksinger Nana Mouskouri wandered into the Marin Veterans Memorial Building last night and left again with the hearts of more than a thousand compatriots and friends.

The appealing, bespectacled singer is Everywoman, but when she breathes her songs from the heart, she projects a universality which transcends both sex and nationality.

Although the majority of the audience had come for the Greek songs, Miss Mouskouri varied the program with a healthy smattering of French and English, and in a Flemish windmill song about terminating love, she demonstrated why that part of Europe is unrivalled in the production of chansons. Yet, Miss Mouskouri's voice has more of the breathy sweetness of Joan Baez than the lustiness of Edith Piaff or Jacques Brel, and she used this quality to good effect in the popular "Joie d'Amour" and a haunting song about young boys going off to war in which she was accompanied only by a three-note drum ostinato.

Following a Greek bazouka song (in a style not unlike our Country-Western) about ten dancing men in a taverna, Miss Mouskouri left the stage in the competent hands of the Athenians, her back-up quintet of guitars- bazoukas and percussion under the direction of her husband George.

In the first number, the group vividly highlighted the frequent Greek device of modulating meters and tempos during beguiling accelerandos and crescendos. A Mexican folksong and a scene from Aristophanes' comedy "The Birds," in which each performer portrayed a different bird from an eagle to a chicken, rounded out their portion of their program.

However, throughout the two hours of the concert excluding intermission, this male ensemble supplied solid rhythmic and harmonic support to the singer. Particularly satisfying were their perfectly-blended modal harmonies which introduced the Greek Wilderness song which Miss Mouskouri used to close the first part of the show.

Most of the songs sung in English were undoubtedly translated Greek songs (there were no programs), but "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and even the Beatles' "Let It Be" were included to please everybody.

Tenor Tops In Songs By Beethoven

Tenor James Theodore Gettys presented a lieder recital Saturday evening before 50 people in the auditorium of the San Rafael Improvement Club which was decorated for the occasion with samples of the singer's woodcuts and pastels.

Gettys was at his best in the Six Beethoven Songs with texts by Gellert, for here he let loose his ringing top heldentenor notes and those lower, almost baritone notes, particularly in the famous "Die Ehre Gottes aus der Natur" and "Gottes Macht und Vorsehung."

Unfortunately, the pianissimos were frequently sung in a rather strained falsetto first aparent in Mozart's "Cantate" which opened the program. Although the Mozart text by Ziegenhagen celebrates the same Freemasonry theme as the Gellert, the musical style is considerably different from Beethoven's, and should be sung with a far lighter tone quality and more graceful mien than what we were offered.

The interminable song cycle "Blondina" by Charles Gounod gave the singer an opportunity to explore a wide range of musical and dramatic intensity. However, with the tenor's dramatic credits in Europe, one expected more of the 19th-Century romantic passion here and in Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" which closed the program. Perhaps it was Gettys's dependence upon his scores, ut the dramatic never quite matched the admirable sensitivity he showed for the music.

Pianist Fae McNally, known n Marin County for his ragtime piano playing as well as for founding the Inverness Music Festival, provided sensitive, stylistic accompaniment throughout the recial. M.F.

College 'Fiddler' Roaring Success

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

That was the audience's response Friday night as the college's H. J. Susser, Scott Merrick and Phyllis Murphy collaborated on the every-other-year "big show" in the Fine Arts Theater.

The minority report: "Fiddler" — despite a professional in the role of Tevye — is a long, long show. It starts slow, and not until midway in the first act does the show pick up steam. From then on, there's some theatrical magic which has been seen in previous college musicals.

Dakin Matthews, as the Russian dairyman who just can't bring himself to face changes, holds the evening together pretty well. It's a demanding role and Matthews maintains consistency in his characterization.

But Matthews and the whole cast are sometimes slowed down by Merrick's Viennese — waltz approach to the musical score.

When the show is clicking, it's most entertaining. A lot of the credit belongs to Lou Nardi. His choreography is stylish but not too sophisticated for the collegians to execute. The bottle-scene is one of the company's better efforts.

On the whole, the college coaches have given Matthews uniform cast support. Kathleen Quinlan, Karyn Nikas, Diane Schaal and Ericka Lutz are as pretty as pictures as Tevye's daughters, and Bette Besuner takes to her role of Golde with verve.

Robin Williams (Perchik), David Silverman (Mendel) and Mark Schwarz (Motel) add strength. Ericka Lutz handles the role of Yente, the matchmaker, reasonably well.

Ronald E. Krempetz has given "Fiddler" a workable set — easy for scene changes and the colorful costumes compliment the scene very well.

The Jerry Bock-Sheldon Harnick score is very melodic. "Tradition" "Matchmaker" and "If I Were A Rich Man" are the best-known songs. They have a lingering effect.

Tickets for the pre-Russian revolutionary period musical, staged jointly by the music and drama departments may be hard to come by. It's been reported the "sold out" sign is up for remainder of the run. The finale is on April 15.

For those who do have tickets, the current exhibit in the theater's art gallery lobby is just as rewarding as the musical. The beautifully finished wood works are a labor of love.

Czech Nonet Gives Great Performance

By VERA M. OLMSTED

A superb group of nine musicians known as the Czech Nonet gave an outstanding performance of rarely heard chamber works yesterday evening in the fourth concert of the Candlelight Chamber Series in the Del Mar School Auditorium, Tiburon.

The solid professionalism of each member was combined with the precision and musicianship of the grou as a whole. The audience applauded so enthusiastically at the end, that the Nonet played an encore, and the audience then stood for the final ovation.

The Czech Nonet was founded in Prague in 1923. Although the membership of the group has varied over the years, its basic aim of publicizing and presenting works by Czech composers has not changed. Almost all of the contemporary pieces they play have been specifically written for the Nonet.

The group is made up of four string instruments violin, viola, cello and double bass), and five winds (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn). This combination is almost a microcosm of a symphony orchestra.

The first three works performed were "Nonet 1" (1952) by Jiri Jaroch, "Nonet" (1959) by Bohuslav Martinu, and "Dancing Preludes" (1955) by Witold Lutoslawski, a Polish composer.

While none of these pieces was written in a very adventuresome contemporary idiom, being essentially neo-classical, they were a welcome relief from the more usual Baroque and classical offerings heard in most chamber concerts.

The second half of the program was devoted to Beethoven's Septet, Opus 20, probably the best known of his early camber works. The Septet is scored for the four strings plus clarinet, bassoon and horn.

The delightful piece is really a divertimento, a work of six movements written in a light and extremely entertaining manner. In the forth movement theme and variations, the players throw the musical line back and forth between each other, and the contrasts between instruments and the variety of timbres are marvelous.

The musicians played this with the same attention to detail and fine ensemble playing they demonstrated in the first half of the program.

This is the second Marin County appearance of the Czech Nonet (the first was in 1969), and if you weren't there last night, don't miss them when they come this way again.

Three Offices Are Burglarized

Three burglaries of Southern Marin offices, with a total value of $5,811 stolen, have been reported by the sheriff's office.

The biggest loss was $4,961 in property stolen on March 19 from the office of psychologist Casandra T. Brothers, 150 Shoreline Highway.

Also reported stolen was office equipment worth $700 taken March 23 from Title Insurance and Trust Co., 104 Tiburon Boulevard, and cash totaling $150 taken on March 25 from Marin Town and Country Pharmacy at the Cove Shopping Center.

Death Reason

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Police said today that survey of suicides in Delhi last year showed that 25 men took their lives because of differences with their mothers-in-law.

Roughing It In Guatemala Natural For Woman Guide

By BETTY FROST

Miss Liscom was the leader of a three-week Sierra Club hiking and bicycling excursion in Guatemala. The trip included hiking to the top of the 12,362 foot high active Acatanango volcano, and bicycling from Antiqua, Guatemala's picturesque colonial capital, to Panajachel on Lake Atitlan, a distance of about 55 miles. They paddled across Lake Atitlan to the village of San Antonio by dugout canoe, and traveled by native canoe on the Rio Dulce through the tropical jungle to the Atlantic. They saw the stone evidence of the Mayan culture in Tikal and Chichicastenango and stone carvings of the Olmec era, a pre-Mayan culture, near San Pedro.

LINDA LISCOM reminisced about her hiking-bicycling trip through Guatemala in her home in Sausalito. She is wearing the handwoven costume typical of the Guatemala highlands, and holds a pre-Columbia era bowl found in the Central American country.

For Miss Liscom the trip had two highlights. In Antiqua the travelers stayed on a 25-acre coffee finca, owned by Senora Marguerita Dressler, who is a Sierra Club member. She provided lodging for the party of 10.

MEMORABLE, TOO, was the stay in Colotenango. The town of Colotenango was isolated for centuries. The only access to it was a footbridge across a steep gorge. Last year a road was completed, giving the bicyclists an opportunity to enter the village. Miss Liscom had made arrangements with the Rev. Thomas Fox, a Maryknoll missionary, to bring the Sierra Club group to Colotenango during the Fiesta de Candelaria in February.

FATHER FOX had arranged for cots to be set up in a school building for the travelers who stayed for two days. During the fiesta the Cofradia, a lay religious organization, takes an active role. The leader of the Cofradia is permitted to take a statue of a saint from the church to his home. All day and all night during the fiesta the villagers visit the statue and the host must see that all are fed. The townspeople wear costumes and masks and dance in the streets to marimba music. Costumed musicians also play drums and flutes. At night the statue of the Virgin is carried through the streets, followed by a procession of worshippers carrying lanterns. They return the statue to the church. Religious observances are also a part of the fiesta, and it is a popular time for baptisms, Miss Liscom said.

"Our experience at Colotenango was like a visit to the 16th Century," the Sausalito woman said.

This was her fourth trip to Guatemala. She put her passengers on the plane in Guatemala City, Feb. 17, and remained in the Central American country four additional weeks. Included in the party were Herman Borchardt of Greenbrae, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finch of Inverness, June Geary of San Rafael and Charles Wills of Tiburon.

AT THE EDGE of the crater of Santa Maria Volcano in Guatemala, Linda Liscom admires the view. Climbing to the top of the 12,362 foot high volcano was one of the accomplishments of the Sierra Club excursion to Guatemala which Miss Liscom led earlier this year.

The additional month the tour leader spent in the back country, scouting locations for future trips. She concentrated on exploring Coban and the Sierra Cuchumatanes regions in Guatemala, and Copan in Honduras. From this experience she has established the itinerary of a trip she will lead next November for Mountain Travel, an East Bay tourist firm. She has great praise for the Guatemala hiking club, the Federacion de Andanismo, whose members assisted the Sierra Club hikers.

THE FRIENDLINESS of the Guatemalans in the back country also impressed Miss Liscom. "Every encounter is like a gift," she said. "They were fascinated with our knapsacks, probably because they carry most burdens on their heads."

MISS LISCOM is no novice to rugged excursions. She has been on two Sierra Club glacier trips to British Columbia, visited volcanoes in Mexico and remote areas in Maui and Lanai, Hawaii. Last fall she hiked through Nepal, walking the 500 miles from Katmandu to Darjeeling in 50 days. She has also taken many trips in the Sierra.

She started hiking on Mount Tamalpais, which she calls "a wonderful Walden to have in your back yard."

She says her "favorite indoor sport is cooking." She has cooked and planned meals for a number of long hikes. To eliminate both weight and bulk, all foodstuffs are taken out of their original wrappings, repackaged in plastic bags, and labeled for the meal and the day. Within these limitations she manages some gourmet meals, such as the chicken curry with six condiments, preceded by Pimm's Cup which she served on the trail in Guatemala.

Because of her cooking expertise, the Diabo Unified School District hired Miss Loscom as a food consultant. She taught the students how to plan and prepare meals for field trips to the Big Sur and the Sierra Nevada.

TRAVEL HAS been a part of the woman's life pattern since her college days, when she conducted a tour of American Field Service students to Washington, D.C. Later she took a group to Switzerland for the Experiment In Living program.

She grew up in Southern California, and received her early education in La Canada schools. She received a degree from the University of Southern California in dental hygiene, and she took many nutrition courses at the university.

She is employed as a dental hygienist by Dr. Martin Brownstein of Sausalito and other dentists in San Francisco. One of the dentists for whom Linda works, Dr. Lauro Quiros of San Francisco, joined her excursion to Guatemala. Dr. Quiros told Miss Liscom he was tired of hearing about her trips, and wanted to go on one. He bought a bicycle and worked on fitness training for six months. Then he volunteered to take car of the expedition's first aid needs.

What next for the traveler? "I want to go to Ecuador, Peru and the South Pacific," she said, dreamily.

Showdown Vote Slated On Gray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three more witnesses may be called to testify this week when the Senate Judiciary Committee holds a showdown vote on President Nixon's nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

Even Gray's supporters concede the nomination is in danger of being rejected, but the White House has denied speculation that Nixon wants to dump Gray and nominate Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen.

A spokesman for Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Sunday night no time has been set for a vote, but the hearings could end this week with testimony from the three witnesses.

The three are Judas Hoback of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington attorney Thomas Lumbard, both connected last year with the Nixon re-election campaign; and Thomas Bishop, a former FBI official. All three previously turned down invitations to appear.

The delay in finishing the hearings has been interpreted by some as an invitation to Gray or the President to withdraw the nomination. However, Eastland said he still believes Gray's nomination will be sent to the Senate and confirmed.

No hearings have been held since March 22 when Gray testified he would continue to send FBI documents to White House counsel John W. Dean III even after Gray stated Dean probably lied to FBI agents last year during the Watergate investixtion.

The White House has denied that Dean lied, but Gray's critics have complained he was not independent of Dean or White House influence during the FBI's probe of the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in an interview he will move at the first executive session after the hearings are completed to reject Gray's nomination.

Announcer Falls Boarding Yacht

McMahon, 50, had several stitches taken in a cut over his right eye and was treated for bruises on his nose and arm. He was hospitalized Friday night and released Sunday. McMahon, an announcer on the Johnny Carson Show, slipped and fell while trying to board a yacht in choppy seas in the Bahamas Friday night.

General Plan Costs Due Board Study

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. at Civic Center, will study cost estimates of implementing the proposed countywide general plan.

The study is the outgrowth of concerns voiced by some Marin residents that not enough is known of how much the far-reaching plan will cost taxpayers.

The county planning department has estimated the gross cost at about $1.7 billion over the next 20 years for subsidized housing, open space, transit and highways.

The total includes expected federal and state grants, sales and gas taxes, county property taxes and unknown sources.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste has proposed that the county contract with private management consultants to develop a study more accurately reflecting anticipated costs.

Cost of the study would run about $80,000, which Baptiste said may be picked up by the federal government under a planning grant.

The board, which will meet at 8:30 a.m. as the Marin Transit District board, also is scheduled to consider reports on the Children's Treatment Center at Juvenile Hall and proposals for a consumer protection program in Marin.

Equality Drives Women To Drink

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — An expert on alcoholism said Sunday that the trend towards more sexual equality is causing more strain on women—and turning more of them to drink.

W. H. Kenyon said the ratio of women alcoholics to men has changed from one in nine a few years ago to one in four or five now.

"The percentage of males to females is narrowing rapidly," he said. "It would seem that more equality with its added stresses and strains and equal pay with its added freedom is leading to more drinking in women."

Kenyon, the director of the Merseyside council on alcoholism, said there were about 520,000 "problem drinkers" in Britain.

HELEN HELP US!

Burial At Sea: Love At Halftime: Leg Men? Depends On The View

DEAR HELEN:

Recent letters in your column discussed the high cost of dying. How about burial at sea?

I have thought this over and the following plan appeals to me: In my will there will be allocated the small sum necessary to hire a small fishing boat. All friends and relatives inclined to make the trip beyond the three-mile limit will be welcome.

After the clergyman has said his prayer and I have been eased over the side (suitably wrapped and weighted), my will shall provide that beer and fishing tackle be distributed.

I want my survivors to remember me with a smile. All I ask is that after I have dropped into the briny deep, they call me chum. — A.W.F.

DEAR A:

Whatever sends you on. (But there may be some legal complications.)

Non-fishermen won't get your double meaning, chum, but it's just as well. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN:

With the football season over, I'd like to ask equal time as opposed to a number of football widows who have voiced their feelings in your column To wit:

Weekends are the only leisure time we working men have. What's wrong with watching our favorite athletic competition?

I say football widows (so called) are making a serious error when they put themselves in competition with The Game. When men watch sports in preference to watching their charms, they consider it rejection, and then resort to all these snide psychological combat techniques such as telling us that too much TV sports may make us lose our sex drive.

Gals, it simply isn't that way at all. I personally enjoy sex, but not exclusively. Men are not one-sided, one-track creatures. Women's lives are more centered around home and husband, but men need more balanced diets, and women are only one of the needs. — SOUTHEASTERN FOOTBALL ADDICT

DEAR SFA:

Besides, there's always halftime . . . — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments from men, re mini vs. long skirts and pants (which "Leg Man" resented).

Many women look great in long pants, but, please, not all the time.

I say — up with skirts and-down with pants. — HAPPY GRANDPA

DEAR HELEN: "Leg Man" gets no sympathy from me. It's cold this time of year. Why should I insist my girl wear clothes that will give her the chills? Since she put on long skirts, I've noticed things about her I took for granted before — her pretty large eyes and cute little nose. And when summer comes, I'll notice her legs more because she hasn't been showing them every day in a miniskirt.

After all, I know they're still there, and long skirts make her look very feminine in other ways.

If a guy only appreciates his girl's legs and nothing else about her, he doesn't deserve her. — JACK

DEAR HELEN: I wear clothes for comfort. "Comfort" is long skirts and pants, one of the big reasons being — I don't have to worry about runs in my hose. — LEGGY and FEMININE

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? a Fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

Jomar Katherine Lococo Weds Joseph M. Kosydar

St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo was the setting for the marriage of Jomar Katherine Lococo of Corte Madera to Joseph M. Kosydar of Portland, Ore., on March 24.

Judy Lococo of Corte Madera was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Janice Lococo of Berkeley, another sister, and Justine Lucas of Palo Alto.

Craig Stone of Boston, Mass., served as best man. The ushers were John Kosydar of Omaha, Neb., and Andy Stricker of Portland.

The couple will live in Eugene, Ore., where he is in law school and at the University of Oregon and she is working toward the master of science degree.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Lococo of Corte Madera, is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Dominican College. She is the sister of Larry and Anne Marie Lococo.

Her husband is the son of Mrs. Frances M. Kosydar of Portland. He is a graduate of Madison High School in Portland and Portland State University. Joseph is the brother of John, Christine, Karl and Ginger Kosydar.

MONEY MATTERS

Today's Affluent Teens Need Financial Guidance

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

"Son, could you lend me a few bucks?" This may not be an unusual request these days. After all, most teen-agers are "in the money."

It is obvious from statistics compiled by the United States Census Bureau. They add up to this fact: Some 12,500,000 teen-agers between 14 and 19 ran up earnings totaling more than $132,700,000 in 1971.

Boys who worked in that year had an average income of $1,631. Girls earned an average of $932.

It's comparatively new, this teen-age affluence. Their parents can remember the day when young people had little money of their own. But today it is not unusual for the high school contingent to have cars, buy their own clothes, and even travel to Europe with teen-age groups.

AS TO the effect of this comparative wealth on the "now generation," there seem to be mixed emotions.

"Some people feel teen-agers have too much money today, that they don't know how to handle it and are often wasteful," according to education program specialists in the U.S. Office of Education.

What can be done about it? Should they be taught the value of money in the schools? Or is this the responsibility of parents?

Both schools and parents are having a word with the young people on the subject.

Schools are doing so with modernized consumer-education courses — courses specifically geared to the interests and needs of the teen-ager. Some of them even get down to the nitty-gritty of how to buy a car, how to finance it, how to operate it economically.

Both boys and girls are interested in clothes. They want to look sharp and yet not spend all their money on them. Special consumer-buying courses include tips on this, too.

MOST YOUNGSTERS," he says, "receive their allowances in one of two ways. Money is provided for personal expenses — treats, gifts, movies, etc. on a regular basis. School lunch money is usually doled out separately.

"Or, daily cash may be given the child in a regular manner with a special allowance now and then for week-end fun occasions, plus a few minor luxuries."

Robert Sloss Claims Miss Ann Forsham

Ann Campbell Forsham of Mill Valley and Robert Joseph Sloss of Palo Alto were wed Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter H. Forsham, in Mill Valley.

A reception at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley followed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Thomas Cheetham, and Elizabeth Forsham, and other members of the wedding party were Phillip Dwight and Robert Herrmann.

The bridge is the granddaughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. Stewart Campbell of Wilmot, N. H., and Mrs. Augusta Forsham of Cambridge, England, She attends Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sloss of San Francisco are Robert's parents. He is a graduate of Rutgers University. The bridegroom is employed by Connor Springs Manufacturing Co. in Palo Alto.

Social Dance Club Formed In Santa Rosa

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Van Hoosen of Santa Rosa have started a new social club for dancers in Marin and Sonoma counties, which includes single people and couples.

The Van Hoosens met at the Singles Dance Club and were married last New Year's Eve. Mr. Van Hoosen is president of the club, and the former June Schultz of Santa Rosa, Mrs. Van Hoosen, is vice president of the new club. Carol De Mio is secretary.

The club specializes in all old-time dancing. The next dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. today at the Santa Rosa Hotel. The club plans to form its own band and on May 5 will begin to meet at the Petaluma Woman's Club.

The Wrap Turban

The jersey wrap turban will be turning many a head this season. For evening: in the same fabric as the gown or palazzo pants, sometimes with a floaty attached scarf. For day: matched to the outfit or color accents for pale, pretty colors.

Reports Differ On Coffee Effect

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Coffee drinkers: is java good or bad? You have a choice of reports and answers. One from Boston University and published in Lancet, a British medical journal, suggests a relationship between heavy coffee drinking and heart disease.

But D. Siegfried Heyden, professor of community health sciences at Duke University, says his studies confirm earlier findings to the contrary —that is, that there is no link between heavy coffee drinking and a high incidence of heart disease.

He also found no significant difference between the cholesterol, blood sugar and uric acid levels and blood pressure of heavy coffee drinkers and non-drinkers of coffee.

Roughing It In Guatemala Natural For Woman Guide

By BETTY FROST

Miss Liscom was the leader of a three-week Sierra Club hiking and bicycling excursion in Guatemala. The trip included hiking to the top of the 12,362 foot high active Acatanango volcano, and bicycling from Antiqua, Guatemala's picturesque colonial capital, to Panajachel on Lake Atitlan, a distance of about 55 miles. They paddled across Lake Atitlan to the village of San Antonio by dugout canoe, and traveled by native canoe on the Rio Dulce through the tropical jungle to the Atlantic. They saw the stone evidence of the Mayan culture in Tikal and Chichicastenango and stone carvings of the Olmec era, a pre-Mayan culture, near San Pedro.

LINDA LISCOM reminisced about her hiking-bicycling trip through Guatemala in her home in Sausalito. She is wearing the handwoven costume typical of the Guatemala highlands, and holds a pre-Columbia era bowl found in the Central American country.

For Miss Liscom the trip had two highlights. In Antiqua the travelers stayed on a 25-acre coffee finca, owned by Senora Marguerita Dressler, who is a Sierra Club member. She provided lodging for the party of 10.

MEMORABLE, TOO, was the stay in Colotenango. The town of Colotenango was isolated for centuries. The only access to it was a footbridge across a steep gorge. Last year a road was completed, giving the bicyclists an opportunity to enter the village. Miss Liscom had made arrangements with the Rev. Thomas Fox, a Maryknoll missionary, to bring the Sierra Club group to Colotenango during the Fiesta de Candelaria in February.

FATHER FOX had arranged for cots to be set up in a school building for the travelers who stayed for two days. During the fiesta the Cofradia, a lay religious organization, takes an active role. The leader of the Cofradia is permitted to take a statue of a saint from the church to his home. All day and all night during the fiesta the villagers visit the statue and the host must see that all are fed. The townspeople wear costumes and masks and dance in the streets to marimba music. Costumed musicians also play drums and flutes. At night the statue of the Virgin is carried through the streets, followed by a procession of worshippers carrying lanterns. They return the statue to the church. Religious observances are also a part of the fiesta, and it is a popular time for baptisms, Miss Liscom said.

"Our experience at Colotenango was like a visit to the 16th Century," the Sausalito woman said.

AT THE EDGE of the crater of Santa Maria Volcano in Guatemala, Linda Liscom admires the view. Climbing to the top of the 12,362 foot high volcano was one of the accomplishments of the Sierra Club excursion to Guatemala which Miss Liscom led earlier this year.

This was her fourth trip to Guatemala. She put her passengers on the plane in Guatemala City, Feb. 17, and remained in the Central American country four additional weeks. Included in the party were Herman Borchardt of Greenbrae, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finch of Inverness, June Geary of San Rafael and Charles Wills of Tiburon.

The additional month the tour leader spent in the back country, scouting locations for future trips. She concentrated on exploring Coban and the Sierra Cuchumatanes regions in Guatemala, and Copan in Honduras. From this experience she has established the itinerary of a trip she will lead next November for Mountain Travel, an East Bay tourist firm. She has great praise for the Guatemala hiking club, the Federacion de Andanismo, whose members assisted the Sierra Club hikers.

THE FRIENDLINESS of the Guatemalans in the back country also impressed Miss Liscom. "Every encounter is like a gift," she said. "They were fascinated with our knapsacks, probably because they carry most burdens on their heads."

MISS LISCOM is no novice to rugged excursions. She has been on two Sierra Club glacier trips to British Columbia, visited volcanoes in Mexico and remote areas in Maui and Lanai, Hawaii. Last fall she hiked through Nepal, walking the 500 miles from Katmandu to Darjeeling in 50 days. She has also taken many trips in the Sierra.

She started hiking on Mount Tamalpais, which she calls "a wonderful Walden to have in your back yard."

She says her "favorite indoor sport is cooking." She has cooked and planned meals for a number of long hikes. To eliminate both weight and bulk, all foodstuffs are taken out of their original wrappings, repackaged in plastic bags, and labeled for the meal and the day. Within these limitations she manages some gourmet meals, such as the chicken curry with six condiments, preceded by Pimm's Cup which she served on the trail in Guatemala.

Because of her cooking expertise, the Diabo Unified School District hired Miss Loscom as a food consultant. She taught the students how to plan and prepare meals for field trips to the Big Sur and the Sierra Nevada.

TRAVEL HAS been a part of the woman's life pattern since her college days, when she conducted a tour of American Field Service students to Washington, D.C. Later she took a group to Switzerland for the Experiment In Living program.

She grew up in Southern California, and received her early education in La Canada schools. She received a degree from the University of Southern California in dental hygiene, and she took many nutrition courses at the university.

She is employed as a dental hygienist by Dr. Martin Brownstein of Sausalito and other dentists in San Francisco. One of the dentists for whom Linda works, Dr. Lauro Quiros of San Francisco, joined her excursion to Guatemala. Dr. Quiros told Miss Liscom he was tired of hearing about her trips, and wanted to go on one. He bought a bicycle and worked on fitness training for six months. Then he volunteered to take car of the expedition's first aid needs.

What next for the traveler? "I want to go to Ecuador, Peru and the South Pacific," she said, dreamily.

Cut Sugar

LOMA LINDA (UPI) — The average person should cut his sugar intake by half, according to Loma Linda University nutritionist Dr. U. D. Register. "It's been found," he said, "that sugar depresses the ability of the white blood cells to destroy bacteria by 50 per cent."

Carole Dean Woodworth Is Married

The marriage of Carole Dean Woodworth and Stanley Craig Chapman, both of San Anselmo, took place Saturday at noon at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo and was attended by immediate family members only.

The bride's sister-in-law, Sherry Woodworth of Salinas, was matron of honor, and Keith E. Chapman of Novato was his brother's best man.

Carole is the daughter of Mrs. Stannard A. Woodworth of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Woodworth. She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and the Rudolph Schaeffer School of Design in San Francisco. The bride also attended the University of California at Berkeley. She is employed by George Meu and Associates Architects in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Edward Champman of San Anselmo are the bridegroom's parents. He is a graduate of Drake High School and California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. Stanley is the grandson of Mrs. Margurite Lutgens of San Anselmo, and he is the brother of Mrs. Daniel Divita of Petaluma. He is employed by Gordon H. Ball, Inc., in Danville.

Following a wedding trip on the northern coast of California the couple will live in Walnut Creek.

A sun hat with a shoulder-wide brim and a long-sleeved jumpsuit will protect th home gardener who can't stand much sun.

Skinny Belts

When baggy-model pants are mentioned the skinny belt is discussed. Skinny belts will be an important part of spring '73 belt fashion in young men's stores. According to a buyer from the mid-West, "I think everyone will have to buy the skinny belt."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Burial At Sea: Love At Halftime: Leg Men? Depends On The View

DEAR HELEN:

Recent letters in your column discussed the high cost of dying. How about burial at sea?

I have thought this over and the following plan appeals to me: In my will there will be allocated the small sum necessary to hire a small fishing boat. All friends and relatives inclined to make the trip beyond the three-mile limit will be welcome.

After the clergyman has said his prayer and I have been eased over the side (suitably wrapped and weighted), my will shall provide that beer and fishing tackle be distributed.

I want my survivors to remember me with a smile. All I ask is that after I have dropped into the briny deep, they call me chum. — A.W.F.

DEAR A:

Whatever sends you on. (But there may be some legal complications.)

Non-fishermen won't get your double meaning, chum, but it's just as well. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN:

With the football season over, I'd like to ask equal time as opposed to a number of football widows who have voiced their feelings in your column To wit:

Weekends are the only leisure time we working men have. What's wrong with watching our favorite athletic competition?

I say football widows (so called) are making a serious error when they put themselves in competition with The Game. When men watch sports in preference to watching their charms, they consider it rejection, and then resort to all these snide psychological combat techniques such as telling us that too much TV sports may make us lose our sex drive.

Gals, it simply isn't that way at all. I personally enjoy sex, but not exclusively. Men are not one-sided, one-track creatures. Women's lives are more centered around home and husband, but men need more balanced diets, and women are only one of the needs. — SOUTHEASTERN FOOTBALL ADDICT

DEAR SFA:

Besides, there's always halftime . . . — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments from men, re mini vs. long skirts and pants (which "Leg Man" resented).

Many women look great in long pants, but, please, not all the time.

I say — up with skirts and-down with pants. — HAPPY GRANDPA

DEAR HELEN: "Leg Man" gets no sympathy from me. It's cold this time of year. Why should I insist my girl wear clothes that will give her the chills? Since she put on long skirts, I've noticed things about her I took for granted before — her pretty large eyes and cute little nose. And when summer comes, I'll notice her legs more because she hasn't been showing them every day in a miniskirt.

After all, I know they're still there, and long skirts make her look very feminine in other ways.

If a guy only appreciates his girl's legs and nothing else about her, he doesn't deserve her. — JACK

DEAR HELEN: I wear clothes for comfort. "Comfort" is long skirts and pants, one of the big reasons being — I don't have to worry about runs in my hose. — LEGGY and FEMININE

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? a Fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH M. KOSYDAR
Jomar Lococo is married
(Richard Miller photo)

Jomar Katherine Lococo Weds Joseph M. Kosydar

St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo was the setting for the marriage of Jomar Katherine Lococo of Corte Madera to Joseph M. Kosydar of Portland, Ore., on March 24.

Judy Lococo of Corte Madera was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Janice Lococo of Berkeley, another sister, and Justine Lucas of Palo Alto.

Craig Stone of Boston, Mass., served as best man. The ushers were John Kosydar of Omaha, Neb., and Andy Stricker of Portland.

The couple will live in Eugene, Ore., where he is in law school and at the University of Oregon and she is working toward the master of science degree.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Lococo of Corte Madera, is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Dominican College. She is the sister of Larry and Anne Marie Lococo.

Her husband is the son of Mrs. Frances M. Kosydar of Portland. He is a graduate of Madison High School in Portland and Portland State University. Joseph is the brother of John, Christine, Karl and Ginger Kosydar.

MONEY MATTERS

Today's Affluent Teens Need Financial Guidance

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

"Son, could you lend me a few bucks?" This may not be an unusual request these days. After all, most teen-agers are "in the money."

It is obvious from statistics compiled by the United States Census Bureau. They add up to this fact: Some 12,500,000 teen-agers between 14 and 19 ran up earnings totaling more than $132,700,000 in 1971.

Boys who worked in that year had an average income of $1,631. Girls earned an average of $932.

It's comparatively new, this teen-age affluence. Their parents can remember the day when young people had little money of their own. But today it is not unusual for the high school contingent to have cars, buy their own clothes, and even travel to Europe with teen-age groups.

AS TO the effect of this comparative wealth on the "now generation," there seem to be mixed emotions.

"Some people feel teen-agers have too much money today, that they don't know how to handle it and are often wasteful," according to education program specialists in the U.S. Office of Education.

What can be done about it? Should they be taught the value of money in the schools? Or is this the responsibility of parents?

Both schools and parents are having a word with the young people on the subject.

Schools are doing so with modernized consumer-education courses — courses specifically geared to the interests and needs of the teen-ager. Some of them even get down to the nitty-gritty of how to buy a car, how to finance it, how to operate it economically.

Both boys and girls are interested in clothes. They want to look sharp and yet not spend all their money on them. Special consumer-buying courses include tips on this, too.

MOST YOUNGSTERS," he says, "receive their allowances in one of two ways. Money is provided for personal expenses — treats, gifts, movies, etc. on a regular basis. School lunch money is usually doled out separately.

"Or, daily cash may be given the child in a regular manner with a special allowance now and then for week-end fun occasions, plus a few minor luxuries."

Robert Sloss Claims Miss Ann Forsham

Ann Campbell Forsham of Mill Valley and Robert Joseph Sloss of Palo Alto were wed Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter H. Forsham, in Mill Valley.

A reception at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley followed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Thomas Cheetham, and Elizabeth Forsham, and other members of the wedding party were Phillip Dwight and Robert Herrmann.

The bridge is the granddaughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. Stewart Campbell of Wilmot, N. H., and Mrs. Augusta Forsham of Cambridge, England, She attends Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sloss of San Francisco are Robert's parents. He is a graduate of Rutgers University. The bridegroom is employed by Connor Springs Manufacturing Co. in Palo Alto.

Social Dance Club Formed In Santa Rosa

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Van Hoosen of Santa Rosa have started a new social club for dancers in Marin and Sonoma counties, which includes single people and couples.

The Van Hoosens met at the Singles Dance Club and were married last New Year's Eve. Mr. Van Hoosen is president of the club, and the former June Schultz of Santa Rosa, Mrs. Van Hoosen, is vice president of the new club. Carol De Mio is secretary.

The club specializes in all old-time dancing. The next dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. today at the Santa Rosa Hotel. The club plans to form its own band and on May 5 will begin to meet at the Petaluma Woman's Club.

The Wrap Turban

The jersey wrap turban will be turning many a head this season. For evening: in the same fabric as the gown or palazzo pants, sometimes with a floaty attached scarf. For day: matched to the outfit or color accents for pale, pretty colors.

Reports Differ On Coffee Effect

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Coffee drinkers: is java good or bad? You have a choice of reports and answers. One from Boston University and published in Lancet, a British medical journal, suggests a relationship between heavy coffee drinking and heart disease.

But D. Siegfried Heyden, professor of community health sciences at Duke University, says his studies confirm earlier findings to the contrary —that is, that there is no link between heavy coffee drinking and a high incidence of heart disease.

He also found no significant difference between the cholesterol, blood sugar and uric acid levels and blood pressure of heavy coffee drinkers and non-drinkers of coffee.

Blacks' Blood Contains Skin Cancer Antibodies

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — A husband-wife research team said Sunday the blood of 80 per cent of American blacks may contain an effective tool for combatting malignant melanoma, a dangerous type of skin cancer.

Dr. Karl-Eric Hellstrom and his wife Ingred, both faculty members at the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle, said their discovery was made by accident.

Their report to science writers came at a special seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

The Swedish-born scientists reported in the past that substances they call blocking antibodies are apparently able to stop lymphocytes — disease fighting cells in the blood — from attacking cancer cells. This allows tumors to grow and kill patients.

While trying to determine how these antibodies may be unblocked, they "completely by accident" stumbled on natural substances that do just this, they said.

"Serum from blacks seems to have this unblocking ability," Mrs. Hellstrom said, and thus leaves the patient's own lymphocytes free to attack the melanoma tumors. About 80 per cent of America's blacks seem to have that serum, she said.

"Blacks' plasma, the lymphocytes, seems to kill melanoma but has no effect against normal cells or other types of tumors," she said.

She said that this skin cancer "is very rare among Negroes in the United States although a different type of melanoma is found among African blacks. In fact, many clinicians I contacted have never even seen a melanoma among blacks."

Melanoma is a free-spreading cancer difficult to cure. It is known, however, as the "black cancer" because these tumors produce the melanin which is responsible for skin pigmentation.

"We're saying that plasma from blacks may be able to change the picture (of malignant melanoma) in the favorable way," she said.

"We think it will take two or three years before we know anything."

Mrs. Hellstrom mphasized that their research in the use of Negro lymphocytes has been restricted to test tubes only.

Alcohol Abuse Workshop Is Set

A workshop on community efforts to curb alcohol abuse will be held Saturday at Olney Hall, College of Marin, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m

The Alcohol Information Committee, Marin Association for Mental Health and Marin Community Mental Health Services Department will sponsor the session, "Getting It Together."

Among the speakers will be Don Cahallan, professor of behavioral science at the University of California at Berkeley, who will discuss research on alcoholism with progress towards its prevention.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Friday that the workshop would be held last Saturday.

Timing Seen Critical In Cancer Drug

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — The same drug might save or kill a cancer patient, depending on the time of day the patient gets it, according to a researcher from the University of Minnesota.

Results of experiments on mice show that the body's own cycles and rhythms have a pronounced effect on arabinosyl cytosine, a drug commonly used on cancer patients, said Dr. Franz Halberg.

The problem with anti-cancer drugs, he said, is that in destroying the cancer cells they also destroy the bone marrow tissue that manufactures the antibodies needed to protect against infections.

Halberg cited studies showing that cancerous mice, treated with the drug, lived or died according to the time it was given, and the dosage pattern.

The organs of the body follow "circadian rhythms," he said, becoming more or less active at certain times in a 24-hour cycle.

Mice receiving the drug in fixed doses at three hour intervals died, Halberg said.

Those that received the same amount of the drug, but in gradually increasing and decreasing doses at three hour intervals, survived, apparently because the strongest dosages were administered when the bone marrow cells were dormant and least susceptible to damage, and the lowest dosages were given when the marrow cells were most sensitive, he said.

In applying the research findings to humans, he said, there is the problem of determining what the individual patient's cycles are, "but the least we could do to get things started is to give the drugs at the times we found to be best for mice."

Dr. Robert A. Good, president of the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Institute in New York, who aided in the study, said some of its principles would be applied at his hospital.

Shopping Center Art Festval Set

Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center will hold a spring art festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until dark.

The show will include oil paintings, watercolors, sketches, glass and metal sculpture, wallhangings and macrame, candle holders and other pieces.

About 200 artists will participate including: from Mill Valley painter Bob Pepper, photographer Donald Perry and sculptor Rich Haupt.

Whistles Carried To Thwart Thieves

BOSTON (UPI) — Residents on Boston's wealthy Beacon Hill plagued by a recent rash of holdups and muggings, have begun carrying whistles to call for help.

"We're urging everyone on the hill to have a whistle," said Democratic state Rep. Barney Frank, whose district includes the quiet, fashionable neighborhood bordering the Massachusetts State House.

Duo-Piano Recital

Fairfax pianist James B. Conway will play in a duo-piano recital at 8 p.m. April 14 at the Chapel of the Chimes, 4499 Piedmont Avenue, Oakland, with Ronald Cole, a San Ramon pianist. Both men teach piano in Marin.

I LOST 600 POUNDS
THE SAME 10 POUNDS 60 TIMES.
DIETS? I'VE TRIED THEM ALL.

1. I lost weight so slowly, I got discouraged & quit.
2. I had weird cravings. I would have killed for a hot Fudge Sundae!
3. One slip and my will power disappeared. The result? An eating orgy until I gained back everything I lost.
4. Ten days on a diet, and I became too cranky and irritable to live with.
5. I became depressed, and after each failure, hated myself a little bit more.
6. I found I couldn't tolerate hunger, it was no fun to starve.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE YOU?

Well I have solved all these problems. After 4 years of research, I developed a natural method of losing weight, and lost 55 lbs. in 2½ months. NO hunger! NO depression! NO cravings! ½ lb. to 1½ lbs. a day. I've shared this method with hundreds. I'll share it with you. If you're interested call us or write and we'll send you a tape cassette that tells the whole story. If you don't have a tape player or can't borrow one call for an appointment and come in and listen to it.

KITING ON A FAIR DAY

The rolling hills of Marin scouting's Camp Tamarancho were studded this weekend with hundreds of people, all of them like these turning out to fly kites in high winds and sunny skies. Cub Kite derby chairman, estimated more than 850 parents and cubs showed up. In the case of the young man in the foreground, his kite is out of sight. And in the case of the kite aloft, its owner is out of sight.

Parachutist Plummets To Death

ELSINORE, Calif. (UPI) — A skydiver, his wrists apparently broken by a 150-mile-per-hour collision with another parachutist breaking away from a tricky 10-man star formation, struggled helplessly with his ripcord as he fell 3,500 feet to his death Sunday.

Toby M. Radecke, 29, of Los Angeles, smashed to earth in a backyard in the Sedco Hills south of Lake Elsinore.

John V. Hover, 21, of Loma Linda, Calif., a dental student, was knocked out by the impact with Radecke, seconds after Hover's parachute opened. He was unconscious when he landed, and was reported in fair condition at Loma Linda Medical Center with a possible broken spine and internal injuries.

Both were veteran skydivers. Hover had made 100 jumps and Radecke, who held an expert rating from the U.S. Parachute Association, was making his 332nd kmp.

With eight other parachutists, they bailed out of a twin-engine Beechcraft at 12,500 feet to form a star, a demanding and dangerous maneuver requiring control and nerve. Skydivers "fly" their bodies, by muscular control, until all jumpers are on the same level, then come together in a circle and join hands as they plummet earthward.

The more participants, the riskier the jump because of the greater complexity in forming the star and the increased hazard of collisions after breaking out of the pattern as the jumpers open their chutes, abruptly cutting their speed— like motorists slamming on their brakes on a crowded superhighway.

The jumpers broke out of the star at 3,500 feet, they said.

Radecke could be seen trying to pull the ripcord handles on both his main and stomach mounted reserve parachutes, ground observers said, but could not get them open, apparently because of broken wrists suffered in the collision.

Gary Douris, general manager of the Elsinore Paracenter, said he inspected Radecke's reserve chute after the tragedy and found it working properly.

El Al Official Talks Wednesday

An executive of El Al Airlines will talk about Israel's place in history and the nation's 25th anniversary in a program Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Congregation Rodef Sholom, San Rafael.

Capt. Leo Gardner, executive director of the airlines' northwest region, will also talk about a congregation-sponsored tour of the Holy Land which will depart June 25.

Changes In Baseball Don't Come Easily

With the start of baseball season only three days away, fans around the nation are ready to go out and prove that the grand old sport is not dying. Interest, at least in the Bay Area, seems to be very high.

This is especially true for the A's fans, running over with enthusiasm which only a world championship can give you. Kindling a lot of this interest in the American League is the new designated hitter rule which will keep the pitcher in the dugout while a slugger lumbers to the plate in his place. It puts nine batters in the lineup instead of eight and a pitcher.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE didn't adopt the rule and it's too bad. Much of the citizenry of the U.S., including sports followers, want changes of all kinds. They're demanding changes "Now!" Baseball, more than other sports, is reluctant to make changes. The leaders don't want to tamper with the rules. But a change such as the DH rule will add to the game and build up interest, and this will be advantageous to the A.L.

Too many times the situation comes up when a team intentionally walks the No. 8 man with two outs so it can throw to the pitcher who usually strikes out or pops up. If that No. 8 man is walked now, the pitcher will have to face some slugger who does nothing but sit in the dugout until it's his turn to swing a bat. He's the specialist, such as the place kicker in football.

American League officials, in hopes of ending talk that baseball hasn't changed in the last three quarters of a century, have come up with a list of changes in the ame from 1887 to the present.

HERE'S A LIST of the changes:

1891 — Substitutes were permitted for a reason other than injury.

1893 — The distance between the plate and the pitcher's rubber was set at 60 feet, 6 inches.

1895 — The infield fly rule adopted with one out and first and second or first, second and third bases occupied.

1901 — Revision of the infield fly rule to no outs as well as one out.

1931 — A fair ball bouncing through or over a fence or into the stands ruled6a ground rule double and not a home run.

1950 — The strike zone defined as from the armpit to the top of the knee.

FALL OF A PENGUIN

St. Louis Blues' Barclay Plager (center) caught Pittsburgh Penguins' Bryan Hextall (7) off guard and flipped his rival in the first period Saturday of a National Hockey League game in St. Louis. The Blues Danny O'Shea (22) looked on. St. Louis won, 7-2, to clinch an NHL playoff berth. See NHL story, page 24.

Bucks Find Another Hurdle To Overcome

Warriors Deadlock NBA Series

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — "We've had hurdles to overcome all year and this is just one more hurdle."

With those words, Larry Costello tried to explain his Milwaukee Bucks' 95-92 defeat by Golden State Sunday afternoon. The loss evened the best of seven playoff series at one game each and the two teams now move to Oakland for games No. 3 and 4.

But it's going to be more than a simple hurdle for the Bucks, who had a 15-game winning streak snapped by the Warriors who used a tough, over-playing defense to beat the Bucks. It also broke a jinx of sorts that the Bucks had held over the National Basketball Association Warriors.

In seven previous meetings this year the Bucks had won six games and Golden State was badly outplayed most of the time. This time they were not outplayed. The Warriors forced the Bucks out of the kind of game they like to play.

"When you get a lead on the Bucks it feels good," Warrior forward Cazzie Russell said. "When they're trailing they tend to hurry up a little bit and they're a lot better when they can set up and run this stuff."

Russell was the hero for the Warriors, coming off the bench when Rick Barry sprained his ankle only two minutes into the game. Russell had 19 points in the first half and finished with 25.

"There were no heros for us," Warrior Coach Al Attles said. "Cazzie gave us a tremendous lift with his shooting when he came in, but we need a team effort to beat the Bucks and that's what we got."

The Warriors also had a little luck as the Bucks stormed back from a 91-81 deficit with 2:25 left in the game. Four baskets by Lucius Allen and a three point play by Oscar Robertson against a basket by Golden State's, Jeff Mullins drew the Bucks to within one point at 93-92. But Mahdi Abdul-Rahman made two free throws with seven seconds left to preserve the Warriors' win.

Until the final seconds the Warriors were in command all the way with their pressure defense providing the spark. Time and again the Bucks were forced to break a pattern and take a bad shot. Milwaukee shot only 35 per cent in the first half and finished with 41 per cent, Warriors shot 47.

Giants, Dodgers To Renew Rivalry

Televised Game Set In Phoenix Tonight At 7

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Baseball's oldest and most bitter rivalry will be renewed for the first time this season tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers come to town to play the San Francisco Giants in a game to be televised widely in the west on Channel 2, 7 o'clock.

The Dodgers bowed to the California Angels and Nolan Ryan, 2-1, Sunday before 21,000 in Los Angeles while the Giants, their vaunted bats very much in evidence, rallied for a pair of eighth inning runs to beat the Oakland A's, 10-9, before a full house of nearly 7,000 here.

The Giants built a 6-0 lead on Vida Blue in three innings on a series of extra base hits but the A's came back to tie the score at 7-7 in the seventh and went ahead 9-8 in the eighth before the Giants pulled it out. An infield out by Dave Kingman scored the tying run and a single by Garry Maddox produced the winning run.

Their hot hitting kept up the Giants' fearsome averages. Willie McCovey is now batting .389, Tito Fuentes .386, and Maddox is close behind them at .370.

On Saturday the A's piled up 10 runs on as many hits off a succession of Giants' pitchers — starting with ace Juan Marichal who left early with a pulled calf muscle and is a questonable starter on opening day in Cincinnati.

Jim Barr, although roughed for a pair of eighth inning runs, gained the victory while Rob Gardner took the loss. Jim Willoughby had started for the Giants but ran out of gas in the seventh when the A's finally tied the score.

The Giants and Dodgers meet again Tuesday night in the final exhibition game of the spring for San Francisco. The Giants help the Cincinnati Reds open the regular national league campaign on Thursday.

The Dodgers wind up their spring work on Wednesday against the A's in nearby Mesa, then go to San Diego for their season opener on Friday against the Padres.

Pond Lifts Novato '9' To Victory

Jeff Pond drove in four runs with inside-the-park home run and the gax-winning sacrifice fly Saturday night as Novato High School defeated Terra Linda, 5-4, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game before about 350 fans at Albert Field.

Pond gave Novato (2-0 in the league) a 3-0 lead in the first inning when, following walks to Jeff Rubino and Dan Metzger, he blasted a drive over the cener fielder's head and it rolled to the dugout of the softball field opposite the baseball diamond.

Terra Linda (1-1) tied the game in the third on a two-run double by Greg Chapman followed by a double by relief pitcher Mark Mueller. The Trojans went ahead in the fourth when Lee Peterson's bloop single scored pinch-runner Dale Smith, but Novato tied the game in the fifth when Terra Linda committed all three of its errors to allow an unearned run.

Shot Putter Oldfield In Sprint Win At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — What the fledgling International Track Association needs more than anything else is a world class athlete who is also a character.

It may have found the perfect man in Brian Oldfield, the precocious shot putter who Sunday night at San Francisco's half empty Cow Palace put his money where his mouth is.

Oldfield, who defies all standard rules of conditioning, took the world indoor record to 69 feet 11 ½ inches, and not content with the victory, he hammed it up for an announced crowd of 6,364 by taking on Lacey O'Neal in a 30-yard sprint.

No one expected the curley-locked, chain-smoking giant to even get out of the blocks against the female sprinter. But he exploded out of them and beat Miss Lacey as the crowd roared in approval.

"That ought to shut up the broads," Oldfield said in jest. "Maybe I shouldn't do such things," he added in a more serious tone, "but I want to have fun being a champion."

No question, Oldfield was the top performer in the ITA's fourth meet. After laying bombs in Los Angeles and Portland following a good start at Pocatello, the pro stars put on an entertaining show here.

John Radetich, who took the high jump world mark to 7-4 ¾ a month ago, almost duplicated the feat with a 7-4 winning report, Lee Evans held off Larry James for his fourth victory in the 500 run, Australian Chris Fisher took the 1,000 in the good time of 2:06.9, and Kip Keino, improving with each meet, won the mile in 4:04.4 in other events of note.

But Oldfield easily was the star of the show. He suffered a twinge in his throwing elbow on an early throw and when it seemed that neither Randy Matson, the world outdoor record holder, not Karl Salb could beat him, he uncorked his winning form on the final attempt.

It was a $1,000 throw. Under the ITA format, Oldfield got $500 for winning the event, the fourth time he has won it, and an additional $500 for setting the world record. That boosted Oldfield's earnings in four meets to $2,550, tops on the tour.

Evans boosted his earnings to $2,500 to trail Oldfield by $50. Warren Edmonson, unbeaten in three 60-yard races, lost by a hair to Jean-Louis Ravelomanantsoa but still picked up $250 to stand third on the money list with $2,142.

In other events, Leon Coleman won the 60 hurdles in 7.1, Dennis Phillips took the pole vault at 16 feet even when Bob Seagren withdrew because of injury, and Henry Hines beat world record holder Bob Beamon in the long jump, 26-5 ¾ to 26-3 ½.

Jim Ryun proved a disappointment again. He pulled a muscle warming up for the mile and was forced to withdraw.

Three Key Topics At NFL Meeting

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Expansion, rules changes and sites for the 1975 super and pro bowls were the key items on the agenda today as National Football League owners opened their annual meeting.

No formal presentations were expected from cities hoping for expansion clubs but the league's 26 owners will decide whether expansion from the present setup is feasible in the near future. Among the leading candidates for expansion clubs should the measure go through are Seattle, Tampa, Honolulu, Mexico City, Memphis, Jacksonville, Phoenix, Birmingham, Montreal and Toronto.

No expansion is expected, however, before the 1976 season.

The Super Bowl site for January, 1975, will be announced late Tuesday afternoon after presentations from Los Angeles, Miami and New Orleans. The 1974 Super Bowl is scheduled for Houston.

Birmingham and Jacksonille, two of the expansion hopefuls, will make presentations for the 1975 Pro Bowl. Next year's Pro Bowl is scheduled for Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

The key rules changes to be discussed concern the two-point conversion, a feature of the old American Football League in its 10-year existence. The rule would give a team scoring a touchdown the option of kicking a one(point conversion or running or passing for two points.

There is also strong sentiment for the sudden death overtime among owners although pressure against it from the players association might force its defeat. The players association is arguing for overtime pay, claiming sudden death is not covered in their current contract.

Other rules changes under consideration include revision in pass reception rules, moving the goal posts from the goal line to the end line and a standard numbering system according to a player's position.

The owners will also discuss possible forfeiture of draft choices for tampering with assistant or head coaches, extension of the inter-conference trading deadline and a proposal that the club with the best winning record gain the home field advantage in playoff and championship games.

The meetings are expected to run through Friday.

TOGNOLI FOURTH IN BOAT RACE

REDONDO BEACH — Steve Tognoli of Fairfax did by accident what some power boat skippers probably would like to do by design — run into the officials' boat — enroute to a fourth-place finish Saturday in the Bushmills-KBIG Grand Prix offshore race.

The race was won by Art Morris of Miami at an average speed of 61.9 miles an hour over the choppy 200-mile course. His elapsed time was three hours and 19 minutes, six minutes better than runner-up Sandy Satullo of Cleveland.

Tognoli, fresh off his victory two weeks ago in the Mission Bay Classic, suffered steering cable failure as he approached the Anacapa Island check boat, and brushed it.

The officials, reasoning that Tognoli was a victim of mechanical failure and probably didn't harbor any latent hostility, let him go on after engineer Chuck Peri made the necessary repairs to the boat, Dante's Inferno I. Tognoli finished nine minutes behind third-place Bob Magoon of Miami.

Cage Picks Headed By Walton, Ratleff

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA's Bill Walton, who turned down a chance to join the National Basketball Association next season as a hardship case, shared top honors with Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State today in voting by NBA coaches for their 1973 College All-America team.

Walton and Ratleff, repeaters from last year's team, each collected 16 votes from the coaches who were asked to pick the nation's five best college players without regard to position, class or future professional potential.

Others named to the first team were Doug Collins of Illinois State with 15 points, David Thompson of North Carolina State, 10, and Jim Brewe of Minnesota, 9. Thompson is ty only sophomore on the squad.

Keith Wilkes of UCLA and Tom Henderson of Hawaii received honorable mention.

Jack Ramsey, coach of the Buffalo Braves, calls Walton "the most dominant big man in college since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar," thinks Ratliffe "has excellent pro potential as a swingman" and believes Thompson "may be the most gifted all-around player since Oscar Robertson."

San Rafael Booters Lose To East Bay

SAN FRANCISCO — Ed Wright scored the first goal for the "Baggie Pants" of San Rafael, but the East Bay Strollers rallied to take a 2-1 victory Saturday in a soccer game played before bout 750 fans at City College of Sanrancisco.

The game was one of several events of the San Francisco Highland Gathering, an annual program of Scottish music and sport.

Youth Soccer Forfeit

San Francisco — Mill Valley United was awarded a forfeit victory over the Olympic Club yesterday in the San Francisco Flame League under 12 standings. Olympic Club won the game, 4-1, but used over-age players.

Sweden Surprises In Hockey

Dan Soderstroem, nearly the goat when he missed a clear shot from just outside the crease only minutes before, turned hero when he slid a rebound under Czech goalie Jiri Holecek with five and one-half minutes left to play.

Sweden's win, their second straight after crushing Poland 11-2 Sunday, put them in first place with the Soviet Union.

The Swedes outscrambled the sluggish Czechs from the start. The World Champions, who had trouble getting started in their opener against Poland Saturday, had more of the same problems today.

GREATER GREENSBORO OPEN

Casper Meditates, But Graham Rallies To Earn Tie For Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Billy Casper, who says he likes slow play because it gives him a chance to meditate, had better be doing some $42,000 worth of meditating about Lou Graham today.

That's how much the winner's share of the $210,000 Greater Greensboro Open is worth, and the two were battling down to the wire for the check to be awarded after today's final round.

Perhaps Graham caught Casper meditating Sunday, but whatever it was, he gained four strokes to Casper's three in the rain-delayed third round, leaving the two tied at 14-under-par after three days of play.

Officials had hoped to finish both of the final two rounds Sunday but the 7,021-yard Sedgefield Country Club course was still too soggy Sunday morning, allowing only a single late-starting round in the afternoon.

By late afternoon, the sun was shining brightly, however, and so was Graham, who had been an anonymous touring pro until winning last year's Liggett and Myers Open at Pinehurst, N.C.

The field was to start on both

Blacks' Blood Contains Skin Cancer Antibodies

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — A husband-wife research team said Sunday the blood of 80 per cent of American blacks may contain an effective tool for combatting malignant melanoma, a dangerous type of skin cancer.

Dr. Karl-Eric Hellstrom and his wife Ingred, both faculty members at the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle, said their discovery was made by accident.

Their report to science writers came at a special seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

The Swedish-born scientists reported in the past that substances they call blocking antibodies are apparently able to stop lymphocytes — disease fighting cells in the blood — from attacking cancer cells. This allows tumors to grow and kill patients.

While trying to determine how these antibodies may be unblocked, they "completely by accident" stumbled on natural substances that do just this, they said.

"Serum from blacks seems to have this unblocking ability," Mrs. Hellstrom said, and thus leaves the patient's own lymphocytes free to attack the melanoma tumors. About 80 per cent of America's blacks seem to have that serum, she said.

"Blacks' plasma, the lymphocytes, seems to kill melanoma but has no effect against normal cells or other types of tumors," she said.

She said that this skin cancer "is very rare among Negroes in the United States although a different type of melanoma is found among African blacks. In fact, many clinicians I contacted have never even seen a melanoma among blacks."

Melanoma is a free-spreading cancer difficult to cure. It is known, however, as the "black cancer" because these tumors produce the melanin which is responsible for skin pigmentation.

"We're saying that plasma from blacks may be able to change the picture (of malignant melanoma) in the favorable way," she said.

"We think it will take two or three years before we know anything."

Mrs. Hellstrom mphasized that their research in the use of Negro lymphocytes has been restricted to test tubes only.

Alcohol Abuse Workshop Is Set

A workshop on community efforts to curb alcohol abuse will be held Saturday at Olney Hall, College of Marin, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m

The Alcohol Information Committee, Marin Association for Mental Health and Marin Community Mental Health Services Department will sponsor the session, "Getting It Together."

Among the speakers will be Don Cahallan, professor of behavioral science at the University of California at Berkeley, who will discuss research on alcoholism with progress towards its prevention.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Friday that the workshop would be held last Saturday.

Shopping Center Art Festval Set

Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center will hold a spring art festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until dark.

The show will include oil paintings, watercolors, sketches, glass and metal sculpture, wallhangings and macrame, candle holders and other pieces.

About 200 artists will participate including: from Mill Valley painter Bob Pepper, photographer Donald Perry and sculptor Rich Haupt.

Whistles Carried To Thwart Thieves

BOSTON (UPI) — Residents on Boston's wealthy Beacon Hill plagued by a recent rash of holdups and muggings, have begun carrying whistles to call for help.

"We're urging everyone on the hill to have a whistle," said Democratic state Rep. Barney Frank, whose district includes the quiet, fashionable neighborhood bordering the Massachusetts State House.

Timing Seen Critical In Cancer Drug

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — The same drug might save or kill a cancer patient, depending on the time of day the patient gets it, according to a researcher from the University of Minnesota.

Results of experiments on mice show that the body's own cycles and rhythms have a pronounced effect on arabinosyl cytosine, a drug commonly used on cancer patients, said Dr. Franz Halberg.

The problem with anti-cancer drugs, he said, is that in destroying the cancer cells they also destroy the bone marrow tissue that manufactures the antibodies needed to protect against infections.

Halberg cited studies showing that cancerous mice, treated with the drug, lived or died according to the time it was given, and the dosage pattern.

The organs of the body follow "circadian rhythms," he said, becoming more or less active at certain times in a 24-hour cycle.

Mice receiving the drug in fixed doses at three hour intervals died, Halberg said.

Those that received the same amount of the drug, but in gradually increasing and decreasing doses at three hour intervals, survived, apparently because the strongest dosages were administered when the bone marrow cells were dormant and least susceptible to damage, and the lowest dosages were given when the marrow cells were most sensitive, he said.

In applying the research findings to humans, he said, there is the problem of determining what the individual patient's cycles are, "but the least we could do to get things started is to give the drugs at the times we found to be best for mice."

Dr. Robert A. Good, president of the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Institute in New York, who aided in the study, said some of its principles would be applied at his hospital.

Duo-Piano Recital

Fairfax pianist James B. Conway will play in a duo-piano recital at 8 p.m. April 14 at the Chapel of the Chimes, 4499 Piedmont Avenue, Oakland, with Ronald Cole, a San Ramon pianist. Both men teach piano in Marin.

KITING ON A FAIR DAY

The rolling hills of Marin scouting's Camp Tamarancho were studded this weekend with hundreds of people, all of them like these turning out to fly kites in high winds and sunny skies. Cub Kite derby chairman, estimated more than 850 parents and cubs showed up. In the case of the young man in the foreground, his kite is out of sight. And in the case of the kite aloft, its owner is out of sight.

Parachutist Plummets To Death

ELSINORE, Calif. (UPI) — A skydiver, his wrists apparently broken by a 150-mile-per-hour collision with another parachutist breaking away from a tricky 10-man star formation, struggled helplessly with his ripcord as he fell 3,500 feet to his death Sunday.

Toby M. Radecke, 29, of Los Angeles, smashed to earth in a backyard in the Sedco Hills south of Lake Elsinore.

John V. Hover, 21, of Loma Linda, Calif., a dental student, was knocked out by the impact with Radecke, seconds after Hover's parachute opened. He was unconscious when he landed, and was reported in fair condition at Loma Linda Medical Center with a possible broken spine and internal injuries.

Both were veteran skydivers. Hover had made 100 jumps and Radecke, who held an expert rating from the U.S. Parachute Association, was making his 332nd kmp.

With eight other parachutists, they bailed out of a twin-engine Beechcraft at 12,500 feet to form a star, a demanding and dangerous maneuver requiring control and nerve. Skydivers "fly" their bodies, by muscular control, until all jumpers are on the same level, then come together in a circle and join hands as they plummet earthward.

The more participants, the riskier the jump because of the greater complexity in forming the star and the increased hazard of collisions after breaking out of the pattern as the jumpers open their chutes, abruptly cutting their speed— like motorists slamming on their brakes on a crowded superhighway.

The jumpers broke out of the star at 3,500 feet, they said.

Radecke could be seen trying to pull the ripcord handles on both his main and stomach mounted reserve parachutes, ground observers said, but could not get them open, apparently because of broken wrists suffered in the collision.

Gary Douris, general manager of the Elsinore Paracenter, said he inspected Radecke's reserve chute after the tragedy and found it working properly.

El Al Official Talks Wednesday

An executive of El Al Airlines will talk about Israel's place in history and the nation's 25th anniversary in a program Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Congregation Rodef Sholom, San Rafael.

Capt. Leo Gardner, executive director of the airlines' northwest region, will also talk about a congregation-sponsored tour of the Holy Land which will depart June 25.

The Marin Jewish Community Center and the congregation are cosponsoring Wednesday's program.

1. I lost weight so slowly, I got discouraged & quit.
2. I had weird cravings. I would have killed for a hot Fudge Sundae!
3. One slip and my will power disappeared. The result? An eating orgy until I gained back everything I lost.
4. Ten days on a diet, and I became too cranky and irritable to live with.
5. I became depressed, and after each failure, hated myself a little bit more.
6. I found I couldn't tolerate hunger, it was no fun to starve.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE YOU?

Well I have solved all these problems. After 4 years of research, I developed a natural method of losing weight, and lost 55 lbs. in 2½ months. NO hunger! NO depression! NO cravings! ½ lb. to 1½ lbs. a day. I've shared this method with hundreds. I'll share it with you. If you're interested call us or write and we'll send you a tape cassette that tells the whole story. MARIN SCHEDULE

Terra Linda Vs. Novato In Golf

Marin County Athletic League seasons in golf and tennis are scheduled to open today and tomorrow, with an important early-season clash of golf favorites Terra Linda and Novato scheduled Thursday at Marin Country Club.

The confused picture in track and field may begin to clear Friday when undefeated Tamalpais (3-0) hosts undefeate San Marin (2-0).

Pitching staffs of the MCAL baseball teams will be tested this week, as six of the eight teams will be forced to play three games due to rainouts last week. Pre-season favorites Redwood and Novato will clash Friday in Larkspur.

Second place in swimming will be on the line tomorrow when San Rafael visits Terra Linda. The teams are tied with 6-2 records behind Redwood's 7-0.

The schedule for the high schools and College of Marin (asterisks denote non-league events):

TODAY

Baseball — Drake at Marin Catholic, 4 p.m.

Golf — Marin Catholic vs. Redwood, Meadow Club, 3 p.m.; College of Marin vs De Anza, Los Altos Country Club, noon

TOMORROW

Baseball — San Marin at San Rafael, 4 p.m.; Terra Linda at Tamalpais, 4 p.m., Marin Catholic at Novato, 4 p.m., Redwood at Drake, 4 p.m ; College of Marin at Santa Rosa, 3 p.m

Golf — San Marin vs. Novato, Indian Valley, 3 p.m ; Drake vs. San Rafael, Peacock Gap, 3 p.m.; Tamalpais vs. Terra Linda, Marin Country Club, 3 p.m.

Swimming — San Marin at Novato, 3:30 p.m.; San Rafael at Terra Linda, 3:30 p.m., Tamalpais at Drake, 3:30 p.m., Santa Rosa at College of Marin, 3:30 p.m

Tennis — San Marin At Novato, 3:30 p.m , Redwood at Marin Catholic, 3:30 p.m ; Tamalpais at Terra Linda, 3:30 p.m., Drake at San Rafael, 3:30 p.m ; College of Marin at West Valley, 2:30 p.m

Track — Terra Linda at Drake, 3:30 p.m

WEDNESDAY

WHA ROUNDUP

North Stars Win Big One — Off Ice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

After scrambling through a rugged 78-game schedule, the Minnesota Fighting Saints scored their biggest victory of the year exactly two days after their season ended—without as much as lifting a stick.

This came about late Sunday night when the World Hockey Association's trustees upheld a protest by Minnesota and scheduled a playoff game between the Saints and Alberta Oilers to determine fourth place in the Western Division.

The two teams had concluded their regular season's work on Friday night tied with 79 points, but a rule adopted March 21 gave the Oilers the playoff berth because they had a better record than Minnesota against West Division rivals. However, the Fighting Saints contended that rules in effect at the beginning of the season called for a playoff game to settle any ties that existed for fourth place.

WHA President Gary Davidson, who polled the league's 12 trustees to decide the issue, announced that the playoff game to determine the first round opponent for Winnipeg will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday and will be played either at Calgary or Vancouver.

Four games were played Sunday on the windup day of the regular campaign. In the most significant of these, the Philadelphia Blazers claimed third place in the East by beating Winnipeg, 4-2, while the Ottawa Nationals were dropping a 6-3 decision to the Houston Aeros. Elsewhere, the Cleveland Crusaders beat the Chicago Cougas, 5-1, and the New England Whalers routed the Quebec Nordiques, 7-2.

Sonoma State Nine Takes 2 Of 3 Games

CHICO — Continuing the precedent set by its court counterparts, the Sonoma State College baseball team is threatening to be a factor in the Far Western Conference race and could bring the school its second league championship.

The Cossacks took a good step in that direction over the weekend by capturing two of three games here with FWC opponent Chico State College. Friday, Sonoma beat the Wildcats, 8-2, and then split a doubleheader Saturday, dropping the first game, 3-2, but coming back with a 7-4 victory in the nightcap.

The series win gave the Cossacks a 10-8 overall record, just one victory shy of the Sonoma State single season win mark of 11 games. Sonoma is now 2-1 in league and the previously unbeaten Wildcats are 4-2.

Len Hoffman gave up just two hits and struck out 10 while going the distance for Sonoma Friday. He was backed by an 11-hit attack, with catcher Rich Garretson slugging a 400-foot home run in the fourth inning.

The Cossacks' bats were silent in the Saturday opener with just four hits, but they came alive in the second game with 15 safeties. Tom Trezona was four for five and Gary Tozi was three for four to lead the Sonoma attack.

Petaluman 5th In Pentathlon

SAN JOSE — Petaluma High School's David Barlow placed fifth in the pentathlon with 3,493 ponts, highlighting the Trojans's showing in the Blossom Hill Relays at Leigh High School here Saturday.

Petaluma took seventh in the four-mile relay. Jon Sisler and Dan Aldridge turned in legs of 4:25 and 4:29.

The Trojans mile relay team finished sixth in 3:35.0 and the distance medley team took ninth with 440-yard ace Jose Martinez running his lap in 50.2.

Tea Axe Surprises In Albany Horse Race

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Tea Axe, overlooked in the betting in favor of His Promise, romped to an easy 11 length victory Saturday in the $30,000 added California Oaks at Golden Gate Fields.

Travel Tip finished in Tea Axe's wake and His Promise wound up third in the stakes race that first was run in 1890 at Sacramento. Tea Axe ran a mile in 1:39 2-5.

ALI SUFFERS BROKEN JAW

Norton Becomes 'Somebody' In Boxing Victory Over Ex-Champ

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ken Norton never touched a barbell but it's hard to believe.

At 6-3 and 210 pounds, Norton has a physique that belongs in a weightlifter's magazine. A physical fitness addict, he has a 47 ½-inch expanded chest and a 30-inch waist.

At 28, Norton is a former Marine Corps corporal and a former Joe Frazier sparring partner. After his big victory over Muhammad Ali Saturday, Norton is a former nobody.

Now he's a somebody.

The San Diego heavyweight, who spent 4 ½ years in the Marines, is a tough boxer-puncher who was able to move well enough to catch Ali—even though it was a slowed-down-by-age Ali.

Norton, a former high school track, basketball and football star, began his pro career with a fifth round knockout over Grady Brazell in 1967. Until Saturday, that might have been the high point of his career.

His eighth round knockout loss to Venezuela's Jose Luis Garcia in 1970 at Los Angeles haunted him.

"We tried for two years to get a rematch," said Eddie Futch, Norton's trainer. "They wouldn't give us one. Now they can chase us."

Because he was so highly regarded by the top-ranking heavyweight contenders and had virtually no reputation, the rugged Norton had trouble getting fights. His biggest previous purse before his $50,000 payday during the weekend was $7,500.

"This win is going to open a lot of doors," Futch said.

Futch, who predicted Norton's shocker over Ali, and Norton insist that Norton can beat Houston strongboy George Foreman.

The mustachioed Norton, a native of Jacksonville, Ill., went to see, of all people, a hypnotist after the Garcia fight. The hypnotist is Dr. Michael Dean of San Diego and he must have had the right advice.

"I had a habit of listening to Eddie but not really absorbing what he said," Norton explained. "He (Dean) tried to tell me the difference between confidence and overconfidence, keep it in my subconscious mind."

He must have had it in his "subconscious mind" against Ali.

A 5-1 underdog, Norton handed boxing's living legend only his second loss of an illustrious fight career that began in 1960. It was his 31st victory in 32 starts, a career that includes 24 knockouts.

Although Ali suffered a broken jaw in the opening round against the ex-Marine Corps corporal, he wasn't silenced. A spokesman at Clairemont General Hospital in San Diego said Ali could talk even though his mouth is wired shut.

Idle Marin '9' Moves Into 1st

College of Marin's baseball team moved back into first place in the Camino Nrte Conference standings over the weekend without liting a finger.

The Tars had Saturday's game in San Pablo against Contra Costa College postponed due to wet grounds, and West Valley of Campbell lost Saturday night to De Anza of Cupertino, 8-1. West Valley's record fell to 8-2, worse than Marin's 5-1.

The Marin-Contra Costa game has not yet been rescheduled.

NBA ROUNDUP

'Old Pros' Show Playoff Skills

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's definitely playoff time in the National Basketball Association. You can tell 'cause the "old pros" are struttin' their stuff.

The playoffs usually brings out the best in the big name performers and Sunday was a perfect example as Havlicek, Chamberlain, Monroe, Frazier, West and Russell grabbed the headlines.

John Havlicek, an 11-year veteran who has played on six NBA championship clubs, scored a club record 54 points while leading the Boston Celtics to a 134-109 rout of the Atlanta Hawks in the first game of their best-of-seven East semifinal series.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West, holdovers from last year's championship squad, combined their efforts as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Chicago Bulls 108-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven West semi-final series. West tossed in 30 points and had a record-tying 19 assists while Chamberlain pulled down 21 rebounds and blocked 11 shots.

Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier, the Knicks' backcourt superstars, combined for 61 points as New York defeated the Baltimore Bullets 123-103 to grab a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven East semi-final battle. Monroe, an ex-Bullet, scored 32 points while Frazier, an all-star who played on the Knicks' only championship team of 1969-70, had 29.

Cazzie Russell, another member of that Knicks' championship season who is now doing his thing for Golden Statecame off the bench to score 25 points as the Warriors evened their West semi-final series with Milwaukee at one game apiece by defeating the Bucks 95-92.

Havlicek's performance bettered the old Boston club record of 51 points set by Sam Jones in 1967 and was just seven short of the league's playoff record of 61 points set by Elgin Baylor of the Lakers in 1962.

"He's a good player," admitted Atlanta coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "Even when he scores 30 points you can say you contained him. But I think we'll stop him. He won't be doing this every night against us."

Havlicek wasn't the only one who hurt the Hawks, though. Jo Jo White added 34 points to the Celtics cause, Dave Cowens pulled down 17 rebounds and Art Williams had 12 assists.

The Lakers, who needed only four games to eliminate the Bulls in the last season's playoffs, defeated them for the 14th time in their last 15 meetings. The Lakers' Gail Goodrich shared the spotlight with Chamberlain and West by tossing in 33 points to lead all scorers.

Monroe and Frazier broke open the Knicks' game with the Bullets by combining for 11 straight points early in the fourth quarter to give New York a comfortable 100-85 lead. Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 22 points for the Knicks while Phil Chenier led Baltimore with 27.

Kentucky Discovers Ailing Erving Tough

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Julius Erving says he isn't completely healthy yet, and that's bad news for the Kentucky Colonels.

Erving, sidelined with an injury near the end of the season, looked in the peak of physical condition Sunday as he scored 41 points to lead the Virginia Squires to a 109-94 triumph over the Colonels at Louisville. The victory evened their American Basketball Association best-of-seven East Division semi-final playoff series at one game apiece.

The 6-foot-6 Erving, playing only his second game since his injury, connected on 17 of 22 shots from the floor yet was not totally satisfied with his performance.

"I was shooting and jumping as good as I ever have, but I'm not running as well yet."

Trailing 80-76 after three quarters, the Squires held Kentucky to only 14 points in the final period and went on to a relatively easy victory. Rookie George Gervin helped the Squires' attack by contributing 12 points in the final quarter and finishing with 25.

The Sun Porsche

Our mid-engine car is a fair-weather friend that won't let you down in foul weather.

On sunny days, the top snaps off in thirty-seven seconds, stores under the rear trunk lid and takes up virtually no space.

On rainy days the top locks back on almost as fast.

And because it's fiberglass, it won't leak or rip. Unlike fabric.

But a friend is more than a fiberglass top.

First of all, it's a two-seater in the classic sports car tradition. And because two's company.

With the engine in the middle, handling must be felt to be believed. The car simply goes where you point it.

Also with the engine in the middle, you get a trunk in the front and the back. A sort of his and hers. Together they give 16 cubic feet trunk space.

And also rack-and-pinion steering, and a five-speed gearbox, 4-wheel disc brakes and a built-in roll bar as standard equipment.

So see your friendly dealer and let the sun shine in.

Changes In Baseball Don't Come Easily

With the start of baseball season only three days away, fans around the nation are ready to go out and prove that the grand old sport is not dying. Interest, at least in the Bay Area, seems to be very high.

This is especially true for the A's fans, running over with enthusiasm which only a world championship can give you. Kindling a lot of this interest in the American League is the new designated hitter rule which will keep the pitcher in the dugout while a slugger lumbers to the plate in his place. It puts nine batters in the lineup instead of eight and a pitcher.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE didn't adopt the rule and it's too bad. Much of the citizenry of the U.S., including sports followers, want changes of all kinds. They're demanding changes "Now!" Baseball, more than other sports, is reluctant to make changes. The leaders don't want to tamper with the rules. But a change such as the DH rule will add to the game and build up interest, and this will be advantageous to the A.L.

Too many times the situation comes up when a team intentionally walks the No. 8 man with two outs so it can throw to the pitcher who usually strikes out or pops up. If that No. 8 man is walked now, the pitcher will have to face some slugger who does nothing but sit in the dugout until it's his turn to swing a bat. He's the specialist, such as the place kicker in football.

American League officials, in hopes of ending talk that baseball hasn't changed in the last three quarters of a century, have come up with a list of changes in the ame from 1887 to the present.

HERE'S A LIST of the changes:

1891 — Substitutes were permitted for a reason other than injury.

1893 — The distance between the plate and the pitcher's rubber was set at 60 feet, 6 inches.

1895 — The infield fly rule adopted with one out and first and second or first, second and third bases occupied.

1901 — Revision of the infield fly rule to no outs as well as one out.

1931 — A fair ball bouncing through or over a fence or into the stands ruled6a ground rule double and not a home run.

1950 — The strike zone defined as from the armpit to the top of the knee.

1963 — The strike zone defined as from the top of the shoulder to the bottom of the knee.

1969 — The strike zone changed to the armpit to the top of the knee.

After looking at the list, I have to admit that

Three Key Topics At NFL Meeting

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Expansion, rules changes and sites for the 1975 super and pro bowls were the key items on the agenda today as National Football League owners opened their annual meeting.

No formal presentations were expected from cities hoping for expansion clubs but the league's 26 owners will decide whether expansion from the present setup is feasible in the near future. Among the leading candidates for expansion clubs should the measure go through are Seattle, Tampa, Honolulu, Mexico City, Memphis, Jacksonville, Phoenix, Birmingham, Montreal and Toronto.

No expansion is expected, however, before the 1976 season.

The Super Bowl site for January, 1975, will be announced late Tuesday afternoon after presentations from Los Angeles, Miami and New Orleans. The 1974 Super Bowl is scheduled for Houston.

Birmingham and Jacksonville, two of the expansion hopefuls, will make presentations for the 1975 Pro Bowl. Next year's Pro Bowl is scheduled for Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

The key rules changes to be discussed concern the two-point conversion, a feature of the old American Football League in its 10-year existence. The rule would give a team scoring a touchdown the option of kicking a one(point conversion or running or passing for two points.

There is also strong sentiment for the sudden death overtime among owners although pressure against it from the players association might force its defeat. The players association is arguing for overtime pay, claiming sudden death is not covered in their current contract.

Other rules changes under consideration include revision in pass reception rules, moving the goal posts from the goal line to the end line and a standard numbering system according to a player's position.

The owners will also discuss possible forfeiture of draft choices for tampering with assistant or head coaches, extension of the inter-conference trading deadline and a proposal that the club with the best winning record gain the home field advantage in playoff and championship games.

The meetings are expected to run through Friday.

TOGNOLI FOURTH IN BOAT RACE

REDONDO BEACH — Steve Tognoli of Fairfax did by accident what some power boat skippers probably would like to do by design — run into the officials' boat — enroute to a fourth-place finish Saturday in the Bushmills-KBIG Grand Prix offshore race.

The race was won by Art Morris of Miami at an average speed of 61.9 miles an hour over the choppy 200-mile course. His elapsed time was three hours and 19 minutes, six minutes better than runner-up Sandy Satullo of Cleveland.

Tognoli, fresh off his victory two weeks ago in the Mission Bay Classic, suffered steering cable failure as he approached the Anacapa Island check boat, and brushed it.

The officials, reasoning that Tognoli was a victim of mechanical failure and probably didn't harbor any latent hostility, let him go on after engineer Chuck Peri made the necessary repairs to the boat, Dante's Inferno I. Tognoli finished nine minutes behind third-place Bob Magoon of Miami.

FALL OF A PENGUIN

St. Louis Blues' Barclay Plager (center) caught Pittsburgh Penguins' Bryan Hextall (7) off guard and flipped his rival in the first period Saturday of a National Hockey League game in St. Louis. The Blues Danny O'Shea (22) looked on. St. Louis won, 7-2, to clinch an NHL playoff berth. See NHL story, page 24.

Giants, Dodgers To Renew Rivalry

Televised Game Set In Phoenix Tonight At 7

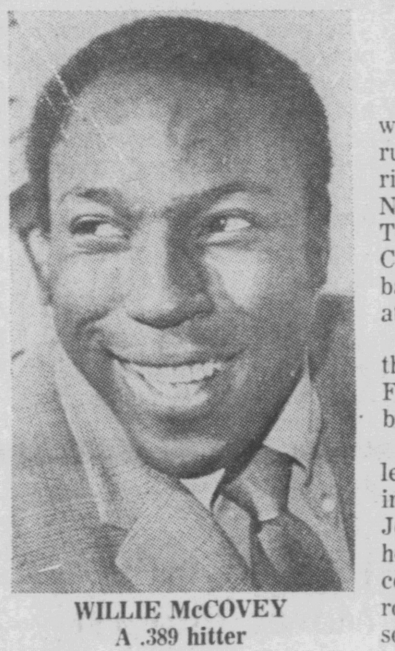
PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Baseball's oldest and most bitter rivalry will be renewed for the first time this season tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers come to town to play the San Francisco Giants in a game to be televised widely in the west on Channel 2, 7 o'clock.

The Dodgers bowed to the California Angels and Nolan Ryan, 2-1, Sunday before 21,000 in Los Angeles while the Giants, their vaunted bats very much in evidence, rallied for a pair of eighth inning runs to beat the Oakland A's, 10-9, before a full house of nearly 7,000 here.

The Giants built a 6-0 lead on Vida Blue in three innings on a series of extra base hits but the A's came back to tie the score at 7-7 in the seventh and went ahead 9-8 in the eighth before the Giants pulled it out. An infield out by Dave Kingman scored the tying run and a single by Garry Maddox produced the winning run.

Their hot hitting kept up the Giants' fearsome averages. Willie McCovey is now batting .389, Tito Fuentes .386, and Maddox is close behind them at .370.

On Saturday the A's piled up 10 runs on as many hits off a succession of Giants' pitchers — starting with ace Juan Marichal who left early with a pulled calf muscle and is a questonable starter on opening day in Cincinnati.



WILLIE McCOVEY
A .389 hitter

Jim Barr, although roughed for a pair of eighth inning runs, gained the victory while Rob Gardner took the loss. Jim Willoughby had started for the Giants but ran out of gas in the seventh when the A's finally tied the score.

The Giants and Dodgers meet again Tuesday night in the final exhibition game of the spring for San Francisco. The Giants help the Cincinnati Reds open the regular national league campaign on Thursday.

The Dodgers wind up their spring work on Wednesday against the A's in nearby Mesa, then go to San Diego for their season opener on Friday against the Padres.

Cage Picks Headed By Walton, Ratleff

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA's Bill Walton, who turned down a chance to join the National Basketball Association next season as a hardship case, shared top honors with Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State today in voting by NBA coaches for their 1973 College All-America team.

Walton and Ratleff, repeaters from last year's team, each collected 16 votes from the coaches who were asked to pick the nation's five best college players without regard to position, class or future professional potential.

Others named to the first team were Doug Collins of Illinois State with 15 points, David Thompson of North Carolina State, 10, and Jim Brewe of Minnesota, 9. Thompson is ty only sophomore on the squad.

The coaches' second team is made up of Ernie DiGregorio, Providence; Dwight Lamar, Southwest Louisiana; Ron Behagen, Minnesota, John Brown, Missouri, and Mike Green, Louisiana Tech.

Keith Wilkes of UCLA and Tom Henderson of Hawaii received honorable mention.

Jack Ramsey, coach of the Buffalo Braves, calls Walton "the most dominant big man in college since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar," thinks Ratliffe "has excellent pro potential as a swingman" and believes Thompson "may be the most gifted all-around player since Oscar Robertson."

San Rafael Booters Lose To East Bay

SAN FRANCISCO — Ed Wright scored the first goal for the "Baggie Pants" of San Rafael, but the East Bay Strollers rallied to take a 2-1 victory Saturday in a soccer game played before bout 750 fans at City College of Sanrancisco.

The game was one of several events of the San Francisco Highland Gathering, an annual program of Scottish music and sport.

Youth Soccer Forfeit

San Francisco — Mill Valley United was awarded a forfeit victory over the Olympic Club yesterday in the San Francisco Flame League under 12 standings. Olympic Club won the game, 4-1, but used over-age players.

Pond Lifts Novato '9' To Victory

Jeff Pond drove in four runs with inside-the-park home run and the gax-winning sacrifice fly Saturday night as Novato High School defeated Terra Linda, 5-4, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game before about 350 fans at Albert Field.

Pond gave Novato (2-0 in the league) a 3-0 lead in the first inning when, following walks to Jeff Rubino and Dan Metzger, he blasted a drive over the cener fielder's head and it rolled to the dugout of the softball field opposite the baseball diamond.

Terra Linda (1-1) tied the game in the third on a two-run double by Greg Chapman followed by a double by relief pitcher Mark Mueller. The Trojans went ahead in the fourth when Lee Peterson's bloop sinle scored pinch-runner Dale Smith, but Novato tied the game in the fifth when Terra Linda committed all three of its errors to allow an unearned run.

Sweden Surprises In Hockey

Dan Soderstroem, nearly the goat when he missed a clear shot from just outside the crease only minutes before, turned hero when he slid a rebound under Czech goalie Jiri Holecek with five and one-half minutes left to play.

Sweden's win, their second straight after crushing Poland 11-2 Sunday, put them in first place with the Soviet Union.

The Swedes outscrambled the sluggish Czechs from the start. The World Champions, who had trouble getting started in their opener against Poland Saturday, had more of the same problems today.

Bucks Find Another Hurdle To Overcome

Sports

Warriors Deadlock NBA Series

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — "We've had hurdles to overcome all year and this is just one more hurdle."

With those words, Larry Costello tried to explain his Milwaukee Bucks' 95-92 defeat by Golden State Sunday afternoon. The loss evened the best of seven playoff series at one game each and the two teams now move to Oakland for games No. 3 and 4.

But it's going to be more than a simple hurdle for the Bucks, who had a 15-game winning streak snapped by the Warriors who used a tough, over-playing defense to beat the Bucks. It also broke a jinx of sorts that the Bucks had held over the National Basketball Association Warriors.

In seven previous meetings this year the Bucks had won six games and Golden State was badly outplayed most of the time. This time they were not outplayed. The Warriors forced the Bucks out of the kind of game they like to play.

"When you get a lead on the Bucks it feels good," Warrior forward Cazzie Russell said. "When they're trailing they tend to hurry up a little bit and they're a lot better when they can set up and run this stuff."

Russell was the hero for the Warriors, coming off the bench when Rick Barry sprained his ankle only two minutes into the game. Russell had 19 points in the first half and finished with 25.

"There were no heros for us," Warrior Coach Al Attles said. "Cazzie gave us a tremendous lift with his shooting when he came in, but we need a team effort to beat the Bucks and that's what we got."

The Warriors also had a little luck as the Bucks stormed back from a 91-81 deficit with 2:25 left in the game. Four baskets by Lucius Allen and a three point play by Oscar Robertson against a basket by Golden State's, Jeff Mullins drew the Bucks to within one point at 93-92. But Mahdi Abdul-Rahman made two free throws with seven seconds left to preserve the Warriors' win.

Until the final seconds the Warriors were in command all the way with their pressure defense providing the spark. Time and again the Bucks were forced to break a pattern and take a bad shot. Milwaukee shot only 35 per cent in the first half and finished with 41 per cent, Warriors shot 47.

Shot Putter Oldfield In Sprint Win At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — What the fledgling International Track Association needs more than anything else is a world class athlete who is also a character.

It may have found the perfect man in Brian Oldfield, the precocious shot putter who Sunday night at San Francisco's half empty Cow Palace put his money where his mouth is.

Oldfield, who defies all standard rules of conditioning, took the world indoor record to 69 feet 11 ½ inches, and not content with the victory, he hammed it up for an announced crowd of 6,364 by taking on Lacey O'Neal in a 30-yard sprint.

No one expected the curley-locked, chain-smoking giant to even get out of the blocks against the female sprinter. But he exploded out of them and beat Miss Lacey as the crowd roared in approval.

"That ought to shut up the broads," Oldfield said in jest. "Maybe I shouldn't do such things," he added in a more serious tone, "but I want to have fun being a champion."

No question, Oldfield was the top performer in the ITA's fourth meet. After laying bombs in Los Angeles and Portland following a good start at Pocatello, the pro stars put on an entertaining show here.

John Radetich, who took the high jump world mark to 7-4 ¾ a month ago, almost duplicated the feat with a 7-4 winning report, Lee Evans held off Larry James for his fourth victory in the 500 run, Australian Chris Fisher took the 1,000 in the good time of 2:06.9, and Kip Keino, improving with each meet, won the mile in 4:04.4 in other events of note.

But Oldfield easily was the star of the show. He suffered a twinge in his throwing elbow on an early throw and when it seemed that neither Randy Matson, the world outdoor record holder, not Karl Salb could beat him, he uncorked his winning form on the final attempt.

It was a $1,000 throw. Under the ITA format, Oldfield got $500 for winning the event, the fourth time he has won it, and an additional $500 for setting the world record. That boosted Oldfield's earnings in four meets to $2,550, tops on the tour.

Evans boosted his earnings to $2,500 to trail Oldfield by $50. Warren Edmonson, unbeaten in three 60-yard races, lost by a hair to Jean-Louis Ravelomanantsoa but still picked up $250 to stand third on the money list with $2,142.

In other events, Leon Coleman won the 60 hurdles in 7.1, Dennis Phillips took the pole vault at 16 feet even when Bob Seagren withdrew because of injury, and Henry Hines beat world record holder Bob Beamon in the long jump, 26-5 ¾ to 26-3 ½.

Jim Ryun proved a disappointment again. He pulled a muscle warming up for the mile and was forced to withdraw.

GREATER GREENSBORO OPEN

Casper Meditates, But Graham Rallies To Earn Tie For Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Billy Casper, who says he likes slow play because it gives him a chance to meditate, had better be doing some $42,000 worth of meditating about Lou Graham today.

That's how much the winner's share of the $210,000 Greater Greensboro Open is worth, and the two were battling down to the wire for the check to be awarded after today's final round.

Perhaps Graham caught Casper meditating Sunday, but whatever it was, he gained four strokes to Casper's three in the rain-delayed third round, leaving the two tied at 14-under-par after three days of play.

Officials had hoped to finish both of the final two rounds Sunday but the 7,021-yard Sedgefield Country Club course was still too soggy Sunday morning, allowing only a single late-starting round in the afternoon.

By late afternoon, the sun was shining brightly, however, and so was Graham, who had been an anonymous touring pro until winning last year's Liggett and Myers Open at Pinehurst, N.C.

The field was to start on both

Walton Says It Was Easy To Turn Down $2 Million

Combined AP & UPI

ATLANTA — It took a little soul searching, but Bill Walton says it was basically easy to turn down a $2 million pro basketball offer to return to UCLA for his senior year.

"At times I had to do some soul searching, but mostly the decision was easy," Walton said yesterday at a news conference. Two hours later he became the first player to repeat as winner of the Naismith Trophy at the Atlanta Tipoff Club's annual awards banquet.

Eight days ago the UCLA superstar led the Bruins to their 75th straight victory and seventh straight NCAA title in the finals over Memphis State at St. Louis.

Since then there has been much speculation as to whether he would accept a $2 million offer from the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association to turn pro.

SPORT SHORTS

Football

OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders will open their 1973 pre-season schedule against the New England Patriots on Aug. 5 and close it against the Buffalo Bills on Sept. 8, the club announced Saturday.

Both games are road contests. The other four exhibition games the Raiders will play will be at home, two at the Oakland Coliseum and two at the University of California's Memorial Stadium in Berkeley.

After the Pats, the Raiders will meet the Dallas Cowboys, Los Angeles Rams, Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers before winding up the exhibition season at Buffalo.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Betsy Cullen went into the final round yesterday of the $30,000 Alamo Open Ladies Golf Tournament with a seven-stroke lead and apparently little to worry about.

But she narrowly escaped with the first place purse by two strokes, surviving a bad case of the jitters and a strong charge by Betty Burfeindt.

Miss Cullen fired a three-over par 76 on the final 18 holes to finish at one-under par 218 and claim the $4,500 first prize.

Bowling

AKRON, Ohio — Winning the Firestone Tournament of Champions four years ago was a highlight of his career, but Jim Godman says becoming the event's first two-time titlist "has to be my biggest thrill."

The 27-year-old Lorain, Ohio, bowler pocketed the $25,000 first prize Saturday after knocking off long-time great Dick Weber of St. Louis, 227-192, and then downing Barry Asher of Costa Mesa, Calif., 224-200, in the title match.

Tennis

NEW YORK — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. yesterday scored a 6-0, 6-4 win over West Germany's Katja Ebbinghaus in the finals of the $30,000 Lady Gotham Classic.

ST. LOUIS — Stan Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., yesterday edged top-ranked Australian Rod Laver 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in the final round of the $50,000 Holton Classic.

VANCOUVER — Tom Gorman of Seattle yesterday overcame a shaky start to defeat Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, for the singles title at the $50,000 Rothman's international pro tourney.

Auto Racing

ATLANTA — David Pearson yesterday outraced Cal Yarborough and sped to victory in a Mercury as 72,000 people watched the Atlanta 500 stock car race.

UCLA CAGE STAR

Walton Idealist In Face Of Cold Cash

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bill Walton says he wouldn't have turned pro for $5 million, and if that sounds as if he's reaching for the moon, you're right, he is.

Only it isn't the kind of moon you think.

Pure and simple, Bill Walton, UCLA's red-headed, red-blooded 6-11 superkid, is what so many others would love to be. He's an idealist. The kind who doesn't give up his ideals in the face of hard cold cash.

He's 20 years old and wants to enjoy those things 20-year-olds aj meant to enjoy. Like going to the beach, going on backpack camping trips in the mountains, getting together for bull sessions with friends, yes, even playing basketball for his school team.

The other evening, after leading UCLA's Bruins to the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship, Bill Walton met with Irv Kosloff, president of the Philadelphia 76ers, Don DeJardin, their general manager, and Kevin Loughery, their coach.

They made him an offer they thought he couldn't refuse—$2 million, tax free. Bill Walton surprised them. Shocked them would be more like it. He refused, saying he wanted to go bak to school.

"The money wasn't a factor," says Walton.

"Then you would have said no regardless how much they offered?" I asked him.

"Yes," he said.

"What do you say when they say every man has his price?"

"Not true," said Walton. "Some things I want you can't buy."

"Such as?"

"Personal things. The most satisfying things to me are the bunch of good friends I've had. You have to keep your perspective. I just have to lead my life the way I think I should. Right now I'm enjoying it and having a good time. There's nothing wrong in having a good time in life."

"What about the pros?" I asked Walton. "Will you play pro ball when you finish school?"

"Probably," he said, thinking it over a moment or two. "I'll try."

baseball has done nothing but fool with the strike zone in recent years, but I remember when they lowered the pitching mound a few years back. As far as any major changes, such as the DH rule, it's been a long, long time.

SHORT HOPS: Hal Fischer, former Corte Maderan now living in Santa Rosa when he's not off coaching basketball, will be returning home without the Amateur Athletic Union basketball championship his Armed Forces All-Stars won the past five years. Fischer's team was upset by Cincinnati, 88-77, Saturday in Lexington, Ky. . . . Date has definitely been set for the soccer game between University of San Francisco and UCLA at San Rafael High's field, Oct. 11 at 8 p.m.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

MARIN SCHEDULE

Terra Linda Vs. Novato In Golf

Marin County Athletic League seasons in golf and tennis are scheduled to open today and tomorrow, with an important early-season clash of golf favorites Terra Linda and Novato scheduled Thursday at Marin Country Club.

The confused picture in track and field may begin to clear Friday when undefeated Tamalpais (3-0) hosts undefeate San Marin (2-0).

Pitching staffs of the MCAL baseball teams will be tested this week, as six of the eight teams will be forced to play three games due to rainouts last week. Pre-season favorites Redwood and Novato will clash Friday in Larkspur.

Second place in swimming will be on the line tomorrow when San Rafael visits Terra Linda. The teams are tied with 6-2 records behind Redwood's 7-0.

The schedule for the high schools and College of Marin (asterisks denote non-league events):

WHA ROUNDUP

North Stars Win Big One — Off Ice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

After scrambling through a rugged 78-game schedule, the Minnesota Fighting Saints scored their biggest victory of the year exactly two days after their season ended—without as much as lifting a stick.

This came about late Sunday night when the World Hockey Association's trustees upheld a protest by Minnesota and scheduled a playoff game between the Saints and Alberta Oilers to determine fourth place in the Western Division.

The two teams had concluded their regular season's work on Friday night tied with 79 points, but a rule adopted March 21 gave the Oilers the playoff berth because they had a better record than Minnesota against West Division rivals. However, the Fighting Saints contended that rules in effect at the beginning of the season called for a playoff game to settle any ties that existed for fourth place.

WHA President Gary Davidson, who polled the league's 12 trustees to decide the issue, announced that the playoff game to determine the first round opponent for Winnipeg will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday and will be played either at Calgary or Vancouver.

Four games were played Sunday on the windup day of the regular campaign. In the most significant of these, the Philadelphia Blazers claimed third place in the East by beating Winnipeg, 4-2, while the Ottawa Nationals were dropping a 6-3 decision to the Houston Aeros. Elsewhere, the Cleveland Crusaders beat the Chicago Cougas, 5-1, and the New England Whalers routed the Quebec Nordiques, 7-2.

Sonoma State Nine Takes 2 Of 3 Games

CHICO — Continuing the precedent set by its court counterparts, the Sonoma State College baseball team is threatening to be a factor in the Far Western Conference race and could bring the school its second league championship.

The Cossacks took a good step in that direction over the weekend by capturing two of three games here with FWC opponent Chico State College. Friday, Sonoma beat the Wildcats, 8-2, and then split a doubleheader Saturday, dropping the first game, 3-2, but coming back with a 7-4 victory in the nightcap.

The series win gave the Cossacks a 10-8 overall record, just one victory shy of the Sonoma State single season win mark of 11 games. Sonoma is now 2-1 in league and the previously unbeaten Wildcats are 4-2.

Len Hoffman gave up just two hits and struck out 10 while going the distance for Sonoma Friday. He was backed by an 11-hit attack, with catcher Rich Garretson slugging a 400-foot home run in the fourth inning.

The Cossacks' bats were silent in the Saturday opener with just four hits, but they came alive in the second game with 15 safeties. Tom Trezona was four for five and Gary Tozi was three for four to lead the Sonoma attack.

Petaluman 5th In Pentathlon

SAN JOSE — Petaluma High School's David Barlow placed fifth in the pentathlon with 3,493 ponts, highlighting the Trojans's showing in the Blossom Hill Relays at Leigh High School here Saturday.

Petaluma took seventh in the four-mile relay. Jon Sisler and Dan Aldridge turned in legs of 4:25 and 4:29.

The Trojans mile relay team finished sixth in 3:35.0 and the distance medley team took ninth with 440-yard ace Jose Martinez running his lap in 50.2.

Tea Axe Surprises In Albany Horse Race

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Tea Axe, overlooked in the betting in favor of His Promise, romped to an easy 11 length victory Saturday in the $30,000 added California Oaks at Golden Gate Fields.

Travel Tip finished in Tea Axe's wake and His Promise wound up third in the stakes race that first was run in 1890 at Sacramento. Tea Axe ran a mile in 1:39 2-5.

ALI SUFFERS BROKEN JAW

Norton Becomes 'Somebody' In Boxing Victory Over Ex-Champ

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ken Norton never touched a barbell but it's hard to believe.

At 6-3 and 210 pounds, Norton has a physique that belongs in a weightlifter's magazine. A physical fitness addict, he has a 47 ½-inch expanded chest and a 30-inch waist.

At 28, Norton is a former Marine Corps corporal and a former Joe Frazier sparring partner. After his big victory over Muhammad Ali Saturday, Norton is a former nobody.

Now he's a somebody.

The San Diego heavyweight, who spent 4 ½ years in the Marines, is a tough boxer-puncher who was able to move well enough to catch Ali—even though it was a slowed-down-by-age Ali.

Norton, a former high school track, basketball and football star, began his pro career with a fifth round knockout over Grady Brazell in 1967. Until Saturday, that might have been the high point of his career.

His eighth round knockout loss to Venezuela's Jose Luis Garcia in 1970 at Los Angeles haunted him.

"We tried for two years to get a rematch," said Eddie Futch, Norton's trainer. "They wouldn't give us one. Now they can chase us."

Because he was so highly regarded by the top-ranking heavyweight contenders and had virtually no reputation, the rugged Norton had trouble getting fights. His biggest previous purse before his $50,000 payday during the weekend was $7,500.

"This win is going to open a lot of doors," Futch said.

Futch, who predicted Norton's shocker over Ali, and Norton insist that Norton can beat Houston strongboy George Foreman.

The mustachioed Norton, a native of Jacksonville, Ill., went to see, of all people, a hypnotist after the Garcia fight. The hypnotist is Dr. Michael Dean of San Diego and he must have had the right advice.

"I had a habit of listening to Eddie but not really absorbing what he said," Norton explained. "He (Dean) tried to tell me the difference between confidence and overconfidence, keep it in my subconscious mind."

He must have had it in his "subconscious mind" against Ali.

A 5-1 underdog, Norton handed boxing's living legend only his second loss of an illustrious fight career that began in 1960. It was his 31st victory in 32 starts, a career that includes 24 knockouts.

Although Ali suffered a broken jaw in the opening round against the ex-Marine Corps corporal, he wasn't silenced. A spokesman at Clairemont General Hospital in San Diego said Ali could talk even though his mouth is wired shut.

Idle Marin '9' Moves Into 1st

College of Marin's baseball team moved back into first place in the Camino Nrte Conference standings over the weekend without liting a finger.

The Tars had Saturday's game in San Pablo against Contra Costa College postponed due to wet grounds, and West Valley of Campbell lost Saturday night to De Anza of Cupertino, 8-1. West Valley's record fell to 8-2, worse than Marin's 5-1.

The Marin-Contra Costa game has not yet been rescheduled.

NBA ROUNDUP

'Old Pros' Show Playoff Skills

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's definitely playoff time in the National Basketball Association. You can tell 'cause the "old pros" are struttin' their stuff.

The playoffs usually brings out the best in the big name performers and Sunday was a perfect example as Havlicek, Chamberlain, Monroe, Frazier, West and Russell grabbed the headlines.

John Havlicek, an 11-year veteran who has played on six NBA championship clubs, scored a club record 54 points while leading the Boston Celtics to a 134-109 rout of the Atlanta Hawks in the first game of their best-of-seven East semifinal series.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West, holdovers from last year's championship squad, combined their efforts as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Chicago Bulls 108-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven West semi-final series. West tossed in 30 points and had a record-tying 19 assists while Chamberlain pulled down 21 rebounds and blocked 11 shots.

Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier, the Knicks' backcourt superstars, combined for 61 points as New York defeated the Baltimore Bullets 123-103 to grab a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven East semi-final battle. Monroe, an ex-Bullet, scored 32 points while Frazier, an all-star who played on the Knicks' only championship team of 1969-70, had 29.

Cazzie Russell, another member of that Knicks' championship season who is now doing his thing for Golden Statecame off the bench to score 25 points as the Warriors evened their West semi-final series with Milwaukee at one game apiece by defeating the Bucks 95-92.

Havlicek's performance bettered the old Boston club record of 51 points set by Sam Jones in 1967 and was just seven short of the league's playoff record of 61 points set by Elgin Baylor of the Lakers in 1962.

"He's a good player," admitted Atlanta coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "Even when he scores 30 points you can say you contained him. But I think we'll stop him. He won't be doing this every night against us."

Havlicek wasn't the only one who hurt the Hawks, though. Jo Jo White added 34 points to the Celtics cause, Dave Cowens pulled down 17 rebounds and Art Williams had 12 assists.

The Lakers, who needed only four games to eliminate the Bulls in the last season's playoffs, defeated them for the 14th time in their last 15 meetings. The Lakers' Gail Goodrich shared the spotlight with Chamberlain and West by tossing in 33 points to lead all scorers.

Monroe and Frazier broke open the Knicks' game with the Bullets by combining for 11 straight points early in the fourth quarter to give New York a comfortable 100-85 lead. Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 22 points for the Knicks while Phil Chenier led Baltimore with 27.

Kentucky Discovers Ailing Erving Tough

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Julius Erving says he isn't completely healthy yet, and that's bad news for the Kentucky Colonels.

Erving, sidelined with an injury near the end of the season, looked in the peak of physical condition Sunday as he scored 41 points to lead the Virginia Squires to a 109-94 triumph over the Colonels at Louisville. The victory evened their American Basketball Association best-of-seven East Division semi-final playoff series at one game apiece.

The 6-foot-6 Erving, playing only his second game since his injury, connected on 17 of 22 shots from the floor yet was not totally satisfied with his performance.

"I was shooting and jumping as good as I ever have, but I'm not running as well yet."

Trailing 80-76 after three quarters, the Squires held Kentucky to only 14 points in the final period and went on to a relatively easy victory. Rookie George Gervin helped the Squires' attack by contributing 12 points in the final quarter and finishing with 25.

The Sun Porsche

Our mid-engine car is a fair-weather friend that won't let you down in foul weather.

On sunny days, the top snaps off in thirty-seven seconds, stores under the rear trunk lid and takes up virtually no space.

On rainy days the top locks back on almost as fast.

And because it's fiberglass, it won't leak or rip. Unlike fabric.

But a friend is more than a fiberglass top.

First of all, it's a two-seater in the classic sports car tradition. And because two's company.

With the engine in the middle, handling must be felt to be believed. The car simply goes where you point it.

Also with the engine in the middle, you get a trunk in the front and the back. A sort of his and hers. Together they give 16 cubic feet trunk space.

And also rack-and-pinion steering, and a five-speed gearbox, 4-wheel disc brakes and a built-in roll bar as standard equipment.

So see your friendly dealer and let the sun shine in.

BASEBALL PREDICTIONS

White Sox Seen As Kings

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few weeks in spring training's Florida sun can do odd things to a man: like making him think he can predict in April how the major league pennant races will end in September.

It's something the palefaces who stayed up North expect of the sports writers with the beautiful tans, however, so, without further ado, here's how the races will look when the last putout of the season has been made on September 30:

National League East: 1. Pittsburgh Pirates, 2. New York Mets, 3. Chicago Cubs, 4. St. Louis Cardinals, 5. Montreal Expos, 6. Philadelphia Phillies.

National League West: 1. Houston Astros, 2. Cincinnati Reds, 3. Los Angeles Dodgers, 4. Atlanta Braves, 5. San Francisco Giants, 6. San Diego Padres.

American League East: 1. New York Yankees, 2. Boston Red Sox, 3. Baltimore Orioles, 4. Detroit Tigers, 5. Cleveland Indians, 6. Milwaukee Brewers.

American League West: 1. Chicago White Sox, 2. Oakland Athletics, 3. California Angels, 4. Minnesota Twins, 5. Kansas City Royals, 6. Texas Rangers.

And here's why:

—The Pirates will get straightened away when Manny Sanguillen is returned to his regular catching position. They will miss the late Roberto Clemente but have the hitting depth to win without him. The Mets will be stronger with Rusty Staub playing a full season and Felix Millan and Bud Harrelson giving them an outstanding double play combination. The Mets were 8-6 over the Pirates in their 1972 season series and can beat them in a clutch series. The Cubs will play about the same as they have the last three seasons. The Expos will be improved and could finish fourth if the Cardinals don't hit any better than they did last season. The Phillies just haven't got enough strengths to make a move toward contention even with Steve Carlton starting every fourth game.

—It is just not realistic to favor a team over a six-month tournament which has as many pitching questionmarks as the Reds. The Astros have a brilliant young star in Cesar Cedeno, a batting order which scored more runs than any other team in the league last season and a manager in Leo Durocher who is at his best in this sort of situation. Remember that the Reds finished fourth in 1971 and lost both World Series in which they have played in the last three years. The Dodgers, Braves and Giants are all in varied states of transition and aren't likely to be contenders. The Padres still have all the weaknesses of newly-formed expansion teams.

—A four-team race with the Yankees, Red Sox, Orioles and Tigers finishing under a blanket of seven or eight games. An argument can be made to pick the first four in any sequence but the feeling here is that Lee MacPhail's patient rebuilding program will pay off, that the Red Sox missed their chance last season, that the Orioles will still have serious offensive problems this season and that the Tigers just can't be expected to win out two years in a row in this closely-matched situation. The Indians and Brewers appear to have improved themselves with winter trades but can't make it into contention.

—For all their defensive and possible pitching problems, the White Sox are by far the strongest offensive club in the league. The defending world champion Athletics, with the best pitching in the league, will make a gallant run but be beaten by a team with more guns. The Angels, Twins and Royals will finish only a few games apart but quite a distance behind the White Sox and Athletics. Ranger fans can expect a season of expermentation. The Rangers will still be trying to resolve problems in August that other teams solved in March.

The playoffs and the World Series?

The Pirates will beat the Astros in the NL playoffs and the White Sox will beat the Yankees in the AL playoffs. Then the White Sox will beat the Pirates in a World Series which will be long remembered for its slugging.

Sounds crazy?

Blame it on the Florida sun.

NHL Sabres Celebrate A Big Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Crozier, coach of the Buffalo Sabres, had only praise for "the little bald guy upstairs."

Crozier was all smiles Sunday night after his third-year expansion Buffalo Sabres scored a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Blues and clinched the fourth and final playoff spot in the National Hockey League's East Division.

The Sabres finishe two points ahead of Detroit in a battle that went down to the last game of the regular season. The Red Wings rallied for a 3-3 tie against the New York Ranger in their finale, but it wasn't enough.

"As far as I'm concerned we're in the Stanley Cup playoffs in only our third year and the little bald guy upstairs deserves the utmost consideration," Crozier said, referring to Sabres' General Manager George "Punch" Imlach.

Aside from the games in Buffalo and New York, none of the other four NHL games played Sunday bore any significance on the playoffs or standings. In these, the Montreal Canadiens beat the Boston Bruins, 5-3, the Pittsburgh Penguins edged the Philadelphia Flyers, 5-4, the Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs skated to a 4-4 tie and the Atlanta Flames and New York Islanders completed their first campaigns in the NHL by playing to a 4-4 deadlock.

The Stanley Cup playoffs will get underway on Wednesday night with Buffalo at Montreal and the Rangers at Boston in the East Division and St. Louis at Chicago and Minnesota at Philadelphia in the West. The same schedule will be repeated Thursday night, with the teams switching sites for the third and fourth games on Saturday and Sunday.

Horton's Slugging Cheers Martin In Tigers' Loss

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The recent trouble brewing in the Detroit Tigers' camp— attitudes, suspensions, resignations—seems to have a bright side.

The only bad news for the Tiger camp, however, is that they lost the game to the Boston Red Sox, 6-5.

Horton's frst home run came in the sixth inning with Jim Northrup aboard off pitcher Mary Pattin, the Sox starter. Again in the eigth inning, Horton blasted a solo shot off Detroit pitcher Don Newhauser.

Carl Yastrzemski scored a run with a single and first baseman Danny Cater added a double and a single to reinforce the Red Sox triumph.

Elsewhere, fireballer Nolan Ryan became the first California pitcher to go nine innings this spring, hurling a two-hitter as the Angels nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 before a crowd of 21,099 at Dodger Stadium.

Ryan, the major leagues' strikeout king last season, fanned eight, walked five in oing the distance.

The win clinched the Freeway Series for the Angels as they took two out of three from their crosstown rivals the Dodgers.

In other exhibition games Montreal topped Philadelphia 3-0, Texas whipped Kansas City 8-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 4-1, the New York Mets downed the New York Yankees 4-3, Minnesota edged Houston 3-2, Baltimore and Atlanta each scored nine runs as the game was deadlocked after 14 innings of play, San Francisco eked past Oakland, 10-9, Cleveland shutout San Diego 2-0 and Milwaukee ripped the Chicago Cubs 8-4.

Ernie McAnally pitched eight innings, yielding four hits as the Astros handed the 1972 Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton the loss.

Rico Carty had a fine day with a double and a single to score three runs as the Rangers won over the Royals.

the first and 10th tees at 8 a.m. today with no more weather problems anticipated.

Graham and Casper both had four birdies but Casper missed a putt as he started on the back nine, taking a bogey on 10.

Despite the bogey, Casper said he was "very happy with the way everything happened. It was a very easy day. I got to relax in the morning."

Both of the third-round leaders lamented poor putting conditions caused by oggy greens.

Rod Funseth and Doug Sanders were another stroke back, followed by a trio at 203 that included 60-year-old veteran Sam Snead, the eight-time GGO victor who said he still hadn't given up hope.

Snead, tied with Mike Hill and George Knudson at 10 under, said Graham was the man to beat and added, "If I can beat Graham, I win the tournament."

Al Geiberger took $3,000 for the day's low round with a 64 Sunday, but that still left him only nine-under for three days, the same as Lee Elder, with both needing a minor miracle to win.

Elder's 68 round Sunday after leading the first round with a 64 and a 72 Friday further battered his already dim hopes of becoming the first black golfer in the Masters.

Walton Says It Was Easy To Turn Down $2 Million

Combined AP & UPI

ATLANTA — It took a little soul searching, but Bill Walton says it was basically easy to turn down a $2 million pro basketball offer to return to UCLA for his senior year.

"At times I had to do some soul searching, but mostly the decision was easy," Walton said yesterday at a news conference. Two hours later he became the first player to repeat as winner of the Naismith Trophy at the Atlanta Tipoff Club's annual awards banquet.

Eight days ago the UCLA superstar led the Bruins to their 75th straight victory and seventh straight NCAA title in the finals over Memphis State at St. Louis.

Since then there has been much speculation as to whether he would accept a $2 million offer from the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association to turn pro.

SPORT SHORTS

Football

OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders will open their 1973 pre-season schedule against the New England Patriots on Aug. 5 and close it against the Buffalo Bills on Sept. 8, the club announced Saturday.

Both games are road contests. The other four exhibition games the Raiders will play will be at home, two at the Oakland Coliseum and two at the University of California's Memorial Stadium in Berkeley.

After the Pats, the Raiders will meet the Dallas Cowboys, Los Angeles Rams, Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers before winding up the exhibition season at Buffalo.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Betsy Cullen went into the final round yesterday of the $30,000 Alamo Open Ladies Golf Tournament with a seven-stroke lead and apparently little to worry about.

But she narrowly escaped with the first place purse by two strokes, surviving a bad case of the jitters and a strong charge by Betty Burfeindt.

Miss Cullen fired a three-over par 76 on the final 18 holes to finish at one-under par 218 and claim the $4,500 first prize.

Bowling

AKRON, Ohio — Winning the Firestone Tournament of Champions four years ago was a highlight of his career, but Jim Godman says becoming the event's first two-time titlist "has to be my biggest thrill."

The 27-year-old Lorain, Ohio, bowler pocketed the $25,000 first prize Saturday after knocking off long-time great Dick Weber of St. Louis, 227-192, and then downing Barry Asher of Costa Mesa, Calif., 224-200, in the title match.

Tennis

NEW YORK — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. yesterday scored a 6-0, 6-4 win over West Germany's Katja Ebbinghaus in the finals of the $30,000 Lady Gotham Classic.

ST. LOUIS — Stan Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., yesterday edged top-ranked Australian Rod Laver 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in the final round of the $50,000 Holton Classic.

VANCOUVER — Tom Gorman of Seattle yesterday overcame a shaky start to defeat Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, for the singles title at the $50,000 Rothman's international pro tourney.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Australia's Kerry Melville yesterday took the first Virginia Slims title of her career with a 6-3, 6-4 decision over Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingstone, Tex.

Auto Racing

ATLANTA — David Pearson yesterday outraced Cal Yarborough and sped to victory in a Mercury as 72,000 people watched the Atlanta 500 stock car race.

UCLA CAGE STAR

Walton Idealist In Face Of Cold Cash

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bill Walton says he wouldn't have turned pro for $5 million, and if that sounds as if he's reaching for the moon, you're right, he is.

Only it isn't the kind of moon you think.

Pure and simple, Bill Walton, UCLA's red-headed, red-blooded 6-11 superkid, is what so many others would love to be. He's an idealist. The kind who doesn't give up his ideals in the face of hard cold cash.

He's 20 years old and wants to enjoy those things 20-year-olds aj meant to enjoy. Like going to the beach, going on backpack camping trips in the mountains, getting together for bull sessions with friends, yes, even playing basketball for his school team.

The other evening, after leading UCLA's Bruins to the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship, Bill Walton met with Irv Kosloff, president of the Philadelphia 76ers, Don DeJardin, their general manager, and Kevin Loughery, their coach.

They made him an offer they thought he couldn't refuse—$2 million, tax free. Bill Walton surprised them. Shocked them would be more like it. He refused, saying he wanted to go bak to school.

"The money wasn't a factor," says Walton.

"Then you would have said no regardless how much they offered?" I asked him.

"Yes," he said.

"What do you say when they say every man has his price?"

"Not true," said Walton. "Some things I want you can't buy."

"Such as?"

"Personal things. The most satisfying things to me are the bunch of good friends I've had. You have to keep your perspective. I just have to lead my life the way I think I should. Right now I'm enjoying it and having a good time. There's nothing wrong in having a good time in life."

"What about the pros?" I asked Walton. "Will you play pro ball when you finish school?"

"Probably," he said, thinking it over a moment or two. "I'll try."

baseball has done nothing but fool with the strike zone in recent years, but I remember when they lowered the pitching mound a few years back. As far as any major changes, such as the DH rule, it's been a long, long time.

SHORT HOPS: Hal Fischer, former Corte Maderan now living in Santa Rosa when he's not off coaching basketball, will be returning home without the Amateur Athletic Union basketball championship his Armed Forces All-Stars won the past five years. Fischer's team was upset by Cincinnati, 88-77, Saturday in Lexington, Ky. . . . Date has definitely been set for the soccer game between University of San Francisco and UCLA at San Rafael High's field, Oct. 11 at 8 p.m.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance

Canmaker's Stock? It's Time To Sell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are holding 225 shares of Continental Can (NYSE) stock that has dropped more than 20 points in the last several years. What are your views regarding the recovery of this stock? — E.M.

A. The 6 per cent yield is only a partial compensation for the uninspired market action of these shares. Furthermore the outlook remains discouraging both for Continental and the industry. While overcapacity, which has plagued canmakers and reduced profit margins, may gradually respond to cutbacks by the two majors, achieving a supply/demand balance may be a long slow process. Higher tin costs have burdened manufacturers already struggling in a highly competitive pricing climate. A recent hike in the price of tin and a 7 per cent rise in labor cost will probably be passed along to customers. However, the Cost of Living Council is expected to watch such price hikes in view of the rapid rise in food prices.

In 1972, Continental reported a 10 per cent increase in earnings on a 5 per cent rise in sales. The widening of CCC's profit margin apparent in 1972 reflected closing of marginal operations and a boost in linerboard prices. At this juncture, additional margin improvements appear unlikely with plant start-up costs a restrictive factor. Sell.

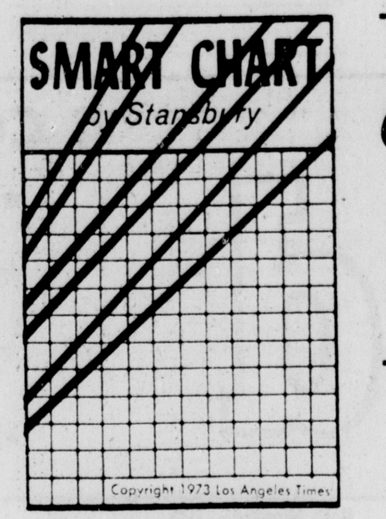
Q. We have some Federal Land Bank bonds which will soon mature. What would be some good corporate bonds to consider for replacement? — L.V.

A. There are a very interesting series of bonds — power bonds — issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority, some of which should fit your requirements. These bonds carry the highest rating, AAA. Another attractive feature is the fact that interest from these bonds, while subject to federal income tax, is exempt from state and local personal property and income tax. Maturity dates on the many TVA issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange range from 1974 to 1997. Coupon rates of 7 per cent to 9¼ per cent yield 7.4 per cent to 8.4 per cent on a current basis and 6.5 per cent to 7.9 per cent when the bonds are held to maturity.

Director Resigns PVO International

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The resignation of Lawrence N. Apple as a director has been announced by PVO International Inc., diversified international food, chemical and agricultural products company.

Apple, former president of PVO, said the demands of his other business commitments preclude him from remaining as a director.



"Are you sure we're keeping inflation within bounds, Chief?"

Stocks Off As Trading Is Listless

Investors still are disappointed President Nixon did not impose more stringent controls on the swelling cost of food, which led the biggest monthly surge in the consumer price index in 22 years last February.

Also, there still is much concern over rising interest rates, and many investors are anxious to see how the proposed two-tier prime lending rate system will work, analysts said.

Continental Oil was heavily traded on the Big Board and continued lower following a drop of 5 ⅝ Friday. The company said Friday's loss stemmed from a forecast by a Wall Street brokerage house that the firm's per share earnings would be lower for the first quarter and year.

Oils headed lower. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the construction ban imposed by a lower court on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Novato Mode O'Day Shop Will Change Hands In Mid-Month

Mode O'Day ladies and children's dress shop at 1417 Grant Avenue in Novato will change hands on April 15.

Frances Anglin of Novato and Rita Della Valle of San Rafael, who have owned it for almost two years, are selling the franchise to Amada (Mrs. Samuel P.) Crivello of Novato.

Alterations will be one of the new services to be added by Mrs. Crivello. She will operate Mode O'Day with the help of her daughters, Terry, Maureen and Trudy.

Mrs. Anglin and Mrs. Della Valle, the present owners, will stage a big open house with frefreshments on April 13 and 14 before turning the store over to the new owner. Mrs. Anglin plans to leave for an extended vacation in the mid-West.

JEANNE HUNT of Nipper & Marchant, Realtors, San Rafael, sold more than a million dollars worth of real estate in one year to become one of the Marin County Board of Realtors' charter members of the Million Dollar Club.

A resident of Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Hunt has been with Nipper & Marchant for seven years.

JAMES P. HENRY of Mill Valley has been named operations officer in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division, San Francisco.

Henry graduated in 1970 from University of San Francisco, joined the bank in 1971, and was assistant operations officer in the Oakland data processing center before the promotion.

THE LITTLE STORE, a new grocery, opened Sunday in Forest Knolls at Juarez and Montezuma Avenues.

It is owned by Donald and Padgett McBain of Forest Knolls and Kenneth and Judy Peck of San Anselmo. They took over the former Larry's Market, which closed last year.

The Little Store sells beer and wine as well as groceries.

McDermott

Porter

LARRY McDERMOTT of San Anselmo and BOB PORTER of Mill Valley have been named vice presidents of Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown Inc. advertising and public relations firm in San Francisco. James. C. Nelson Jr. of Lucas Valley, executive vice president and creative director, announced the appointments.

McDermott and Porter joined the agency in 1969 as creative group supervisors and were appointed last year as associate creative directors.

MARGUERITE R. TERZICH of Mill Valley retired last week after 26 years with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Her most recent assignment was as correspondent with the dividend division of Metropolitan Life's Pacific Coast head office in San Francisco.

Mrs. Terzich is a director of the Smith Mine and Ditch Co. of Jamestown (Tuolumne County), a family enterprise that produced considerable gold ore in the early days of mining in the Mother Lode.

She is active in the Marin Historical Society and Goldenaires in San Rafael, and is a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin.

CHARLES SUTTER CLARK of Greenbrae has joined the firm of Design Five Associates in Lafayette and will specialize in residential interiors, model homes and all phases of contract design. Clark was formerly with Western Contract Furnishers of Oakland.

DOUG'S AUTO Body and Towing at 45 Duffy Place in San Rafael has moved to 1550 Fourth Street in an old livery stable across the street from R and R Transmission.

Owner Douglas Shaffer, who operated both a body shop and a towing service on Duffy Place, limits his business to towing (no body work) at his new location on Fourth Street.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund, headquartered in Novato, bought Woodside Apartments near Santa Rosa for more than $590,000.

Construction has just begun on the 41-unit development at 841 Russell Avenue, two miles northwest of downtown Santa Rosa. The property was purchased from Camille Enterprises of Santa Rosa. National Real Estate Fund is administered by Capital Planning Securities Co., a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates of 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

LYONS & CARNAHAN textbook publishers and distributors will open its western regional office next week at 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 103, in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

Wayne W. Raley of Novato, vice president of the company's western sales region, said the regional office has been located in Pasadena for years but the company decided to move it to San Rafael because the major educational publishing center is the Bay Area. Lyons & Carnahan, headquartered in Chicago, publishes and sells textbooks to elementary and high schools.

Raley said theSan Rafael office will not deal in retail trade.

Hoey Co. also negotiated leases for the following five companies, all of which are relocating or expanding:

PENN MUTUAL Life Insurance office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael will move by May 1 to 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 307, Northgate Industrial Park.

ALMAR ENTERPRISES advertising firm at 77 Mark Drive, is moving to 117 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael. Almar Enterprises, managed by Allen Tobell, was formerly called The Dollar Saver Advertising.

BUD CLARKE Sheetrock Service at 50 Tiburon Street, No. 24 in San Rafael, has doubled its warehouse space at that location.

CAPITAL PAINTING & Decorating Co. of 50 Belvedere Street in San Rafael will open new quarters at 138-A Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio.

BURT MANUFACTURING Co. at McNear's Point, San Rafael, which makes ceramic equipment, will open new offices at 122 Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park. It will also take additional warehouse space at 130-F Hamilton Drive.

Grand Opening Set For Shopping Center

Park Plaza Shopping Center in Rohnert Park, a full service shopping facility at Highway 101 and Rohnert Park Expressway, will hold its grand opening at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

R. Leonard Garrison of San Rafael, developer of the center, said customer convenience, ease of parking and lack of congestion will be characteristics of Park Plaza.

Tenants include Safeway, T.G. & Y. Family Center (a variety store), Bank of America, Rohnert Park Pharmacy, the Chilling Experience ice cream parlor, Ernie's Wine & Liquor, Hair by Hae Sook, Henry L. Hicks Realtors, Gerry Lombardi's Men's Store, Magic Lantern Photo Center, Plaza One Hour Cleaners, Round Table Pizza, Sis-Con Audio Supply, Smorgas House Restaurant, U.S. Bakery and Washland Coin Laundry.

Rohnert Park Mayor Arthur N. Roberts, owner of the pharmacy, will stage an official opening of his own Saturday with the appearance of Don Chamberlain of the California Girls talk show on KNEW radio. Roberts said Chamberlain will bring a model along to demonstrate body painting techniques.

BASEBALL PREDICTIONS

White Sox Seen As Kings

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few weeks in spring training's Florida sun can do odd things to a man: like making him think he can predict in April how the major league pennant races will end in September.

It's something the palefaces who stayed up North expect of the sports writers with the beautiful tans, however, so, without further ado, here's how the races will look when the last putout of the season has been made on September 30:

National League East: 1. Pittsburgh Pirates, 2. New York Mets, 3. Chicago Cubs, 4. St. Louis Cardinals, 5. Montreal Expos, 6. Philadelphia Phillies.

National League West: 1. Houston Astros, 2. Cincinnati Reds, 3. Los Angeles Dodgers, 4. Atlanta Braves, 5. San Francisco Giants, 6. San Diego Padres.

American League East: 1. New York Yankees, 2. Boston Red Sox, 3. Baltimore Orioles, 4. Detroit Tigers, 5. Cleveland Indians, 6. Milwaukee Brewers.

American League West: 1. Chicago White Sox, 2. Oakland Athletics, 3. California Angels, 4. Minnesota Twins, 5. Kansas City Royals, 6. Texas Rangers.

And here's why:

—The Pirates will get straightened away when Manny Sanguillen is returned to his regular catching position. They will miss the late Roberto Clemente but have the hitting depth to win without him. The Mets will be stronger with Rusty Staub playing a full season and Felix Millan and Bud Harrelson giving them an outstanding double play combination. The Mets were 8-6 over the Pirates in their 1972 season series and can beat them in a clutch series. The Cubs will play about the same as they have the last three seasons. The Expos will be improved and could finish fourth if the Cardinals don't hit any better than they did last season. The Phillies just haven't got enough strengths to make a move toward contention even with Steve Carlton starting every fourth game.

—It is just not realistic to favor a team over a six-month tournament which has as many pitching questionmarks as the Reds. The Astros have a brilliant young star in Cesar Cedeno, a batting order which scored more runs than any other team in the league last season and a manager in Leo Durocher who is at his best in this sort of situation. Remember that the Reds finished fourth in 1971 and lost both World Series in which they have played in the last three years. The Dodgers, Braves and Giants are all in varied states of transition and aren't likely to be contenders. The Padres still have all the weaknesses of newly-formed expansion teams.

—A four-team race with the Yankees, Red Sox, Orioles and Tigers finishing under a blanket of seven or eight games. An argument can be made to pick the first four in any sequence but the feeling here is that Lee MacPhail's patient rebuilding program will pay off, that the Red Sox missed their chance last season, that the Orioles will still have serious offensive problems this season and that the Tigers just can't be expected to win out two years in a row in this closely-matched situation. The Indians and Brewers appear to have improved themselves with winter trades but can't make it into contention.

—For all their defensive and possible pitching problems, the White Sox are by far the strongest offensive club in the league. The defending world champion Athletics, with the best pitching in the league, will make a gallant run but be beaten by a team with more guns. The Angels, Twins and Royals will finish only a few games apart but quite a distance behind the White Sox and Athletics. Ranger fans can expect a season of expermentation. The Rangers will still be trying to resolve problems in August that other teams solved in March.

The playoffs and the World Series?

The Pirates will beat the Astros in the NL playoffs and the White Sox will beat the Yankees in the AL playoffs. Then the White Sox will beat the Pirates in a World Series which will be long remembered for its slugging.

Sounds crazy?

Blame it on the Florida sun.

NHL Sabres Celebrate A Big Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Crozier, coach of the Buffalo Sabres, had only praise for "the little bald guy upstairs."

Crozier was all smiles Sunday night after his third-year expansion Buffalo Sabres scored a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Blues and clinched the fourth and final playoff spot in the National Hockey League's East Division.

The Sabres finishe two points ahead of Detroit in a battle that went down to the last game of the regular season. The Red Wings rallied for a 3-3 tie against the New York Ranger in their finale, but it wasn't enough.

"As far as I'm concerned we're in the Stanley Cup playoffs in only our third year and the little bald guy upstairs deserves the utmost consideration," Crozier said, referring to Sabres' General Manager George "Punch" Imlach.

Aside from the games in Buffalo and New York, none of the other four NHL games played Sunday bore any significance on the playoffs or standings. In these, the Montreal Canadiens beat the Boston Bruins, 5-3, the Pittsburgh Penguins edged the Philadelphia Flyers, 5-4, the Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs skated to a 4-4 tie and the Atlanta Flames and New York Islanders completed their first campaigns in the NHL by playing to a 4-4 deadlock.

The Stanley Cup playoffs will get underway on Wednesday night with Buffalo at Montreal and the Rangers at Boston in the East Division and St. Louis at Chicago and Minnesota at Philadelphia in the West. The same schedule will be repeated Thursday night, with the teams switching sites for the third and fourth games on Saturday and Sunday.

Horton's Slugging Cheers Martin In Tigers' Loss

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The recent trouble brewing in the Detroit Tigers' camp— attitudes, suspensions, resignations—seems to have a bright side.

The only bad news for the Tiger camp, however, is that they lost the game to the Boston Red Sox, 6-5.

Horton's frst home run came in the sixth inning with Jim Northrup aboard off pitcher Mary Pattin, the Sox starter. Again in the eigth inning, Horton blasted a solo shot off Detroit pitcher Don Newhauser.

Carl Yastrzemski scored a run with a single and first baseman Danny Cater added a double and a single to reinforce the Red Sox triumph.

Elsewhere, fireballer Nolan Ryan became the first California pitcher to go nine innings this spring, hurling a two-hitter as the Angels nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 before a crowd of 21,099 at Dodger Stadium.

Ryan, the major leagues' strikeout king last season, fanned eight, walked five in oing the distance.

The win clinched the Freeway Series for the Angels as they took two out of three from their crosstown rivals the Dodgers.

In other exhibition games Montreal topped Philadelphia 3-0, Texas whipped Kansas City 8-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 4-1, the New York Mets downed the New York Yankees 4-3, Minnesota edged Houston 3-2, Baltimore and Atlanta each scored nine runs as the game was deadlocked after 14 innings of play, San Francisco eked past Oakland, 10-9, Cleveland shutout San Diego 2-0 and Milwaukee ripped the Chicago Cubs 8-4.

Ernie McAnally pitched eight innings, yielding four hits as the Astros handed the 1972 Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton the loss.

Rico Carty had a fine day with a double and a single to score three runs as the Rangers won over the Royals.

Tiburon Girls Win In Menlo Park Net

MENLO PARK — Sue Beatty of Tiburon won third place and Bee Kilgore of Tiburon took the feed-in championship in their respective age brackets yesterday in the Menlo Park Invitational Junior Tennis Championships.

Miss Beatty defeated Valerie Mendoza of Sunnyvale, 6-2, 6-3, in the girls 16 bracket, while Miss Kilgore beat Debbie Cator of Sacramento, 6-2, 6-3, in girls 18.

the first and 10th tees at 8 a.m. today with no more weather problems anticipated.

Graham and Casper both had four birdies but Casper missed a putt as he started on the back nine, taking a bogey on 10.

Despite the bogey, Casper said he was "very happy with the way everything happened. It was a very easy day. I got to relax in the morning."

Both of the third-round leaders lamented poor putting conditions caused by oggy greens.

Rod Funseth and Doug Sanders were another stroke back, followed by a trio at 203 that included 60-year-old veteran Sam Snead, the eight-time GGO victor who said he still hadn't given up hope.

Snead, tied with Mike Hill and George Knudson at 10 under, said Graham was the man to beat and added, "If I can beat Graham, I win the tournament."

Al Geiberger took $3,000 for the day's low round with a 64 Sunday, but that still left him only nine-under for three days, the same as Lee Elder, with both needing a minor miracle to win.

Elder's 68 round Sunday after leading the first round with a 64 and a 72 Friday further battered his already dim hopes of becoming the first black golfer in the Masters.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Canmaker's Stock? It's Time To Sell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are holding 225 shares of Continental Can (NYSE) stock that has dropped more than 20 points in the last several years. What are your views regarding the recovery of this stock? — E.M.

A. The 6 per cent yield is only a partial compensation for the uninspired market action of these shares. Furthermore the outlook remains discouraging both for Continental and the industry. While overcapacity, which has plagued canmakers and reduced profit margins, may gradually respond to cutbacks by the two majors, achieving a supply/demand balance may be a long slow process. Higher tin costs have burdened manufacturers already struggling in a highly competitive pricing climate. A recent hike in the price of tin and a 7 per cent rise in labor cost will probably be passed along to customers. However, the Cost of Living Council is expected to watch such price hikes in view of the rapid rise in food prices.

In 1972, Continental reported a 10 per cent increase in earnings on a 5 per cent rise in sales. The widening of CCC's profit margin apparent in 1972 reflected closing of marginal operations and a boost in linerboard prices. At this juncture, additional margin improvements appear unlikely with plant start-up costs a restrictive factor. Sell.

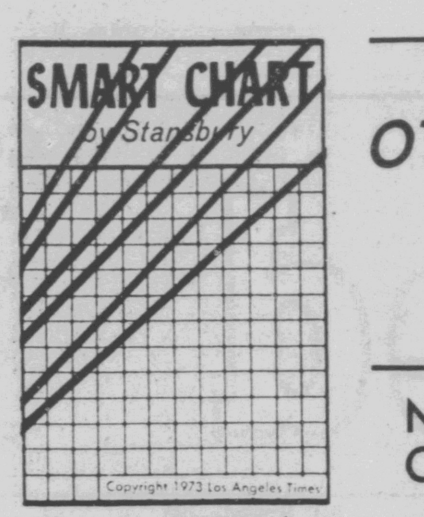
Q. We have some Federal Land Bank bonds which will soon mature. What would be some good corporate bonds to consider for replacement? — L.V.

A. There are a very interesting series of bonds — power bonds — issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority, some of which should fit your requirements. These bonds carry the highest rating, AAA. Another attractive feature is the fact that interest from these bonds, while subject to federal income tax, is exempt from state and local personal property and income tax. Maturity dates on the many TVA issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange range from 1974 to 1997. Coupon rates of 7 per cent to 9¼ per cent yield 7.4 per cent to 8.4 per cent on a current basis and 6.5 per cent to 7.9 per cent when the bonds are held to maturity.

Director Resigns PVO International

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The resignation of Lawrence N. Apple as a director has been announced by PVO International Inc., diversified international food, chemical and agricultural products company.

Apple, former president of PVO, said the demands of his other business commitments preclude him from remaining as a director.



"Are you sure we're keeping inflation within bounds, Chief?"

Stocks Off As Trading Is Listless

Investors still are disappointed President Nixon did not impose more stringent controls on the swelling cost of food, which led the biggest monthly surge in the consumer price index in 22 years last February.

Also, there still is much concern over rising interest rates, and many investors are anxious to see how the proposed two-tier prime lending rate system will work, analysts said.

Continental Oil was heavily traded on the Big Board and continued lower following a drop of 5 ⅝ Friday. The company said Friday's loss stemmed from a forecast by a Wall Street brokerage house that the firm's per share earnings would be lower for the first quarter and year.

Oils headed lower. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the construction ban imposed by a lower court on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Novato Mode O'Day Shop Will Change Hands In Mid-Month

Mode O'Day ladies and children's dress shop at 1417 Grant Avenue in Novato will change hands on April 15.

Frances Anglin of Novato and Rita Della Valle of San Rafael, who have owned it for almost two years, are selling the franchise to Amada (Mrs. Samuel P.) Crivello of Novato.

Alterations will be one of the new services to be added by Mrs. Crivello. She will operate Mode O'Day with the help of her daughters, Terry, Maureen and Trudy.

Mrs. Anglin and Mrs. Della Valle, the present owners, will stage a big open house with frefreshments on April 13 and 14 before turning the store over to the new owner. Mrs. Anglin plans to leave for an extended vacation in the mid-West.

JEANNE HUNT of Nipper & Marchant, Realtors, San Rafael, sold more than a million dollars worth of real estate in one year to become one of the Marin County Board of Realtors' charter members of the Million Dollar Club.

A resident of Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Hunt has been with Nipper & Marchant for seven years.

JAMES P. HENRY of Mill Valley has been named operations officer in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division, San Francisco.

Henry graduated in 1970 from University of San Francisco, joined the bank in 1971, and was assistant operations officer in the Oakland data processing center before the promotion.

Porter

LARRY McDERMOTT of San Anselmo and BOB PORTER of Mill Valley have been named vice presidents of Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown Inc. advertising and public relations firm in San Francisco. James. C. Nelson Jr. of Lucas Valley, executive vice president and creative director, announced the appointments.

McDermott and Porter joined the agency in 1969 as creative group supervisors and were appointed last year as associate creative directors.

MARGUERITE R. TERZICH of Mill Valley retired last week after 26 years with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Her most recent assignment was as correspondent with the dividend division of Metropolitan Life's Pacific Coast head office in San Francisco.

Mrs. Terzich is a director of the Smith Mine and Ditch Co. of Jamestown (Tuolumne County), a family enterprise that produced considerable gold ore in the early days of mining in the Mother Lode.

She is active in the Marin Historical Society and Goldenaires in San Rafael, and is a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin.

CHARLES SUTTER CLARK of Greenbrae has joined the firm of Design Five Associates in Lafayette and will specialize in residential interiors, model homes and all phases of contract design. Clark was formerly with Western Contract Furnishers of Oakland.

DOUG'S AUTO Body and Towing at 45 Duffy Place in San Rafael has moved to 1550 Fourth Street in an old livery stable across the street from R and R Transmission.

Owner Douglas Shaffer, who operated both a body shop and a towing service on Duffy Place, limits his business to towing (no body work) at his new location on Fourth Street.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund, headquartered in Novato, bought Woodside Apartments near Santa Rosa for more than $590,000.

Construction has just begun on the 41-unit development at 841 Russell Avenue, two miles northwest of downtown Santa Rosa. The property was purchased from Camille Enterprises of Santa Rosa. National Real Estate Fund is administered by Capital Planning Securities Co., a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates of 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

LYONS & CARNAHAN textbook publishers and distributors will open its western regional office next week at 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 103, in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

Wayne W. Raley of Novato, vice president of the company's western sales region, said the regional office has been located in Pasadena for years but the company decided to move it to San Rafael because the major educational publishing center is the Bay Area. Lyons & Carnahan, headquartered in Chicago, publishes and sells textbooks to elementary and high schools.

Raley said theSan Rafael office will not deal in retail trade.

Hoey Co. also negotiated leases for the following five companies, all of which are relocating or expanding:

PENN MUTUAL Life Insurance office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael will move by May 1 to 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 307, Northgate Industrial Park.

ALMAR ENTERPRISES advertising firm at 77 Mark Drive, is moving to 117 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael. Almar Enterprises, managed by Allen Tobell, was formerly called The Dollar Saver Advertising.

BUD CLARKE Sheetrock Service at 50 Tiburon Street, No. 24 in San Rafael, has doubled its warehouse space at that location.

CAPITAL PAINTING & Decorating Co. of 50 Belvedere Street in San Rafael will open new quarters at 138-A Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio.

BURT MANUFACTURING Co. at McNear's Point, San Rafael, which makes ceramic equipment, will open new offices at 122 Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park. It will also take additional warehouse space at 130-F Hamilton Drive.

Grand Opening Set For Shopping Center

Park Plaza Shopping Center in Rohnert Park, a full service shopping facility at Highway 101 and Rohnert Park Expressway, will hold its grand opening at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

R. Leonard Garrison of San Rafael, developer of the center, said customer convenience, ease of parking and lack of congestion will be characteristics of Park Plaza.

Tenants include Safeway, T.G. & Y. Family Center (a variety store), Bank of America, Rohnert Park Pharmacy, the Chilling Experience ice cream parlor, Ernie's Wine & Liquor, Hair by Hae Sook, Henry L. Hicks Realtors, Gerry Lombardi's Men's Store, Magic Lantern Photo Center, Plaza One Hour Cleaners, Round Table Pizza, Sis-Con Audio Supply, Smorgas House' Restaurant, U.S. Bakery and Washland Coin Laundry.

Rohnert Park Mayor Arthur N. Roberts, owner of the pharmacy, will stage an official opening of his own Saturday with the appearance of Don Chamberlain of the California Girls talk show on KNEW radio. Roberts said Chamberlain will bring a model along to demonstrate body painting techniques.

Race you to the airport.
SFO
IS IT A BIRD?
HONK HONK

It's an uneven race, we'll admit. If you drive to San Francisco Airport from the Marin heliport, it'll take you at least 45 minutes. On a direct flight, it takes us12. No traffic hassle and no luggage problem. We check the luggage through to your destination.

The price? As little as $8.37 depending on your destination and connecting carrier. Free parking at the heliport.
So race with us. Not against us.
24 flights daily between Marin and SF Airport. (16 flights on Saturday).

PRESTIGE
OPPORTUNITY

Every so often, perhaps only once in a lifetime, an opportunity presents itself to the individual which may never occur again. Frequently, the person who has gained wealth, independence, respect, and security in his community through his business, has done so simply by virtue of being in the right place at the right time, and having at that moment, the common sense and timing to take advantage of his opportunity. How many times have we looked at others around us, seemingly more fortunate in life than we, yet certainly no more able or intelligent, and asked ourselves — why that person? Many times the answer is — being in the right place at the right time, or getting in at the beginning, or making a decision when a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity appears. We have that opportunity to offer to the individual who can meet our requirements. If you have the required minimum investment of $2500, and would like additional information, send your name, address, and phone number to: The Thomas Company, 1400 E. Touhy Ave., Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. Or, call 312-298-7880.

OPPORTUNITY
Every so often, perhaps only once in a lifetime, an opportunity presents itself to the individual which may never occur again. Frequently, the person who has gained wealth, independence, respect, and security in his community through his business, has done so simply by virtue of being in the right place at the right time, and having at that moment, the common sense and timing to take advantage of his opportunity. How many times have we looked at others around us, seemingly more fortunate in life than we, yet certainly no more able or intelligent, and asked ourselves — why that person? Many times the answer is — being in the right place at the right time, or getting in at the beginning, or making a decision when a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity appears. We have that opportunity to offer to the individual who can meet our requirements. If you have the required minimum investment of $2500, and would like additional information, send your name, address, and phone number to: The Thomas Company, 1400 E. Touhy Ave., Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. Or, call 312-298-7880.

NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE OF HEARING IN RE RESOLUTION TO ABANDON A PORTION OF LAUREL GROVE AVENUE IN KENTFIELD, MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, did on the 27th day of March, 1973 pass a resolution declaring its intention to abandon a portion of Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, Marin County, California, more particularly described as Exhibit "A" attached hereto.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that said matter has been set for hearing and will be heard by the Board of Supervisors on the 17th day of April, 1973 at the hour of 1:45 o'clock p.m., of said day, in the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and that all persons interested therein may then appear and show cause, if any they may have, why said portion of Laurel Grove Avenue should not be abandoned.

By order of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, State of California, this 27th day of March, 1973.

GEO. H. GNOSS
County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, State of California

EXHIBIT "A"

COMMENCING at a monument set at the intersection of Fay Drive and Laurel Grove Avenue, as shown on Record of Survey recorded in Book 10 of Surveys at Page 87, Marin County Records; thence from said point of commencement North 74°25'16" West, a distance of 31.40 feet; thence South 15°34'44" West, a distance of 187.25 feet to the true point of beginning of the herein described real property; said true point of beginning is shown on the aforesaid Record of Survey as the most easterly corner of Lot 1 of Kentfield Park (originally shown on the Map of Kentfield Park recorded in Book 2 of Maps at Page 87); thence from said point of beginning South 74°49'16" East, a distance of 3.37 feet; thence South 15°19'44" West, a distance of 57.66 feet; thence on a curve to the right, tangent to the preceding course, with a radius of 38.5 feet, through a central angle of 18°42'14", for an arc length of 12.57 feet; thence North 74°49'16" West, a distance of 1.64 feet to a point in the northwesterly line of Laurel Grove Avenue; thence along said line North 15°34'44" East, a distance of 70 feet to the point of beginning.

The basis of bearings of this description is the same as shown in Record of Survey recorded in Book 10 of Surveys at Page 87, Marin County Records.

PROJECT NO. E-5 CIVIC CENTER TERRACED PARKING LOT REPAIR
MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 P.M., April 9, 1973, for:

Repair of portions of the terraced Parking Lot, at the Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, including installation of a subdrain along the upper wall of the Parking Lot, repair of deteriorated pavement, installation of concrete sidewalk and other related items of work.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 P.M., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Civic Center, Room 315, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party upon request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS LAGOON NO. 1 ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on March 5, 1973 by the Council of the Town of Corte Madera, said Council invites sealed proposals or bids for the replacement and improvement of water control gates, fencing and appurtenances as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 1428 adopted by said Council on September 18, 1972, which resolutions are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Council on March 5, 1973.

Payments will be made in cash by said Town to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor. However, notice is given that a period of 30 days is given to the property owners in which to pay their assessments, and if cash collections are insufficient to meet such monthly estimates, there will be a delay in making such payments until money is received from the sale of bonds issued upon the unpaid assessments.

Notice is hereby given that on March 5, 1973, the Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the Clerk, amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said Town in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the Town.

Contractor shall furnish to Town a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Town Clerk of said Town on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. of the 11th day of April, 1973, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of first publication and posting of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour, and referred to and considered by the Council at its meeting at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on April 16, 1973.

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Town Engineer, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, upon deposit therefor of $5.00, which will not be refunded.

Dated: March 5, 1973

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Babies Cry For Many Reasons Even When Healthy, Normal

Why does a baby cry? The most reasonable answer is that crying represents infant language. It is the only way the little fellow can tell us that he is uncomfortable, wet, hungry, needs to burp, or wants to be cuddled. The exception is the initial cry which fills the lungs with air. It helps the tyke to make the changeover from a parasitic existence where he lives off his mother's bloodstream to his own independent circulation furnished by oxygen in the lungs.

During the first week of life, the tiny air sacs become better aerated every time he cries. The color of the skin changes from a pinkish purple to cherry red and finally to pink. Thereafter, crying can be regarded as the beginning of language from which speech is fashioned.

BABY'S FIRST cries which are shrill and nasal sound like a-a-a and later wa-wa-wa. The next sounds come from the throat and differ form the shrill type of crying. These are comfort sounds; they are more relaxed and deeper in quality than the discomfort sounds. Mothers seem to know the difference and sense quickly what their baby wants.

The infant's cries should be answered within a reasonable length of time. There are occasions when every reason for crying, including illness and pain, is eliminated and the cause remains a mystery. In such instances, remain calm and confident. It is surprising how often a relaxed attitude brings relief.

A wise grandmother once told her daughter that some babies need to cry. "Let him cry when you put him down for the night Then pick him up and love him and you'll see that it works better."

PERHAPS SHE also had reference to those babies who cry at frequent intervals for no apparent reason. They stop temporarily when fed, rocked, jostled, played with, or the diapers are changed. But they tire quickly of the attention and begin to wail loudly. This type of cyclic crying may indicate that they are expressing some inner need to cry or let off steam. At these times no effort to quiet the baby really works. Constant crying, on the other hand, is a signal of poor physical or mental health. In these situations, more skillful care is needed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal.

EGG-SIZED TUMOR

A reader writes: For some time I have had what I think is a fatty tumor on my back near the neck. It is about the size of a large egg, soft to the touch, and enlarging slowly. Should it be removed? I am 83 years old

REPLY

Find out whether your assumption is correct and then decide on treatment. If the lesion actually is a fatty tumor and is not bothersome, let it alone.

CITRUS FRUITS

G. L. writes: I like citrus fruits, but they bother me if I eat them before meals. Do I lose any of the vitamin benefits if I eat them after a meal?

REPLY

No. They do just as much good during or after meals. Vitamin C also is available in tablet form.

EAR INFECTION

F. N. writes: What is otitis media?

REPLY

Nonflyers Draw $75 Million In Flight Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators say that nearly 30,000 military officers are receiving flight pay although they hold nonflying jobs.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., released Sunday the results of a General Accounting Office (GAO) study which showed $75 million in flight pay will be disbursed this year to nonflying personnel such as generals and admirals.

Aspin said the House Appropriations Committee last year voted to eliminate flight pay for colonels and generals unless the Pentagon proposed a new pay program by May 31 of this year. He said the Pentagon's new plan still permits colonels and Navy captains to collect $245 per month in flight pay even though they do not fly.

'Bandstand' Host Sued For Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Dick Clark, 42, whose "American Bandstand" television show has dispensed pop music and dance to teen-agers since the 1950s, is being sued for divorce by his wife of 11 years.

Loretta Clark, 37, filed suit in Superior Court, citing irreconcilable differences and asking for custody of their two children.

Fewer Escaping Education Tax

MOSCOW (UPI) — The number of Moscow Jews receiving permission to emigrate without payment of a so-called education tax dropped sharply last week, Jewish dissident sources said today.

The sources said 10 persons were given exemptions from the tax, compared with 63 the previous week.

Two weeks ago, Soviet sources said authorities have suspended the nine-month-old law requiring emigrants to reimburse the state for their free higher education. Fees under the law ranged as high as $30,000 per person.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Monday, April 2, the 92nd day of 1973 with 273 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

French novelist Emile Zola was born April 2, 1840.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Congress passed legislation authorizing the Mint to coin money, all to be inscribed with the Latin words "E Pluribus Unum" ... a motto meaning "Out of Many, One."

In 1932, Charles Lindbergh left $50,000 in bills in a New York City cemetery in hopes of regaining his kidnapped son. Bruno Hauptmann subsequently was found guilty of kidnapping and murdering the Lindbergh child. He was executed.

In 1954, the International Longshoremen's Union called off a 20-day-old strike on New York's waterfront ... longest dock strike up to then in the city's history.

A thought for the day: American writer Isaac Goldberg said, "Diplomacy is to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way."

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

PROJECT NO. E-5
CIVIC CENTER TERRACED PARKING LOT REPAIR
MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 P.M., April 9, 1973, for:

Repair of portions of the terraced Parking Lot, at the Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, including installation of a subdrain along the upper wall of the Parking Lot, repair of deteriorated pavement, installation of concrete sidewalk and other related items of work.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 P.M., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Civic Center, Room 315, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party upon request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public Works, Room 304, Civic Center.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS
LAGOON NO. 1 ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on March 5, 1973 by the Council of the Town of Corte Madera, said Council invites sealed proposals or bids for the replacement and improvement of water control gates, fencing and appurtenances as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 1428 adopted by said Council on September 18, 1972, which resolutions are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Council on March 5, 1973.

Payments will be made in cash by said Town to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor. However, notice is given that a period of 30 days is given to the property owners in which to pay their assessments, and if cash collections are insufficient to meet such monthly estimates, there will be a delay in making such payments until money is received from the sale of bonds issued upon the unpaid assessments.

Notice is hereby given that on March 5, 1973, the Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the Clerk, amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said Town in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the Town.

Contractor shall furnish to Town a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Town Clerk of said Town on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. of the 11th day of April, 1973, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of first publication and posting of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour, and referred to and considered by the Council at its meeting at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on April 16, 1973.

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Town Engineer, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, upon deposit therefor of $5.00, which will not be refunded.

Dated: March 5, 1973

Brando's Stand Is Termed A Contradiction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The head of an Italian-American organization today sent Marlon Brando a letter saying there was a "blatant contradiction" between his role in "The Godfather" and his support of Indians.

Brando won an Academy Award for his portrayal of an aging Mafia don in the movie, but refused to accept it because, he said, Hollywood over the years had maligned American Indians.

John P. Lomenzo, New York's secretary of state but writing in his capacity as head of a group called "The Columbian Coalition," said, "Frankly, we see a blatant contradiction between your reasoning for refusing the award and your participation in a film that has defamed the Italian-American community.

"Do you really distinguish the movie industry's villification of the American Indian from its treatment of Italian-Americans in "The Godfather'?"

Porpoise Bugging Halt Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) Tuna fishermen have been told by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to stop bugging porpoises.

The agency issued a new regulation Sunday prohibiting anyone from putting a radio transmitter on the back of a porpoise. A spokesman said the action was taken because of reports that some fishermen were using the porpoises to help them track schools of tuna.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Federal Gift Tax Returns Now Due Quarterly, And Not Yearly

Federal gift tax returns are now required quarterly instead of annually.

That's right. If you made gifts within any calendar quarter beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1971, to any one donee of more than $3,000 for the calendar year or a gift of a future interest in property regardless of the value then you must file a tax return on Form 709.

These are individual returns and joint returns are not permitted.

Only individuals are required to file as donors. However, if gifts are made by trusts, estates, partnerships or corporations, the individual beneficiaries, partners or stockholders become donors and may incur a liability under the federal gift tax law.

The return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. You cannot file a return before the end of the calendar quarter unless it is a return of a deceased donor.

Gifts of present interest of less than $3,000 paid in previous quarters must be disclosed in the first quarterly return filed.

The tax must be paid by the donor on or before the 15th day of the second month. There are penalties for delinquent returns and for delinquent payment of tax unless due to reasonable cause. There are penalties for willful failure to file a return on time.

There is a specific exemption of $30,000 for each individual during his lifetime as well as the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee during a calendar year.

However, if a gift is made in excess of the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee, but less than the $30,000 specific exemption, you must file a return anyway even though no tax may be due.

Gift taxes are complicated and you should see your tax advisor if you have made any gifts.

Gift taxes are filed on Form 709 and this form comes complete with the instructions.

If the gift is made anytime between Jan. 1 and March 31, the return is due May 15; between April 1 and June 30, the return is due Aug. 15; between July 1 and Sept. 30, the return is due Nov. 15; between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, the return is due Feb. 15.

The California rules for filing gift tax returns have also been changed and California returns are now due at the same time as the federal returns.

However, almost all of the other California rules are different than the federal so be sure to follow the California instructions separately.

If you have made such a gift anytime and have not filed a gift tax return, you should do so immediately to avoid further interest and penalties.

Sadat In Libya

CAIRO (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat flew to Libya today for talks with Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy and other officials in Tripoli.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Babies Cry For Many Reasons Even When Healthy, Normal

Why does a baby cry? The most reasonable answer is that crying represents infant language. It is the only way the little fellow can tell us that he is uncomfortable, wet, hungry, needs to burp, or wants to be cuddled. The exception is the initial cry which fills the lungs with air. It helps the tyke to make the changeover from a parasitic existence where he lives off his mother's bloodstream to his own independent circulation furnished by oxygen in the lungs.

During the first week of life, the tiny air sacs become better aerated every time he cries. The color of the skin changes from a pinkish purple to cherry red and finally to pink. Thereafter, crying can be regarded as the beginning of language from which speech is fashioned.

BABY'S FIRST cries which are shrill and nasal sound like a-a-a and later wa-wa-wa. The next sounds come from the throat and differ form the shrill type of crying. These are comfort sounds; they are more relaxed and deeper in quality than the discomfort sounds. Mothers seem to know the difference and sense quickly what their baby wants.

The infant's cries should be answered within a reasonable length of time. There are occasions when every reason for crying, including illness and pain, is eliminated and the cause remains a mystery. In such instances, remain calm and confident. It is surprising how often a relaxed attitude brings relief.

A wise grandmother once told her daughter that some babies need to cry. "Let him cry when you put him down for the night Then pick him up and love him and you'll see that it works better."

PERHAPS SHE also had reference to those babies who cry at frequent intervals for no apparent reason. They stop temporarily when fed, rocked, jostled, played with, or the diapers are changed. But they tire quickly of the attention and begin to wail loudly. This type of cyclic crying may indicate that they are expressing some inner need to cry or let off steam. At these times no effort to quiet the baby really works. Constant crying, on the other hand, is a signal of poor physical or mental health. In these situations, more skillful care is needed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal.

EGG-SIZED TUMOR

A reader writes: For some time I have had what I think is a fatty tumor on my back near the neck. It is about the size of a large egg, soft to the touch, and enlarging slowly. Should it be removed? I am 83 years old

REPLY

Find out whether your assumption is correct and then decide on treatment. If the lesion actually is a fatty tumor and is not bothersome, let it alone.

CITRUS FRUITS

G. L. writes: I like citrus fruits, but they bother me if I eat them before meals. Do I lose any of the vitamin benefits if I eat them after a meal?

REPLY

No. They do just as much good during or after meals. Vitamin C also is available in tablet form.

EAR INFECTION

F. N. writes: What is otitis media?

REPLY

Nonflyers Draw $75 Million In Flight Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators say that nearly 30,000 military officers are receiving flight pay although they hold nonflying jobs.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., released Sunday the results of a General Accounting Office (GAO) study which showed $75 million in flight pay will be disbursed this year to nonflying personnel such as generals and admirals.

Aspin said the House Appropriations Committee last year voted to eliminate flight pay for colonels and generals unless the Pentagon proposed a new pay program by May 31 of this year. He said the Pentagon's new plan still permits colonels and Navy captains to collect $245 per month in flight pay even though they do not fly.

'Bandstand' Host Sued For Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Dick Clark, 42, whose "American Bandstand" television show has dispensed pop music and dance to teen-agers since the 1950s, is being sued for divorce by his wife of 11 years.

Loretta Clark, 37, filed suit in Superior Court, citing irreconcilable differences and asking for custody of their two children.

Fewer Escaping Education Tax

MOSCOW (UPI) — The number of Moscow Jews receiving permission to emigrate without payment of a so-called education tax dropped sharply last week, Jewish dissident sources said today.

The sources said 10 persons were given exemptions from the tax, compared with 63 the previous week.

Two weeks ago, Soviet sources said authorities have suspended the nine-month-old law requiring emigrants to reimburse the state for their free higher education. Fees under the law ranged as high as $30,000 per person.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Monday, April 2, the 92nd day of 1973 with 273 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

French novelist Emile Zola was born April 2, 1840.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Congress passed legislation authorizing the Mint to coin money, all to be inscribed with the Latin words "E Pluribus Unum" ... a motto meaning "Out of Many, One."

In 1932, Charles Lindbergh left $50,000 in bills in a New York City cemetery in hopes of regaining his kidnapped son. Bruno Hauptmann subsequently was found guilty of kidnapping and murdering the Lindbergh child. He was executed.

In 1954, the International Longshoremen's Union called off a 20-day-old strike on New York's waterfront ... longest dock strike up to then in the city's history.

A thought for the day: American writer Isaac Goldberg said, "Diplomacy is to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way."

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Only One POW Due On U.S. Soil

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

All but one of America's known prisoners of war were back in America today and the sole exception was free and preparing to go home.

The last group of former prisoners arrived Sunday at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where 6,500 persons—the largest crowd in the short history of "Operation Homecoming" — cheered.

The last ex-POW off the C141 jet was Air Force Capt. Frank Lewis, 28, of Boston, whose wife, Wynne, and daughter, Kelly, waited at the end of a red, white and blue welcome mat.

Air Force Lt. Col. Louis H. Bernasconi, Northridge, Calif., spoke for the other men. "God bless each and every one of you. God bless our commander-in-chief, President Nixon. God bless these United States of America," he said.

From the crowd came an echo of voices singing "God Bless America."

The last prisoner released and the last known to have been held by the Communists was Army Capt. Robert T. White of Newport News, Va.

He was turned over to the Americans by the Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta Sunday, flown to Saigon and then to Clark Air Base in the Philippines. On hand at Clark to greet him was his wife, Judith.

White was the 596th prisoner of war the Communists have freed. The total included 564 American military men, 24 American civilians, two Thais, two Filipinos, two Canadians and two West Germans.

Until last Wednesday, it was not known that White was held prisoner. His release has raised faint hopes that some of the 1,300 Americans still listed as missing in action may be alive, especially in Laos. Official sources in Vientianne believe as many as 200 of the 300 U.S. pilots shot down over Laos may have survived their crashes.

The Operation Homecoming machinery7at Clark is being cut back to a skeleton staff this week, but Gen. Lt. William G. Moore Jr., the commander of the reception center, said, "We have the capability of reassembling on very short notice the entire homecoming apparatus if we again need it."

Other released POWs went home, or close to home, Sunday for reunions with their relatives.

Air Force Lt. Col. William J. Breckner, 39, Columbus, Ohio, was greeted by his wife, Cheryl, son William, 5, daughter Kristen, 3, and his father and stepmother at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

"America is the greatest place on earth and home8is the greatest place in America," he said. "For us, just being able to come home is the greatest thrill we've ever had."

Maj. Fernando Alexander of Chicopee, Mass., ran into the arms of his wife, Mildred, at the air force base in Chicopee.

"Today we traveled almost halfway around the world. Thank God it was all the way home," Alexander said.

Residents of Rainier, Ore., tured out to greet Sgt. 1.C. Dennis Thompson, 30.

"We came back home the way we wanted to come back, in honor," Thompson said. "I would like you to remember the people who came back mentally and physically crippled as a result of their captivity, and those who will not be back at all."

U.S. Parks Caretaker Of Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Alcatraz Island was turned over to the National Park Service Sunday and a spokesman said he was "open to suggestions" on what to do with the former federal prison.

NPS took over caretaking duties of the "rock" in the middle of San Francisco Bay from the General Services Administration. The park service apparently hopes to make the abandoned, crumbling island structures into a tourist attraction.

"We're trying to figure out how to clean up Alcatraz, make it safe for tourists and get public transportation to and from," said Dave Ames, superintendent of the Fort Point Historical Site.

GSA was assigned responsibility for the island after a year and a half Indian takeover ended in 1970. There were dozens of rejected suggestions on what to do with Alcatraz, including one that it be turned into a gambling spa.

Kentfield Hopefuls To Talk Tomorrow

A candidates night for contenders in the Kentfield School District board race will be held in the multipurpose room of Kent School tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Candidates Joan Brownstein, Bruce Koppe, Nil Park, Gloria Riccardi and Winifred Setrakian will speak. The event is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations of Kent, Wolfe Grade and Greenbrae schools.

Shipyard Seeks To Stop Boozing

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Security guards at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics are searching workers' lunchboxes to halt any smuggling of alcoholic beverages into the shipyard.

2 GIs Grab Guardbox, Surrender

SEOUL (UPI) — Two heavily armed U.S. Army soldiers barricaded themselves inside a Korean police guardbox for more than nine hours today, demanding honorable discharges from the Army, immunity from prosecution and transportation out of Korea.

The soldiers, Spec. 5 Michael McDonald, 25, of Oakland, Calif. and PFC Terry Hergert, 22, of St. Johns, Wash. surrendered to U.S. officials about 7:45 p.m. (5:45 a.m. EST) after two buddies convinced them to give up. McDonald and Hergert took a small arsenal inside the police guardbox, including at least three light machine guns, two shotguns, two M16 rifles, two grenade launchers, three cases of grenades and a large store of ammunition.

Witnesses said they also had a supply of food.

"They could have filled a delivery van," a witness said.

Police boxes are detached sentry boxes or one-room offices where a policeman is on duty many hours a day, sometimes continuously. They are located in almost every neighborhood in Japanese and Korean cities, where most people don't have telephones and might need to reach a policeman quickly to report trouble.

Military spokesmen said the two gave up peacefully after two friends, PFCs Johnnie A. Dunn and Steven Zimmerman, pleaded with them to drop their demands and return to military control.

Their surrender ended a day of tense confrontation between the two soldiers and nearly 100 American and South Korean troops and policemen on Namsoan Hill in Seoul.

Army spokesmen said no charges were filed immediately against the two soldiers.

They were stationed at Camp Humphreys, Pyongtaek, Korea, 35 miles south of Seoul.

The spokesman said three Korean policemen and five civilians also spent the day in the police box, but he said the Koreans were not held hostage.

Gen. D. V. Bennett, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Korea, came to the hill, but did not talk to the two soldiers.

According to Korean police sources, McDonald and Hergert came to the police box at about 8:30 A.M. in an army truck loaded with the weapons. They stayed at the police box along with the unsuspecting three policemen for about two hours, and then moved to take control of the place, the sources said.

Kosygin Visit

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrived in sunny weather today to start an official five-day visit that Swedish officials described as "routine."

HERE'S HEALTH!

By JUNE EMBURY

With admiration and gratitude we read the I.J. editorial headed "Consumer Protection? Yes, But . . ." on March 21st. This discusses a new set of proposed regulations announced by the Food and Drug Administration. Admittedly, the objective view expressed in the I.J., questioning drastic restrictions of vitamin supplements and placing them in the same category as "dangerous drugs", is appreciated by individuals whose livelihood would suffer if the new laws go into effect.

But what's far more significant is that such objectivity benefits everyone by emphasizing that while the "FDA definitely is consumer-oriented, it should be careful not to take away consumers' rights on the pretense of consumer protection." We believe that legislators in Washington, D.C., receiving copies of the editorial, will be profoundly impressed too. Bouquets to our I.J.

The all new, all-around Honda CIVIC

Great in town or on the open road. You'll Love it! So will your Pocketbook.

Sedan
$2225.40

A JOY IN TRAFFIC. A BREEZE TO PARK.

Large enough to carry 4 adults comfortably, with exterior dimensions small enough to squeeze into 'Impossible' parking spaces.

Front wheel drive and a short turning radius make downtown driving a snap. The four-cylinder, four stroke overhead cam engine gives that extra pep for quick acceleration.

On the highway, handling and stability are better than many sports cars. Four wheel, fully independent, coil springs smooth out those rough roads. Economical? You Bet! Surprisingly low gas consumption and low-cost maintenance are just two ways you'll save.

Hatchback
$2325.40

PRACTICALITY, STYLE AND ECONOMY IN ONE PACKAGE.

Designed for the "on-the-go" set, the Hatchback's rear window flips up, rear seat folds down and you've got MORE room than normally offered in a standard sedan.

Powered by water-cooled, four stroke overhead cam engine, Hatchback has 4-wheel independent suspension, wide track and a long wheelbase giving you the stability, comfort and sports car-like handling. Civic Hatchback stacks up many MORE miles per gallon than most sports cars, stays away from expensive repair shops, and, best of all isn't priced anywhere near a sports car.

Come in today. Get acquainted with CIVIC.

They are: Today, 8 p.m. coffee social at the home of Dr. Paul Davidson, 134 Linden Lane; tomorrow, 10 a.m. home of Dr. Nathan Becker, 17 Coast Oak Way; 8 p.m., home of Mrs. John McInnis, 36 Dunfries Terrace; Wednesday, 10 a.m., Dr. John Michael home, 124 Surrey Street, and Thursday, 10 a.m. at the John Bertone home, 93 Crestwood Drive.

Brando's Stand Is Termed A Contradiction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The head of an Italian-American organization today sent Marlon Brando a letter saying there was a "blatant contradiction" between his role in "The Godfather" and his support of Indians.

Brando won an Academy Award for his portrayal of an aging Mafia don in the movie, but refused to accept it because, he said, Hollywood over the years had maligned American Indians.

John P. Lomenzo, New York's secretary of state but writing in his capacity as head of a group called "The Columbian Coalition," said, "Frankly, we see a blatant contradiction between your reasoning for refusing the award and your participation in a film that has defamed the Italian-American community.

"Do you really distinguish the movie industry's villification of the American Indian from its treatment of Italian-Americans in "The Godfather'?"

Porpoise Bugging Halt Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) Tuna fishermen have been told by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to stop bugging porpoises.

The agency issued a new regulation Sunday prohibiting anyone from putting a radio transmitter on the back of a porpoise. A spokesman said the action was taken because of reports that some fishermen were using the porpoises to help them track schools of tuna.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Federal Gift Tax Returns Now Due Quarterly, And Not Yearly

Federal gift tax returns are now required quarterly instead of annually.

That's right. If you made gifts within any calendar quarter beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1971, to any one donee of more than $3,000 for the calendar year or a gift of a future interest in property regardless of the value then you must file a tax return on Form 709.

These are individual returns and joint returns are not permitted.

Only individuals are required to file as donors. However, if gifts are made by trusts, estates, partnerships or corporations, the individual beneficiaries, partners or stockholders become donors and may incur a liability under the federal gift tax law.

The return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. You cannot file a return before the end of the calendar quarter unless it is a return of a deceased donor.

Gifts of present interest of less than $3,000 paid in previous quarters must be disclosed in the first quarterly return filed.

The tax must be paid by the donor on or before the 15th day of the second month. There are penalties for delinquent returns and for delinquent payment of tax unless due to reasonable cause. There are penalties for willful failure to file a return on time.

There is a specific exemption of $30,000 for each individual during his lifetime as well as the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee during a calendar year.

However, if a gift is made in excess of the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee, but less than the $30,000 specific exemption, you must file a return anyway even though no tax may be due.

Gift taxes are complicated and you should see your tax advisor if you have made any gifts.

Gift taxes are filed on Form 709 and this form comes complete with the instructions.

If the gift is made anytime between Jan. 1 and March 31, the return is due May 15; between April 1 and June 30, the return is due Aug. 15; between July 1 and Sept. 30, the return is due Nov. 15; between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, the return is due Feb. 15.

The California rules for filing gift tax returns have also been changed and California returns are now due at the same time as the federal returns.

However, almost all of the other California rules are different than the federal so be sure to follow the California instructions separately.

If you have made such a gift anytime and have not filed a gift tax return, you should do so immediately to avoid further interest and penalties.

Only One POW Due On U.S. Soil

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

All but one of America's known prisoners of war were back in America today and the sole exception was free and preparing to go home.

The last group of former prisoners arrived Sunday at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where 6,500 persons—the largest crowd in the short history of "Operation Homecoming" — cheered.

The last ex-POW off the C141 jet was Air Force Capt. Frank Lewis, 28, of Boston, whose wife, Wynne, and daughter, Kelly, waited at the end of a red, white and blue welcome mat.

Air Force Lt. Col. Louis H. Bernasconi, Northridge, Calif., spoke for the other men. "God bless each and every one of you. God bless our commander-in-chief, President Nixon. God bless these United States of America," he said.

From the crowd came an echo of voices singing "God Bless America."

The last prisoner released and the last known to have been held by the Communists was Army Capt. Robert T. White of Newport News, Va.

He was turned over to the Americans by the Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta Sunday, flown to Saigon and then to Clark Air Base in the Philippines. On hand at Clark to greet him was his wife, Judith.

White was the 596th prisoner of war the Communists have freed. The total included 564 American military men, 24 American civilians, two Thais, two Filipinos, two Canadians and two West Germans.

Until last Wednesday, it was not known that White was held prisoner. His release has raised faint hopes that some of the 1,300 Americans still listed as missing in action may be alive, especially in Laos. Official sources in Vientianne believe as many as 200 of the 300 U.S. pilots shot down over Laos may have survived their crashes.

The Operation Homecoming machinery7at Clark is being cut back to a skeleton staff this week, but Gen. Lt. William G. Moore Jr., the commander of the reception center, said, "We have the capability of reassembling on very short notice the entire homecoming apparatus if we again need it."

Other released POWs went home, or close to home, Sunday for reunions with their relatives.

Air Force Lt. Col. William J. Breckner, 39, Columbus, Ohio, was greeted by his wife, Cheryl, son William, 5, daughter Kristen, 3, and his father and stepmother at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

"America is the greatest place on earth and home8is the greatest place in America," he said. "For us, just being able to come home is the greatest thrill we've ever had."

Maj. Fernando Alexander of Chicopee, Mass., ran into the arms of his wife, Mildred, at the air force base in Chicopee.

"Today we traveled almost halfway around the world. Thank God it was all the way home," Alexander said.

Residents of Rainier, Ore., tured out to greet Sgt. 1.C. Dennis Thompson, 30.

"We came back home the way we wanted to come back, in honor," Thompson said. "I would like you to remember the people who came back mentally and physically crippled as a result of their captivity, and those who will not be back at all."

U.S. Parks Caretaker Of Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Alcatraz Island was turned over to the National Park Service Sunday and a spokesman said he was "open to suggestions" on what to do with the former federal prison.

NPS took over caretaking duties of the "rock" in the middle of San Francisco Bay from the General Services Administration. The park service apparently hopes to make the abandoned, crumbling island structures into a tourist attraction.

"We're trying to figure out how to clean up Alcatraz, make it safe for tourists and get public transportation to and from," said Dave Ames, superintendent of the Fort Point Historical Site.

GSA was assigned responsibility for the island after a year and a half Indian takeover ended in 1970. There were dozens of rejected suggestions on what to do with Alcatraz, including one that it be turned into a gambling spa.

Kentfield Hopefuls To Talk Tomorrow

A candidates night for contenders in the Kentfield School District board race will be held in the multipurpose room of Kent School tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Candidates Joan Brownstein, Bruce Koppe, Nil Park, Gloria Riccardi and Winifred Setrakian will speak. The event is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations of Kent, Wolfe Grade and Greenbrae schools.

Over 30 Years Experience

HERE'S HEALTH!

By JUNE EMBURY

With admiration and gratitude we read the I.J. editorial headed "Consumer Protection? Yes, But . . ." on March 21st. This discusses a new set of proposed regulations announced by the Food and Drug Administration. Admittedly, the objective view expressed in the I.J., questioning drastic restrictions of vitamin supplements and placing them in the same category as "dangerous drugs", is appreciated by individuals whose livelihood would suffer if the new laws go into effect.

But what's far more significant is that such objectivity benefits everyone by emphasizing that while the "FDA definitely is consumer-oriented, it should be careful not to take away consumers' rights on the pretense of consumer protection." We believe that legislators in Washington, D.C., receiving copies of the editorial, will be profoundly impressed too. Bouquets to our I.J.

Shipyard Seeks To Stop Boozing

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Security guards at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics are searching workers' lunchboxes to halt any smuggling of alcoholic beverages into the shipyard.

2 GIs Grab Guardbox, Surrender

SEOUL (UPI) — Two heavily armed U.S. Army soldiers barricaded themselves inside a Korean police guardbox for more than nine hours today, demanding honorable discharges from the Army, immunity from prosecution and transportation out of Korea.

The soldiers, Spec. 5 Michael McDonald, 25, of Oakland, Calif. and PFC Terry Hergert, 22, of St. Johns, Wash. surrendered to U.S. officials about 7:45 p.m. (5:45 a.m. EST) after two buddies convinced them to give up. McDonald and Hergert took a small arsenal inside the police guardbox, including at least three light machine guns, two shotguns, two M16 rifles, two grenade launchers, three cases of grenades and a large store of ammunition.

Witnesses said they also had a supply of food.

"They could have filled a delivery van," a witness said.

Police boxes are detached sentry boxes or one-room offices where a policeman is on duty many hours a day, sometimes continuously. They are located in almost every neighborhood in Japanese and Korean cities, where most people don't have telephones and might need to reach a policeman quickly to report trouble.

Military spokesmen said the two gave up peacefully after two friends, PFCs Johnnie A. Dunn and Steven Zimmerman, pleaded with them to drop their demands and return to military control.

Their surrender ended a day of tense confrontation between the two soldiers and nearly 100 American and South Korean troops and policemen on Namsoan Hill in Seoul.

Army spokesmen said no charges were filed immediately against the two soldiers.

They were stationed at Camp Humphreys, Pyongtaek, Korea, 35 miles south of Seoul.

The spokesman said three Korean policemen and five civilians also spent the day in the police box, but he said the Koreans were not held hostage.

Gen. D. V. Bennett, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Korea, came to the hill, but did not talk to the two soldiers.

According to Korean police sources, McDonald and Hergert came to the police box at about 8:30 A.M. in an army truck loaded with the weapons. They stayed at the police box along with the unsuspecting three policemen for about two hours, and then moved to take control of the place, the sources said.

No shots were fired during the confrontation, U.S. military officials said.

The all new, all-around Honda CIVIC

Great in town or on the open road. You'll Love it! So will your Pocketbook.

Sedan
$2225 40

A JOY IN TRAFFIC. A BREEZE TO PARK.

Large enough to carry 4 adults comfortably, with exterior dimensions small enough to squeeze into 'Impossible' parking spaces.

Front wheel drive and a short turning radius make downtown driving a snap. The four-cylinder, four stroke overhead cam engine gives that extra pep for quick acceleration.

On the highway, handling and stability are better than many sports cars. Four wheel, fully independent, coil springs smooth out those rough roads. Economical? You Bet! Surprisingly low gas consumption and low-cost maintenance are just two ways you'll save.

Hatchback
$2325 40

PRACTICALITY, STYLE AND ECONOMY IN ONE PACKAGE.

Designed for the "on-the-go" set, the Hatchback's rear window flips up, rear seat folds down and you've got MORE room than normally offered in a standard sedan.

Powered by water-cooled, four stroke overhead cam engine, Hatchback has 4-wheel independent suspension, wide track and a long wheelbase giving you the stability, comfort and sports car-like handling. Civic Hatchback stacks up many MORE miles per gallon than most sports cars, stays away from expensive repair shops, and, best of all isn't priced anywhere near a sports car.

Come in today. Get acquainted with CIVIC.

Alaskan Pipeline Ban Upheld By High Court

Ruling Said Victory Of Conservationists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservationist groups won a major legal victory today when the Supreme Court refused to disturb a lower court ruling blocking construction of the controversial, multi-million dollar Alaskan oil pipeline.

Without comment, the Court rejected an appeal by the government, the state of Alaska and the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. from a U.S. Court of Appeals decision prohibiting the Interior Department from issuing a permit for the proposed 789-mile pipeline.

The Feb. 9 appeals court ruling held that the width of the right-of-way for the pipeline exceeded the 50-foot limit set in a 1920 federal law.

The Alyeska firm, formed by oil companies to build the pipeline, had asked for and obtained from the Interior Department a right of way far exceeding the 50-foot width.

The right of way, for which the department allotted additional land through special use permits, would have been nearly 200 feet wide in some areas.

The company said the additional right-of-way was needed for access to the pipeline and because of special construction requirements made necessary by the Arctic nature of the terrain.

The Senate has several bills pending which would in effect reverse the court actions.

One by Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of the Senate Interior Committee, would amend the 1920 act to permit the Interior Secretary to grant wider rights-of-way.

Supporters of the legislation say changes —which would apply to canals, roads and power lines as well — are needed because requirements for such facilities have changed markedly since the law was enacted more than 50 years ago.

Alyeska, the federal government and state authorities argued the pipeline was essential to help the United States cope with the energy crisis and to reduce reliance on oil imports from foreign producers.

The proponents of the pipeline also said the project would help reduce the present balance of payments deficit being incurred.

In other major actions the Court:

—Refused to hear Pennsylvania's arguments that procedures for imposing the death penalty in the state were constitutional.

—Agreed to review next term a ruling by a three-judge federal panel in Chicago that the federal government has been using an unconstitutional standard for dismissing employes over the past 60 years.

—Accepted for decision next term a dispute over whether an Illinois law restricting the right of voters to cast cross-over ballots in primary elections is constitutional.

—Let stand without comment the ruling of a lower court which refused to consider claims that the Vietnam war was unconstitutional.

The Alaskan pipeline has been a major target of ecology groups.

Opponents of the project had urged the Supreme Court against involving itself in the dispute until Congress had looked into the situation. Several bills are now under consideration.

The chief opponents are the Wilderness Society, the Environmental Defense Fund, Inc., and Friends of the Earth. They told the Court sufficient attention has not been given to routing both oil and gas through Canada.

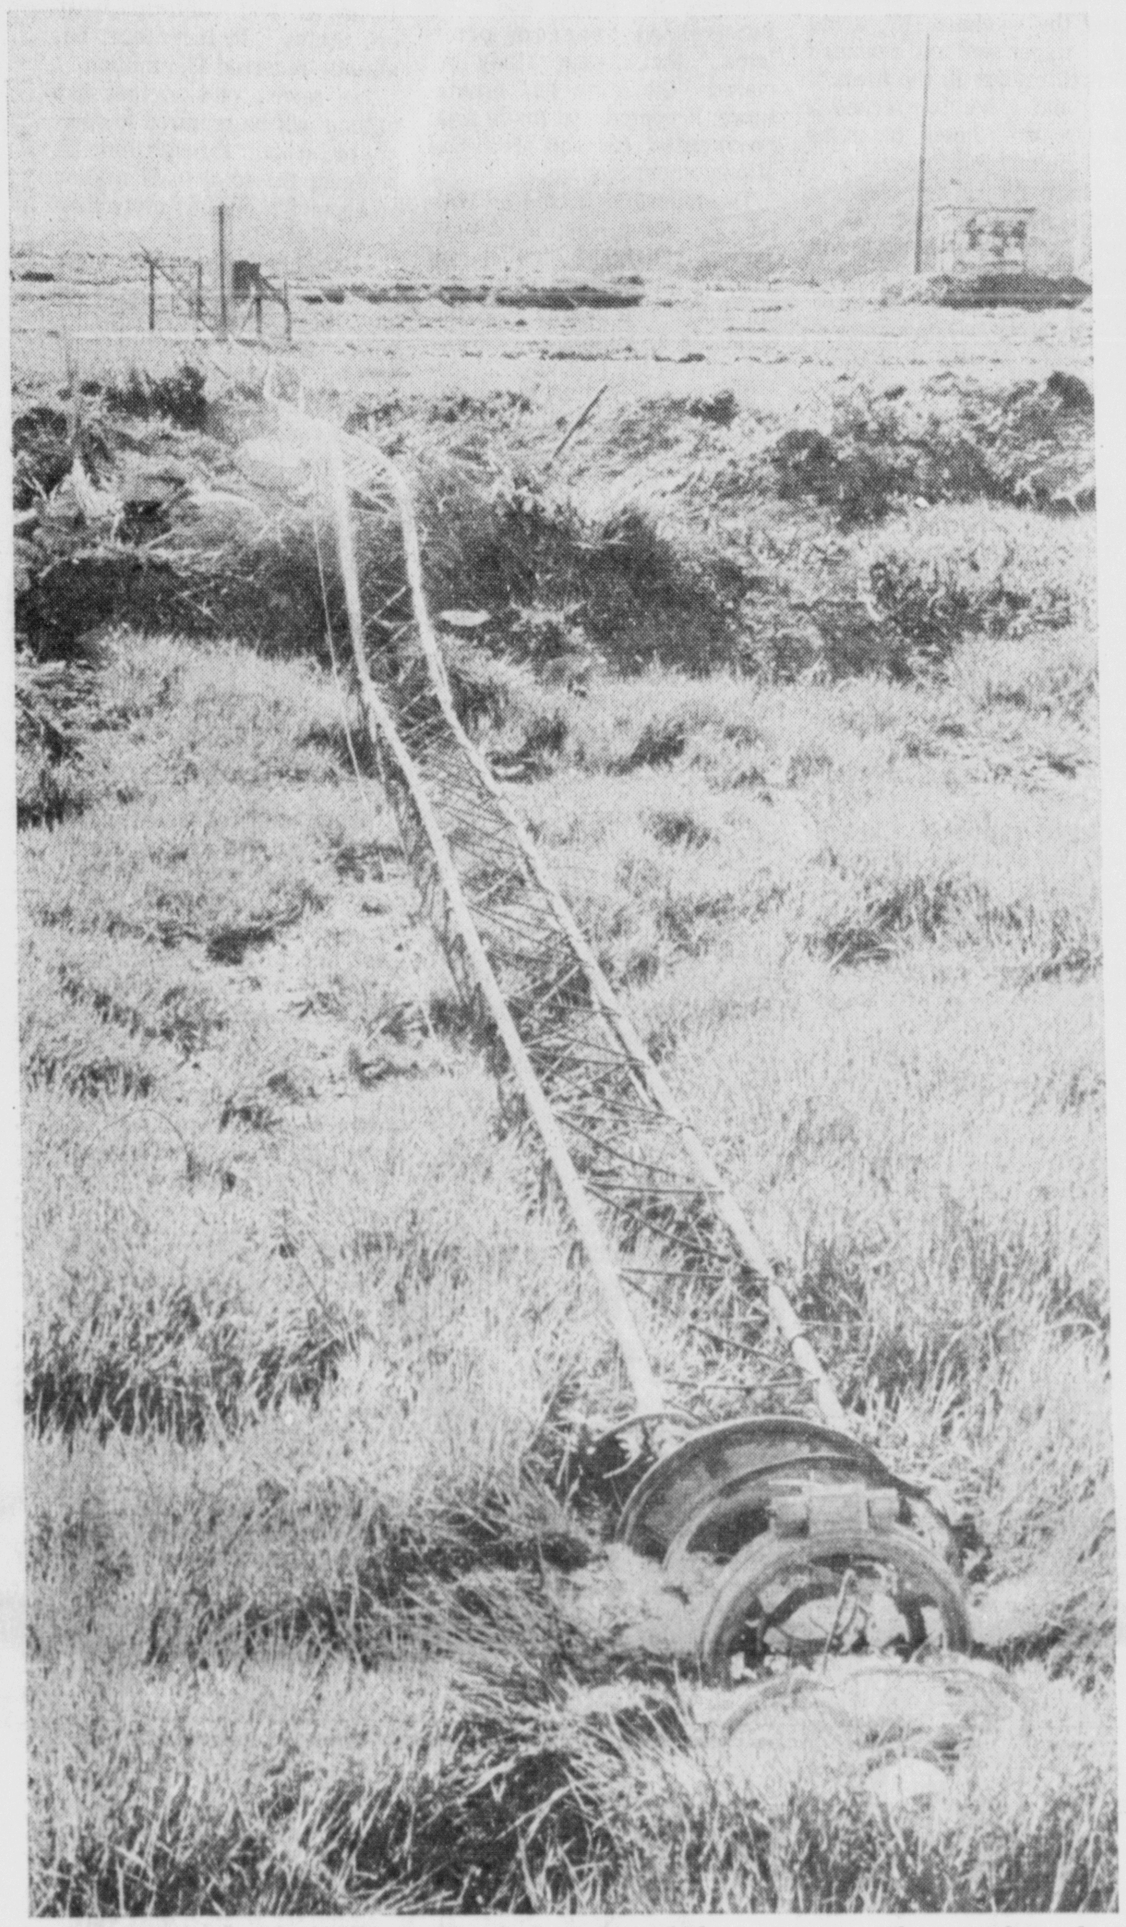
Under the plan now proposed, hot crude oil would be piped from the Arctic north slope to Alaska's southern port of Valdez.

The oil industry insists that the pipeline is needed to bring oil from Alaska's northern area to the southern part of the state.

Opponents predicted fouling of Pacific waters along the West Coast and serious damage to the primitive Alaskan wilderness. They contended that the oil in any event is needed more in the midwest and east, which would be the primary market under the Canadian plan.

The appeals court did not decide whether the environmental impact statement issued by the Interior Department satisfied the requirements of federal law. The Justice Department, appealing on Interior's behalf, urged the Court to take up this matter. But the environmental groups said the issue is not ripe for the court's attention.

They said many of the problems may be solved by Congress if the Court would refuse to act.



TOPPED — Radio station KTIM's 200-foot AM transmission tower, wrecked by vandals Saturday night, lies useless in a field north of the Marin Civic Center. Vandals, apparently equipped with tools, released a guy wire and the tower toppled over, sheriff's officers said. A temporary antenna was being erected today.

Vandals Topple KTIM's Tower; $1,000 Reward Is Offered

Vandals who apparently came equipped with tools Saturday night toppled KTIM's 200-foot AM tower on the Silveira Ranch property, north of the Marin County Civic Center.

Crews worked yesterday to erect a temporary antenna, but the station's AM transmission was working only intermittently today, according to station manager Robert W. Dinsmore.

Sheriff's officers said the damage was discovered at 7:30 a.m. yesterday, when Richard Marshall, the station's chief engineer, found the tower knocked down.

Deputy Alfred B. Curry said that at least two persons must have been involved in the damage. He said a step-ladder had been propped against the base of a cement block to which a guy wire holding the tower was attached.

The vandals had loosened six turnbuckles on a guywire and with that loose, the wind blew the tower over, Curry said.

He said the top half of the tower appeared badly damaged.

Dinsmore said both he and sheriff's officers believed the vandals had planned the destruction.

A $1,000 "Secret Witness" award for information leading to the vandals who wrecked the KTIM-AM transmission tower was offered today by the Independent-Journal.

Anyone having information as to the culprits may write Secret Witness, P. O. Box 330, San Rafael 94902, giving the information. The communication should not be signed, but the writer should put a five-digit number in each lower corner of the page. He should tear off and keep one corner with the number. If the information leads to arrest and conviction, the reward will be paid upon presentation of the number matching that on the letter. The informant need never disclose his name.

Meat Buyers In Marin Show No Strong Trend

Marin meat shoppers — as a national meat boycott got under way — created a varied pattern of buying during the weekend, stocking up in some cases, buying normally in others and below normal at some markets.

In Southern Sonoma, most supermarkets reported a decline in meat sales yesterday and predicted the trend will last for at least a week.

Albertson's food store in Petaluma reported a 4 per cent drop in meat sales yesterday, although Friday and Saturday sales were described as better than the usual first of the, month business.

The Lucky food store, Petaluma, also reported a percentage decline in sales, but said sales in dollars were higher on average because of the higher meat prices. Saturday sales were reported higher than normal, with shoppers buying mainly hamburger and cheaper cuts of meat.

The smaller Purity food store in Petaluma said sales were nearly normal yesterday with receipts showing only a $25 decline over last Sunday.

Butchers, bracing for the meat boycott week, gave varying weekend sales reports in a random check of markets this morning.

At Byrnes Fine Foods, 735 College Avenue, Kentfield, Berne De Gray said "They

ITT Head Admits CIA Fund Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — ITT President Harold S. Geneen acknowledged today he offered to contribute funds to the CIA to support the opponent of Marxist Salvador Allende in Chile's 1970 presidential election.

Geneen told Senate investigators, however, that "the subject was obviously dropped" and insisted that ITT never contributed money "to any person or to any agency of any government to block the election of Dr. Allende."

A Central Intelligence Agency official, William V. Broe, testified last week that Geneen offered to help finance a block Allende effort by contributing to Allende's No. 1 opponent. Broe said the CIA rejected the offer.

Geneen testified "I understand Mr. Broe recalls that I raised a question whether a contribution could be made through the agency to support a democratic candidate. He says he said 'no.'

"I don't recall this part of the conversation, but it is a matter I might well have raised in view of my concerns," Geneen said.

"Since I have no recollection to the contrary, I accept it. In any event, the subject was obviously dropped and I did nothing further about it."

Geneen insisted that "ITT did not take any steps to block the election of Salvador Allende as President of Chile."

He said, "all that ITT did was to present its views, concerns and ideas to various departments of the U.S. government. This is not only its right, but also its obligation."

"The right is a very important constitutional right, and I would hope that this committee would agree that it is not wrong for a citizen to try to approach government officials to discuss with them his problems and concerns, and to raise possible solutions consistent with government policies," Geneen said.

"In turn, the obligation to so petition the government arises because the management of any company has a direct obligation to the shareholders and to the employes to attempt to protect their interests."

Geneen said that a July 16, 1970, meeting he had with Broe, then chief of clandestine operations for the Central Intelligence Agency for Latin America, was arranged by John McCone, former CIA director who now is an ITT director.

Bore testified last week Geneen wanted the funds channelled through the CIA to Jorge E. Alessandri, the chief opponent of Allende. ITT officials testified the funds were intended for low cost housing and other social projects in hopes Allende would be dissuaded from nationalizing ITT properties.

The CIA refused Geneen's offer, but later contacted ITT officials about ways to disrupt the Chilean economy before Allende took office, according to Broe and documents in possession of the Senate investigators.

ITT officials have testified that they rejected the plan as unworkable.

Reports from Santiago said that Allende has suspended important talks on outstanding bilateral problems with U.S. officials as a result of developments in the two weeks of hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on multinational corporations.

Attributed to "advisers close to the President," the reports said Allende is convinced that the U.S. government, along with ITT, attempted to prevent his election in 1970.

NIXON GIVES THIEU WARM WELCOME

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Nixon welcomed South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu to the Western White House today to extend assurances of continued American support.

As a U.S. military helicopter brought Thieu to the oceanside Nixon compound following a flight from Los Angeles, the two men greeted each other warmly and walked down a long red carpet to a reviewing stand. There was a 21-gun salute.

The Marine band from Washington and a sizeable Marine detachment from nearby Camp Pendleton — the men wearing dress blues — were drawn up at attention to provide full military honors.

Senator Says No To Nixon's Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate's Special Watergate committee, rejected today a White House offer to let presidential aides confer informally with the committee rather than under oath.

They are not "nobility and royalty" and should testify openly like other people, Ervin said.

Ervin said that he favored proceeding with testimony of other available witnesses in the investigation of the 1972 bugging of the Democratic national headquarters and then issuing subpoenas for White House aides if they continue to refuse to appear formally.

That could lead to a direct confrontation between Congress and the White House over presidential use of the doctrine of executive privilege under which President Nixon has refused to permit formal testimony by present and former aides. Nixon has said he would be willing to defend the policy in the courts.

Ervin renewed his threat to seek arrest for contempt of anyone who refuses to cooperate with the committee.

"If all the allegations (about Watergate) are true, we have to consider this was an assault on the integrity of the process by which the President of the United States is chosen," Ervin said.

"Every person —be he Republican or Democrat or mugwump —should cooperate with the committee to try to determine the truth of these allegations."

He said he felt the White House refusal to let aides testify was a "terrible disservice to the high office of the presidency."

At a Capitol Hill news conference, Ervin, a former North Carolina state Supreme Court judge, quoted Shakespeare, the Bible, a hymn, a poem and various Supreme Court decisions in insisting that White House aides testify formally.

"I say no most emphatically," he said when asked if he would go along with the White House position that presidential aides should testify before a federal grand jury and might speak informally with the Senate committee.

"I am not willing to treat a White House aide differently or elevate him to some position above the great mass of the American people," Ervin said. He added, that they are not "royalty or nobility that exempts them" from such testimony.

Nixon Aides Opposed To Stiffer Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's top economic advisers told Congress today they did not feel it was necessary to further stiffen economic controls and predicted anew that the food price spiral would level off later in the year.

Meeting in an atmosphere of tension with the House Banking Committee considering economic controls, the top committee spokesman also said unjustified rent increases were an isolated local problem and that control of interest rates would distort the flow of credit and stunt business growth.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council testified during the final day of hearings before the committee begins drawing up legislation.

The measure likely will be stronger than the Phase III program, which removed direct controls on most of the economy except for those areas considered sore points, such as health and construction. The administration has since placed forms of control on the petroleum and food industries.

But Shultz testified that if Congress passed strong mandatory wage-price controls and price rollbacks, he would not be surprised if Nixon vetoed the bill.

Shultz appeared reluctant to respond to a question by Rep. J. William Stanton, R-Ohio, whether Nixon would veto mandatory wage-price controls and rollbacks, but when pressed, he said:

"He (Nixon) is certainly strongly opposed to it and I wouldn't be surprised."

Dunlop said in prepared testimony that "the recent spurt in food prices is not a permanent thing."

TWISTERS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Eight persons were killed and around 500 injured in tornadoes which twisted through Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina Saturday, leaving some 5,000 persons homeless. In Fairfax, Va., above, a resident walked through debris in a shopping center parking lot after a twister tore the center apart. Two shopping centers were hit, the roofs were torn off five apartment buildings and a school and several expensive homes were collapsed in Fairfax.

U.S. Air Hits Fail To Halt Reds

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — American F111 fighter jets blasted advancing Communist lines on embattled Highway 2 today, but succeeded only in covering the retreat of government forces as Communist troops stormed into the district town of Chambak only 20 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Field officers said the American warplanes made at least eight sorties against the town of Chambak itself before returning to their bases in Thailand. Monday marked the 26th consecutive day of intensified American air raids in Cambodia.

Field reports said government troops retreated two miles north on Highway 2 under a heavy Communist 82 mm mortar arrage. Inital casualty figures were put at seven dead and 33 wounded.

Communist units intensified offensive operations on every front today, and well informed military sources said the daily U.S. B52 and F111 strikes have completely failed to stem the current Communist push.

During the past two months, Communist units have managed to sever every major supply route feeding the Cambodian capital, including Highways 1, 2, 3 and 4, and the nation's most important supply artery, the Mekong River.

According to the high command, fighting erupted along the banks of the Mekong less than 15 miles southeast of Phnom Penh today as Communist forces staged a fierce ground attack against the town of Tuk Khleang.

Government losses were recorded as four killed and 14 wounded, the command said.

With Communist units holding both banks of the river south and north of the beseiged naval base of Neak Luong, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, all river supply traffic has been halted for more than a week.

After lying at anchor just inside the Vietnamese border for seven days, a convoy bearing desperately needed supplies of food, ammunition and petroleum products finaly abandoned the idea of proceeding on to Phnom Penh and returned Sunday to its port base at Vung Tao in South Vietnam.

Strictly supervised petroleum rationing went into effect in the capital Monday as government officials revealed that the city has less than a six-day supply of gasoline left.

Saigon To Boycott Military Panel Until Viet Cong Stops Attacks

SAIGON (UPI) — A South Vietnamese spokesman said Saigon would boycott Joint Military Commission (JMC) meetings with the Viet Cong until the Communists stop attacks on a beseiged government outpost.

The Saigon government has reported intense fighting at the ranger base, Tong Le Chan, 50 miles north of the capital, since Feb. 26. The Communists have bombarded the camp with thousands of shells, killing more than a dozen troops and wounding about one fourth of the 500 government defenders.

Communist gunners fired 275 rounds of mixed artillery, rocket and mortr fire into the camp in a six-hour period late Sunday, killing two men and wounding 12 others.

A South Vietnamese command spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said the government was boycotting meetings with the Viet Cong in the new two-sided JMC until the Communists stopped their attacks at the base, which is about 10 miles south of the battered provincial capital of An Loc.

A group of about 500 persons, mostly elderly men, demonstrated at the headquarters of the four-nation International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS) in Saigon today, demanding the Communists lift their siege at Tong Le Chan.

The South Vietnamese and the Communists worked out a unique two-hour truce within a truce on March 25 to allow government evacuation helicopters into the base to take out the wounded. The truce was called after the South Vietnamese threatened to attack in force.

Since then, 60 others have been wounded and four killed, bringing the total number of casualties since Feb. 26 to 15 killed and 109 wounded.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Refuge Denied

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The immigration office announced yesterday that Sweden will no longer give refuge to U.S. armed forces deserters or draft resisters. But it said Americans already inweden can stay.

Kjell Oeberg, the chief of the immigration office, said the Social Democratic government of Premier Olof Palme — himself a harsh critic of the U.S. policy in Southeast Asia — decided in 1969 that only deserters or draft resisters facing possible service in "a theater of war" could obtain permission to live and work in Sweden.

Quake Blame

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Santiago volcano today was blamed for five strong earthquakes that shook the ruins left by a destructive earlier quake in which 10,000 persons died.

The tremors Saturday shook down walls and caused some panic.

There were no reports of injuries.

Energy Needs

LONDON (UPI) — The world petroleum industry will have to spend $1 trillion between 1970 and 1985 to meet the demand for energy, but it is doubtful under present economic conditions that the money can be raised, the Chase Manhattan Bank said today.

"The requirements for ntural gas, too, will be more than double," the report said. "Much of the oil and natural gas that will be needed has not yet been found," it said.

"Based on past experience, the energy economists predict that under present conditions the most that the industry culd generate internally would be $600 billion, leaving $400 billion to be obtaind through the capital markets," the report added.

Coastal Panelist Will Be Speaker

I-J Special Report

EUREKA — Richard A. Wilson of Covelo, a member of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, will speak on the future of the state's coast at the quarterly meeting of the Redwood Empire Association's executive board Friday.

In other business during the three-day board session, directors will meet with the Eel River Water Council, the North Coastal Counties Supervisors Association and the North Coast Counties Engineers Association.

Ireland Quiet

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland emerged today from its quietest weekend in months and the army credited it to a new "iron curtain" surrounding Belfast's main trouble spots.

In the only major incidents during the weekend, the army said, sniper shot and wounded a British soldier in the town of Newry and a bomb wrecked a small seaside hotel 20 miles east of Belfast Saturday.

An antitank rocket also exploded harmlessly against a County Armagh police station Sunday and Molotov cocktails caused slight damage to three movie theaters in Londonderry. Two bombs tossed at Belfast pubs failed to explode.

Gas Blast

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mary Evans had the Cincinnat Gas & Electric Co. on the telephone complaining about a strong gas odor, when her apartment building exploded and collapsed.

Mrs. Evans' husband, in another room at the time, was one of seven persons killed in the Saturday night blast. Another 17 were hurt.

Firemen and police poked through the debris of the three-story building today for possible additional vitims. However, Police Lt. Joe Staft said, "I think we've now accounted for the peple who we know were in there."

Tiger Drive

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government launched a $5.2 million campaign yesterday to save tigers from extinction.

Tourism Minister Karan Singh, announcing "Project Tiger," said, "The tiger, which is now a symbol of the entire wildlife and has enriched the lives of many generations, might not be seen by our children when they grow up if the present trend is not reversed."

Plans call for the immediate renovation of nine game preserves designed to nurture the dwindling tiger population back to strength.

Medi-Cal Goofs Laid To System

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A computer-based system to process Medi-Cal claims has run $4.5 million over its budget, paid twice for the same services and sent checks to the wrong persons, the legislature's auditor general reports.

Depite the errors and "still unresolved program problems," the 42-page study declared "the state has prematurely accepted and made final payments" for the Medi-Cal Management System.

The report, prepared by Walter J. Quinn, acting deputy auditor general, stated claims were "paid in excess of allowable limits" in addition to the duplicate payments and checks going to wrong providers.

But it added, "We were not able to estimate the magnitude of erroneous payments nor do we know to what extent erroneous payments have been returned."

In summarizing the report, Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, declared, "Procedures have been developed which encourage improper disbursement of funds.

"Clerical personnel make major decisions in overriding programmed computer controls resulting in payments which are not reviewed or audited," he said.

The request for the study grew out of complaints from hospitals and other providers of Medi-Cal services that their claims were not being paid.

"Payments through the systems have been very slow with some entered in the system in August and September 192 still unpaid," Thomas stated.

The current state budget allots $2.6 million to be paid to Health Care Services Administrators for the peration of the system through June 30.

The group, a joint venture involving Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., Occidental Life Insurance and California-Western States Life Insurance, has already received $3.5 million.

The report said another $3.5 million will be required to operate the system through June 30, bringing the total to $7 million or about $4.5 million more than was budgeted.

According to the study, more than $180,000 worth of checks have been returned by providers, such as hospitals and doctors, apparently because the checks were duplicates of earlier payments or were sent to the wrong person.

The report stated 71 fictitious beneficiary names and more than 60,000 fictitious beneficiary numbers have been introduced into the computer system to provide payments where identification is not complete.

Olema Residents Must Boil Water

Olema residents whose water comes from the Olema Water Co. hac been warned by the county department of health services to boil the water at least five minutes before it is used for drinking, brushing teeth, washing fruits or vegetables or as the final rinse for eating utensils.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said recent storm damage has exposed the system to possible contamination.

WINE NOTES #16

Dear Anonymous:

Your much appreciated criticism proves that someone does read these notes and I'm grateful for that. However, in the interest of justifying my degree I must quibble regarding the restaurateur/restauranteur question. Either spelling is correct. "Scouting sojurn" is, of course, a very poor word combination for which I apologize. Please keep whacking away at me, and why not sign your name?

Alan Russell is in France and I'm here (which makes no sense at all) and I trust he will enjoy himself as well as find us one or two wines to bring into Marin. As you know, European wines, particularly French and German, are becoming increasingly difficult to find, and if found, ridiculously expensive to purchase. I'm convinced the vintners of France and Germany will continue to increase their prices as long as we Americans are silly enough to pay and this frightens me. It frightens me partly because the French and German wine prices are being inflated on the basis of demand as opposed to increased costs and I consider such business practices somewhat dishonorable. What bothers me more is that we are letting them get away with these unreasonable prices. Now I readily admit that California does not produce enough first rate wine to meet our needs and that some importing must be done. I'll also admit that there are still some excellent wine values from Europe in terms of both price and quality, and if you can find them (we have many) you may actually get more quality for your dollar than you would get purchasing comparable California types. However, when the big fellow controlling famous chateaux and vineyards in Europe continue to inflate their prices because there appears to be no limit to what Americans will pay then I say balderdash — this must stop. What a wonderful position for a French or German grower to be in: What the Americans won't buy, the Japanese will.

The new wine and spirits shelving has been installed in our Marinwood store and I hope you like it. By the way, the Manager at Marinwood, Bill Wright, designed the wine gondolas we have there now and the design is so successful that the company which built the gondolas from Bill's drawings, California Refrigeration, has sent their prospective customers from as far away as San Diego and Eureka to admire and marvel. Thus, several other stores will be using the same design for their wine displays and my hat is off to Billy.

Final remodeling plans for our Montecito Store have been accepted by Manager Larry Ghilotti and we hope to be completed within ninety days. The remodeling will allow us display space for well over seven hundred wines.

I want to extend an invitation to our friends in the Tiburon Peninsula to stop by our new Bourbon Shop in the Cove Shopping Center. Many of the Peninsulans have shopped at the new store and I believe that most have been impressed with the selection of California and imported wines available there. But to those of you in Tiburon, Belvedere, Eagle Rock, Hill Haven, Hilarita, Reed Heights, Belvedere Gardens, Strawberry Manor, Alto, Harbor Point. Almonte, Manzanita, Sausalito, Tamalpais Valley, Marin City, Homestead Valley and Mill Valley who have not stopped in to see our new store, I say - please come in for a visit.

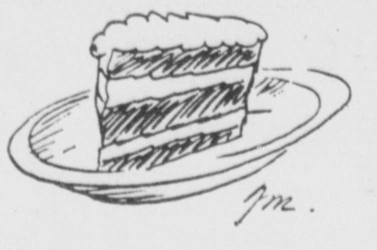
How To Beat The Bagman



It's quite a feat these days to eat your cake and not have to share it with the tax man.

Your cake, along with your stocks, bonds, real estate, and other savings, is among the items you can't take with you. But these goodies may bring a gleam to the eye of Uncle Snatchie as you head into your eighth or ninth decade. Aha, you think — I'll get around those inheritance grabbers by giving away my property. To the grandchildren. To my friends. But there's just one little problem — how do you give it away with a string on it, and still keep it out of the tax man's clutches?

Well, part of the answer is not to wait too long before parting with your Municipals and that Xerox you bought back in 1950. "Last minute gifts," or those made "in contemplation of death" may still be set aside and taxed. Uncle will question gifts you might make within three years of death.

The heirs may be able to show that the donor had a "life motive." For example, he may have gotten married recently. Or started a new business. Or adopted children. These factors would indicate a "life motive," not contemplation of death. So the gift is not taxed as a part of the inheritance or estate.

You may make gifts in trust — or in trust accounts. Suppose you keep a "string on the gift," such as reserving use of the income for life? This will show you still regard yourself as the owner. The taxman treats the bank account or trust property as if you are still owner.

Can you make a gift, but hold on to it as long as you live? Generally, no. Say you give your home to your son, signing a deed to the property. But you stay in the house, living there rent free. The house would still be considered part of your estate. Technically, you have retained a life interest.

Suppose you set up a joint bank account. You put in $5,000. The other person puts in $38.50. Here there is no valuable contribution by the other party. This is not a completed gift. You still have control over the joint account.

Even if you escape the inheritance man, if the gifts are large, then the gift tax man will come knocking on your door. Generally, though, his bite is smaller.

Good estate planning can greatly reduce taxes. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Youth Agencies To Share Funds

The Marin Charitable Foundation has announced it will divide its proceeds from the April 29 Marin Hike for Help among three youth agencies in Marin and one in Petaluma.

Mrs. John R. Manwaring of San Rafael said the foundation has promised grants in Marin including: $1,000 to Big Brothers, $4,000 to the Young Men's Christian Association, and $400 to Amigos de las Americas. Another $1,000 has been promised to the Petaluma Police Activities League.

A fourth Marin agency, Marin Civic Ballet has already received $1,000 from the organization this year.

Hike proceeds will be divided between the foundation and People-to-People Health Foundation's Project Hope.

Prison Rampage Is Reported

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Prisoners went on a rampage at the Adult Correctional Institutions here shortly before noon Monday taking at least two guards hostage. Authorities reported a fire in the carpentry shop.

The two guards were released when authorities threatened to use tear gas but it could not be determined immediately whether other hostages had been taken.

Gov. Philip W. Noel was reported enroute to the institution, but his office said it was unclear what he intended to do at the prison.

Commercial Zoning On Tap

Novato City Council will consider commercial zoning for 32 acres of the Hanna Ranch at its regular meeting starting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

A hearing on rezoning the land at the future Rowland Boulevard interchange east of Highway 101 is scheduled for 10:20 p.m.

The council also is scheduled to adopt a set of procedures for environmental impact reports, as required by the state.

Expansion Of Bus Fleet Under Study

A staff recommendation to expand the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus fleet by another 30 coaches will be considered by the transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The district now has 188 buses. They operate close to peak capacity during commuter hours, carrying more than 7,000 people to work in San Francisco every morning.

$55 Is Stolen At Marin Hotel

A cash box at the Bermuda Palms hotel on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael was rifled of $55 today by a man and woman who handcuffed a room clerk while holding him at gunpoint.

According to police, the man knocked on the hotel's office door at 2:20 a.m. and asked for a room, then burst in, accompanied by the woman and brandishing the gun.

Boundaries On List

The Novato Unified School District board will consider changing junior high school attendance boundaries at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato High School Lecture Hall.

Air Conditioning Good In Winter

CALDWELL, N.J. (UPI) — Auto air conditioning in the winter may sound about as unnecessary as carrying coals to Newcastle, but it can be of real service to the driver.

"The quickest way to clear up fogged windshields in your automobile is to turn on the air conditioning system," advises Thomas J. Nagle, who heads Scovill's General Hose and Coupling operation here.

He adds that a shot of dehumidified cool air will clear every window in the car within 30 seconds at any time of year - if you have the courage to turn on your air conditioner when it is below freezing outside.

Funds Granted For Clothing

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston School District has become the first in the state to win permission to use federal money to cloth needy children.

The Texas Education Agency has approved spending $325,000 in federal money during 1972-73 to buy clothes for needy children of the district.

About 11,000 children will be eligible to participate in the program. Houston district officials said.

Council Hopefuls Will Appear

Candidates for election to the San Rafael City Council will appear at two candidates nights this week.

Candidates will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of the Redeemer, 121 Knight Drive, Glenwood and 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Vallecito School, Terra Linda.

The events are sponsored by local homeowner's associations.

Electrical Fires Now The Leader

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faulty wiring and electrical equipment have replaced causes related to smoking or heating as the No. 1 fire hazard in the United States, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Fires attributable to cigarettes or matches, once a leading cause, dropped to a new low of 12.9 per cent of all accidental fires.

Coffee Speaker

Carl J. (Red) Brown, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, will speak at a campaign coffee at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Cook Sterner home, 11 Longwood Drive.

OBITUARIES

Eleanor Peacock Dies At 67

Eleanor Peacock of Fairfax died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 67.

A native of Oakland, Mrs. Peacock had lived in Marin County for 37 years, and until moving to 2555 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax two years ago, the family home was in Woodacre.

She was a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club Ladies Auxilliary, and until her illness was a keen fisherwoman.

She is survived by her husband, Loyal, of the family home, a son, Robert J. Peacock of Woodacre, two daughters Eleanor O'Connor of El Paso, Tex., and Doris Celoni of Fairfax.

She also is survived by a sister, Bess Meyer of Fremont, two brothers, Myron Hansen of Walnut Creek and Elmer Hansen of Danville, and by six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at Fairfax Community Church, Fairfax on Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

MRS. CAIN

Bridie M. Cain of San Rafael died unexpectedly today in Ireland, where she had gone for the funeral of a brother. She was 70.

Mrs. Cain had made her home with her son, Frank J. Cain, at 205 Laurel Place, for about the past five years.

She was born in Thomastown, County Kilkenny, Ireland, but came to New York as a young woman. She was employeed for many years at E. P. Dutton publishers.

In San Rafael, she was a member of St. Raphael's Church.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two grandchildren, three sisters, Gretta Walsh of New York and Helena Bookle and Kathleen Mullins of Ireland, and a brother, Thomas Mullins of Ireland.

A Memorial Mass will be held later. Burial will be in Ireland.

MARSHALL DUNN

Private funeral for Marshall James Dunn of Fairfax was held today in San Rafael. Inurnment was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Sacramento, he had lived in Marin for more than 40 years. He and his wife, Thelma, resided with their daughter, Marcia J. Dunn, in her Fairfax home at 3 Geary Way.

Dunn was a retired sales supervisor of a San Francisco liquor distributing company. He was a member of the Olympic Club and a former member of the Merchants Exchange, San Francisco.

He also is survived by a brother, Bernard J. Dunn of Morgan Hill.

His family asked that memorial contributions go to the Heart Fund.

THOMAS G. CLEVELAND

Private graveside services for Thomas G. Cleveland, a former locomotive engineer, were held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

A native of Ukiah, he had lived in Marin County 50 years, residing at 519 Bonita Street. For 43 years prior to his retirement he was employed as an engineer with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Cleveland is survived by his wife, Anne F. Cleveland.

ROBERT STALEY

Robert Keith Staley, 15, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was born in Tokyo, Japan, and had lived in Petaluma for nine years. Staley was a ninth grade student at Kenilworth Junior High School. He was a member of Boy Scouts of America and Petaluma Boys' Club.

He was the son of Irvin and Emiko Staley, 430 Stuart Drive. His father operates Staley's backhoe service.

He is also survived by two brothers, Richard and Raymond Staley of the family home; and four grandparents.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

JOHN C. KEMPVANEE

Private funeral for John C. Kempvanee of Mill Valley was held there yesterday.

Kempvanee, 84, died Saturday in a local hospital after a sudden illness.

A native of Georgia, he moved to California as a boy and spent most of his life in Sacramento before moving to Marin County a month ago where he resided at 40 Camino Alto.

Prior to his retirement, Kempvanee worked as a representative for a Sacramento mining company.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy, of Mill Valley and three stepdaughters, Jacqueline P. Shaw of Kentfield, Hope P. Kewin of Mill Valley and Mary P. Gardner of Sacramento.

GINA I. WOOLDRIDGE

Private funeral has been held for Gina I. Wooldridge, 76, who died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Wooldridge, who had lived in Marin 12 years, made her home in San Anselmo before she was hospitalized.

She was born in Santa Rosa.

She and her husband, the late Col. Henry E. Wooldridge, made their home in Honolulu for many years. Colonel Wooldridge served with the Air Force in World Wars I and II.

Mrs. Wooldridge is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Barbara J. Farmer of Fairfax;/her mother, Mrs. Grace K. Monsen of Greenbrae; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial will be at sea.

MRS. HANSON

Funeral for Barbara Smith Hanson, Novato restaurateur and a Marin beauty queen in the 1940s, was held today.

Mrs. Hanson, who lived at 190 Alameda de la Loma, Ignacio, died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 45.

Mrs. Hanson operated the El Toreador restaurant on Redwood Highway for two years, and took active part in the work of volunteer groups. She also was a member of Las Gallinas Golf Club.

Born in San Francisco, she lived most of her life in Larkspur, and was named the first Queen of Marin in 1945, a pageant sponsored by the Lion's Club. She was a former Colege of Marin student.

Survivors are a daughter, Janie, and a son, Tony, both of Ignacio; her mother, Ann Smith of Larkspur, and a sister, Shirley Smith of Mountain View.

HORACE BURGAN

Private funeral for Horace C. Burgan, 69, former Marin resident, will be held tomorrow at Eggen and Lance Mortuary, Santa Rosa.

Burgan died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was a native of Minnesota and moved to Marin County in 1925. He and his wife, Mabel, had moved to Santa Rosa four months ago.

Burgan owned and operated the Burgan Co. building materials supply in San Francisco until his retirement two years ago.

He is also survived by a son, Robert R. Burgan of Larkspur. Burial will be private.

BERTHA P. McANINCH

Funeral for Bertha P. McAninch, 86, long-time Petaluma resident, was held today in Petaluma.

Mrs. McAninch died Friday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was a native of Lakeport and moved to Petaluma in 1921.

She and her late husband, Roy McAninch, had operated a grocery store known as the High School Cafeteria on High Street from 1925 until his death in 1953.

She is survived by a granddaughter, five great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandsons.

Entombment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

started to boycott yesterday with Sunday about 15 to 20 per cent off."

In contrast, Michael Smith, co-owner of Grant Avenue Meats, 1557-A South Novato Boulevard, Novato, a small independent market, said: "Yesterday was a good day . . a better day than normal."

Guido Bisazza of the Big G supermarket, 100 Harbor Drive Sausalito, said: "Saturday and Sunday were normal. I think this week will tell the story."

Norman Soldavini, proprietor of the West End Market, Fourth and G streets, San Rafael, said "Friday and Saturday we had a full house. It looked to me like people were stocking up for the boycott."

In Tiburon, Ray Kelley of the Boardwalk Market said business was good Thursday and Friday but fell off Saturday and yesterday, but a weekend lag is normal since many residents are away on weekends. "They are definitely hitting the cheaper cuts," he said.

At Scotty's Market, 620 Manuel T. Freitas Parkway, San Rafael, Joseph Messina said: Saturday was about normal but yesterday was a stinkeroo."

Hubert Fenstermaker at Cala Foods Market, 1530 Center Road, Novato, said "The average housewife feeding a large family is picking cheaper cuts of meat." He said sales were about average Saturday.

Charles Young, proprietor of the Rainbow Market, 483 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, a neighborhood market, said business had been about normal.

Buthcers mentioned other factors such as upcoming income tax and property tax and that it was a pre-payday weekend but generally agreed with the comment by Bisazza that "This week will tell the story."

The mixed reaction — some markets reporting normal sales, other somewhat reduced sales — was typical of the Bay Area scene. But nationally, there have been repercussions according to United Press International.

The wire service reported hog prices slightly off at principal Midwest markets, dropping $4 per hundredweight in some places, $3 in others.

UPI reported that more than 1,000 workers have been laid off at meat packing firms in the beef-rich Iowa-Nebraska area.

California packers, said UPI, have laid off some employees and sent others on mandatory vacation.

But beef on the hoof, not included in the current price ceiling by President Nixon, has moved $1 to $1.50 higher.

Other effects of rising prices and boycott talk, UPI said, have been the joining of some restaurants in the boycott in New York City, offering reduced prices on meatless dishes.

Firms producing meat substitutes are doing a rush business, according to UPI, firms such as one producing dehydrated soy granules for meatloaf.

SFO Plan Approved By Judge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Judge Albert Wollenberg of U.S. District Court has approved a reorganization program for San Francisco and Oakland Helicopter Airlines Inc., under which the company is allowed to stay in business and issue new securities to its creditors.

Judge Wollenberg called the plan, formulated through working with company creditors ununder the Bankruptcy Act, "fair, equitable and feasible."

The plan does not provide anything for the old stockholders since the judge found that SFO has current liabilities of $4.9 million compared to a total value of the company of about $3.6 million.

The secured creditors of the financially troubled airline are owed about $1,452,999, while unsecured creditors were owed nearly $3.5 million.

The reorganization plan calls for Trans World Airlines, which is owed about $1,099,000, to get $500,000 in new Class A common stock with the rest of the debt to be paid in 60-monthly installments.

A new issue of Class B stock totalling 702,000 shares will be distributed pro rata to the remaining creditors.

Judge Wollenberg based his approval mainly on a report from the Securities and Exchange Commission, which noted that SFO's financial performance has improved markedly since August 1970, when federal trustees assumed office.

Richard Lovorn, chief executive of SFO, said the company is flying 68 scheduled flights each day between the San Francisco and Oakland airports and heliports in Marin and Berkeley.

White House's Air Fleet Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., says the White House plans to more than double the fleet of helicopters reserved for its own use at a cost of $37.7 million.

In a weekend statement, Aspin said President Nixon should take his budget pruning battle to his own department by canceling an order for 17 new helicopters used to carry dignitaries to and from the rear lawn of the White House.

The White House already has 16 helicopters that are only one year old, Aspin said.

Pentagon officials, however, said the new aircraft would not be added to the present fleet but would replace it, with the 16 helicopters reverting to military use.

One New Candidate, Another One Bows

Robert D. McFarland, vice president of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association, announced today he will be a candidate while Dona Lee Cook said she has changed her mind and will not run.

The terms of Arthur L. Lafranchi, Dr. William K. Kortum and Dr. Wesley W. Ebert will expire. Kortum has said he will not run again, Ebert has said he will and Lafranchi has not decided.

McFarland, 34, is employed as district representative for the state compensation insurance fund in the Santa Rosa office. He is a native of West Los Angeles and received a degree in economics from Loyola University.

McFarland received his secondary teaching credential at University of San Francisco and also studied one year at Hastings College of Law. He previously taught in San Francisco and Tulare County.

In addition to the homeowners association, McFarland is president of citizens organized to acquire access to state tidelands and was active on the Sonoma County Committee for Proposition 20 in the November election.

WRECKAGE — Shattered rear-view mirrors litter the ground, mute testimony to the force with which this motorcycle and car collided on Nicasio Road. Motorcyclist Stephen C. Brocksen, the major artery from his heart torn in the crash, was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital but lucky to be alive at all as a result of unusual surgery undertaken at the hospital.

Youth's Life Is Saved By Rare Heart Surgery

Stephen C. Brocksen is alive today and he has the surgical and emergency staff at Marin General Hospital to thank for that.

The 16-year-old Novato youh suffered a torn aorta in a motorcycle accident Saturday, an injury that is fatal in about 98 per cent of all cases, according to a hospital spokesman.

Brocksen, hurt when his cycle and a car collided head-on on Nicasio Valley Road, was rushed to the hospital with massive hemorrhaging from the major artery leading from the heart.

Following emergency treatment, he underwent an aortic graft, the first time the procedure has been performed in Marin.

The spokesman said surgeons used plastic tubing to bypass the damaged part of the artery so they could work on it. Plastic material was also used to repair the hole in the arterial wall.

Brocksen spent nine hours in surgery and received 25 pints of blood — his entire blood supply was replaced twice — including two pints donated by physicians who were observing the unusual operation.

The teen-ager remained in critical condition today in the hospital's intensive care unit, but he was reported conscious and able to talk.

Brocksen, of 840 Sutro Avenue, was injured shortly before noon when his northbound cycle collided with a southbound car driven by Jill A. Grismas, 27, of 86 Mesa Road, Point Reyes Station, near the intersection of Nicasio and Lucas Valley roads.

Mrs. Grismas complained of chest pains following the crash and 6-year-old Monro Grismas, a passenger in the car, received a bump on the head.

High School Fails In Radio Bid

Redwood High School's attempts to operate its own radio station have failed because there are no clear frequencies available in the Bay Area.

The Tamalpais High School District applied to the Federal Communications Commission last December for a license to operate the FM station, which was to have broadcast to the entire Ross Valley.

Truman Whorton, industrial arts teacher, who launched the radio station venture today said it appears there is no way Redwood can solve the dilemma.

"We've been advised that we could wait until 1975 and then challenge the relicensing of KPFA in Berkeley (a nonprofit educational station) because it has two frequencies," he said.

"But the legal costs of the challenge would be $25,000, so that's out," said Whorton.

News of the absence of frequencies came after Whorton had already paid an engineering consultant $300 to do preliminary work for station KRHS.

The initial $9,290 to get KRHS on the air came from the district's federal Vocational Education Act funds, and the $8,990 left — which must be spent before July 1 —will be allocated to some other career education project in the district.

Civic Center Calls Now Toll-Free

Residents of Southern and West Marin may place toll-free telephone calls to the Civic Center using a recently established Enterprise number, the communications department has announced.

To reach Civic Center offices, residents dial operator and ask for "Enterprise 12924"

The new system, to be tested for three months, means the county will pick up the expense of phone calls from eight telephone exchanges.

Those include Belvedere-Tiburon, Sausalito, Stinson Beach-Bolinas, Point Reyes Station, Tomales, Inverness, Valley Ford and Petaluma.

The sheriff's office and the Department of Public Socul Services have separate Enterprise numbers which were established some time ago.

For the Department of Public Social Services the number is "Enterprise 19129" and for the Sheriff's Office it's "Enterprise 11560."

Schooling Horse Show Is Set

The Marin Mounted 4-H Club will hold a schooling horse show at the Novato Horsemen's Arena Sunday beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Profits from the show will go to the Marin County 4-H Club Council.

Eighteen classes will be judged, including maiden jumper, western pleasure and working hunter.

Creek Bike Path Will Open Friday

The Corte Madera Creek bike path will open officially with ceremonies Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the Adaline Kent School ballfield in Kentfield.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will participate. Prizes will be awarded for the youngest and oldest cyclists, the most unusual bicycle and unicycle, the best decorated bicycle and the best early American costume.

Malicious Mischief Reported In Larkspur

Robert Andrew Kraft of 473 Magnolia Avenue, told police he spotted three juveniles throwing paint on his 1953 Chrysler at 12:25 a.m. yesterday, but failed to catch them.

Oleg Alexandrevich Kaluzhny of 7 Hazel Avenue, told police that two thirds of his garage wall was knocked down, two basement windows broken and the right rear tire of his Volkswagen was slashed, when he returned home at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Maris Bova told police that an outside carriage lantern at his apartments at 280 Lower Via Casitas, Greenbrae, was smashed by rocks on Saturday evening.

Michael Terrence Peck of apartment 68, 10 Skylark Drive, reported extensive damage to his 1971 white Mercury Cougar convertible at 1:40 a.m. yesterday.

Police said the convertible's top was slashed all over, the seats were slashed, the turn signal was torn from the steering column and stereo tapes destroyed.

This morning Peck reported his second car, a 1971 Oldsmobile convertible, had been stolen during the night. Its license number is 458 BWU.

Nixon Elevates Ford To Admiral

Nixon, describing himself as a fan of Ford's movies, attended a dinner with 900 Hollywood celebrities to honor the 78-year-old director. Nixon called Ford "one of the geniuses of his profession" and presented him with the nation's highest civilian award, the Medal of Freedom.

Noting that Ford holds a rear admiral's rank in the Naval Reserve, the Commander-in-Chief proclaimed "for the balance of this evening John Ford is a full admiral."

Fire Damages Home Heavily

Richard L. Deats of Poplar and Birch roads in Bolinas was working in a backyard shed when he heard fire engines at 4:20 p.m. yesterday.

The wind-whipped blaze, which was fought by 14 firemen and eight volunteers, gutted the Deats residence, according to Fire Chief Jose Silva. Damage to the home and contents was estimated at $23,000.

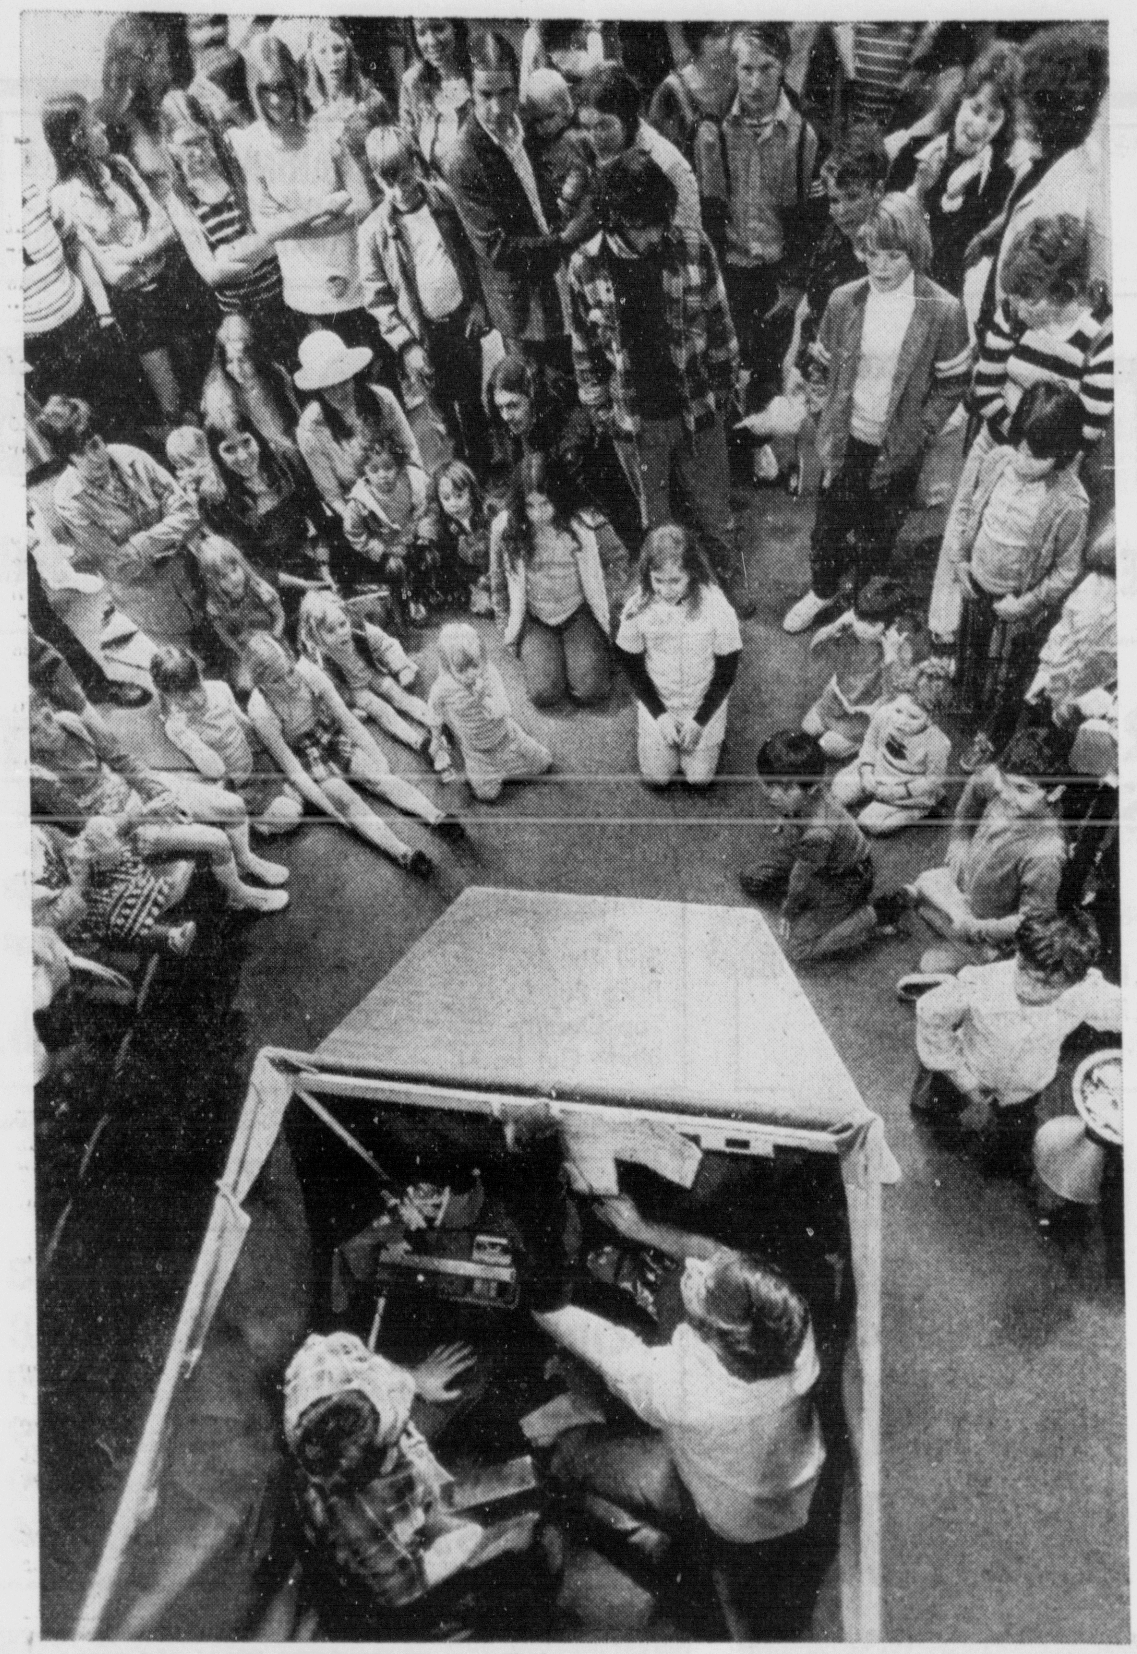
2,000 See College Future Fare



SPACE AGE PUPPET — Children and adults at Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday were treated to a futuristic puppet show by Alonzo Gonzales. As the puppets — including a green Martian in a silver space suit — spoke, slides flashed on a screen behind them illustrating their dialogue.

(Independent-Journal photos)

While electronic music played, computers clacked and laser beams shot their powerful light during the Future Fare at College of Marin Saturday, a member of a new commune talked about what he thought future man should be: a new aborigine.

Sherman Chickering, a member of the Lonaku Community, told students they must "reclaim their pre-civilization heritage" through martial arts or "struggle games."

He and members of the Lonaku commune are living a stylized version of the scavenger forager life of modern man's ancestors, coming into direct exposure with his environment.

"We are making a place after 5,000 years for the male hormone," he said.

This hormone, he said, only manifests itself when men tests himself against his environ ment in "turf struggles," when the aborigine is in constant contact with opposing forces.

Commune members reenact struggles of precivilization man through martial arts. They dress in black with packets of white powder under their clothes. The object of the game is to explode packets on the opponent, winning the game.

These games express man's need to "feel out" his environment and without them man becomes paranoid, frustrated, belligerent toward society, Chickering said.

Young people, the children of affluent America, he said, are turning away from the life style of/their fathers because "none of this involves my body, none of this feels real."

Martial arts, expressing what he called the "territorial imperative," or struggle for an undefined area or secure base, involves the discipline of mind, spirit and body."

Members of the Lonaku commune, until recently, lived on a patch of land in Napa County, which was taken over by the Napa School District, he said.

The Future Fare was an all-day event at the college's Harlan Center and presented 39 progras, many running simultaneously and including such varied offerings as displays and slides by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, schools in the year 2000 as imagined by students and faculty from San Jose's Alum Rock School District, Standard Oil Co.'s description of energy use and consumption, a panel on male-female sexuality, a puppet show, a lecture on blending astrolgy and creative psychology, and a film presenting the guru, Maharishi Mahesh.

FUTURE GAMES — Visitors to College of Marin's Future Fare Saturday played electronic ping pong by operating hand sets that move ghostly paddles and ball that appear on television screen in "Video Environments" room. On other screens flashed amoeba-like color patterns stored in video tapes, and views of what was going on in this and other rooms through mobile "audience participation" cameras.

Three To Be Seated As Sausalito Trustees

Three persons who filed for three available seats on the Sausalito School District board of trustees are scheduled to be appointed to the posts at today's meeting of the board at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Incumbents Barbara S. Harris and Betty J. Times had sought reelection and Douglas Fancher had filed for the seat made vacant by trustee Jesse E. Berry's decision not to run again.

Since no more than three candidates sought the seats, in the first uncontested election in the district in recent years, the trio will be appointed to the board for terms which will begin July 1.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, will administer the oath of office.

The board will also consider a recommendation by its master plan sterring committee that it adopt a resolution of intent to locate all students in one school. Currently the district operates two facilities, Bayside and Martin Luthering.

The steering committee had suggested that one school be constructed on the Bayside site and that all students be housed at King School while construction is going on.

The expanded school facility could be built with the $276,000 which the district will receive from the city of Sausalito, if voters approve an upcoming bond issue to purchase the old Central School for use as a new city hall.

Forest Fires

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky set a record low last year in one category and hopes the trend continues. The state Division of Forestry reports that 977 forest fires burned 9,424 acres of the state's extensive timberland.

Soviet Defector's Wife To Join Him

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Soviet authorities have agreed to permit the wife and son of Serz Karranikas, a defector from Russia, to join him in Sweden, his lawyer announced Sunday.

The announcement came one day before Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin begins an official five-day visit to Sweden.

Israel Receiving Jet Helicopters

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel said today it is receiving Jet Ranger helicopters from the United States, increasing the nation's military strike capability.

A military spokesman said the Bell 206 craft has been in the Air Force for more than a year, but censorship has not permitted publication of the fact.

Museum Learns Mosaic Is Stolen

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A 4th Century Roman mosaic fragment acquired by Newark Museum in 1970 has been identified as one of two stolen pieces taken by thieves shortly after they were discovered in 1967.

Samuel C. Miller, director of the museum, confirmed Sunday reports that the nearly 10-foot square mosaic was one of the stolen pieces taken shortly after they were unearthed by a team of Belgian archaeologists in Syria.

Miller said the museum purchased the mosaic piece from a New York dealer for "less than $10,000," which he described as respectable and prestigious. He said he believed the dealer had acted in good faith and "might have been taken somewhat himself."

Miller said the stolen piece of treasure was identified during a "quiet investigation" conducted by the museum and an arcaeologist.

The piece was one of two floor mosaics depicting two bare-breasted Amazons, armed and on horse back, hunting a lion and a leopard with lances.

They were reported stolen from a room in the Roman governor's palace at Apamea, a noted archaeolgical site in western Syria. Location of the second piece remins unknown, Miller said, but archaeologists believe it may have been destroyed by the thieves.

Miller denied a London news report which said the museum planned to return the fragment to the Syrian government. He said the matter would be decided by the museum's board of trustees, and said the situation was not considered serious enough to warrant an investigation by law enforcement authorities here.

"We can't make grand statements at this time," he said. "Rest assured the museum is distresed, but must act with legal counsel and advice because we have a reputation involved here."

He said a trustees meeting scheduled for April 9 might be moved up now that the story has been made public. He said the trustees would make recommendations concerning the museum's research into the mosaic fragment.

New Bible Approved By All Christians

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first version of the Bible to be approved for use by all three major branches of Christianity was published in the United States today.

The English-language Revised Standard Version Common Bible, published by the National Council of Churches (NCC), was endorsed by prelates of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches.

The text of the new Bible is basically that of the Revised Standard Version of the Old and New Testaments, published in 1952, but it also includes the Apocrypha — Old Testament books accepted by the Catholic and Orthodox churches but not by the Protestants.

"At last we have an ecumenical Bible which answers 'No' to the question 'Is Christ divided?'" said Catholic Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, author of best-selling books on religion.

Episcopal Bishop Paul Moore said the new version of the Bible will make it possible for Christians "to seek our unity without unnecessary hindrance."

Other endorsers of the book include Catholic Cardinals Terence Cooke and John Krol, Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury Michael Ramsey and Archbishop Iakovos, Orthodox primate of North and South America.

The new Bible, planned by an NCC committee headed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert G. May of Oberlin College, was first published in England two months ago.

Air Passengers Pay Hijack Cost

The surcharge went into effect Sunday. It was approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) last month to help the airlines pay for expensive electronic screening equipment and luggage inspections.

The airlines asked for a $1 per ticket boost, but the CAB approved only one-third of that amount.

Passengers will pay the extra 34 cents every time they board a flight. This means persons changing planes for connecting flights will pay the surcharge for each leg of their trip.

Ski Lift Cable Dumps Riders

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — A lift cable derailed at this ski resort Sunday, spilling a half dozen passengers about 20 feet to the snow.

There were no serious injuries reported.

The derailment was caused by youngsters swinging in their seats, causing the Exhibition Lift cable to jump the guide wheel, said Hans Von Nolde, a spokesman for the resort.

Times Writer To Give Talk In Kentfield

Earl Caldwell, New York Times correspondent and principal in a landmark Supreme Court ruling, will speak on "Freedom of the Press and the First Amendment" in a forum sponsored by the Marin County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union at 3 p.m., April 15 at the Ruth Lederman home, 16 Tree Top Way, Kentfield.

After writing a series on the Black Panther Party a few years ago, Caldwell was subpoenaed by a federal grand jury and asked to reveal his sources. He refused and subsequently his case resulted in a Supreme Court ruling opening newsmen to punishment for refusing to divulge story sources to grand juries.

To eliminate parking problems, a shuttle bus will run from 100 Goodhill Road to the Lederman home before the lecture.

Necessity Lacking For 3 Propositions

Four city boards and commissions are provided for by the San Rafael city charter: the board of education, fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and board of library trustees.

There is a fifth: the planning commission. However, it is not mentioned in the charter for the simple reason that such a thing as a planning commission had not occurred to anybody when the charter was adopted in 1912. It was created by ordinance, with its size fixed at seven members.

THE BOARDS and commissions set up by the charter have five members each. The city council would like to be free to change the number of members on fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board. It seeks that authority in Propositions H, J and K on the April 17 municipal election ballot.

Proposition H refers to the fire commission, Proposition J to the parks and recreation commission, and Proposition K to the library board. The three are otherwise identical: "Shall the (appropriate section) of the charter of the City of San Rafael be amended to provide that the city council shall set the number of members . . . by ordinance or resolution?"

Apparently the intent of the city council is to increase the three bodies to seven members each, with the idea that this would give better assurance of having a quorum present. (The record fails to bear out that seven-member commissions muster a quorum much more regularly than five-member commissions, but that has been put forth as a reason for change.)

HOWEVER, as City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. interprets the propositions, they would give the council authority to set the membership of these three boards at zero. In other words, under these propositions, the council could abolish the fire commission, parks and recreation commission, and library board.

A case might be made for abolishing the fire commission. It was set up because at the time the charter was adopted, San Rafael had an all-volunteer fire department and a commission was deemed necessary to keep city control of it. We doubt, however, that the city council would seriously consider abolishing the parks and recreation commission or the library board.

Some future city council might, though — if the way were left open by the proposed charter amendments.

WE DO NOT like backdoor methods. If the council wants to abolish a charter-created commission, its abolishment should be put up to the voters — not a device by which it could be abolished under the guise of changing the number of members.

We see no necessity for increasing or decreasing the membership of any of these boards. A five-member board is probably the most workable size.

We therefore recommend rejection of Propositions H, J and K.

Adapting Raccoons

Zoologists say that by destroying and changing the wild, wooded areas of Marin to subdued suburbs loaded with cats and dogs, we destroy the natural habitat of the wild creatures. Unquestionably true. But some adapt to the altered habitat with amazing tenacity.

Raccoons, for example, don't give ground. They grow fat where lightpoles replace trees. Concrete culverts provide homes.

Raccoons lived in California tens of thousands of years before the arrival of the Indians. They are not going to be dispossessed by any late-coming upstarts.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TONIGHT

Marinites Missing Chance To Help Plan Transit

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Transit plans of vital interest to Marin are being drafted with virtually no involvement by Marin citizens.

Decisions on stations and routings through San Francisco will be made entirely by San Francisco citizens unless Marinites wake up and join the citizen panel advising Golden Gate Bridge District consultants who are planning the future rapid transit system.

The consultants made a real effort to involve representatives of Marin groups in the panel, but with little result. If Marin citizens leave the job to political infighting among San Francisco groups, the result may be a transit system that fails to serve the very people using it.

Details of the study will be explained by the board of control of the Golden Gate Corridor Transportation Study, which oversees the consultants' work, at 7:30 p.m. today in the planning commission chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The citizen panel will hold its first meeting in Marin at 8 p.m. on April 10 in Sausalito's Central School. Membership on the panel still is open to anyone.

HOW ODD IT SEEMED that both Marinites elected to run the new Regional Citizens Forum were conservative Republicans! The forum, after all, was spawned by the Association of Bay Area Governments, which hardly qualifies as a conservative's ideal mother. It is only one step from regionalism to the horrors of world government, in the eyes of many conservatives.

Checking further, we found that up to 15 of the 20 persons elected to the coordinating committee have been active in conservative causes and organizations.

We also found the conservatives were well organized to take over the forum, and distributed slates of their candidates as people arrived for the meeting, held recently in San Francisco. Other groups also pushed slates, but obviously not so successfully.

Elected from Marin were Verna Vargas of Belvedere and Mike Djordjevich of San Rafael. Both assured us they knew nothing about the slate, and just happened to attend the meeting. Mrs. Vargas added that she had not even seen Djordjevich for some 10 years.

Mrs. Vargas, vice chairman of the California Federation of Republican Women, suggested she may have been elected partly because of the ethnic quality of her name. Djordjevich, a former president of the Young Republicans of California, may have gotten an additional boost because of his Slavic accent.

The forum ought to have an interesting history.

IF PROPOSITION 20 created panic in the air at Seadrift at Stinson Beach, where residents enjoy the privacy insured by a guarded gate, it is unwarranted. A spokesman for the attorney general's office said there was no way the proposition could be used to remove the gate.

The untouchables, will continue to be herded away to the public beach.

Returned POW Gives Tribute To Overlooked Vietnam Veterans

I have just read your editorial of March 23 "Honor POWs — Also Others Who Fought." I would like to voice my wholehearted agreement with all you have said. Soldiers are not politicians — nor can they be. I feel a man in the military who has stood by his country in her most difficult hours, regardless of whether he returned home as a war-weary GI or ex-POW, reflects great credit upon the man's character, and a confidence in his government which is so important to our nation in such agonizing times as the past decade has brought.

As POWs, we served you proudly, the same as we did when we were still in the action. The men who finished their tours — the veterans — are no different than we, and in the same circumstances would have done the same thing. I would like to think of myself as one of them and nothing more. Any credit going to us as returning POWs should also go to them.

Personally I owe them a great debt because without the continued support and courage of the American fighting man, I would still be in North Vientam. Please join me in expressing gratitude and recognition to these servicemen who have given so much only to return to an indifferent America.

Cut Travel Expenses For Public Officials

It is disconcerting to learn that the Marin County supervisors have voted to increase travel expense allowance for county personnel on trips outside of the county.

Elected official should be the first to recognize the need to economize if inflation is to be curbed. Who is going to hold the line if they don't set the example?

My suggestion is to reduce the number of trips, curtail increased trip allowances, and otherwise act for the best interests of the people by economizing in all county transactions.

County Planning Board Deaf To City Protests

Most of us do not see our public officials in direct action even though it is free for our viewing. I would not have, had not a crucial issue concerning the community in which I live necessitated it.

Our community in San Anselmo is zoned R-1 and is practically built. One of the last remaining pieces of land was recently purchased speculatively for development. This property is adjacent to the City of San Anselmo and to Sorich Park at the end of San Francisco Boulevard at Sacramento Street. The developer requested a zoning change for his property . . . in order to build 44 attached units. The citizens for nine months worked toward denial of this — packing the Marin County Planning Commission hearing room several times to protest this rezoning and offering a multitude of sound data to back a denial of the application. The City of San Anselmo itself had held public hearings on the matter and it appeared before the county (with three representative spokesmen) to plead the denial. The planning commission listened with deaf ears and approved the rezoning and the planned development 5-to-1.

Except for a very concerned and dedicated Commissioner John West, the planning commission disregarded the City of San Anselmo's stand, disregarded inadequacy of facilities, and totally ignored the concern of the citizenry to protect its welfare and environment. The chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, Jack Nixon, who, by the way, is now running for San Rafael City Council, seemed to wholeheartedly support the developers. . .

Dedicated Teacher Makes Bus Trip Delight

Recently (March 24 and 25) I joined a bus trip to Reno sponsored by Mr. "Mike" Convis on behalf of the Drake Scholarship Fund. I have been told he teaches at Drake High School in San Anselmo.

This man is outstanding in his zeal for his cause! It has been a very long time since I have witnessed one person work so hard. He did not rest on the bus going or coming home. He sold sandwiches and cold drinks, held a raffle, told great jokes — and still had time to talk to each and every person on the bus! Credit should also be given to his charming wife, and last but not least to our expert driver.

Can't wait to join his trip this May!

Getting Rid Of Cat In Humane Way Expensive

A group of young girls care for a number of society's rejects — kittens dumped at their horse barn. Recently they held a horse show to raise funds to have two female kittens spayed and had planned to utilize the services of a relatively low-cost clinic in San Rafael.

Unfortunately one of the females became ill and at 5:45 p.m. a frantic call from my daughter resulted in our driving the kitten to the local vet, who diagnosed probably distemper. The options were hospitalization, intravenous fluids, etc., with no guarantee of recovery, or euthanasia. We elected the latter for a cost of $15 — magnanimously no charge was made for the examination.

Had there been time the Humane Society would have provided this service free, or for a small donation. It is obvious why the local veterinarians are opposed to low-cost clinics — humane treatment is secondary to financial gain.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Next time your wife asks you to testify about arriving home late from the office, try claiming executive privilege and see where it gets you.

Tell her to submit all questions in writing.

Around our house, when a fellow attempts to act like a president his supreme court overrules him.

Congressmen aren't the only ones who lay down the law.

In marriage as in politics, there's many a clash between an executive's privilege and the lawmaker's prerogative.

Nixon Ready To 'Hit The Road' For 'Generation Of Peace'

MORE TRIPS ABROAD FOR NIXON! He may well turn out to be the most traveled President. The word in the White House is that Mr. Nixon will be going next to Europe, Japan, Latin America and Africa.

Purpose: to carry forward his goal of a "generation of peace."

He aims to make it clear to allies and adversaries that the United States is not withdrawing from world leadership.

CHINA SEEKS EXPANDING ROLE IN EUROPE. There is evidence that Peking is totally shedding its diplomatic isolation. It aims to spread its influence to that part of the world where the Soviet Union will like it least —western and eastern Europe.

China has established diplomatic relations with Spain and has diplomatic ties with every European government except Portugal.

Its target is the Soviet Union, whose influence in Europe it hopes to undercut. Much to Moscow's dismay, Peking is advocating European unity and is backing NATO.

NO WONDER LEONID BREZHNEV IS COMING TO WASHINGTON. The Soviet leader wants to make it evident that Moscow does not want anything to stand in the way of cordial U.S.-Soviet relations. And he wants to hear it anew from Mr. Nixon that nothing will be done with China adverse to Russian interests.

WHAT WILL LIBERALS NOW THINK OF WALTER LIPPMANN? They'll be very unhappy. He was the darling of most liberals when he was vigorously opposing the U.S. defense of Vietnam. But now that he is saying so much in approval of President Nixon, he may soon be their principal target.

In an interview, Ronald Steel, his biographer, asked Lippmann if the Nixon administration "should be welcomed by liberals because it's headed off a reaction that could have degenerated into fascism?" Lippmann's reply:

"I supported Nixon in '68 and I preferred him vastly to McGovern. That doesn't mean I am enthusiastically pro-Nixon. What he's done is historical. Nixon has performed a service that historically had to be performed if American society was not to be blown up or disintegrate or crumble."

Lippmann was asked: "Would you give Nixon rather high marks?"

Answer: "Yes."

A CREDO FOR RED-HOT ENVIRONMENTALISTS: It could read: "I will drive small cars." Every time an automobile of 2,000 pounds or less uses five gallons of gas polluting the air, a car weighing 5,000 pounds uses 15 gallons of gas polluting the air. A lot of pollution could be stopped quickly by driving lighter cars.

BIG CUTS IN MILITARY MANPOWER. Only major savings open to the Nixon administration in defense spending can come from slimming the armed forces, primarily the Army.

Plan now is to cut total manpower by at least one million during the coming 12 months. Now that withdrawal from Vietnam is at point of completion, ground troops will be reduced to near zero in Korea, Taiwan, the Phillipines and Thailand.

HAS NIXON PAINTED himself in corner on Watergate? He has explicitly asserted that White House Counsel John W. Dean III did not have advance knowledge of the break-in and bugging. Unless he knows who did have such knowledge, how can he be sure Dean didnt?

Obviously somebody high in the administration had to approve the operation. If he is certain Dean did not authorize it, then the President fairly can be pressed to tell who did.

Try Dirt Under Fingernails As Form Of Political Protest

DANVILLE, Va. — It's a pity Mr. Nixon and his economic advisers were not within range of WDVA ("1250 in Dixie") the other morning when Homer T. was doing the "Open Mike" show and everybody and his sister were calling in about high food prices.

It would have given him still another suggestion to offer to the hungry public, along with meatless Tuesday and eating more cheese and fish and chicken. And this one, coming as it did from people with firsthand experience at making ends meet, may be the most practical of all. You should know that WDVA spins country music when Homer T. is not answering the phone with his mike open, so a lot of those who call in with comments are either in the country or from it. Not one in the hundred, though, is one of the country types popularly blamed for the prices we have to pay at the supermarket these days — the specialized, mechanized, subsidized, corporate farmer.

THESE ARE MAINLY plain dirt farmers, direct-action types who became accustomed early to attacking economic problems with a hoe instead of a lot of sleight-of-hand paper work. And that was their consistent advice, through Homer T., to the nation at large: Get out there and grow it yourself.

Most of them ladies of middle age and up, Homer's callers might think I was making fun of them if I tried to reproduce their dialogue exactly. The closest thing to it, for those of you outside WDVA's listening area, is the conversation of Andy Griffith and his friends on television in Mayberry, N.C. For me, it is just the way home folks talk.

Some of them salted in a little subtle social comment with their economic advice. One said that if they took all those people off welfare and stopped giving them food stamps when they were able to work as hard as anybody else, that would take care of the food problem. Another noted that everybody was moving to the country these days, but nobody was doing any work when he got there. One told of the crops she had grown during World War I, and nearly all reminisced about the gardens they raised during World War II.

THEN JUST ABOUT that time the lady of the house here asked would I like some fresh turnip salad for lunch. The response, of course, was "Why not?" And when she went next door with a kitchen knife to cut a colander full, I followed in a few minutes and took a survey of what was growing out back.

With her expert advice, I recorded six kinds of daffodils (jonquils, to her); four kinds of narcissus; pansies, forsythia, bridal wreath, hyacinth and candytuft, all in bloom; dogwood, budding but held back by last week's snow; budding azaleas and iris, running roses, camellias, peonies, wisteria and pyracantha still to come. The jasmine bloomed in the snow right after Christmas.

In the 40-by-50 grass plot behind the garage, two mature apple trees bear copiously every other July. But during the war, they were not there. The plot was a victory garden. My impression that I was mostly responsible for it no doubt is one of those magnifications of youth, for it is mildly disputed by those then in authority.

Anyhow, by family enterprise, we had snaps (green beans to you), tomatoes, squash, spring onions, little colored butter beans, strawberries, radishes, lettuce and cucumbers. We canned snaps, tomatoes and butter beans in Mason jars. The grapevines planted by my grandfather were still producing, and that made dozens of jars of jelly, sealed with wax.

YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE how good it all was, and how much of it could come out of one back-yard garden like that. Or maybe you would, if you have tried it yourself. A lot of Americans have, but have forgotten how, or they remember but prefer eating TV dinners to bending over. A lot of mostly younger ones are into gardening now as if they discovered it; it has become a fad some people associate with communes and social dropoutism.

Too bad! But not hopeless. As I read the seed catalogue in bed, about Heney Rock cantaloupes and Straight Eight cucumbers, I formulated a plan of national action, to be given political cachet by presidential endorsement — to reclaim the best things in life, with are almost free, for the great silent majority.

Say it, Mr. President, maybe even set an example yourself, there in the White House Rose Garden: a new form of mass protest, as simple as getting a little dirt under your fingernails.

Sickness Enters 'Women's Lib' When It Means Rejecting Child

It's never made much sense to throw the baby down the drain just because the bath water was dirty.

If the old expression is taken literally, the concept becomes more than illogical — it's sick.

I see nothing but logic in women receiving the same pay when they do the same jobs as men; certainly, they ought to have the same legal rights. Further, in today's world where homemaking and child-rearing are not necessarily full-time jobs, there are no real reasons why girls should aim for any but the kind of careers they really want.

But if, in order to accomplish these logical, sensible and desirable goals, we women have to throw out the babies, literally, logic not only is lost — sickness has set in.

"MY 18-YEAR SENTENCE will be up in eight years from now when society officially releases me from parenthood," a woman writes in the current issue of the Marin Women's News Letter.

She also said that her "will was severed. . . her psyche was permanently twisted" and her "spirit was broken" by bearing a child she did not want. She claims that she is a victim of "cherubic Roman Catholic priests, right-to-life matrons and sober patriarchal judges" who "raped my right to a meaningful life out of me forever."

Having children is a choice that both men and women can make to an extent today that was never possible before. Even if an unwanted child is born, there are still many men and women who would like very much to give the baby a home and love.

For a woman who thinks she has been sentenced to 18 years of servitude because her "body was used forcibly as an incubator" to keep and rear a child is unspeakable.

For this woman, most of us can feel only disgust — and for her child, presumably a 10-year-old who might even read the mother's article, indescribable sympathy.

AS A "LIBERATED" woman, this reporter receives the same pay, works the same hours as the men beside her. There have been no special favors — I've covered riots, demonstrations and Hell's Angels events and have seen both men and women reporters looking shaken and scared.

Whatever the experiences have been, frightening, rewarding or dull — it's never occurred to me that I was supposed to reject my children in order to be more of a free woman.

For those who don't want the experiences of parenthood — that's their prerogative. But in my view, they sure missed a part of the larger scheme of life.

But that's not the point. If women begin to think that in order to "fulfill" themselves, they have to reject children — or for that matter, men, or any other large group of people — the whole concept becomes sick.

Furthermore, such sickness seems sure to set back the attainment of the goals that can benefit all of us.

Three Marin Coast Guardsmen Honored

Three Marin County Coast guardsmen have received awards in ceremonies at the San Francisco Coast Guard Base on Yerba Buena Island.

Capt, James A. Dillian of 298 Casa Grande, Hamilton Air Force Base, was awarded a old star for duty from 1969 to 1972 while serving as commanding officer of the Coast Guard Aviation Training Center in Mobile, Ala.

Capt. Ted L. Gannaway of 159 San Felipe Way, Novato, received a commendation ribbon for participating last year in transferring three utters to the Navy in Guam.

Boatswain's Mate 3/c Daniel R. Palmquist of 423 First Street, San Rafael, received a letter of commendation for helping to prevent a buoy from going aground on Duxbury Point earlier this year.

Power Squadron Elects Leaders

Ralph A. Stoppel of the Oakland Power Squadron was elected commander yesterday of the squadron's District 25, which includes units from Marin and nine other Northern California areas.

Other officers chosen by District 25 representatives at the annual spring conference in San Rafael were Carl B. Ring of the Peralta Power Squadron, lieutenant commander executive; Gillette E. (Bud) Gordon, Diablo squadron, lieutenant commander administrative; Gerald C. Schnor, San Joaquin Delta squadron, secretary, and Eugene N. Perry, Santa Clara Squadron, treasurer.

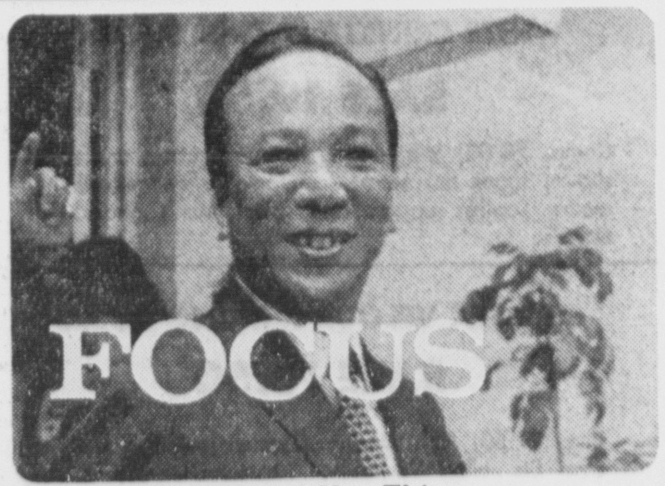
O'Toole Campaign Coffees Announced

Two campaign coffees for Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for election to the San Rafael City Council, have been scheduled.

O'Toole will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Jim Mahoney home, 5 Sierra Circle, and 8 p.m. Friday at the Don Selmi home, 115 Ridgewood Drive.



Nguyen Van Thieu

Nguyen Van Thieu was born the son of a small landowner and fisherman in French Indochina. Although his birthdate is April 5, 1923, it is believed he was actually born in November, 1924, but chose the date in April in accordance with a Vietnamese belief that it would improve his luck. When a young man, he worked with Ho Chi Minh's Communists to fight the French. "I was deceived by them for several months," Thieu later recalled, and "From that moment on I have been fighting Communism." He then entered a French military academy, graduated, and was commissioned into the newly formed South Vietnamese Army. Thieu rose to prominence after a military coup in 1963.

DO YOU KNOW — Whom did President Thieu succeed as leader of South Viet Nam?

Brokers Of Power Cry Doomsday, Each Urging Own Pet Theory

Who can have failed to sense that power no longer belongs to the politicians and generals, the old historic repositories? In a not-quite-comprehended way they have become the victims as well as the enforcers — like us, the people to whom things are done.

Titular leaders, they are at the mercy not only of new problems but of the elite few who can define them.

MORE THAN 30 years ago Arthur Koestler wrote one of the most effective novels on communism of this century. After more than 20 years on the frontiers of psychology and biology —"The Roots of Coincidence," "The Ghost in the Machine" — the author of "Darkness at Noon" has returned to fiction.

Only now he is not dramatizing men and women caught up in a political revolution but in the so-called "knowledge explosion" — a redistribution of power which, he suggests, has left politicians in the position of "performing seals in a circus, balancing balls on their snouts —balls filled with dynamite," or rather nuclear minibombs.

Who are the new brokers of power? "The Call Girls" Mr. Koestler dubs them rather bitterly in the title of his latest novel. Meaning, the specialists, the avantgardistes of this discipline and that, who "get a long-distance telephone call from some professional at some foundation or university — 'sincerely hope you can fit it into your schedule — it will be a privilege to have you with us — return fare economy class and a modest honorarium. . .' "

The biologist begs to be allowed to drop "anti-hostility agents" in the water supply. The neurosurgeon triumphantly demonstrates his "behavior-controlling" electrodes in the brains of monkeys —and humans. The psychologist insists "the answers to man's predicament would emerge literally from the cradle": infant conditioning. There is the inevitable text: "Computerizing the Future."

MR. KOESTLER SETS his New Schoolmen, intoxicated from sessions with UNESCO and the President's Advisory Council, around a conference table in an Alpine village discussing "Approaches to Survival" under the sponsorship of the International Academy of Science and Ethics. "A tragicomedy," he subtitles his little scenario, which can be roughly described as a modern version of the Tower of Babel.

Made both arrogant and panicked by what they know and think they know, Mr. Koestler's knowledge-priests rather hysterically vacillate between grand schemes and grand despairs. Will nobody listen? Will nobody listen in time? Why do these other charlatans with their shameless tricks, their obviously phony panaceas, get all the attention?

ONE CANNOT DOUBT that Mr. Koestler has stated, more or less accurately, the dizzy predicament of the present and the near-future. Along with most of his fictional futurologists, he seems to feel that "the survival of the human species is an unlikely possibility." Along with most of his readers, he cannot abide that intolerable prospect. And so, through the voice of the chairman of his symposium, he argues minimally that "a warning must be affirming," not a smug proclamation of disaster by an "expert" making a very good career out of Apocalypse.

Salvation by pills (or electrodes or behavioristic conditions) is repugnant to Mr. Koestler. As he said in "The Ghost in the Machine," he would vastly prefer "spiritual rebirth." But though he may satirize his "call girls," he knows, like them, that the moment is upon us. Whatever we call "man" or "human nature" must demonstrate higher possibilities than in the past. With new powers and old aggressions, the odds against muddling through have skyrocketed.

What do cautionary tales like "The Call Girls" finally say? That man's crisis may be spiritual, but its solution is no longer being left to the spirit. The challenge to those who still believe in "spiritual rebirth" is unequivocal. They, too, are being called. They must prove in day-to-day life that Jonathan Swift's terrible accusation was wrong: "We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to love each other."

Foster Children Meeting Is Set

Interested families may find out what it's like to raise foster children in a special session on foster care on April 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Yolansdale School in San Anselmo.

The event, aimed at families from Central Marin, is the third in a series in the county. David Sexton of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services staff from the county probation department, foster parents and former foster children will speak.

Several county agencies and organizations, including the Fairfax-San Anselmo Child Care Center, will sponsor the session.

Marin Due Branch Of Business Bureau

Marin County will get its own branch of the Better Business Bureau on April 15, the San Francisco office of the bureau announced.

Located at 1010 B Street, Room 310, San Rafael, the branch will offer reliability report services and consumer education materials, as well as handle complaints.

The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Don Schwartz, executive vice president and general manager of the San Francisco bureau, said his office has been receiving up to 125 calls from Marin County each week.

"With the increase in volume and demands on the San Francisco main office and the interest created by local consumers and businessmen, we felt this move to be necessary," Schwartz said.

Farmers knows that people who don't smoke live longer. That's why we created our famous Non-Smoker life insurance policy. Well, now we've found that there's even more to the non-smoker story. Not only do they live longer, but they drive better, too. And we think better drivers deserve a break when it comes to car insurance. That's why Farmers has come up with a new Non-Smoker car insurance policy. If you don't smoke, it could really save you a lot. So, if you've made the decision not to smoke, make the most of it. Especially if you just got a shocker of a renewal bill from your present company. Call a Farmers agent today. Find out how much our new Non-Smoker policy can mean to you.

Judge In Magee Trial Is Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee cursed the judge, and his attorney accused the jurist of trying to coerce a fatigued, deadlocked jury which completed its seventh straight day of deliberations Sunday night.

Bernard Suares, foreman of the jury of six men and six women, told Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin the panel was "hopelessly deadlocked." But the judge urged jurors to keep trying to reach a verdict.

Suares said the jury was split 10-2 on the murder charge and 11-1 on the kidnaping complaint. He gave no indication whether the majority was for conviction or acquittal.

"Further deliberation is of no use," said Suares. "We are hopelessly deadlocked."

Before being locked in their hotel rooms for the night, the panel completed nearly 50 hours of deliberations since receiving the case last Monday. This was a California record for length of deliberation, surpassing the 46 hours it took a jury to convict mass murderer Juan Corona and the 43 hours another panel needed to convict cultist Charles Manson.

Magee was ordered removed from the courtroom when he called Colvin "a hypocrite son of a bitch" for failing to heed his request to have a court stenographer slow down in his rereading of 10 pages of cross examination.

The jury asked for the rereading of Magee's testimony relating to the kidnapping of judge and six hostages during an escape try from a Marin County courtroom, resulting in the killing of Judge Harold J. Haley, near three years ago.

Defense attorney Robert Carrow labeled as "coercive" the judge's ordering of the jury to continue deliberations until it reaches a verdict.

"This court is not trying to coerce the jury in any way, shape or form," said Colvin.

Carrow then asked how long the judge planned to keep the jury deliberating.

"I'll let you know in due course," said Colvin, who ordered the panel to resume deliberations today.

Wounded Knee Talks Show Progress Signs

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Negotiators in the Wounded Knee standoff meet for the third consecutive day today in an effort to end the 34-day-old occupation of the hamlet by militant members of the American Indian Movement.

As the two sides prepared for the meeting, AIM attorney Ramon Roubideaux expressed optimism that the confrontation between armed Indians occupying Wounded Knee and government forces ringing the hamlet was "very close to settled."

However, Kent Frizzell, the Justice Department's chief negotiator, did not echo Roubideaux's optimism. He said between negotiating sessions, AIM militants continued to smuggle ammunition into the besieged hamlet, where some 160 armed AIM supporters continued the occupation in defiance of both federal and Oglala Sioux tribal authorities.

Following Sunday's negotiating session, Frizzell revealed that between 20 and 25 AIM supporters were sighted by government forces Saturday night carrying ammunition into the Wounded Knee perimeter between federal roadblocks Nos. 4 and 5.

He said "two or three" of the ammunition carriers were arrested and that federal officers confiscated one knapsack containing rifle ammunition.

In a joint news conference following Sunday's three-hour meeting, Frizzell and Roubideaux said AIM had submitted a list of 10 demands at the session and that there was agreement on some of the demands.

"I think the progress has been remarkable," Roubideaux said when asked for an assessment of the situation of negotiations. "I think there is substantial agreement on most points. I think we can reach an agreement within the framework of these issues and I think the confrontation is very close to settled."

Roubideaux said that should agreement be reached on the 10 points, AIM occupiers of Wounded Knee would give up the occupation and "go to court."

Frizzell was noncommittal on the future prospects for negotiations.

"I'm not as optimistic as some and not as pessimistic as some," Frizzell said. He said there were a number of issues on which he would have to consult with his superiors in the Justice Department and the Department of Interior while other issues would have to be settled by Congress.

Twin Cities Eye Joint Cooperation

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider a friendly overture from its twin city, Larkspur, at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the town hall.

Larkspur's mayor, William G. Fleckles, in a letter to Corte Madera's mayor, Holmes S. Norville, has asked if Corte Madera is interested in consolidating some services and doing cooperative planning.

The overtures are prompted by the Larkspur Town Meeting, which has suggested the towns investigate sharing tax revenue, particularly that from future developments.

Currently both towns are vying for a regional shopping center, while Larkspur has approved development of the San Quentin Peninsula. The Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferry terminal is to be located in Larkspur.

The Larkspur City Council has suggested a committee be appointed by the Twin Cities to investigate cooperative planning and consolidation of services.

In other action at tonight's meeting, Corte Madera councilmen will be asked to award a contract for a $22,345.67 electronic accounting machine.

Group To Eye County Policy Of Nongrowth

Adoption of a policy of "nongrowth" in county planning will be considered by Marin Alternative at a special meeting on April 12.

The session will be at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

The organization is divided on the issue, with some members calling for a halt to construction while others argue this would be unfair to low-income persons seeking housing in Marin.

TO PLAY TOMORROW

Pianist Ohlsson —Wired, Ready

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Like an athlete preparing to take the field, before a concert pianist Garrick Ohlsson is "like a mattress," springy, tight, wired, ready to play.

And, critics say, he does that as well as most pianists in the world, even more astounding since he will be only 25 tomorrow, the day he is to take the stage with the Marin Symphony at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Ohlsson's ascent to international fame began when he won the Chopin International Competition in Warsaw in 1970, the first American to do so.

"That was a big baby," he said. "Since then business has been good."

There have been concert tours of Europe, North America and Japan, elegant receptions in his honor, recording dates, but Ohlsson, through it all, appears unaffected.

"I am interested in music, food and sex, in that order," he laughed. "Isn't everyone."

Ohlsson is large, gregarious and informal, smiles frequently and looks, at six feet four inches tall and 240 pounds, more like a professional football player than a concert musician.

He is able to span 12 keys with his huge right hand and 11 with his left and his physical size gives him, he said, "a tremendous reserve of power" when he plays, allowing him "domination over the keyboard."

Ohlsson comes to Marin by way of Iceland en route to a concert in Detroit. "Not exactly on my way," he said. But he played here last season and enjoyed it, so he accepted when he was invited back.

The life of the concert pianist is not like the old Merle Oberon movies Ohlsson used to watch on television.

It is hustle and go, airplanes and rehearsals and practice and talks at ladies' clubs, a quick nap, the concert, more rehearsals and planes and so on through 60 performances a season.

"I am basically a home body," he said. "I get nervous and disoriented when I am away from home for more than three weeks at a time.

GARRICK OHLSSON
To play here

"I would love to go to a movie, but I don't get the chance, except on planes."

He said he is looking forward to June and the end of the season when he can "just do nothing" for a few weeks until the summer season begins. "You can kill yourself if you play all the time."

The bearded pianist is not only young but single, and the frequent topic of post-concert receptions, he said, is: "Boy, have I got a girl for you."

When not playing music, he said he likes to get totally away from it, going to play, swimming, playing tennis and skiing until he suffered a shoulder separation a few years ago.

When in New York, his home, he said he tries to "catch up on people," visiting friends left behind while be buzzes around the world on tours.

How great a pianist is he? Will his name be placed among the greats of history?

"I can't worry about a place in history," he said. "At 25, I don't know what I am going to do for the next 50 years of my life."

Ohlsson is primarily a performer rather than a composer and, he said, some of the greatest performers have been forgotten, citing the case of Hoffman. in my wildest dreams can I be as great as he was," he said, then smiled broadly and went on: "I mean I'm terrific and all that but . . ."

Tomorrow night he will play Chopin's "Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra," his playing of which won him the Chopin Competition.

Hugo Rinaldi, director of music for the San Rafael city schools, will be guest conductor of the Marin Symphony. He will conduct "Symphony No. 3" by Copeland and "Concerto for Violin, Cello, Strings and Harpsichord" by Vivaldi.

Troops Leaving Disputed Strip

BEIRUT (UPI) — The newspaper An Nahar said in a dispatch from Kuwait today that Iraqi troops have started withdrawing from a disputed strip of the Kuwait border they occupied March 20.

According to earlier reports from Kuwait, the Iraqis had about 1,500 troops, supported by tanks and other vehicles, in the strip of Persian Gulf coastal plain which Kuwait claimed was its territory. The Iraqis claimed the border had never been officially laid down in the disputed area.

An Nahar said withdrawal of troops which occupied the Kuwaiti border post at Al Samita "started quietly Sunday evening.

Skunk Found To Be Rabid

Laboratory tests of a sick skunk found in Marinwood last week show the animal was rabid, Marin County Health officials said today.

Nancy Ruggeri of the County's rabies control office said the skunk was picked up last Monday by the humane society after residents on Elvia Court observed the animal staggering from the yard at 225 Elvia.

It was the 14th rabid animal identified in Marin during the last six months. There was no human contact with the skunk, health officials said.

The health department warned residents not to approach animals observed acting strangely but instead call the humane society or the rabies control office at the Civic Center.

Bridge Players Heedless Of Mother's Best Efforts

If you were properly brought up, your mother taught you not to frighten other people, especially if they were friends of yours. Since only a cad would try to undo your mother's lessons I wouldn't dream of praising East's unusual play in today's hand.

I merely report it as the sort of thing that sometimes happens when bridge players forget their mothers.

Opening lead — ◇ 10

West opened the ten of diamonds, and East took the king and ace. He needed two more tricks to defeat the contract.

How was he to get them?

Before we go on to what East actually did, let's see what would happen if he made a routine lead, such as a small trump. Declarer would win with the ace of trumps, would cash the ace of spades and would then lead a club to dummy's king in order to return a trump. East would play low, but South would finesse with the ten as a safety play.

SAFETY PLAY

This safety play is the right way to handle the trumps when declarer has no problem in the other suits. Declarer takes one high trump and later leads the next trump toward his hand, with the intention of finessing unless the jack or queen appears.

If the finesse wins, well and good; if it loses, only one trump will be left, and that can be picked up by the remaining top trump.

East could see the safety play coming, for South was a very careful player. The best way to discourage South from executing the safety play was to make him fear that the defense could get a ruffing trick.

SCARED OFF

Hence East returned his deuce of clubs at the third trick. South was frightened away from the safety play because he thought East had led a singleton club.

South therefore hastily drew trumps with the ace and king, thus giving East two trump tricks. Down one.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 8 4
♥ - Q J 5 3
♦ - A K 5
♣ - 8 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Big two diamonds.

Your hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts, but not strong enough for a game-forcing jump to three hearts. Show your strength by "manufacturing" a big in a side suit. You will show your heart support next.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Calling all characters! The following are Public Identities No. 1, wanted for roles they've played. Who are they?

1. SARGEANT FRIDAY is 53 today. You'll have to use a "Dragnet" to catch this suspect. Our all-points bulletin describes him as a white Caucasian male . . . about 5-foot-9-inches . . . 160 pounds . . . dark hair, eyes . . . Born in Santa Monica, Calif., he has used many aliases in picking up prizes and awards, including Pat Novak, Johnny Modero, and Pete Kelly.

2. BARNABY JONES is 65 today. This self-styled private investigator is under television surveillance and may be stealing audience ratings for CBS. His "MO" (modus operandi) goes back to 1928, when he was put in the lineup by Eddie Cantor for making "Whoopee." Later he posed as an oil millionaire, Jed Clampett, moving his family into a rich home in Beverly Hills.

3. THE COLONEL is 59 today. During World War II he cooperated with the Japanese in building "The Bridge on the River Kwai," a deed which Hollywood authorities duly noted on his record at the Academy in 1957. He was the brains of "The Lavender Hill Mob," head of "The Ladykillers," and undercover agent in "Our Man In Havana." London police say he tried to teach Oliver Twist to steal, using Fagin as his name in that caper.

4. BROTHER HERB is 61 today. Records on this case are known worldwide. Taught by his father to make a living in a clip joint, he and his brothers quit the streets of Ohio to work the theater district, became famous in New York, then stormed Hollywood in 1933. Known show stealers, they conspired to sell the public a "Paper Doll" and topped that by making demands with "Yellow Bird." Other members of the trio are Harry, 59, and Don, 57. Do not confuse these brothers with "The Ink Spots."

ANSWERS: 1 - Jack Webb; 2 - Buddy Ebsen; 3 - Alec Guinness; 4 - Herb Mills.

ART REVIEW

Craft And Sculpture Show Has Diversity

By ADA GARFINKEL

No limit on entries and a flexible interpretation by the panel of jurors has produced an imaginatively diversified variety in the Marin Society of Artists craft and sculpture show.

It is not always possible to assess the motivation nor the stages of development which catapults a craft into an art form, but this transformation occurs most noticeably in Bonnie Himberg's "Bewitched," — a woven hanging sculpture with folds, pouches, and feathers. Also in Matilda Franz's woven "Super-Shawl," and Jo Hantman's jutting macrame-and-weaving fetish object.

Ceramics were one of the early media to emerge as sculpture. In this category Phyllis Lynch's interlocking circles and Matilda Franz's graduated stacks of "Porcelain Shadows" are intriguingly compelling in their simplicity and sense of presence.

Points of view tend to creep in no matter what! Catherine Gibson's huge, soft sculpture pair of almost human birds suggests male preference in their titles: "He Is," and "A big new world." And in Gayle Luchessa's "Wall Quilt No. 2," there is both a direct appeal and a value judgment in her appraisal.

A different kind of architectural concept —a mobile city structure — is provided by Bill Lary's "Geometrics." A miniature wooden skyscraper, it is mounted on an astroturf-lined movable dolly.

Some decorative arts have also developed sculptural dimensions, to wit:the silver necklaces with a sculpted bird by Suzanne Roxon and those of Margaret Brewster with a butterfly of fossilized shell on one and a cube of Icelandic spar on the other.

But not all of the entries are non-functional. Among the utilitarian objects — bowls, casseroles, pots, jars, vases, planters, and boxes — Chris Wagener's "Square Box with Lid," Bernadette Cole's copper-red bottle, Clell McKinney's pierced steel candle pedestals, Myra Falch's woven aqua and gold stole, and Ruth Bruce's delicately woven panel are several that stand out.

In an exhibit of 113 items carefully and beautifully installed to allow each object maximum viewing space and attractive settings, there is ample choice to engage one's interest and attention.

Some that deserve special note are: Bernard Healy's "Intarsia Wood Collage," and the unusual picture-making stitcheries of Justine Carey, Helen Maxon, and Bethea Wilson.

Also, Alice Shannon's chunky silver necklace, Frieda Burkhart's three-tiered ring, Lida Dear's gold and jade ring, Vera Allison's ivory and turquoise pendant, and Helena Iron's synthetic sapphire ring.

Cash awards were received by Margaret Webster and Chris Wagener who also received merit awards for other entries, and by Bonnie Himberg and Bill Lary.

Artists receiving merit awards are: Frieda Burkhar. Alice Shannon, Bernadette Cole, Carol Herschleb, Matilda Franz, Bernard Healy, Kamma Zethraus, and Ruth Bruce.

This exhibit will be on view through April 21 and may be seen from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day. The gallery is located in the Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Greek Folksinger Captures Audience

By MARTIN FRICK

Heralded as "the voice that launched five million records," Greek folksinger Nana Mouskouri wandered into the Marin Veterans Memorial Building last night and left again with the hearts of more than a thousand compatriots and friends.

The appealing, bespectacled singer is Everywoman, but when she breathes her songs from the heart, she projects a universality which transcends both sex and nationality.

Although the majority of the audience had come for the Greek songs, Miss Mouskouri varied the program with a healthy smattering of French and English, and in a Flemish windmill song about terminating love, she demonstrated why that part of Europe is unrivalled in the production of chansons. Yet, Miss Mouskouri's voice has more of the breathy sweetness of Joan Baez than the lustiness of Edith Piaff or Jacques Brel, and she used this quality to good effect in the popular "Joie d'Amour" and a haunting song about young boys going off to war in which she was accompanied only by a three-note drum ostinato.

Following a Greek bazouka song (in a style not unlike our Country-Western) about ten dancing men in a taverna, Miss Mouskouri left the stage in the competent hands of the Athenians, her back-up quintet of guitars- bazoukas and percussion under the direction of her husband George.

In the first number, the group vividly highlighted the frequent Greek device of modulating meters and tempos during beguiling accelerandos and crescendos. A Mexican folksong and a scene from Aristophanes' comedy "The Birds," in which each performer portrayed a different bird from an eagle to a chicken, rounded out their portion of their program.

However, throughout the two hours of the concert excluding intermission, this male ensemble supplied solid rhythmic and harmonic support to the singer. Particularly satisfying were their perfectly-blended modal harmonies which introduced the Greek Wilderness song which Miss Mouskouri used to close the first part of the show.

Most of the songs sung in English were undoubtedly translated Greek songs (there were no programs), but "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and even the Beatles' "Let It Be" were included to please everybody.

Tenor Tops In Songs By Beethoven

Tenor James Theodore Gettys presented a lieder recital Saturday evening before 50 people in the auditorium of the San Rafael Improvement Club which was decorated for the occasion with samples of the singer's woodcuts and pastels.

Gettys was at his best in the Six Beethoven Songs with texts by Gellert, for here he let loose his ringing top heldentenor notes and those lower, almost baritone notes, particularly in the famous "Die Ehre Gottes aus der Natur" and "Gottes Macht und Vorsehung."

Unfortunately, the pianissimos were frequently sung in a rather strained falsetto first aparent in Mozart's "Cantate" which opened the program. Although the Mozart text by Ziegenhagen celebrates the same Freemasonry theme as the Gellert, the musical style is considerably different from Beethoven's, and should be sung with a far lighter tone quality and more graceful mien than what we were offered.

The interminable song cycle "Blondina" by Charles Gounod gave the singer an opportunity to explore a wide range of musical and dramatic intensity. However, with the tenor's dramatic credits in Europe, one expected more of the 19th-Century romantic passion here and in Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" which closed the program. Perhaps it was Gettys's dependence upon his scores, ut the dramatic never quite matched the admirable sensitivity he showed for the music.

Pianist Fae McNally, known n Marin County for his ragtime piano playing as well as for founding the Inverness Music Festival, provided sensitive, stylistic accompaniment throughout the recial. M.F.

College 'Fiddler' Roaring Success

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The majority report: College of Marin's latest theatrical venture, the musical "Fiddler on The Roof," is a roaring success.

That was the audience's response Friday night as the college's H. J. Susser, Scott Merrick and Phyllis Murphy collaborated on the every-other-year "big show" in the Fine Arts Theater.

The minority report: "Fiddler" — despite a professional in the role of Tevye — is a long, long show. It starts slow, and not until midway in the first act does the show pick up steam. From then on, there's some theatrical magic which has been seen in previous college musicals.

Dakin Matthews, as the Russian dairyman who just can't bring himself to face changes, holds the evening together pretty well. It's a demanding role and Matthews maintains consistency in his characterization. But Matthews and the whole cast are sometimes slowed down by Merrick's Viennese — waltz approach to the musical score.

When the show is clicking, it's most entertaining. A lot of the credit belongs to Lou Nardi. His choreography is stylish but not too sophisticated for the collegians to execute. The bottle-scene is one of the company's better efforts.

On the whole, the college coaches have given Matthews uniform cast support. Kathleen Quinlan, Karyn Nikas, Diane Schaal and Ericka Lutz are as pretty as pictures as Tevye's daughters, and Bette Besuner takes to her role of Golde with verve.

Robin Williams (Perchik), David Silverman (Mendel) and Mark Schwarz (Motel) add strength. Ericka Lutz handles the role of Yente, the matchmaker, reasonably well.

Ronald E. Krempetz has given "Fiddler" a workable set — easy for scene changes and the colorful costumes compliment the scene very well.

The Jerry Bock-Sheldon Harnick score is very melodic. "Tradition" "Matchmaker" and "If I Were A Rich Man" are the best-known songs. They have a lingering effect.

It's been too long between shows in the 600-seat theater. The place is warm and intimate.

Tickets for the pre-Russian revolutionary period musical, staged jointly by the music and drama departments may be hard to come by. It's been reported the "sold out" sign is up for remainder of the run. The finale is on April 15.

For those who do have tickets, the current exhibit in the theater's art gallery lobby is just as rewarding as the musical. The beautifully finished wood works are a labor of love.

Czech Nonet Gives Great Performance

By VERA M. OLMSTED

A superb group of nine musicians known as the Czech Nonet gave an outstanding performance of rarely heard chamber works yesterday evening in the fourth concert of the Candlelight Chamber Series in the Del Mar School Auditorium, Tiburon.

The solid professionalism of each member was combined with the precision and musicianship of the grou as a whole. The audience applauded so enthusiastically at the end, that the Nonet played an encore, and the audience then stood for the final ovation.

The Czech Nonet was founded in Prague in 1923. Although the membership of the group has varied over the years, its basic aim of publicizing and presenting works by Czech composers has not changed. Almost all of the contemporary pieces they play have been specifically written for the Nonet.

The group is made up of four string instruments violin, viola, cello and double bass), and five winds (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn). This combination is almost a microcosm of a symphony orchestra.

The first three works performed were "Nonet 1" (1952) by Jiri Jaroch, "Nonet" (1959) by Bohuslav Martinu, and "Dancing Preludes" (1955) by Witold Lutoslawski, a Polish composer.

While none of these pieces was written in a very adventuresome contemporary idiom, being essentially neo-classical, they were a welcome relief from the more usual Baroque and classical offerings heard in most chamber concerts.

The second half of the program was devoted to Beethoven's Septet, Opus 20, probably the best known of his early camber works. The Septet is scored for the four strings plus clarinet, bassoon and horn.

The delightful piece is really a divertimento, a work of six movements written in a light and extremely entertaining manner. In the forth movement theme and variations, the players throw the musical line back and forth between each other, and the contrasts between instruments and the variety of timbres are marvelous.

The musicians played this with the same attention to detail and fine ensemble playing they demonstrated in the first half of the program.

This is the second Marin County appearance of the Czech Nonet (the first was in 1969), and if you weren't there last night, don't miss them when they come this way again.

Three Offices Are Burglarized

Three burglaries of Southern Marin offices, with a total value of $5,811 stolen, have been reported by the sheriff's office.

The biggest loss was $4,961 in property stolen on March 19 from the office of psychologist Casandra T. Brothers, 150 Shoreline Highway.

Also reported stolen was office equipment worth $700 taken March 23 from Title Insurance and Trust Co., 104 Tiburon Boulevard, and cash totaling $150 taken on March 25 from Marin Town and Country Pharmacy at the Cove Shopping Center.

STATEMENT OF POLICY REGARDING POLITICAL ADVERTISING

Any political advertisement that is not clearly the personal appeal of the elective candidate or candidates involved must show the name of the sponsoring group together with the name or names of one or more persons officiating for such group and their address.

All political advertisements are payable in advance. Charges are figured at the prevailing flat rate.

Advertising deadlines are 4 p.m., two working days preceding publication. Tuesday advertisements must be in Friday by 4 p.m., Monday advertisements must be in the preceding Friday morning by 11:00 a.m. Any intervening holiday advances the deadline by a day.

No responsibility to show printer's proof is assumed under the above schedule.

If a proof is desired, advertisement must be submitted substantially in advance. Corrections, if any, must be ordered by 4 p.m., two working days preceding publication. Any changes from original copy will be charged for on basis of printing work involved.

Showdown Vote Slated On Gray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three more witnesses may be called to testify this week when the Senate Judiciary Committee holds a showdown vote on President Nixon's nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

Even Gray's supporters concede the nomination is in danger of being rejected, but the White House has denied speculation that Nixon wants to dump Gray and nominate Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen.

A spokesman for Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Sunday night no time has been set for a vote, but the hearings could end this week with testimony from the three witnesses.

The three are Judas Hoback of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington attorney Thomas Lumbard, both connected last year with the Nixon re-election campaign; and Thomas Bishop, a former FBI official. All three previously turned down invitations to appear.

The delay in finishing the hearings has been interpreted by some as an invitation to Gray or the President to withdraw the nomination. However, Eastland said he still believes Gray's nomination will be sent to the Senate and confirmed.

No hearings have been held since March 22 when Gray testified he would continue to send FBI documents to White House counsel John W. Dean III even after Gray stated Dean probably lied to FBI agents last year during the Watergate investixtion.

The White House has denied that Dean lied, but Gray's critics have complained he was not independent of Dean or White House influence during the FBI's probe of the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said in an interview he will move at the first executive session after the hearings are completed to reject Gray's nomination.

Announcer Falls Boarding Yacht

MIAMI (UPI) — Television personality Ed McMahon was hospitalized during the weekend for injuries received aboard a yacht in the Bahamas.

McMahon, 50, had several stitches taken in a cut over his right eye and was treated for bruises on his nose and arm. He was hospitalized Friday night and released Sunday. McMahon, an announcer on the Johnny Carson Show, slipped and fell while trying to board a yacht in choppy seas in the Bahamas Friday night.

General Plan Costs Due Board Study

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. at Civic Center, will study cost estimates of implementing the proposed countywide general plan.

The study is the outgrowth of concerns voiced by some Marin residents that not enough is known of how much the far-reaching plan will cost taxpayers.

The county planning department has estimated the gross cost at about $1.7 billion over the next 20 years for subsidized housing, open space, transit and highways.

The total includes expected federal and state grants, sales and gas taxes, county property taxes and unknown sources.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste has proposed that the county contract with private management consultants to develop a study more accurately reflecting anticipated costs.

Cost of the study would run about $80,000, which Baptiste said may be picked up by the federal government under a planning grant.

The board, which will meet at 8:30 a.m. as the Marin Transit District board, also is scheduled to consider reports on the Children's Treatment Center at Juvenile Hall and proposals for a consumer protection program in Marin.

Equality Drives Women To Drink

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — An expert on alcoholism said Sunday that the trend towards more sexual equality is causing more strain on women—and turning more of them to drink.

W. H. Kenyon said the ratio of women alcoholics to men has changed from one in nine a few years ago to one in four or five now.

"The percentage of males to females is narrowing rapidly," he said. "It would seem that more equality with its added stresses and strains and equal pay with its added freedom is leading to more drinking in women."

Kenyon, the director of the Merseyside council on alcoholism, said there were about 520,000 "problem drinkers" in Britain.

Mill Valley Artist Set Library Display

Photos of Bolinas Lagoon and other Marin County spots, along with pencil drawings, oil paintings and watercolors, all by Mill Valley artist Lorraine D. Weglarz, will be on display at the Mill Valley Public Library from Monday through Friday and again April 16 to 21.

Roughing It In Guatemala Natural For Woman Guide

By BETTY FROST

Miss Liscom was the leader of a three-week Sierra Club hiking and bicycling excursion in Guatemala. The trip included hiking to the top of the 12,362 foot high active Acatanango volcano, and bicycling from Antiqua, Guatemala's picturesque colonial capital, to Panajachel on Lake Atitlan, a distance of about 55 miles. They paddled across Lake Atitlan to the village of San Antonio by dugout canoe, and traveled by native canoe on the Rio Dulce through the tropical jungle to the Atlantic. They saw the stone evidence of the Mayan culture in Tikal and Chichicastenango and stone carvings of the Olmec era, a pre-Mayan culture, near San Pedro.

For Miss Liscom the trip had two highlights. In Antiqua the travelers stayed on a 25-acre coffee finca, owned by Senora Marguerita Dressler, who is a Sierra Club member. She provided lodging for the party of 10.

MEMORABLE, TOO, was the stay in Colotenango. The town of Colotenango was isolated for centuries. The only access to it was a footbridge across a steep gorge. Last year a road was completed, giving the bicyclists an opportunity to enter the village. Miss Liscom had made arrangements with the Rev. Thomas Fox, a Maryknoll missionary, to bring the Sierra Club group to Colotenango during the Fiesta de Candelaria in February.

FATHER FOX had arranged for cots to be set up in a school building for the travelers who stayed for two days. During the fiesta the Cofradia, a lay religious organization, takes an active role. The leader of the Cofradia is permitted to take a statue of a saint from the church to his home. All day and all night during the fiesta the villagers visit the statue and the host must see that all are fed. The townspeople wear costumes and masks and dance in the streets to marimba music. Costumed musicians also play drums and flutes. At night the statue of the Virgin is carried through the streets, followed by a procession of worshippers carrying lanterns. They return the statue to the church. Religious observances are also a part of the fiesta, and it is a popular time for baptisms, Miss Liscom said.

"Our experience at Colotenango was like a visit to the 16th Century," the Sausalito woman said.

This was her fourth trip to Guatemala. She put her passengers on the plane in Guatemala City, Feb. 17, and remained in the Central American country four additional weeks. Included in the party were Herman Borchardt of Greenbrae, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finch of Inverness,, June Geary of San Rafael and Charles Wills of Tiburon.

The additional month the tour leader spent in the back country, scouting locations for future trips. She concentrated on exploring Coban and the Sierra Cuchumatanes regions in Guatemala, and Copan in Honduras. From this experience she has established the itinerary of a trip she will lead next November for Mountain Travel, an East Bay tourist firm. She has great praise for the Guatemala hiking club, the Federacion de Andanismo, whose members assisted the Sierra Club hikers.

THE FRIENDLINESS of the Guatemalans in the back country also impressed Miss Liscom. "Every encounter is like a gift," she said. "They were fascinated with our knapsacks, probably because they carry most burdens on their heads."

MISS LISCOM is no novice to rugged excursions. She has been on two Sierra Club glacier trips to British Columbia, visited volcanoes in Mexico and remote areas in Maui and Lanai, Hawaii. Last fall she hiked through Nepal, walking the 500 miles from Katmandu to Darjeeling in 50 days. She has also taken many trips in the Sierra.

She started hiking on Mount Tamalpais, which she calls "a wonderful Walden to have in your back yard."

She says her "favorite indoor sport is cooking." She has cooked and planned meals for a number of long hikes. To eliminate both weight and bulk, all foodstuffs are taken out of their original wrappings, repackaged in plastic bags, and labeled for the meal and the day. Within these limitations she manages some gourmet meals, such as the chicken curry with six condiments, preceded by Pimm's Cup which she served on the trail in Guatemala.

Because of her cooking expertise, the Diabo Unified School District hired Miss Loscom as a food consultant. She taught the students how to plan and prepare meals for field trips to the Big Sur and the Sierra Nevada.

TRAVEL HAS been a part of the woman's life pattern since her college days, when she conducted a tour of American Field Service students to Washington, D.C. Later she took a group to Switzerland for the Experiment In Living program.

She grew up in Southern California, and received her early education in La Canada schools. She received a degree from the University of Southern California in dental hygiene, and she took many nutrition courses at the university.

She is employed as a dental hygienist by Dr. Martin Brownstein of Sausalito and other dentists in San Francisco. One of the dentists for whom Linda works, Dr. Lauro Quiros of San Francisco, joined her excursion to Guatemala. Dr. Quiros told Miss Liscom he was tired of hearing about her trips, and wanted to go on one. He bought a bicycle and worked on fitness training for six months. Then he volunteered to take car of the expedition's first aid needs.

What next for the traveler? "I want to go to Ecuador, Peru and the South Pacific," she said, dreamily.

LINDA LISCOM reminisced about her hiking-bicycling trip through Guatemala in her home in Sausalito. She is wearing the handwoven costume typical of the Guatemala highlands, and holds a pre-Columbia era bowl found in the Central American country.

AT THE EDGE of the crater of Santa Maria Volcano in Guatemala, Linda Liscom admires the view. Climbing to the top of the 12,362 foot high volcano was one of the accomplishments of the Sierra Club excursion to Guatemala which Miss Liscom led earlier this year.

Cut Sugar

LOMA LINDA (UPI) — The average person should cut his sugar intake by half, according to Loma Linda University nutritionist Dr. U. D. Register. "It's been found," he said, "that sugar depresses the ability of the white blood cells to destroy bacteria by 50 per cent."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Burial At Sea: Love At Halftime: Leg Men? Depends On The View

DEAR HELEN:

Recent letters in your column discussed the high cost of dying. How about burial at sea?

I have thought this over and the following plan appeals to me: In my will there will be allocated the small sum necessary to hire a small fishing boat. All friends and relatives inclined to make the trip beyond the three-mile limit will be welcome.

After the clergyman has said his prayer and I have been eased over the side (suitably wrapped and weighted), my will shall provide that beer and fishing tackle be distributed.

I want my survivors to remember me with a smile. All I ask is that after I have dropped into the briny deep, they call me chum. — A.W.F.

DEAR A:

Whatever sends you on. (But there may be some legal complications.)

Non-fishermen won't get your double meaning, chum, but it's just as well. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN:

With the football season over, I'd like to ask equal time as opposed to a number of football widows who have voiced their feelings in your column To wit:

Weekends are the only leisure time we working men have. What's wrong with watching our favorite athletic competition?

I say football widows (so called) are making a serious error when they put themselves in competition with The Game. When men watch sports in preference to watching their charms, they consider it rejection, and then resort to all these snide psychological combat techniques such as telling us that too much TV sports may make us lose our sex drive.

Gals, it simply isn't that way at all. I personally enjoy sex, but not exclusively. Men are not one-sided, one-track creatures. Women's lives are more centered around home and husband, but men need more balanced diets, and women are only one of the needs. — SOUTHEASTERN FOOTBALL ADDICT

DEAR SFA:

Besides, there's always halftime . . . — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments from men, re mini vs. long skirts and pants (which "Leg Man" resented).

I'm a 51-year-old semi-square, happily married to a gal with beautiful legs, and I side with "Leg Man."

Many women look great in long pants, but, please, not all the time.

I say — up with skirts and down with pants. — HAPPY GRANDPA

DEAR HELEN: "Leg Man" gets no sympathy from me. It's cold this time of year. Why should I insist my girl wear clothes that will give her the chills? Since she put on long skirts, I've noticed things about her I took for granted before — her pretty large eyes and cute little nose. And when summer comes, I'll notice her legs more because she hasn't been showing them every day in a miniskirt.

After all, I know they're still there, and long skirts make her look very feminine in other ways.

If a guy only appreciates his girl's legs and nothing else about her, he doesn't deserve her. — JACK

DEAR HELEN: I wear clothes for comfort. "Comfort" is long skirts and pants, one of the big reasons being — I don't have to worry about runs in my hose. — LEGGY and FEMININE

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? a Fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

Her husband is the son of Mrs. Frances M. Kosydar of Portland. He is a graduate of Madison High School in Portland and Portland State University. Joseph is the brother of John, Christine, Karl and Ginger Kosydar.

MONEY MATTERS

Today's Affluent Teens Need Financial Guidance

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

"Son, could you lend me a few bucks?" This may not be an unusual request these days. After all, most teen-agers are "in the money."

It is obvious from statistics compiled by the United States Census Bureau. They add up to this fact: Some 12,500,000 teenagers between 14 and 19 ran up earnings totaling more than $132,700,000 in 1971.

Boys who worked in that year had an average income of $1,631. Girls earned an average of $932.

It's comparatively new, this teen-age affluence. Their parents can remember the day when young people had little money of their own. But today it is not unusual for the high school contingent to have cars, buy their own clothes, and even travel to Europe with teen-age groups.

AS TO the effect of this comparative wealth on the "now generation," there seem to be mixed emotions.

"Some people feel teen-agers have too much money today, that they don't know how to handle it and are often wasteful," according to education program specialists in the U.S. Office of Education.

What can be done about it? Should they be taught the value of money in the schools? Or is this the responsibility of parents?

Both schools and parents are having a word with the young people on the subject.

Schools are doing so with modernized consumer-education courses — courses specifically geared to the interests and needs of the teen-ager. Some of them even get down to the nitty-gritty of how to buy a car, how to finance it, how to operate it economically.

Both boys and girls are interested in clothes. They want to look sharp and yet not spend all their money on them. Special consumer-buying courses include tips on this, too.

MOST YOUNGSTERS," he says, "receive their allowances in one of two ways. Money is provided for personal expenses — treats, gifts, movies, etc. on a regular basis. School lunch money is usually doled out separately.

"Or, daily cash may be given the child in a regular manner with a special allowance now and then for week-end fun occasions, plus a few minor luxuries."

A final word to parents: "Manage your own finances carefully. Children are apt to pick up their parents' habits, good or bad."

Robert Sloss Claims Miss Ann Forsham

Ann Campbell Forsham of Mill Valley and Robert Joseph Sloss of Palo Alto were wed Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter H. Forsham, in Mill Valley.

A reception at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley followed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Thomas Cheetham, and Elizabeth Forsham, and other members of the wedding party were Phillip Dwight and Robert Herrmann.

The bridge is the granddaughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. Stewart Campbell of Wilmot, N. H., and Mrs. Augusta Forsham of Cambridge, England, She attends Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sloss of San Francisco are Robert's parents. He is a graduate of Rutgers University. The bridegroom is employed by Connor Springs Manufacturing Co. in Palo Alto.

Social Dance Club Formed In Santa Rosa

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Van Hoosen of Santa Rosa have started a new social club for dancers in Marin and Sonoma counties, which includes single people and couples.

The Van Hoosens met at the Singles Dance Club and were married last New Year's Eve. Mr. Van Hoosen is president of the club, and the former June Schultz of Santa Rosa, Mrs. Van Hoosen, is vice president of the new club. Carol De Mio is secretary.

The club specializes in all old-time dancing. The next dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. today at the Santa Rosa Hotel. The club plans to form its own band and on May 5 will begin to meet at the Petaluma Woman's Club.

The Wrap Turban

The jersey wrap turban will be turning many a head this season. For evening: in the same fabric as the gown or palazzo pants, sometimes with a floaty attached scarf. For day: matched to the outfit or color accents for pale, pretty colors.

Reports Differ On Coffee Effect

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Coffee drinkers: is java good or bad? You have a choice of reports and answers. One from Boston University and published in Lancet, a British medical journal, suggests a relationship between heavy coffee drinking and heart disease.

But D. Siegfried Heyden, professor of community health sciences at Duke University, says his studies confirm earlier findings to the contrary —that is, that there is no link between heavy coffee drinking and a high incidence of heart disease.

He also found no significant difference between the cholesterol, blood sugar and uric acid levels and blood pressure of heavy coffee drinkers and non-drinkers of coffee.

Carole Dean Woodworth Is Married

The marriage of Carole Dean Woodworth and Stanley Craig Chapman, both of San Anselmo, took place Saturday at noon at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo and was attended by immediate family members only.

The bride's sister-in-law, Sherry Woodworth of Salinas, was matron of honor, and Keith E. Chapman of Novato was his brother's best man.

Family members attended a reception following the ceremony at the Caprice restaurant in Tiburon.

Carole is the daughter of Mrs. Stannard A. Woodworth of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Woodworth. She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and the Rudolph Schaeffer School of Design in San Francisco. The bride also attended the University of California at Berkeley. She is employed by George Meu and Associates Architects in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Edward Champman of San Anselmo are the bridegroom's parents. He is a graduate of Drake High School and California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. Stanley is the grandson of Mrs. Margurite Lutgens of San Anselmo, and he is the brother of Mrs. Daniel Divita of Petaluma. He is employed by Gordon H. Ball, Inc., in Danville.

Following a wedding trip on the northern coast of California the couple will live in Walnut Creek.

A sun hat with a shoulder-wide brim and a long-sleeved jumpsuit will protect th home gardener who can't stand much sun.

Blacks' Blood Contains Skin Cancer Antibodies

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — A husband-wife research team said Sunday the blood of 80 per cent of American blacks may contain an effective tool for combatting malignant melanoma, a dangerous type of skin cancer.

Dr. Karl-Eric Hellstrom and his wife Ingred, both faculty members at the University of Washington's School of Medicine in Seattle, said their discovery was made by accident.

Their report to science writers came at a special seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

The Swedish-born scientists reported in the past that substances they call blocking antibodies are apparently able to stop lymphocytes — disease fighting cells in the blood — from attacking cancer cells. This allows tumors to grow and kill patients.

While trying to determine how these antibodies may be unblocked, they "completely by accident" stumbled on natural substances that do just this, they said.

"Serum from blacks seems to have this unblocking ability," Mrs. Hellstrom said, and thus leaves the patient's own lymphocytes free to attack the melanoma tumors. About 80 per cent of America's blacks seem to have that serum, she said.

"Blacks' plasma, the lymphocytes, seems to kill melanoma but has no effect against normal cells or other types of tumors," she said.

She said that this skin cancer "is very rare among Negroes in the United States although a different type of melanoma is found among African blacks. In fact, many clinicians I contacted have never even seen a melanoma among blacks."

Melanoma is a free-spreading cancer difficult to cure. It is known, however, as the "black cancer" because these tumors produce the melanin which is responsible for skin pigmentation.

"We're saying that plasma from blacks may be able to change the picture (of malignant melanoma) in the favorable way," she said.

"We think it will take two or three years before we know anything."

Mrs. Hellstrom mphasized that their research in the use of Negro lymphocytes has been restricted to test tubes only.

Her husband said that the finding could eventually "change the immunological picture."

Alcohol Abuse Workshop Is Set

A workshop on community efforts to curb alcohol abuse will be held Saturday at Olney Hall, College of Marin, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m

The Alcohol Information Committee, Marin Association for Mental Health and Marin Community Mental Health Services Department will sponsor the session, "Getting It Together."

Among the speakers will be Don Cahallan, professor of behavioral science at the University of California at Berkeley, who will discuss research on alcoholism with progress towards its prevention.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Friday that the workshop would be held last Saturday.

Shopping Center Art Festval Set

Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center will hold a spring art festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until dark.

The show will include oil paintings, watercolors, sketches, glass and metal sculpture, wallhangings and macrame, candle holders and other pieces.

About 200 artists will participate including: from Mill Valley painter Bob Pepper, photographer Donald Perry and sculptor Rich Haupt.

Whistles Carried To Thwart Thieves

BOSTON (UPI) — Residents on Boston's wealthy Beacon Hill plagued by a recent rash of holdups and muggings, have begun carrying whistles to call for help.

"We're urging everyone on the hill to have a whistle," said Democratic state Rep. Barney Frank, whose district includes the quiet, fashionable neighborhood bordering the Massachusetts State House.

Timing Seen Critical In Cancer Drug

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — The same drug might save or kill a cancer patient, depending on the time of day the patient gets it, according to a researcher from the University of Minnesota.

Results of experiments on mice show that the body's own cycles and rhythms have a pronounced effect on arabinosyl cytosine, a drug commonly used on cancer patients, said Dr. Franz Halberg.

Halberg spoke Sunday to the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar.

The problem with anti-cancer drugs, he said, is that in destroying the cancer cells they also destroy the bone marrow tissue that manufactures the antibodies needed to protect against infections.

Halberg cited studies showing that cancerous mice, treated with the drug, lived or died according to the time it was given, and the dosage pattern.

The organs of the body follow "circadian rhythms," he said, becoming more or less active at certain times in a 24-hour cycle.

Mice receiving the drug in fixed doses at three hour intervals died, Halberg said.

Those that received the same amount of the drug, but in gradually increasing and decreasing doses at three hour intervals, survived, apparently because the strongest dosages were administered when the bone marrow cells were dormant and least susceptible to damage, and the lowest dosages were given when the marrow cells were most sensitive, he said.

In applying the research findings to humans, he said, there is the problem of determining what the individual patient's cycles are, "but the least we could do to get things started is to give the drugs at the times we found to be best for mice."

Dr. Robert A. Good, president of the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Institute in New York, who aided in the study, said some of its principles would be applied at his hospital.

Duo-Piano Recital

Fairfax pianist James B. Conway will play in a duo-piano recital at 8 p.m. April 14 at the Chapel of the Chimes, 4499 Piedmont Avenue, Oakland, with Ronald Cole, a San Ramon pianist. Both men teach piano in Marin.

I LOST 600 POUNDS
THE SAME 10 POUNDS 60 TIMES.
DIETS? I'VE TRIED THEM ALL.

1. I lost weight so slowly, I got discouraged & quit.
2. I had weird cravings. I would have killed for a hot Fudge Sundae!
3. One slip and my will power disappeared. The result? An eating orgy until I gained back everything I lost.
4. Ten days on a diet, and I became too cranky and irritable to live with.
5. I became depressed, and after each failure, hated myself a little bit more.
6. I found I couldn't tolerate hunger, it was no fun to starve.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE YOU?

Well I have solved all these problems. After 4 years of research, I developed a natural method of losing weight, and lost 55 lbs. in 2½ months. NO hunger! NO depression! NO cravings! ½ lb. to 1½ lbs. a day. I've shared this method with hundreds. I'll share it with you. If you're interested call us or write and we'll send you a tape cassette that tells the whole story. If you don't have a tape player or can't borrow one call for an appointment and come in and listen to it.

KITING ON A FAIR DAY

The rolling hills of Marin scouting's Camp Tamarancho were studded this weekend with hundreds of people, all of them like these turning out to fly kites in high winds and sunny skies. Cub Kite derby chairman, estimated more than 850 parents and cubs showed up. In the case of the young man in the foreground, his kite is out of sight. And in the case of the kite aloft, its owner is out of sight.

Parachutist Plummets To Death

ELSINORE, Calif. (UPI) — A skydiver, his wrists apparently broken by a 150-mile-per-hour collision with another parachutist breaking away from a tricky 10-man star formation, struggled helplessly with his ripcord as he fell 3,500 feet to his death Sunday.

Toby M. Radecke, 29, of Los Angeles, smashed to earth in a backyard in the Sedco Hills south of Lake Elsinore.

John V. Hover, 21, of Loma Linda, Calif., a dental student, was knocked out by the impact with Radecke, seconds after Hover's parachute opened. He was unconscious when he landed, and was reported in fair condition at Loma Linda Medical Center with a possible broken spine and internal injuries.

Both were veteran skydivers. Hover had made 100 jumps and Radecke, who held an expert rating from the U.S. Parachute Association, was making his 332nd kmp.

With eight other parachutists, they bailed out of a twin-engine Beechcraft at 12,500 feet to form a star, a demanding and dangerous maneuver requiring control and nerve. Skydivers "fly" their bodies, by muscular control, until all jumpers are on the same level, then come together in a circle and join hands as they plummet earthward.

The more participants, the riskier the jump because of the greater complexity in forming the star and the increased hazard of collisions after breaking out of the pattern as the jumpers open their chutes, abruptly cutting their speed— like motorists slamming on their brakes on a crowded superhighway.

The jumpers broke out of the star at 3,500 feet, they said.

Hover's chute had just deployed when Radecke, still moving at top speed, slammed into hi.

Radecke could be seen trying to pull the ripcord handles on both his main and stomach mounted reserve parachutes, ground observers said, but could not get them open, apparently because of broken wrists suffered in the collision.

Gary Douris, general manager of the Elsinore Paracenter, said he inspected Radecke's reserve chute after the tragedy and found it working properly.

El Al Official Talks Wednesday

An executive of El Al Airlines will talk about Israel's place in history and the nation's 25th anniversary in a program Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Congregation Rodef Sholom, San Rafael.

Capt. Leo Gardner, executive director of the airlines' northwest region, will also talk about a congregation-sponsored tour of the Holy Land which will depart June 25.

The Marin Jewish Community Center and the congregation are cosponsoring Wednesday's program.

Changes In Baseball Don't Come Easily

With the start of baseball season only three days away, fans around the nation are ready to go out and prove that the grand old sport is not dying. Interest, at least in the Bay Area, seems to be very high.

This is especially true for the A's fans, running over with enthusiasm which only a world championship can give you. Kindling a lot of this interest in the American League is the new designated hitter rule which will keep the pitcher in the dugout while a slugger lumbers to the plate in his place. It puts nine batters in the lineup instead of eight and a pitcher.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE didn't adopt the rule and it's too bad. Much of the citizenry of the U.S., including sports followers, want changes of all kinds. They're demanding changes "Now!" Baseball, more than other sports, is reluctant to make changes. The leaders don't want to tamper with the rules. But a change such as the DH rule will add to the game and build up interest, and this will be advantageous to the A.L.

Too many times the situation comes up when a team intentionally walks the No. 8 man with two outs so it can throw to the pitcher who usually strikes out or pops up. If that No. 8 man is walked now, the pitcher will have to face some slugger who does nothing but sit in the dugout until it's his turn to swing a bat. He's the specialist, such as the place kicker in football.

American League officials, in hopes of ending talk that baseball hasn't changed in the last three quarters of a century, have come up with a list of changes in the ame from 1887 to the present.

HERE'S A LIST of the changes:

1887 — The strike zone was established at the top of the shoulders to the bottom of the knee.

1891 — Substitutes were permitted for a reason other than injury.

1893 — The distance between the plate and the pitcher's rubber was set at 60 feet, 6 inches.

1895 — The infield fly rule adopted with one out and first and second or first, second and third bases occupied.

1901 — Revision of the infield fly rule to no outs as well as one out.

1920 — Abolishment of the spitball (Don't tell Gaylord Perry).

1926 — A ground rule double for a ball batted over a fence less than 250 feet from the plate.

1931 — A fair ball bouncing through or over a fence or into the stands ruled6a ground rule double and not a home run.

1950 — The strike zone defined as from the armpit to the top of the knee.

1963 — The strike zone defined as from the top of the shoulder to the bottom of the knee.

1969 — The strike zone changed to the armpit to the top of the knee.

After looking at the list, I have to admit that

FALL OF A PENGUIN

St. Louis Blues' Barclay Plager (center) caught Pittsburgh Penguins' Bryan Hextall (7) off guard and flipped his rival in the first period Saturday of a National Hockey League game in St. Louis. The Blues Danny O'Shea (22) looked on. St. Louis won, 7-2, to clinch an NHL playoff berth. See NHL story, page 24.

Bucks Find Another Hurdle To Overcome

Warriors Deadlock NBA Series

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — "We've had hurdles to overcome all year and this is just one more hurdle."

With those words, Larry Costello tried to explain his Milwaukee Bucks' 95-92 defeat by Golden State Sunday afternoon. The loss evened the best of seven playoff series at one game each and the two teams now move to Oakland for games No. 3 and 4.

But it's going to be more than a simple hurdle for the Bucks, who had a 15-game winning streak snapped by the Warriors who used a tough, over-playing defense to beat the Bucks. It also broke a jinx of sorts that the Bucks had held over the National Basketball Association Warriors.

In seven previous meetings this year the Bucks had won six games and Golden State was badly outplayed most of the time. This time they were not outplayed. The Warriors forced the Bucks out of the kind of game they like to play.

"When you get a lead on the Bucks it feels good," Warrior forward Cazzie Russell said. "When they're trailing they tend to hurry up a little bit and they're a lot better when they can set up and run this stuff."

Russell was the hero for the Warriors, coming off the bench when Rick Barry sprained his ankle only two minutes into the game. Russell had 19 points in the first half and finished with 25.

"There were no heros for us," Warrior Coach Al Attles said. "Cazzie gave us a tremendous lift with his shooting when he came in, but we need a team effort to beat the Bucks and that's what we got."

The Warriors also had a little luck as the Bucks stormed back from a 91-81 deficit with 2:25 left in the game. Four baskets by Lucius Allen and a three point play by Oscar Robertson against a basket by Golden State's, Jeff Mullins drew the Bucks to within one point at 93-92. But Mahdi Abdul-Rahman made two free throws with seven seconds left to preserve the Warriors' win.

Until the final seconds the Warriors were in command all the way with their pressure defense providing the spark. Time and again the Bucks were forced to break a pattern and take a bad shot. Milwaukee shot only 35 per cent in the first half and finished with 41 per cent, Warriors shot 47.

Giants, Dodgers To Renew Rivalry

Televised Game Set In Phoenix Tonight At 7

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Baseball's oldest and most bitter rivalry will be renewed for the first time this season tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers come to town to play the San Francisco Giants in a game to be televised widely in the west on Channel 2, 7 o'clock.

The Dodgers bowed to the California Angels and Nolan Ryan, 2-1, Sunday before 21,000 in Los Angeles while the Giants, their vaunted bats very much in evidence, rallied for a pair of eighth inning runs to beat the Oakland A's, 10-9, before a full house of nearly 7,000 here.

The Giants built a 6-0 lead on Vida Blue in three innings on a series of extra base hits but the A's came back to tie the score at 7-7 in the seventh and went ahead 9-8 in the eighth before the Giants pulled it out. An infield out by Dave Kingman scored the tying run and a single by Garry Maddox produced the winning run.

Their hot hitting kept up the Giants' fearsome averages. Willie McCovey is now batting .389, Tito Fuentes .386, and Maddox is close behind them at .370.

On Saturday the A's piled up 10 runs on as many hits off a succession of Giants' pitchers — starting with ace Juan Marichal who left early with a pulled calf muscle and is a questonable starter on opening day in Cincinnati.

A .389 hitter

Jim Barr, although roughed for a pair of eighth inning runs, gained the victory while Rob Gardner took the loss. Jim Willoughby had started for the Giants but ran out of gas in the seventh when the A's finally tied the score.

The Giants and Dodgers meet again Tuesday night in the final exhibition game of the spring for San Francisco. The Giants help the Cincinnati Reds open the regular national league campaign on Thursday.

The Dodgers wind up their spring work on Wednesday against the A's in nearby Mesa, then go to San Diego for their season opener on Friday against the Padres.

Pond Lifts Novato '9' To Victory

Jeff Pond drove in four runs with inside-the-park home run and the gax-winning sacrifice fly Saturday night as Novato High School defeated Terra Linda, 5-4, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game before about 350 fans at Albert Field.

Pond gave Novato (2-0 in the league) a 3-0 lead in the first inning when, following walks to Jeff Rubino and Dan Metzger, he blasted a drive over the cener fielder's head and it rolled to the dugout of the softball field opposite the baseball diamond.

Terra Linda (1-1) tied the game in the third on a two-run double by Greg Chapman followed by a double by relief pitcher Mark Mueller. The Trojans went ahead in the fourth when Lee Peterson's bloop sinle scored pinch-runner Dale Smith, but Novato tied the game in the fifth when Terra Linda committed all three of its errors to allow an unearned run.

Shot Putter Oldfield In Sprint Win At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — What the fledgling International Track Association needs more than anything else is a world class athlete who is also a character.

It may have found the perfect man in Brian Oldfield, the precocious shot putter who Sunday night at San Francisco's half empty Cow Palace put his money where his mouth is.

Oldfield, who defies all standard rules of conditioning, took the world indoor record to 69 feet 11 ½ inches, and not content with the victory, he hammed it up for an announced crowd of 6,364 by taking on Lacey O'Neal in a 30-yard sprint.

No one expected the curley-locked, chain-smoking giant to even get out of the blocks against the female sprinter. But he exploded out of them and beat Miss Lacey as the crowd roared in approval.

"That ought to shut up the broads," Oldfield said in jest. "Maybe I shouldn't do such things," he added in a more serious tone, "but I want to have fun being a champion."

No question, Oldfield was the top performer in the ITA's fourth meet. After laying bombs in Los Angeles and Portland following a good start at Pocatello, the pro stars put on an entertaining show here.

John Radetich, who took the high jump world mark to 7-4 ¾ a month ago, almost duplicated the feat with a 7-4 winning report, Lee Evans held off Larry James for his fourth victory in the 500 run, Australian Chris Fisher took the 1,000 in the good time of 2:06.9, and Kip Keino, improving with each meet, won the mile in 4:04.4 in other events of note.

But Oldfield easily was the star of the show. He suffered a twinge in his throwing elbow on an early throw and when it seemed that neither Randy Matson, the world outdoor record holder, not Karl Salb could beat him, he uncorked his winning form on the final attempt.

It was a $1,000 throw. Under the ITA format, Oldfield got $500 for winning the event, the fourth time he has won it, and an additional $500 for setting the world record. That boosted Oldfield's earnings in four meets to $2,550, tops on the tour.

Evans boosted his earnings to $2,500 to trail Oldfield by $50. Warren Edmonson, unbeaten in three 60-yard races, lost by a hair to Jean-Louis Ravelomanantsoa but still picked up $250 to stand third on the money list with $2,142.

In other events, Leon Coleman won the 60 hurdles in 7.1, Dennis Phillips took the pole vault at 16 feet even when Bob Seagren withdrew because of injury, and Henry Hines beat world record holder Bob Beamon in the long jump, 26-5 ¾ to 26-3 ½.

Jim Ryun proved a disappointment again. He pulled a muscle warming up for the mile and was forced to withdraw.

GREATER GREENSBORO OPEN

Casper Meditates, But Graham Rallies To Earn Tie For Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Billy Casper, who says he likes slow play because it gives him a chance to meditate, had better be doing some $42,000 worth of meditating about Lou Graham today.

That's how much the winner's share of the $210,000 Greater Greensboro Open is worth, and the two were battling down to the wire for the check to be awarded after today's final round.

Perhaps Graham caught Casper meditating Sunday, but whatever it was, he gained four strokes to Casper's three in the rain-delayed third round, leaving the two tied at 14-under-par after three days of play.

Officials had hoped to finish both of the final two rounds Sunday but the 7,021-yard Sedgefield Country Club course was still too soggy Sunday morning, allowing only a single late-starting round in the afternoon.

By late afternoon, the sun was shining brightly, however, and so was Graham, who had been an anonymous touring pro until winning last year's Liggett and Myers Open at Pinehurst, N.C.

The field was to start on both

Three Key Topics At NFL Meeting

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Expansion, rules changes and sites for the 1975 super and pro bowls were the key items on the agenda today as National Football League owners opened their annual meeting.

No formal presentations were expected from cities hoping for expansion clubs but the league's 26 owners will decide whether expansion from the present setup is feasible'in the near future. Among the leading candidates for expansion clubs should the measure go through are Seattle, Tampa, Honolulu, Mexico City, Memphis, Jacksonville, Phoenix, Birmingham, Montreal and Toronto.

No expansion is expected, however, before the 1976 season.

The Super Bowl site for January, 1975, will be announced late Tuesday afternoon after presentations from Los Angeles, Miami and New Orleans. The 1974 Super Bowl is scheduled for Houston.

Birmingham and Jacksonille, two of the expansion hopefuls, will make presentations for the 1975 Pro Bowl. Next year's Pro Bowl is scheduled for Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

The key rules changes to be discussed concern the two-point conversion, a feature of the old American Football League in its 10-year existence. The rule would give a team scoring a touchdown the option of kicking a one(point conversion or running or passing for two points.

There is also strong sentiment for the sudden death overtime among owners although pressure against it from the players association might force its defeat. The players association is arguing for overtime pay, claiming sudden death is not covered in their current contract.

Other rules changes under consideration include revision in pass reception rules, moving the goal posts from the goal line to the end line and a standard numbering system according to a player's position.

The owners will also discuss possible forfeiture of draft choices for tampering with assistant or head coaches, extension of the inter-conference trading deadline and a proposal that the club with the best winning record gain the home field advantage in playoff and championship games.

The meetings are expected to run through Friday.

TOGNOLI FOURTH IN BOAT RACE

REDONDO BEACH — Steve Tognoli of Fairfax did by accident what some power boat skippers probably would like to do by design — run into the officials' boat — enroute to a fourth-place finish Saturday in the Bushmills-KBIG Grand Prix offshore race.

The race was won by Art Morris of Miami at an average speed of 61.9 miles an hour over the choppy 200-mile course. His elapsed time was three hours and 19 minutes, six minutes better than runner-up Sandy Satullo of Cleveland.

Tognoli, fresh off his victory two weeks ago in the Mission Bay Classic, suffered steering cable failure as he approached the Anacapa Island check boat, and brushed it.

The officials, reasoning that Tognoli was a victim of mechanical failure and probably didn't harbor any latent hostility, let him go on after engineer Chuck Peri made the necessary repairs to the boat, Dante's Inferno I. Tognoli finished nine minutes behind third-place Bob Magoon of Miami.

Cage Picks Headed By Walton, Ratleff

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA's Bill Walton, who turned down a chance to join the National Basketball Association next season as a hardship case, shared top honors with Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State today in voting by NBA coaches for their 1973 College All-America team.

Walton and Ratleff, repeaters from last year's team, each collected 16 votes from the coaches who were asked to pick the nation's five best college players without regard to position, class or future professional potential.

Others named to the first team were Doug Collins of Illinois State with 15 points, David Thompson of North Carolina State, 10, and Jim Brewe of Minnesota, 9. Thompson is ty only sophomore on the squad.

The coaches' second team is made up of Ernie DiGregorio, Providence; Dwight Lamar, Southwest Louisiana; Ron Behagen, Minnesota, John Brown, Missouri, and Mike Green, Louisiana Tech.

Keith Wilkes of UCLA and Tom Henderson of Hawaii received honorable mention.

Jack Ramsey, coach of the Buffalo Braves, calls Walton "the most dominant big man in college since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar," thinks Ratliffe "has excellent pro potential as a swingman" and believes Thompson "may be the most gifted all-around player since Oscar Robertson."

San Rafael Booters Lose To East Bay

SAN FRANCISCO — Ed Wright scored the first goal for the "Baggie Pants" of San Rafael, but the East Bay Strollers rallied to take a 2-1 victory Saturday in a soccer game played before bout 750 fans at City College of Sanrancisco.

The game was one ot several events of the San Francisco Highland Gathering, an annual program of Scottish music and sport.

Youth Soccer Forfeit

San Francisco — Mill Valley United was awarded a forfeit victory over the Olympic Club yesterday in the San Francisco Flame League under 12 standings. Olympic Club won the game, 4-1, but used over-age players.

Sweden Surprises In Hockey

MOSCOW (UPI) — A charged-up, hustling Swedish squad scored two goals in the final period today to upset defending champion Czechoslovakia 2-0 in the World Ice Hockey Championships.

Dan Soderstroem, nearly the goat when he missed a clear shot from just outside the crease only minutes before, turned hero when he slid a rebound under Czech goalie Jiri Holecek with five and one-half minutes left to play.

Sweden's win, their second straight after crushing Poland 11-2 Sunday, put them in first place with the Soviet Union.

The Swedes outscrambled the sluggish Czechs from the start. The World Champions, who had trouble getting started in their opener against Poland Saturday, had more of the same problems today.

MARIN SCHEDULE

Terra Linda Vs. Novato In Golf

Marin County Athletic League seasons in golf and tennis are scheduled to open today and tomorrow, with an important early-season clash of golf favorites Terra Linda and Novato scheduled Thursday at Marin Country Club.

The confused picture in track and field may begin to clear Friday when undefeated Tamalpais (3-0) hosts undefeate San Marin (2-0).

Pitching staffs of the MCAL baseball teams will be tested this week, as six of the eight teams will be forced to play three games due to rainouts last week. Pre-season favorites Redwood and Novato will clash Friday in Larkspur.

Second place in swimming will be on the line tomorrow when San Rafael visits Terra Linda. The teams are tied with 6-2 records behind Redwood's 7-0.

WHA ROUNDUP

North Stars Win Big One — Off Ice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

After scrambling through a rugged 78-game schedule, the Minnesota Fighting Saints scored their biggest victory of the year exactly two days after their season ended—without as much as lifting a stick.

This came about late Sunday night when the World Hockey Association's trustees upheld a protest by Minnesota and scheduled a playoff game between the Saints and Alberta Oilers to determine fourth place in the Western Division.

The two teams had concluded their regular season's work on Friday night tied with 79 points, but a rule adopted March 21 gave the Oilers the playoff berth because they had a better record than Minnesota against West Division rivals. However, the Fighting Saints contended that rules in effect at the beginning of the season called for a playoff game to settle any ties that existed for fourth place.

WHA President Gary Davidson, who polled the league's 12 trustees to decide the issue, announced that the playoff game to determine the first round opponent for Winnipeg will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday and will be played either at Calgary or Vancouver.

Four games were played Sunday on the windup day of the regular campaign. In the most significant of these, the Philadelphia Blazers claimed third place in the East by beating Winnipeg, 4-2, while the Ottawa Nationals were dropping a 6-3 decision to the Houston Aeros. Elsewhere, the Cleveland Crusaders beat the Chicago Cougas, 5-1, and the New England Whalers routed the Quebec Nordiques, 7-2.

Sonoma State Nine Takes 2 Of 3 Games

CHICO — Continuing the precedent set by its court counterparts, the Sonoma State College baseball team is threatening to be a factor in the Far Western Conference race and could bring the school its second league championship.

The Cossacks took a good step in that direction over the weekend by capturing two of three games here with FWC opponent Chico State College. Friday, Sonoma beat the Wildcats, 8-2, and then split a doubleheader Saturday, dropping the first game, 3-2, but coming back with a 7-4 victory in the nightcap.

The series win gave the Cossacks a 10-8 overall record, just one victory shy of the Sonoma State single season win mark of 11 games. Sonoma is now 2-1 in league and the previously unbeaten Wildcats are 4-2.

Len Hoffman gave up just two hits and struck out 10 while going the distance for Sonoma Friday. He was backed by an 11-hit attack, with catcher Rich Garretson slugging a 400-foot home run in the fourth inning.

The Cossacks' bats were silent in the Saturday opener with just four hits, but they came alive in the second game with 15 safeties. Tom Trezona was four for five and Gary Tozi was three for four to lead the Sonoma attack.

The Marin Rod and Gun Club's cracked crab dinner scheduled for Saturday has been sold out since March 21, club treasurer Roland Hellman announced this morning. Tickets therefore are not available as reported in the Independent-Journal Saturday.

Sonoma Athletic Schedule

Rancho Cotate High School of Rohnert Park will finally begin its Sonoma County League baseball title defense this week with two scheduled games and one makeup, while Tomales and St. Vincent high schools start their North Central League II baseball slate seeking to end a long drought.

Rancho Cotate faced Piner in Santa Rosa today in a makeup of Friday's league opener which was rained out, and then come back tomorrow hosting Sonoma High. Friday, the Cougars meet Cardinal Newman at night at Doyle Park in Santa Rosa.

Point Arena provides the opposition for Tomales and St. Vincent in NCL II openers, with Tomales hosting the Pirates tomorrow and then St. Vincent hosting them Friday. Also on Friday, Tomales hosts the 1972 champion, Calistoga.

Petaluman 5th In Pentathlon

SAN JOSE — Petaluma High School's David Barlow placed fifth in the pentathlon with 3,493 ponts, highlighting the Trojans's showing in the Blossom Hill Relays at Leigh High School here Saturday.

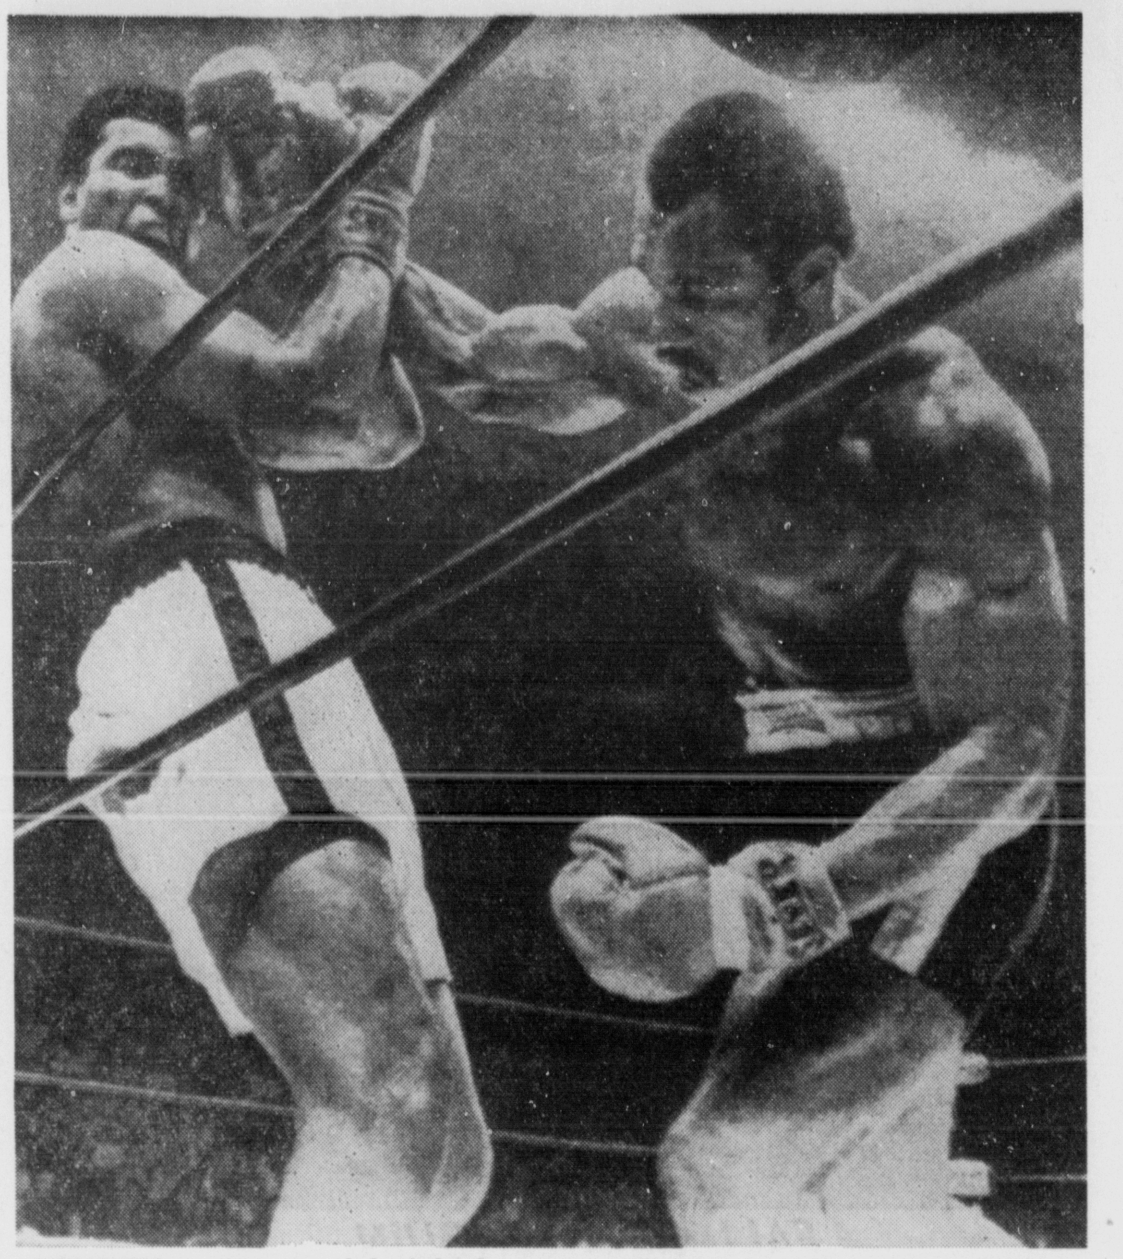
Petaluma took seventh in the four-mile relay. Jon Sisler and Dan Aldridge turned in legs of 4:25 and 4:29.

The Trojans mile relay team finished sixth in 3:35.0 and the distance medley team took ninth with 440-yard ace Jose Martinez running his lap in 50.2.

Tea Axe Surprises In Albany Horse Race

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Tea Axe, overlooked in the betting in favor of His Promise, romped to an easy 11 length victory Saturday in the $30,000 added California Oaks at Golden Gate Fields.

Travel Tip finished in Tea Axe's wake and His Promise wound up third in the stakes race that first was run in 1890 at Sacramento. Tea Axe ran a mile in 1:39 2-5.



CRUNCH — A powerful right by a charging Ken Norton forced a grimacing Muhammad Ali to retreat against the ropes in the 12th and final round of their heavyweight fight in San Diego Saturday. Norton recorded an upset by a split decision. (UPI Telephoto)

ALI SUFFERS BROKEN JAW

Norton Becomes 'Somebody' In Boxing Victory Over Ex-Champ

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ken Norton never touched a barbell but it's hard to believe.

At 6-3 and 210 pounds, Norton has a physique that belongs in a weightlifter's magazine. A physical fitness addict, he has a 47 ½-inch expanded chest and a 30-inch waist.

At 28, Norton is a former Marine Corps corporal and a former Joe Frazier sparring partner. After his big victory over Muhammad Ali Saturday, Norton is a former nobody.

Now he's a somebody.

The San Diego heavyweight, who spent 4 ½ years in the Marines, is a tough boxer-puncher who was able to move well enough to catch Ali—even though it was a slowed-down-by-age Ali.

Norton, a former high school track, basketball and football star, began his pro career with a fifth round knockout over Grady Brazell in 1967. Until Saturday, that might have been the high point of his career.

His eighth round knockout loss to Venezuela's Jose Luis Garcia in 1970 at Los Angeles haunted him.

"We tried for two years to get a rematch," said Eddie Futch, Norton's trainer. "They wouldn't give us one. Now they can chase us."

Because he was so highly regarded by the top-ranking heavyweight contenders and had virtually no reputation, the rugged Norton had trouble getting fights. His biggest previous purse before his $50,000 payday during the weekend was $7,500.

"This win is going to open a lot of doors," Futch said.

Futch, who predicted Norton's shocker over Ali, and Norton insist that Norton can beat Houston strongboy George Foreman.

The mustachioed Norton, a native of Jacksonville, Ill., went to see, of all people, a hypnotist after the Garcia fight. The hypnotist is Dr. Michael Dean of San Diego and he must have had the right advice.

"I had a habit of listening to Eddie but not really absorbing what he said," Norton explained. "He (Dean) tried to tell me the difference between confidence and overconfidence, keep it in my subconscious mind."

He must have had it in his "subconscious mind" against Ali.

A 5-1 underdog, Norton handed boxing's living legend only his second loss of an illustrious fight career that began in 1960. It was his 31st victory in 32 starts, a career that includes 24 knockouts.

Although Ali suffered a broken jaw in the opening round against the ex-Marine Corps corporal, he wasn't silenced. A spokesman at Clairemont General Hospital in San Diego said Ali could talk even though his mouth is wired shut.

Idle Marin '9' Moves Into 1st

College of Marin's baseball team moved back into first place in the Camino Nrte Conference standings over the weekend without liting a finger.

The Tars had Saturday's game in San Pablo against Contra Costa College postponed due to wet grounds, and West Valley of Campbell lost Saturday night to De Anza of Cupertino, 8-1. West Valley's record fell to 8-2, worse than Marin's 5-1.

The Marin-Contra Costa game has not yet been rescheduled.

NBA ROUNDUP

'Old Pros' Show Playoff Skills

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's definitely playoff time in the National Basketball Association. You can tell 'cause the "old pros" are struttin' their stuff.

The playoffs usually brings out the best in the big name performers and Sunday was a perfect example as Havlicek, Chamberlain, Monroe, Frazier, West and Russell grabbed the headlines.

John Havlicek, an 11-year veteran who has played on six NBA championship clubs, scored a club record 54 points while leading the Boston Celtics to a 134-109 rout of the Atlanta Hawks in the first game of their best-of-seven East semifinal series.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West, holdovers from last year's championship squad, combined their efforts as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Chicago Bulls 108-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven West semi-final series. West tossed in 30 points and had a record-tying 19 assists while Chamberlain pulled down 21 rebounds and blocked 11 shots.

Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier, the Knicks' backcourt superstars, combined for 61 points as New York defeated the Baltimore Bullets 123-103 to grab a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven East semi-final battle. Monroe, an ex-Bullet, scored 32 points while Frazier, an all-star who played on the Knicks' only championship team of 1969-70, had 29.

Cazzie Russell, another member of that Knicks' championship season who is now doing his thing for Golden Statecame off the bench to score 25 points as the Warriors evened their West semi-final series with Milwaukee at one game apiece by defeating the Bucks 95-92.

Havlicek's performance bettered the old Boston club record of 51 points set by Sam Jones in 1967 and was just seven short of the league's playoff record of 61 points set by Elgin Baylor of the Lakers in 1962.

"He's a good player," admitted Atlanta coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "Even when he scores 30 points you can say you contained him. But I think we'll stop him. He won't be doing this every night against us."

Havlicek wasn't the only one who hurt the Hawks, though. Jo Jo White added 34 points to the Celtics cause, Dave Cowens pulled down 17 rebounds and Art Williams had 12 assists.

The Lakers, who needed only four games to eliminate the Bulls in the last season's playoffs, defeated them for the 14th time in their last 15 meetings. The Lakers' Gail Goodrich shared the spotlight with Chamberlain and West by tossing in 33 points to lead all scorers.

Monroe and Frazier broke open the Knicks' game with the Bullets by combining for 11 straight points early in the fourth quarter to give New York a comfortable 100-85 lead. Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 22 points for the Knicks while Phil Chenier led Baltimore with 27.

Kentucky Discovers Ailing Erving Tough

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Julius Erving says he isn't completely healthy yet, and that's bad news for the Kentucky Colonels.

Erving, sidelined with an injury near the end of the season, looked in the peak of physical condition Sunday as he scored 41 points to lead the Virginia Squires to a 109-94 triumph over the Colonels at Louisville. The victory evened their American Basketball Association best-of-seven East Division semi-final playoff series at one game apiece.

The 6-foot-6 Erving, playing only his second game since his injury, connected on 17 of 22 shots from the floor yet was not totally satisfied with his performance.

"I was shooting and jumping as good as I ever have, but I'm not running as well yet."

Trailing 80-76 after three quarters, the Squires held Kentucky to only 14 points in the final period and went on to a relatively easy victory. Rookie George Gervin helped the Squires' attack by contributing 12 points in the final quarter and finishing with 25.

In the only other playoff game scheduled, Indiana defeated Denver 106-93 at Indianapolis to take a two-game lead in their best-of-seven West Division semi-final match.

The Sun Porsche

Our mid-engine car is a fair-weather friend that won't let you down in foul weather.

On sunny days, the top snaps off in thirty-seven seconds, stores under the rear trunk lid and takes up virtually no space.

On rainy days the top locks back on almost as fast.

And because it's fiberglass, it won't leak or rip. Unlike fabric.

But a friend is more than a fiberglass top.

First of all, it's a two-seater in the classic sports car tradition. And because two's company.

With the engine in the middle, handling must be felt to be believed. The car simply goes where you point it.

Also with the engine in the middle, you get a trunk in the front and the back. A sort of his and hers. Together they give 16 cubic feet trunk space.

And also rack-and-pinion steering, and a five-speed gearbox, 4-wheel disc brakes and a built-in roll bar as standard equipment.

So see your friendly dealer and let the sun shine in.

Walton Says It Was Easy To Turn Down $2 Million

Combined AP & UPI

ATLANTA — It took a little soul searching, but Bill Walton says it was basically easy to turn down a $2 million pro basketball offer to return to UCLA for his senior year.

"At times I had to do some soul searching, but mostly the decision was easy," Walton said yesterday at a news conference. Two hours later he became the first player to repeat as winner of the Naismith Trophy at the Atlanta Tipoff Club's annual awards banquet.

Eight days ago the UCLA superstar led the Bruins to their 75th straight victory and seventh straight NCAA title in the finals over Memphis State at St. Louis.

Since then there has been much speculation as to whether he would accept a $2 million offer from the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association to turn pro.

OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders will open their 1973 pre-season schedule against the New England Patriots on Aug. 5 and close it against the Buffalo Bills on Sept. 8, the club announced Saturday.

Both games are road contests. The other four exhibition games the Raiders will play will be at home, two at the Oakland Coliseum and two at the University of California's Memorial Stadium in Berkeley.

After the Pats, the Raiders will meet the Dallas Cowboys, Los Angeles Rams, Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers before winding up the exhibition season at Buffalo.

Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Betsy Cullen went into the final round yesterday of the $30,000 Alamo Open Ladies Golf Tournament with a seven-stroke lead and apparently little to worry about.

But she narrowly escaped with the first place purse by two strokes, surviving a bad case of the jitters and a strong charge by Betty Burfeindt.

Miss Cullen fired a three-over par 76 on the final 18 holes to finish at one-under par 218 and claim the $4,500 first prize.

Bowling

AKRON, Ohio — Winning the Firestone Tournament of Champions four years ago was a highlight of his career, but Jim Godman says becoming the event's first two-time titlist "has to be my biggest thrill."

The 27-year-old Lorain, Ohio, bowler pocketed the $25,000 first prize Saturday after knocking off long-time great Dick Weber of St. Louis, 227-192, and then downing Barry Asher of Costa Mesa, Calif., 224-200, in the title match.

Tennis

NEW YORK — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. yesterday scored a 6-0, 6-4 win over West Germany's Katja Ebbinghaus in the finals of the $30,000 Lady Gotham Classic.

ST. LOUIS — Stan Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., yesterday edged top-ranked Australian Rod Laver 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in the final round of the $50,000 Holton Classic.

VANCOUVER — Tom Gorman of Seattle yesterday overcame a shaky start to defeat Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, for the singles title at the $50,000 Rothman's international pro tourney.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Australia's Kerry Melville yesterday took the first Virginia Slims title of her career with a 6-3, 6-4 decision over Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingstone, Tex.

ATLANTA — David Pearson yesterday outraced Cal Yarborough and sped to victory in a Mercury as 72,000 people watched the Atlanta 500 stock car race.

UCLA CAGE STAR

Walton Idealist In Face Of Cold Cash

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bill Walton says he wouldn't have turned pro for $5 million, and if that sounds as if he's reaching for the moon, you're right, he is.

Only it isn't the kind of moon you think.

Pure and simple, Bill Walton, UCLA's red-headed, red-blooded 6-11 superkid, is what so many others would love to be. He's an idealist. The kind who doesn't give up his ideals in the face of hard cold cash.

He's 20 years old and wants to enjoy those things 20-year-olds aj meant to enjoy. Like going to the beach, going on backpack camping trips in the mountains, getting together for bull sessions with friends, yes, even playing basketball for his school team.

The other evening, after leading UCLA's Bruins to the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship, Bill Walton met with Irv Kosloff, president of the Philadelphia 76ers, Don DeJardin, their general manager, and Kevin Loughery, their coach.

They made him an offer they thought he couldn't refuse—$2 million, tax free. Bill Walton surprised them. Shocked them would be more like it. He refused, saying he wanted to go bak to school.

"The money wasn't a factor," says Walton.

"Then you would have said no regardless how much they offered?" I asked him.

"Yes," he said.

"What do you say when they say every man has his price?"

"Not true," said Walton. "Some things I want you can't buy."

"Such as?"

"Personal things. The most satisfying things to me are the bunch of good friends I've had. You have to keep your perspective. I just have to lead my life the way I think I should. Right now I'm enjoying it and having a good time. There's nothing wrong in having a good time in life."

"What about the pros?" I asked Walton. "Will you play pro ball when you finish school?"

"Probably," he said, thinking it over a moment or two. "I'll try."

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance

BASEBALL PREDICTIONS

White Sox Seen As Kings

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few weeks in spring training's Florida sun can do odd things to a man: like making him think he can predict in April how the major league pennant races will end in September.

It's something the palefaces who stayed up North expect of the sports writers with the beautiful tans, however, so, without further ado, here's how the races will look when the last putout of the season has been made on September 30:

National League East: 1. Pittsburgh Pirates, 2. New York Mets, 3. Chicago Cubs, 4. St. Louis Cardinals, 5. Montreal Expos, 6. Philadelphia Phillies.

National League West: 1. Houston Astros, 2. Cincinnati Reds, 3. Los Angeles Dodgers, 4. Atlanta Braves, 5. San Francisco Giants, 6. San Diego Padres.

American League East: 1. New York Yankees, 2. Boston Red Sox, 3. Baltimore Orioles, 4. Detroit Tigers, 5. Cleveland Indians, 6. Milwaukee Brewers.

American League West: 1. Chicago White Sox, 2. Oakland Athletics, 3. California Angels, 4. Minnesota Twins, 5. Kansas City Royals, 6. Texas Rangers.

And here's why:

—The Pirates will get straightened away when Manny Sanguillen is returned to his regular catching position. They will miss the late Roberto Clemente but have the hitting depth to win without him. The Mets will be stronger with Rusty Staub playing a full season and Felix Millan and Bud Harrelson giving them an outstanding double play combination. The Mets were 8-6 over the Pirates in their 1972 season series and can beat them in a clutch series. The Cubs will play about the same as they have the last three seasons. The Expos will be improved and could finish fourth if the Cardinals don't hit any better than they did last season. The Phillies just haven't got enough strengths to make a move toward contention even with Steve Carlton starting every fourth game.

—It is just not realistic to favor a team over a six-month tournament which has as many pitching questionmarks as the Reds. The Astros have a brilliant young star in Cesar Cedeno, a batting order which scored more runs than any other team in the league last season and a manager in Leo Durocher who is at his best in this sort of situation. Remember that the Reds finished fourth in 1971 and lost both World Series in which they have played in the last three years. The Dodgers, Braves and Giants are all in varied states of transition and aren't likely to be contenders. The Padres still have all the weaknesses of newly-formed expansion teams.

—A four-team race with the Yankees, Red Sox, Orioles and Tigers finishing under a blanket of seven or eight games. An argument can be made to pick the first four in any sequence but the feeling here is that Lee MacPhail's patient rebuilding program will pay off, that the Red Sox missed their chance last season, that the Orioles will still have serious offensive problems this season and that the Tigers just can't be expected to win out two years in a row in this closely-matched situation. The Indians and Brewers appear to have improved themselves with winter trades but can't make it into contention.

—For all their defensive and possible pitching problems, the White Sox are by far the strongest offensive club in the league. The defending world champion Athletics, with the best pitching in the league, will make a gallant run but be beaten by a team with more guns. The Angels, Twins and Royals will finish only a few games apart but quite a distance behind the White Sox and Athletics. Ranger fans can expect a season of expermentation. The Rangers will still be trying to resolve problems in August that other teams solved in March.

The playoffs and the World Series?

The Pirates will beat the Astros in the NL playoffs and the White Sox will beat the Yankees in the AL playoffs. Then the White Sox will beat the Pirates in a World Series which will be long remembered for its slugging.

Sounds crazy?

Blame it on the Florida sun.

NHL Sabres Celebrate A Big Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Crozier, coach of the Buffalo Sabres, had only praise for "the little bald guy upstairs."

Crozier was all smiles Sunday night after his third-year expansion Buffalo Sabres scored a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Blues and clinched the fourth and final playoff spot in the National Hockey League's East Division.

The Sabres finishe two points ahead of Detroit in a battle that went down to the last game of the regular season. The Red Wings rallied for a 3-3 tie against the New York Ranger in their finale, but it wasn't enough.

"As far as I'm concerned we're in the Stanley Cup playoffs in only our third year and the little bald guy upstairs deserves the utmost consideration," Crozier said, referring to Sabres' General Manager George "Punch" Imlach.

Aside from the games in Buffalo and New York, none of the other four NHL games played Sunday bore any significance on the playoffs or standings. In these, the Montreal Canadiens beat the Boston Bruins, 5-3, the Pittsburgh Penguins edged the Philadelphia Flyers, 5-4, the Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs skated to a 4-4 tie and the Atlanta Flames and New York Islanders completed their first campaigns in the NHL by playing to a 4-4 deadlock.

The Stanley Cup playoffs will get underway on Wednesday night with Buffalo at Montreal and the Rangers at Boston in the East Division and St. Louis at Chicago and Minnesota at Philadelphia in the West. The same schedule will be repeated Thursday night, with the teams switching sites for the third and fourth games on Saturday and Sunday.

Horton's Slugging Cheers Martin In Tigers' Loss

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The recent trouble brewing in the Detroit Tigers' camp— attitudes, suspensions, resignations—seems to have a bright side.

Willie Horton slammed a pair of homers Sunday, lifting his pre-season total to three and Manager Billy Martin wore a big smile following his outfielders' hard-hit drives.

The only bad news for the Tiger camp, however, is that they lost the game to the Boston Red Sox, 6-5.

Horton's frst home run came in the sixth inning with Jim Northrup aboard off pitcher Mary Pattin, the Sox starter. Again in the eigth inning, Horton blasted a solo shot off Detroit pitcher Don Newhauser.

Carl Yastrzemski scored a run with a single and first baseman Danny Cater added a double and a single to reinforce the Red Sox triumph.

Elsewhere, fireballer Nolan Ryan became the first California pitcher to go nine innings this spring, hurling a two-hitter as the Angels nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 before a crowd of 21,099 at Dodger Stadium.

Ryan, the major leagues' strikeout king last season, fanned eight, walked five in oing the distance.

The win clinched the Freeway Series for the Angels as they took two out of three from their crosstown rivals the Dodgers.

In other exhibition games Montreal topped Philadelphia 3-0, Texas whipped Kansas City 8-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 4-1, the New York Mets downed the New York Yankees 4-3, Minnesota edged Houston 3-2, Baltimore and Atlanta each scored nine runs as the game was deadlocked after 14 innings of play, San Francisco eked past Oakland, 10-9, Cleveland shutout San Diego 2-0 and Milwaukee ripped the Chicago Cubs 8-4.

Ernie McAnally pitched eight innings, yielding four hits as the Astros handed the 1972 Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton the loss.

Rico Carty had a fine day with a double and a single to score three runs as the Rangers won over the Royals.

the first and 10th tees at 8 a.m. today with no more weather problems anticipated.

Graham and Casper both had four birdies but Casper missed a putt as he started on the back nine, taking a bogey on 10.

Despite the bogey, Casper said he was "very happy with the way everything happened. It was a very easy day. I got to relax in the morning."

Both of the third-round leaders lamented poor putting conditions caused by oggy greens.

Rod Funseth and Doug Sanders were another stroke back, followed by a trio at 203 that included 60-year-old veteran Sam Snead, the eight-time GGO victor who said he still hadn't given up hope.

Snead, tied with Mike Hill and George Knudson at 10 under, said Graham was the man to beat and added, "If I can beat Graham, I win the tournament."

Al Geiberger took $3,000 for the day's low round with a 64 Sunday, but that still left him only nine-under for three days, the same as Lee Elder, with both needing a minor miracle to win.

Elder's 68 round Sunday after leading the first round with a 64 and a 72 Friday further battered his already dim hopes of becoming the first black golfer in the Masters.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Canmaker's Stock? It's Time To Sell

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are holding 225 shares of Continental Can (NYSE) stock that has dropped more than 20 points in the last several years. What are your views regarding the recovery of this stock? — E.M.

A. The 6 per cent yield is only a partial compensation for the uninspired market action of these shares. Furthermore the outlook remains discouraging both for Continental and the industry. While overcapacity, which has plagued canmakers and reduced profit margins, may gradually respond to cutbacks by the two majors, achieving a supply/demand balance may be a long slow process. Higher tin costs have burdened manufacturers already struggling in a highly competitive pricing climate. A recent hike in the price of tin and a 7 per cent rise in labor cost will probably be passed along to customers. However, the Cost of Living Council is expected to watch such price hikes in view of the rapid rise in food prices.

In 1972, Continental reported a 10 per cent increase in earnings on a 5 per cent rise in sales. The widening of CCC's profit margin apparent in 1972 reflected closing of marginal operations and a boost in linerboard prices. At this juncture, additional margin improvements appear unlikely with plant start-up costs a restrictive factor. Sell.

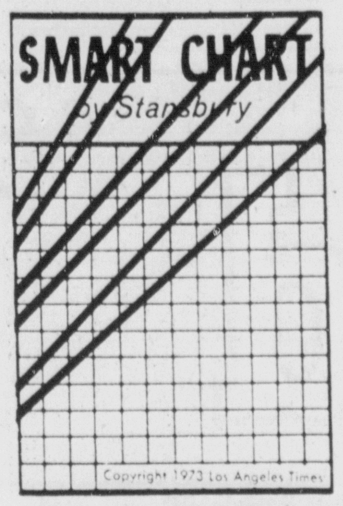
Q. We have some Federal Land Bank bonds which will soon mature. What would be some good corporate bonds to consider for replacement? — L.V.

A. There are a very interesting series of bonds — power bonds — issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority, some of which should fit your requirements. These bonds carry the highest rating, AAA. Another attractive feature is the fact that interest from these bonds, while subject to federal income tax, is exempt from state and local personal property and income tax. Maturity dates on the many TVA issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange range from 1974 to 1997. Coupon rates of 7 per cent to 9¼ per cent yield 7.4 per cent to 8.4 per cent on a current basis and 6.5 per cent to 7.9 per cent when the bonds are held to maturity.

Director Resigns PVO International

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The resignation of Lawrence N. Apple as a director has been announced by PVO International Inc., diversified international food, chemical and agricultural products company.

Apple, former president of PVO, said the demands of his other business commitments preclude him from remaining as a director.



"Are you sure we're keeping inflation within bounds, Chief?"

Stocks Off As Trading Is Listless

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices wandered lower in extremely slow trading today on the New York Stock Exchange as investors found little inspiration to buy.

Investors still are disappointed President Nixon did not impose more stringent controls on the swelling cost of food, which led the biggest monthly surge in the consumer price index in 22 years last February.

Also, there still is much concern over rising interest rates, and many investors are anxious to see how the proposed two-tier prime lending rate system will work, analysts said.

Continental Oil was heavily traded on the Big Board and continued lower following a drop of 5⅝ Friday. The company said Friday's loss stemmed from a forecast by a Wall Street brokerage house that the firm's per share earnings would be lower for the first quarter and year.

Oils headed lower. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the construction ban imposed by a lower court on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Novato Mode O'Day Shop Will Change Hands In Mid-Month

Mode O'Day ladies and children's dress shop at 1417 Grant Avenue in Novato will change hands on April 15.

Frances Anglin of Novato and Rita Della Valle of San Rafael, who have owned it for almost two years, are selling the franchise to Amada (Mrs. Samuel P.) Crivello of Novato.

Alterations will be one of the new services to be added by Mrs. Crivello. She will operate Mode O'Day with the help of her daughters, Terry, Maureen and Trudy.

The shop carries all types of women's and children's wear, including nurses uniforms.

Mrs. Anglin and Mrs. Della Valle, the present owners, will stage a big open house with frefreshments on April 13 and 14 before turning the store over to the new owner. Mrs. Anglin plans to leave for an extended vacation in the mid-West.

JEANNE HUNT of Nipper & Marchant, Realtors, San Rafael, sold more than a million dollars worth of real estate in one year to become one of the Marin County Board of Realtors' charter members of the Million Dollar Club.

A resident of Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Hunt has been with Nipper & Marchant for seven years.

JAMES P. HENRY of Mill Valley has been named operations officer in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division, San Francisco.

Henry graduated in 1970 from University of San Francisco, joined the bank in 1971, and was assistant operations officer in the Oakland data processing center before the promotion.

THE LITTLE STORE, a new grocery, opened Sunday in Forest Knolls at Juarez and Montezuma Avenues.

It is owned by Donald and Padgett McBain of Forest Knolls and Kenneth and Judy Peck of San Anselmo. They took over the former Larry's Market, which closed last year.

The Little Store sells beer and wine as well as groceries.

McDermott

Porter

LARRY McDERMOTT of San Anselmo and BOB PORTER of Mill Valley have been named vice presidents of Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown Inc. advertising and public relations firm in San Francisco. James. C. Nelson Jr. of Lucas Valley, executive vice president and creative director, announced the appointments.

McDermott and Porter joined the agency in 1969 as creative group supervisors and were appointed last year as associate creative directors.

MARGUERITE R. TERZICH of Mill Valley retired last week after 26 years with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Her most recent assignment was as correspondent with the dividend division of Metropolitan Life's Pacific Coast head office in San Francisco.

Mrs. Terzich is a director of the Smith Mine and Ditch Co. of Jamestown (Tuolumne County), a family enterprise that produced considerable gold ore in the early days of mining in the Mother Lode.

She is active in the Marin Historical Society and Goldenaires in San Rafael, and is a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin.

CHARLES SUTTER CLARK of Greenbrae has joined the firm of Design Five Associates in Lafayette and will specialize in residential interiors, model homes and all phases of contract design. Clark was formerly with Western Contract Furnishers of Oakland.

DOUG'S AUTO Body and Towing at 45 Duffy Place in San Rafael has moved to 1550 Fourth Street in an old livery stable across the street from R and R Transmission.

Owner Douglas Shaffer, who operated both a body shop and a towing service on Duffy Place, limits his business to towing (no body work) at his new location on Fourth Street.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund, headquartered in Novato, bought Woodside Apartments near Santa Rosa for more than $590,000.

Construction has just begun on the 41-unit development at 841 Russell Avenue, two miles northwest of downtown Santa Rosa. The property was purchased from Camille Enterprises of Santa Rosa. National Real Estate Fund is administered by Capital Planning Securities Co., a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates of 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

LYONS & CARNAHAN textbook publishers and distributors will open its western regional office next week at 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 103, in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

Wayne W. Raley of Novato, vice president of the company's western sales region, said the regional office has been located in Pasadena for years but the company decided to move it to San Rafael because the major educational publishing center is the Bay Area. Lyons & Carnahan, headquartered in Chicago, publishes and sells textbooks to elementary and high schools.

Raley said theSan Rafael office will not deal in retail trade.

Hoey Co. also negotiated leases for the following five companies, all of which are relocating or expanding:

PENN MUTUAL Life Insurance office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael will move by May 1 to 4340 Redwood Highway, suite 307, Northgate Industrial Park.

ALMAR ENTERPRISES advertising firm at 77 Mark Drive, is moving to 117 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael. Almar Enterprises, managed by Allen Tobell, was formerly called The Dollar Saver Advertising.

BUD CLARKE Sheetrock Service at 50 Tiburon Street, No. 24 in San Rafael, has doubled its warehouse space at that location.

CAPITAL PAINTING & Decorating Co. of 50 Belvedere Street in San Rafael will open new quarters at 138-A Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio.

BURT MANUFACTURING Co. at McNear's Point, San Rafael, which makes ceramic equipment, will open new offices at 122 Hamilton Drive at Hamilton Industrial Park. It will also take additional warehouse space at 130-F Hamilton Drive.

Grand Opening Set For Shopping Center

Park Plaza Shopping Center in Rohnert Park, a full service shopping facility at Highway 101 and Rohnert Park Expressway, will hold its grand opening at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

R. Leonard Garrison of San Rafael, developer of the center, said customer convenience, ease of parking and lack of congestion will be characteristics of Park Plaza.

Tenants include Safeway, T.G. & Y. Family Center (a variety store), Bank of America, Rohnert Park Pharmacy, the Chilling Experience ice cream parlor, Ernie's Wine & Liquor, Hair by Hae Sook, Henry L. Hicks Realtors, Gerry Lombardi's Men's Store, Magic Lantern Photo Center, Plaza One Hour Cleaners, Round Table Pizza, Sis-Con Audio Supply, Smorgas House Restaurant, U.S. Bakery and Washland Coin Laundry.

Rohnert Park Mayor Arthur N. Roberts, owner of the pharmacy, will stage an official opening of his own Saturday with the appearance of Don Chamberlain of the California Girls talk show on KNEW radio. Roberts said Chamberlain will bring a model along to demonstrate body painting techniques.

Race you to the airport.
SFO

It's an uneven race, we'll admit. If you drive to San Francisco Airport from the Marin heliport, it'll take you at least 45 minutes. On a direct flight, it takes us 12. No traffic hassle and no luggage problem. We check the luggage through to your destination.

The price? As little as $8.37 depending on your destination and connecting carrier. Free parking at the heliport.
So race with us. Not against us.
24 flights daily between Marin and SF Airport. (16 flights on Saturday).

COPY ACCEPTANCE

The INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL reserves the right to edit, or withhold publication, and may exercise its discretion in acceptance or classification of any and all advertising.

DEADLINES

New ads, corrections, and cancellations must be made before 5:30 p.m. the day before publication, 1 p.m. Saturday for Monday and 24 hours before holidays. Suburban office deadline, 4:30 p.m. the day before publication.

ERRORS

We make every effort to avoid errors. But when hundreds of ads are handled daily, mistakes do slip through. We ask that you check your ad and call immediately if it is in error. We regret that we cannot be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion or for errors not clearly affecting the value of the ad, and are responsible only for that line or portion of the ad that appeared incorrectly.

PRESTIGE
OPPORTUNITY
Every so often, perhaps only once in a lifetime, an opportunity presents itself to the individual which may never occur again. Frequently, the person who has gained wealth, independence, respect, and security in his community through his business, has done so simply by virtue of being in the right place at the right time, and having at that moment, the common sense and timing to take advantage of his opportunity. How many times have we looked at others around us, seemingly more fortunate in life than we, yet certainly no more able or intelligent, and asked ourselves — why that person? Many times the answer is — being in the right place at the right time, or getting in at the beginning, or making a decision when a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity appears. We have that opportunity to offer to the individual who can meet our requirements. If you have the required minimum investment of $2500, and would like additional information, send your name, address, and phone number to: The Thomas Company, 1400 E. Touhy Ave., Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. Or, call 312-298-7880.

SPARE TIME money maker, Search Light business. Will teach. $7,000. Call Steve 454-1225.

NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE OF HEARING IN RE RESOLUTION TO ABANDON A PORTION OF LAUREL GROVE AVENUE IN KENTFIELD, MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, did on the 27th day of March, 1973 pass a resolution declaring its intention to abandon a portion of Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, Marin County, California, more particularly described as Exhibit "A" attached hereto.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that said matter has been set for hearing and will be heard by the Board of Supervisors on the 17th day of April, 1973 at the hour of 1:45 o'clock p.m., of said day, in the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and that all persons interested therein may then appear and show cause, if any they may have, why said portion of Laurel Grove Avenue should not be abandoned.

By order of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, State of California, this 27th day of March, 1973.

GEO. H. GNOSS
County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, County of Marin, State of California

EXHIBIT "A"

COMMENCING at a monument set at the intersection of Fay Drive and Laurel Grove Avenue, as shown on Record of Survey recorded in Book 10 of Surveys at Page 87, Marin County Records; thence from said point of commencement North 74°25'16" West, a distance of 31.40 feet; thence South 15°34'44" West, a distance of 187.25 feet to the true point of beginning of the herein described real property; said true point of beginning is shown on the aforesaid Record of Survey as the most easterly corner of Lot 1 of Kentfield Park (originally shown on the Map of Kentfield Park recorded in Book 2 of Maps at Page 87); thence from said point of beginning South 74°49'16" East, a distance of 3.37 feet; thence South 15°19'44" West, a distance of 57.66 feet; thence on a curve to the right, tangent to the preceding course, with a radius of 38.5 feet, through a central angle of 18°42'14", for an arc length of 12.57 feet; thence North 74°49'16" West, a distance of 1.64 feet to a point in the northwesterly line of Laurel Grove Avenue; thence along said line North 15°34'44" East, a distance of 70 feet to the point of beginning.

The basis of bearings of this description is the same as shown in Record of Survey recorded in Book 10 of Surveys at Page 87, Marin County Records.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS LAGOON NO. 1 ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on March 5, 1973 by the Council of the Town of Corte Madera, said Council invites sealed proposals or bids for the replacement and improvement of water control gates, fencing and appurtenances as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 1428 adopted by said Council on September 18, 1972, which resolutions are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Council on March 5, 1973.

Payments will be made in cash by said Town to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor. However, notice is given that a period of 30 days is given to the property owners in which to pay their assessments, and if cash collections are insufficient to meet such monthly estimates, there will be a delay in making such payments until money is received from the sale of bonds issued upon the unpaid assessments.

Notice is hereby given that on March 5, 1973, the Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the Clerk, amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said Town in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the Town.

Contractor shall furnish to Town a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Town Clerk of said Town on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. of the 11th day of April, 1973, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of first publication and posting of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour, and referred to and considered by the Council at its meeting at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on April 16, 1973.

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Town Engineer, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, upon deposit therefor of $5.00, which will not be refunded.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Babies Cry For Many Reasons Even When Healthy, Normal

Why does a baby cry? The most reasonable answer is that crying represents infant language. It is the only way the little fellow can tell us that he is uncomfortable, wet, hungry, needs to burp, or wants to be cuddled. The exception is the initial cry which fills the lungs with air. It helps the tyke to make the changeover from a parasitic existence where he lives off his mother's bloodstream to his own independent circulation furnished by oxygen in the lungs.

During the first week of life, the tiny air sacs become better aerated every time he cries. The color of the skin changes from a pinkish purple to cherry red and finally to pink. Thereafter, crying can be regarded as the beginning of language from which speech is fashioned.

BABY'S FIRST cries which are shrill and nasal sound like a-a-a and later wa-wa-wa. The next sounds come from the throat and differ form the shrill type of crying. These are comfort sounds; they are more relaxed and deeper in quality than the discomfort sounds. Mothers seem to know the difference and sense quickly what their baby wants.

The infant's cries should be answered within a reasonable length of time. There are occasions when every reason for crying, including illness and pain, is eliminated and the cause remains a mystery. In such instances, remain calm and confident. It is surprising how often a relaxed attitude brings relief.

A wise grandmother once told her daughter that some babies need to cry. "Let him cry when you put him down for the night Then pick him up and love him and you'll see that it works better."

PERHAPS SHE also had reference to those babies who cry at frequent intervals for no apparent reason. They stop temporarily when fed, rocked, jostled, played with, or the diapers are changed. But they tire quickly of the attention and begin to wail loudly. This type of cyclic crying may indicate that they are expressing some inner need to cry or let off steam. At these times no effort to quiet the baby really works. Constant crying, on the other hand, is a signal of poor physical or mental health. In these situations, more skillful care is needed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal.

EGG-SIZED TUMOR

A reader writes: For some time I have had what I think is a fatty tumor on my back near the neck. It is about the size of a large egg, soft to the touch, and enlarging slowly. Should it be removed? I am 83 years old

REPLY

Find out whether your assumption is correct and then decide on treatment. If the lesion actually is a fatty tumor and is not bothersome, let it alone.

CITRUS FRUITS

G. L. writes: I like citrus fruits, but they bother me if I eat them before meals. Do I lose any of the vitamin benefits if I eat them after a meal?

REPLY

No. They do just as much good during or after meals. Vitamin C also is available in tablet form.

EAR INFECTION

F. N. writes: What is otitis media?

REPLY

Infection of the middle chamber of the ear, just behind the drum.

Nonflyers Draw $75 Million In Flight Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators say that nearly 30,000 military officers are receiving flight pay although they hold nonflying jobs.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., released Sunday the results of a General Accounting Office (GAO) study which showed $75 million in flight pay will be disbursed this year to nonflying personnel such as generals and admirals.

Aspin said the House Appropriations Committee last year voted to eliminate flight pay for colonels and generals unless the Pentagon proposed a new pay program by May 31 of this year. He said the Pentagon's new plan still permits colonels and Navy captains to collect $245 per month in flight pay even though they do not fly.

'Bandstand' Host Sued For Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Dick Clark, 42, whose "American Bandstand" television show has dispensed pop music and dance to teen-agers since the 1950s, is being sued for divorce by his wife of 11 years.

Loretta Clark, 37, filed suit in Superior Court, citing irreconcilable differences and asking for custody of their two children.

Fewer Escaping Education Tax

MOSCOW (UPI) — The number of Moscow Jews receiving permission to emigrate without payment of a so-called education tax dropped sharply last week, Jewish dissident sources said today.

The sources said 10 persons were given exemptions from the tax, compared with 63 the previous week.

Two weeks ago, Soviet sources said authorities have suspended the nine-month-old law requiring emigrants to reimburse the state for their free higher education. Fees under the law ranged as high as $30,000 per person.

Today is Monday, April 2, the 92nd day of 1973 with 273 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

French novelist Emile Zola was born April 2, 1840.

On this day in history:

In 1792, Congress passed legislation authorizing the Mint to coin money, all to be inscribed with the Latin words "E Pluribus Unum" . . . a motto meaning "Out of Many, One."

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson went before a joint session of Congress and called for a declaration of war against Germany.

In 1932, Charles Lindbergh left $50,000 in bills in a New York City cemetery in hopes of regaining his kidnapped son. Bruno Hauptmann subsequently was found guilty of kidnapping and murdering the Lindbergh child. He was executed.

In 1954, the International Longshoremen's Union called off a 20-day-old strike on New York's waterfront . . . longest dock strike up to then in the city's history.

A thought for the day: American writer Isaac Goldberg said, "Diplomacy is to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way."

San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Brando's Stand Is Termed A Contradiction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The head of an Italian-American organization today sent Marlon Brando a letter saying there was a "blatant contradiction" between his role in "The Godfather" and his support of Indians.

Brando won an Academy Award for his portrayal of an aging Mafia don in the movie, but refused to accept it because, he said, Hollywood over the years had maligned American Indians.

John P. Lomenzo, New York's secretary of state but writing in his capacity as head of a group called "The Columbian Coalition," said, "Frankly, we see a blatant contradiction between your reasoning for refusing the award and your participation in a film that has defamed the Italian-American community.

"Do you really distinguish the movie industry's villification of the American Indian from its treatment of Italian-Americans in "The Godfather'?"

Porpoise Bugging Halt Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) Tuna fishermen have been told by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to stop bugging porpoises.

The agency issued a new regulation Sunday prohibiting anyone from putting a radio transmitter on the back of a porpoise. A spokesman said the action was taken because of reports that some fishermen were using the porpoises to help them track schools of tuna.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Federal Gift Tax Returns Now Due Quarterly, And Not Yearly

Federal gift tax returns are now required quarterly instead of annually.

That's right. If you made gifts within any calendar quarter beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1971, to any one donee of more than $3,000 for the calendar year or a gift of a future interest in property regardless of the value then you must file a tax return on Form 709.

These are individual returns and joint returns are not permitted.

Only individuals are required to file as donors. However, if gifts are made by trusts, estates, partnerships or corporations, the individual beneficiaries, partners or stockholders become donors and may incur a liability under the federal gift tax law.

The return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. You cannot file a return before the end of the calendar quarter unless it is a return of a deceased donor.

Gifts of present interest of less than $3,000 paid in previous quarters must be disclosed in the first quarterly return filed.

The tax must be paid by the donor on or before the 15th day of the second month. There are penalties for delinquent returns and for delinquent payment of tax unless due to reasonable cause. There are penalties for willful failure to file a return on time.

There is a specific exemption of $30,000 for each individual during his lifetime as well as the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee during a calendar year.

However, if a gift is made in excess of the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee, but less than the $30,000 specific exemption, you must file a return anyway even though no tax may be due.

Gift taxes are complicated and you should see your tax advisor if you have made any gifts.

Gift taxes are filed on Form 709 and this form comes complete with the instructions.

If the gift is made anytime between Jan. 1 and March 31, the return is due May 15; between April 1 and June 30, the return is due Aug. 15; between July 1 and Sept. 30, the return is due Nov. 15; between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, the return is due Feb. 15.

The California rules for filing gift tax returns have also been changed and California returns are now due at the same time as the federal returns.

However, almost all of the other California rules are different than the federal so be sure to follow the California instructions separately.

If you have made such a gift anytime and have not filed a gift tax return, you should do so immediately to avoid further interest and penalties.

Only One POW Due On U.S. Soil

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

All but one of America's known prisoners of war were back in America today and the sole exception was free and preparing to go home.

The last group of former prisoners arrived Sunday at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where 6,500 persons—the largest crowd in the short history of "Operation Homecoming" — cheered.

The last ex-POW off the C141 jet was Air Force Capt. Frank Lewis, 28, of Boston, whose wife, Wynne, and daughter, Kelly, waited at the end of a red, white and blue welcome mat.

Air Force Lt. Col. Louis H. Bernasconi, Northridge, Calif., spoke for the other men. "God bless each and every one of you. God bless our commander-in-chief, President Nixon. God bless these United States of America," he said.

From the crowd came an echo of voices singing "God Bless America."

The last prisoner released and the last known to have been held by the Communists was Army Capt. Robert T. White of Newport News, Va.

He was turned over to the Americans by the Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta Sunday, flown to Saigon and then to Clark Air Base in the Philippines. On hand at Clark to greet him was his wife, Judith.

White was the 596th prisoner of war the Communists have freed. The total included 564 American military men, 24 American civilians, two Thais, two Filipinos, two Canadians and two West Germans.

Until last Wednesday, it was not known that White was held prisoner. His release has raised faint hopes that some of the 1,300 Americans still listed as missing in action may be alive, especially in Laos. Official sources in Vientianne believe as many as 200 of the 300 U.S. pilots shot down over Laos may have survived their crashes.

The Operation Homecoming machinery7at Clark is being cut back to a skeleton staff this week, but Gen. Lt. William G. Moore Jr., the commander of the reception center, said, "We have the capability of reassembling on very short notice the entire homecoming apparatus if we again need it."

Other released POWs went home, or close to home, Sunday for reunions with their relatives.

Air Force Lt. Col. William J. Breckner, 39, Columbus, Ohio, was greeted by his wife, Cheryl, son William, 5, daughter Kristen, 3, and his father and stepmother at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

"America is the greatest place on earth and home8is the greatest place in America," he said. "For us, just being able to come home is the greatest thrill we've ever had."

Maj. Fernando Alexander of Chicopee, Mass., ran into the arms of his wife, Mildred, at the air force base in Chicopee.

"Today we traveled almost halfway around the world. Thank God it was all the way home," Alexander said.

Residents of Rainier, Ore., tured out to greet Sgt. 1.C. Dennis Thompson, 30.

"We came back home the way we wanted to come back, in honor," Thompson said. "I would like you to remember the people who came back mentally and physically crippled as a result of their captivity, and those who will not be back at all."

U.S. Parks Caretaker Of Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Alcatraz Island was turned over to the National Park Service Sunday and a spokesman said he was "open to suggestions" on what to do with the former federal prison.

NPS took over caretaking duties of the "rock" in the middle of San Francisco Bay from the General Services Administration. The park service apparently hopes to make the abandoned, crumbling island structures into a tourist attraction.

"We're trying to figure out how to clean up Alcatraz, make it safe for tourists and get public transportation to and from," said Dave Ames, superintendent of the Fort Point Historical Site.

GSA was assigned responsibility for the island after a year and a half Indian takeover ended in 1970. There were dozens of rejected suggestions on what to do with Alcatraz, including one that it be turned into a gambling spa.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

By JUNE EMBURY

With admiration and gratitude we read the I.J. editorial headed "Consumer Protection? Yes, But . . ." on March 21st. This discusses a new set of proposed regulations announced by the Food and Drug Administration. Admittedly, the objective view expressed in the I.J., questioning drastic restrictions of vitamin supplements and placing them in the same category as "dangerous drugs", is appreciated by individuals whose livelihood would suffer if the new laws go into effect.

But what's far more significant is that such objectivity benefits everyone by emphasizing that while the "FDA definitely is consumer-oriented, it should be careful not to take away consumers' rights on the pretense of consumer protection." We believe that legislators in Washington, D.C., receiving copies of the editorial, will be profoundly impressed too. Bouquets to our I.J.

2 GIs Grab Guardbox, Surrender

SEOUL (UPI) — Two heavily armed U.S. Army soldiers barricaded themselves inside a Korean police guardbox for more than nine hours today, demanding honorable discharges from the Army, immunity from prosecution and transportation out of Korea.

The soldiers, Spec. 5 Michael McDonald, 25, of Oakland, Calif. and PFC Terry Hergert, 22, of St. Johns, Wash. surrendered to U.S. officials about 7:45 p.m. (5:45 a.m. EST) after two buddies convinced them to give up. McDonald and Hergert took a small arsenal inside the police guardbox, including at least three light machine guns, two shotguns, two M16 rifles, two grenade launchers, three cases of grenades and a large store of ammunition.

Witnesses said they also had a supply of food.

"They could have filled a delivery van," a witness said.

Police boxes are detached sentry boxes or one-room offices where a policeman is on duty many hours a day, sometimes continuously. They are located in almost every neighborhood in Japanese and Korean cities, where most people don't have telephones and might need to reach a policeman quickly to report trouble.

Military spokesmen said the two gave up peacefully after two friends, PFCs Johnnie A. Dunn and Steven Zimmerman, pleaded with them to drop their demands and return to military control.

Their surrender ended a day of tense confrontation between the two soldiers and nearly 100 American and South Korean troops and policemen on Namsoan Hill in Seoul.

Army spokesmen said no charges were filed immediately against the two soldiers.

They were stationed at Camp Humphreys, Pyongtaek, Korea, 35 miles south of Seoul.

The spokesman said three Korean policemen and five civilians also spent the day in the police box, but he said the Koreans were not held hostage.

Gen. D. V. Bennett, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Korea, came to the hill, but did not talk to the two soldiers.

According to Korean police sources, McDonald and Hergert came to the police box at about 8:30 A.M. in an army truck loaded with the weapons. They stayed at the police box along with the unsuspecting three policemen for about two hours, and then moved to take control of the place, the sources said.

No shots were fired during the confrontation, U.S. military officials said.

Shipyard Seeks To Stop Boozing

Great in town or on the open road. You'll Love it! So will your Pocketbook.

Sedan
$2225.40

A JOY IN TRAFFIC. A BREEZE TO PARK.

Large enough to carry 4 adults comfortably, with exterior dimensions small enough to squeeze into 'Impossible' parking spaces.

Front wheel drive and a short turning radius make downtown driving a snap. The four-cylinder, four stroke overhead cam engine gives that extra pep for quick acceleration.

On the highway, handling and stability are better than many sports cars. Four wheel, fully independent, coil springs smooth out those rough roads. Economical? You Bet! Surprisingly low gas consumption and low-cost maintenance are just two ways you'll save.

Hatchback
$2325.40

PRACTICALITY, STYLE AND ECONOMY IN ONE PACKAGE.

Designed for the "on-the-go" set, the Hatchback's rear window flips up, rear seat folds down and you've got MORE room than normally offered in a standard sedan.

Powered by water-cooled, four stroke overhead cam engine, Hatchback has 4-wheel independent suspension, wide track and a long wheelbase giving you the stability, comfort and sports car-like handling. Civic Hatchback stacks up many MORE miles per gallon than most sports cars, stays away from expensive repair shops, and, best of all isn't priced anywhere near a sports car.

Come in today. Get acquainted with CIVIC.
